a He sheweth the hypocrisie of the Idolaters, who will dissimble to heare the Prophets of God though in their heart they follow nothing lesse then their admonitions, and also how by one meanes or other, God doth discover them, b They are not only idolaters in heart, but also worship their filthy idoles openly, which leade them in blindness & cause them to stumble, and cast them out of Gods favour, so that hee will not heare them when they call unto him, reade Iere. 10. 15 c To enquire of things which the Lord hath appointed to come so passe. d As his abomination hath defiled: that is he shall be led with lies, according as he delighted therein, 2. The Prophet declareth the benefits of God toward Ierusalem. 15 Their vnkindnesse. 40 He insinuateth the wickednesse of other people in comparison of the finnes of Ierusalem. 49 The cause of the abominations into which the Sodomites fell. 60 Idery is promised to the reprobates.

A Gaineth the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Some of man, cause Ierusalem to know her abominations.

3 And say, Thus saith the Lord God vnto Ierusalem, Thine habitation, & thy kinred is of the land ^a of Canaan: thy father was an Amorite, and thy mother an Isterite.

4 And in thy natiuitie when thou wast ^b borne, thy nautie was not cut: thou wast not washed in water to soften thee: thou wast not salted with salt, nor swaddled in cloths.

5 None eye pitied thee to doe any of these vnto thee, for to haue compassion vpon thee, but thou wast cast out in the open field, to the contempt of thy person in the day that thou wast borne.

6 And when I passed by thee, I saw thee polluted in thine ^c own blood, and I said vnto thee, when thou wast in thy blood, Thou shalt liue: euen when thou wast in thy blood, I said vnto thee, Thou shalt liue.

7 I haue caused thee to multiply, as the bud of the field, and thou hast increased and waxen great, and thou hast gotten excellent ornaments: thy breastes are fashioned, thine haire is grown, whereas thou wast naked and bare.

8 Now when I passed by thee, and looked vpon thee, behold, thy time was as the time of loue, and I spread my skirts ouer thee, and covered ^d thy filthinesse: yea, I sware vnto thee, and entered into a couenant with thee, saith the Lord God, and thou becamest mine.

9 Then washed I thee with ^e water: yea, I washed away thy blood from thee, and I sinned thee with oyle.

10 I clothed thee also with broidered worke, and shod thee with badgers skine, and I giued thee about with fine linnen, and I covered thee with silke.

^a Thon boastest to be of the seed of Abraham, but thou art degenerate, and followest the abominations of the wicked Canaanites, as children doe the manners of their fathers, Isa. 2. 3. and 37. 3.
^b When I first brought thee out of Egypt, and planted thee in this land to be my Church, c being thus in thy filthines and laden with all sin, I took thee and gave thee lile, whereby is meant that before good wash his Church, and give lile, there is nothing but filthinesse & death.
^d These words, of blood, pollution, nakednesse, and filthines, are sometimes repeated, to beate downe their pride, and to cause them to consider what they were before

God reuelled them to mercie, fauoured them, and covered their shame, e That thou shouldst be a chaste wife vnto mee, and that I should maintaine thee and enioie thee with all graces. f I washed away thy finnes, g I sanctified thee with mine holy Spirit.

11 I decked thee also with ornaments, and I put bracelets vpon thine handes, and a chaine on thy necke.

12 And I put a frontlet vpon thy face, and earerings in thine eares, and a beautifull ^h crowne vpon thine head.

13 Thus wast thou deckt with gold and siluer, and thy raiment was of fine linnen and like and broidered worke: thou diddest eate fine floure, and hony and oyle, and thou wast very beautifull, and thou diddest growe vnto a kingdome.

14 And thy name was spread among the heathen for thy beautie: for it was perfect through my ⁱ beautie, which I had set vpon thee saith the Lord God.

15 Now thou dost ^k trust in thine owne beautie, and playdest the harlot, because of thy renoume, and hast pouered out ^l thy fornications on euery one that passed by, thy desire was to him.

16 And thou diddest take thy garments, and deckedst thine high places with diuers colours, ^m and playdest the harlot therupon: the like things shall not come, neither path any done so.

17 Thou hast also taken thy faire letwels made of my gold and of my siluer, which I had giuen thee, and ⁿ madest to thy selfe images of men, and diddest commit whoredome with them.

18 And tookest thy broidered garments, and coveredst them: and thou hast set mine oyle and my perfume before thee.

19 Why me also which I gaue thee, as fine floure, oyle & hony wherewith I fed thee, thou hast euen set it before them for a sweete sauour: thus it was, saith the Lord God.

20 Howouer, thou hast taken thy sonnes and thy daughters, whom thou hast borne vnto mee, and these hast thou sacrificed vnto them, to ^o bee deuoured: is this thy whoredome a small matter?

21 What thou hast slaine my children, and deliuered them to cause them to passe thorow fire for them.

22 And in all thine abominations and whoredomes, thou hast not remembered the dayes of thy youth, when thou wast naked, and bare, and wast polluted in thy blood.

23 And beside all thy wickednesse, (woe, woe vnto thee, saith the Lord God.)

24 Thou hast also built vnto thee an hie place, and hast made there an hie place in euery street.

25 Thou hast built thine hie place at euery ^p corner of the way, and hast made thy beauty to be abhorred: thou hast opened thy ferte to euery one that passed by, and multiplied thy whoredome.

26 Thou hast also committed fornication with thine Egyptians thy neighbours which haue great members, and hast increased thy whoredome to prouoke me.

27 Behold, therefore I did stretch out mine hand ouer thee, and withdrew thine ordinarie, and diuer thee vnto the will of them that hate thee, euen to the ^q daughters of the Philistines, which are ashamed of thy wicked way.

28 Thou hast played the whore also with the Egyptians, because thou wast unsatiable: yea, thou hast played the harlot with them, and yet couldest not be satisfied.

29 Thou hast multiplied thy fornication from the land of Canaan unto Caldea, and yet thou wast not satisfied herewith.

30 How weak is thine heart, saith the Lord God, seeing thou doest all these things, even the worke of a presumptuous whores woman.

31 In that thou buildest thine high place in the corner of every way, and makest thine high place in every street, and hast not beene as an harlot: that despiseth a reward,

32 But as a wife that playeth the harlot, and taketh others for her husband.

33 They give gifts to all other whores, but thou givest gifts unto all thy lovers, and rewardest them, that they may come unto thee on every side for thy fornication.

34 And the contrary is in thee from other women, in the fornications, neither the like fornication shall bee after thee: for in that thou givest a reward, and no reward is given unto thee, therefore thou art contrary.

35 Wherefore, O harlot, heare the word of the Lord.

36 Thus saith the Lord God, Because thy shame was covered out, and thy filthinesse discovered through thy fornications with thy lovers, and with all the idoles of thine abominations, and by the blood of thy children, which thou diddest offer unto them,

37 Beholde, therefore I will gather all thy lovers, with whom thou hast taken pleasure, and all them that thou hast loved, with all them that thou hast hated: I will even gather them round about against thee, and will discover thy filthinesse unto them, that they may see all thy filthinesse.

38 And I will iudge thee as the manner of them that are harlots, and of them that shed blood, and I will give thee the blood of wrath and ielousie.

39 I will also give thee into their hands, and they shall destroy thine high place: and shall breake downe thine high places: they shall strip thee also out of thy clothes, & shall take thy faire jewels, and leave thee naked and bare.

40 They shall also bring up a company against thee, and they shall stone thee with stones, and thrust thee throught with their swords.

41 And they shall burne by thine houses with fire, and execute iudgements upon thee in the sight of many women: and I will cause thee to cease from playing the harlot, and thou shalt giue no reward any more.

42 So will I make my wrath toward thee to rest, and my ielousie shall depart from thee, and I will cease and bee no more angry.

43 Because thou hast not remembered the dayes of thy youth, but hast provoked mee with all these things, beholde, therefore I also have brought thy way upon thine head, saith the Lord God: yet hast not thou had consideration of all thine abominations.

44 Behold, all that use proverbes, shall use this proverbe against thee, saying, As is the mother, so is her daughter.

45 Thou art thy mothers daughter, that hath cast off her husband and her children, and thou art the sister of thy sisters, which forsooke their husbands and their children: your mother is an Hittite, and your father an Amorite.

47 Yet hast thou not walked after their wayes, nor done after their abominations: but as it had bene a very little thing, thou wast corrupted more then they in all thy wayes.

48 As I live, saith the Lord God, Sodom thy sister hath not done, neither she nor her daughters as thou hast done and thy daughters.

49 Behold, this was the iniquitie of thy sister Sodom, Pride, fullnesse of bread, and abundance of idleness was in her, and in her daughters: neither did they strengthen the hand of the poore and needy.

50 But they were haughty, and committed abomination before mee: therefore Iooke them away, as I pleased mee.

51 Yettisee: hath Samaria committed halfe of thy sinnes, but thou hast exceeded them in thine abominations, and hast justified thy sisters in all thine abominations, which thou hast done.

52 Therefore thou which hast justified thy sisters, heare thine owne shame for thy sinnes that thou hast committed more abominable then they which are more righteous then thou art: he thou therefore confounded also, and heare thy shame, seeing that thou hast justified thy sisters.

53 Therefore I will bring againe their captivitie with the captivitie of Sodom, and her daughters, and with the captivitie of Samaria, and her daughters: even the captivitie of thy captives in the mids of them.

54 What thou mayest beare thine owne shame, and mayest be confounded in all that thou hast done, in that thou hast comforted them.

55 And thy sister Sodom and her daughters shall returne to their former state: Samaria also and her daughters shall returne to their former state, & when thou and thy daughters shall returne to your former state.

56 For thy sister Sodom was not heard of by thy report in the day of thy pride.

The parable of the two Eagles.

And the word of the Lord came unto me ſaying,

2 Sonne of man put forth a parable, and ſpeake a pſourbe unto the houſe of Iſrael.

3 And ſay, Thus ſaith the Lord God, The great Eagle with great wings, and long wings, and full of feathers, which had divers colours, came unto Lebanon, and tooke the beſt一枝 of the cedar,

4 And brake off the top of his twigge, and caried it into the land of merchants, and ſet it in a citie of merchants.

5 He tooke alſo of the ſeed of the land, & planted it in a fruitful ground: he placed it by great waters, and ſet it as a willow tree.

6 And it budded up, & was like a ſpreading vine of a low ſtature, whole branches turned toward it, and the rootes thereof were under it: ſo it became a vine, and it brought forth branches, and ſhot forth buds.

7 There was alſo another great Eagle with great wings, and many feathers, and behold, this vine did turne her roots toward it, and ſpread forth her branches toward it, that the might water it by the trenches of her plantation.

8 It was planted in a good ſoyle by great waters, that it ſhould bring forth branches, and beate fruit, and be an excellent vine.

9 Say thou, Thus ſaith the Lord God, Shall it prosper? Shall it be not pull up by the rootes thereof, and deſtroy the fruit thereof, and cauſe them to die? all the leaues of her bud ſhall wither without great power, or many people to plucke it up by the rootes thereof.

10 Behold, it was planted: but ſhall it proſper? ſhall it not be dried up, and wither: when the Eaſt winde ſhall touch it, it ſhall wither in the trenches where it groweth.

11 Wherefore the word of the Lord came unto me ſaying,

12 Say now to this rebellious houſe, Know ye not what theſe things meane? ſaith the Lord, Behold, the King of Babel is come to Ieruſalem, and hath taken the King thereof, and the princes thereof, and led them with him to Babel.

13 And hath taken one of the kings ſeed, and made a covenant with him, and hath taken an oath of him: hee hath alſo taken the princes of the land.

14 That the kingdome might be in ſubjection, and not liſt it ſelfe up, but keepe their covenant, and ſtand to it.

15 But he rebelled againſt him, and ſent his Ambaſſadours into Egypt, that they might giue him horſes, and much people: ſhall he proſper? ſhall he eſcape, that doth ſuch things? or ſhall he breake the covenant, and be deliuered?

16 As I ſaie, ſaith the Lord God, he ſhall die in the mids of Babel, in the place of the King, that had made him King, whole oath he deſpiſed: and whole covenant made with him, hee brake.

17 Neither ſhall Pharaoh with his mighty hoſt, and great multitude of people, maintaine him in the war, when they ſhall beſiege him, and builde ramparts to deſtroy many perſons.

18 For he hath deſpiſed the oath, and broken the covenant: (yet he, he hath giuen his hand) becauſe he hath done all theſe things, he ſhall not eſcape.

19 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, As I ſaie, I will ſurely bring mine oath that hee hath deſpiſed, and my covenant that hee hath broken upon his owne head.

20 And I will ſpread my net upon him, and he ſhall be taken in my net, and I will bring him to Babel, & will enter into iudgement with him there for his treſpaſſe that hee hath committed againſt me.

21 And all that ſlee from him with all his hoſt, ſhall fall by the ſword, and they that remaine, ſhall be ſcattered toward all the windes: and ye ſhall know that I the Lord haue ſpoken it.

22 Thus ſaith the Lord God, I will alſo take off the top of this high cedar, and will ſer it, and cut off the top of the tender plant thereof, and I will plant it upon an high mountaine and great.

23 Even in the high mountaine of Iſrael will I plant it: & it ſhall bring forth boughs and beate fruit, and be an excellent cedar, and under it ſhall remaine all birds, and currey p ſoule ſhall dwell in the ſhadow of the branches thereof.

24 And all the trees of the firſt ſhall know that I the Lord haue brought downe the high tree, and reared the low tree: that I haue dried by the greene tree, and made the deſert to flouriſh: & I the Lord haue ſpoken it, and haue done it.

sinne, 21 To him that amendeth, is saluation promised.
24 Death is prophesied to the righteous, which turneth backe from the right way.

The word of the Lord came unto me againe, saying,

2 That I meanee yee that yee speake this prouerbe, concerning the land of Israel saying,
The fathers haue eaten sowre grapes,
and the childrens teeth are let on edge:

3 As I liue, saith the Lord God, yee shall ble this prouerbe no more in Israel.

4 Behold, all soules are mine, both the soule of the father, and also the soule of the sonne are mine: the soule that sinneth, it shall die.

5 But if a man bee iust, and doe that which is lawfull and right,

6 And hath not eaten vpon the moun-taines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, neither hath defiled his neighbours wife, neither hath sleyn with a menstruous woman,

7 Neither hath oppressed any, but hath restored the pledge to his debtor: hee hath not spoiled none by violence, but hath gi-uen his bread to the hungry, and hath cou-ered the naked with a garment,

8 And hath not giuen foorth vpon vsu-ry, neither hath taken any increase, but hath withdrawen his hand from iniquitie, and hath executed true iudgment betwene man and man,

9 And hath walked in my statutes, and hath kept my iudgements to deale cruelly, he is iust, he shall surely liue, saith the Lord God.

10 ¶ If he beget a sonne, that is as a thiefe, or a shedder of blood, if he doe any one of these things,

11 Though he doe not al these things, but either hath eaten vpon the mountaines, or defiled his neighbours wife,

12 Or hath oppressed the poore and nee-die, or hath spoiled by violence, or hath not restored the pledge, or hath lift vp his eyes unto the idoles, or hath committed abomination,

13 Or hath giuen foorth vpon vsurie, or hath taken increase, shall he liue? he shall not liue: seeing he hath done all these abominations, he shall die the death, and his blood shall be vpon him.

14 ¶ But if he beget a sonne, that teach all his fathers sinnes which he hath done, and feareth, neither doeth such like,

15 That hath not eaten vpon the moun-taines, neither hath lift vp his eyes to the idoles of the house of Israel, nor hath defiled his neighbours wife,

16 Neither hath oppressed any, nor hath withholden the pledge, neither hath spoiled by violence, but hath giuen his bread to the hungry, and hath couered the naked with a garment,

17 Neither hath withdrawn his hande from the afflicted, nor receiued vsury nor increase, but hath executed my iudgements, and hath walked in my statutes, he shall not die in the iniquitie of his father, but he shall surely liue.

18 His father, because hee cruelly oppressed and spoiled his brother by violence, and hath not done good among his people, for, euen he dieth in his iniquitie.

19 Perceiue yee, wherefore shall not the sonne beare the iniquitie of the father? because the sonne hath executed iudgment and iustice, and hath kept all my statutes, and done them, he shall surely liue.

20 The same soule that sinneth, shall die: the sonne shall not beare the iniquitie of the father, neither shall the father beare the iniquitie of the sonne, but the righteous-nesse of the righteous shall be vpon him, and the wickednesse of the wicked shall be vpon himselfe.

21 But if the wicked will returne from all his sinnes that hee hath committed, and keepe all my statutes, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall surely liue, and shall not die.

22 All his transgressions that hee hath committed, they shall not be mentioned unto him, but in his righteousness that hee hath done, he shall liue.

23 I haue I any desire that the wicked should die, saith the Lord God? he shall bee not liue, if hee returne from his wayes:

24 But if the righteous turne away from his righteousness, and commit iniquitie, and doe according to all the abominations, that the wicked man doeth, shall hee liue?
all his righteousness that hee hath done, shall not be mentioned: but in his transgression that hee hath committed, and in his sinne that hee hath sinned, in them shall hee
die.

25 Perceiue yee, The way of the Lord is not equal: heare now, O house of Israel.
Is not my way equal? or are not your wayes vnequall?

26 For when a righteous man turneth away from his righteousness, and commit-teth iniquitie, he shall euen die for the same, he shall euen die for his iniquitie that hee hath done.

27 Again, when the wicked turneth away from his wickednes that hee hath committed, and doeth that which is lawfull and right, he shall liue his soule aliu.

28 Because hee considereth, and turneth away from all his transgressions that hee hath committed, he shall surely liue, and shall not die.

29 Perceiue yee the house of Israel, The way of the Lord is not equal. O house of Israel, are not my wayes equal? or are not your wayes vnequall?

30 Therefore I will iudge you, O house of Israel, every one according to his wayes, saith the Lord God: returne therefore cause others to turne away from al your transgressions: to iniquitie that not be your destruction.

31 Call away from you all your transgressions, whereby yee haue transgressed, and make you a new heart and a new spirit: for why will yee die, O house of Israel?

32 For I desire not the death of him that dieth, saith the Lord God: cause therefore one another to returne, and liue ye.

i Destruction is come by Zedekiah, who was the occasion of this rebellion.

Thou also, take vp a lamentation for the princes of Israel,

3 And she brought vp one of her whelpes, and it became a lyon, and it learned to catch the pray, and it deuoured men.

4 The nations also heard of him, and he was taken in their nets, and they brought him in chaines vnto the land of Egypt.

5 Now when shee saue that he had waited, and her hope was lost, shee tooke another of her whelpes, and made him a lion,

6 Which went among the Lyons and became a lyon, and learned to catch the pray, and he deuoured men.

8 Then the nations set against him on every side of the countreys, and layd their nets for him, to be was taken in their pit.

12 But shee was plucked vp in wrath: shee was cast downe to the ground, and the East winde dyed by her fruit: her branches were broken and withered: as for the rodde of her strength, the fire consumed it.

13 And now she is planted in the wilderness in a drye and thiristie ground.

CHAP. XX.

3 The Lord denyeth that he will assure them when they pray, because of their unkindnesse. 3. Hee promyseth that his people shall rescue him from captivity. 4.6 By the forest that should be burnt, is signified the burning of Ierusalem.

And in the fourth yeere, in the fifth moeth, the tenth day of the moneth, came certaine of the Elders of Israel to enquire of the Lord, and here be some.

2 Then came the word of the Lord vnto me, saying,

3 Sonne of man, speake vnto the Elders of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Accp ye come to enquire of me: as I liue, saith the Lord God, when I am asked, I will not amuse you.

4 While thou iudge them, sonne of man, wilt thou iudge them? cause them to understand the abominations of their fathers,

5 And say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when I chose Israel, and I lift vp mine hand vnto the seed of the house of Iacob, and made my selfe knowne vnto them in the land of Egypt, when I lift vp mine hand vnto them, and sayde, I am the Lord your God,

6 In the day that I lift vp mine hand vnto them to bring them forth of the land of Egypt, into a land that I had promised for them, flowing with milke and hony, which is pleasant among all lands,

7 Then said I vnto them, Let every man cast away the abominations of his eyes, and desist not your selues with the idoles of Egypt: for I am the Lord your God.

8 But they rebelled against me, & would not heare me: for none cast away the abominations of their eyes, neither did they forsake the idoles of Egypt: then I thought to poure out mine indignation vpon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the midst of the land of Egypt.

9 But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, among whom they were, and in whose sight I made my selfe knowne vnto them in bringing them forth of the land of Egypt.

10 Now I caried them out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wilderness.

11 And I gaue them my statutes, and declared my iudgements vnto them, which if a man doe he shall liue in them.

12 Moreover, I gaue them also my Sabbaths to bee a signe betwene mee and them, that they might know that I am the Lord, that sanctifie them.

13 But the house of Israel rebelled against me in the wilderness: they walked not in my statutes, and they cast away my iudgements, which if a man doe, hee shall liue in them, and my Sabbathes haue they greatly polluted: then I thought to poure out mine indignation vpon them in the wilderness to consume them.

14 But I had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them out.

15 Yet neuerthelesse I lift vp mine hand vnto them in the wilderness, that I would not bring them into the land, which I had giuen them, flowing with milke and hony, which was pleasant about all lands,

16 Because they cast away my iudgements, and walked not in my statutes, but haue polluted my Sabbaths: for their heart went after their idoles.

17 Therefore will I mine eye spard them, that I would not destroy them, neither would I consume them in the wilderness.

18 But I said vnto their children in the wilderness, Walk ye not in the ordinances

b This declarerh the great lenitie and pience of God, which calleth sinners to repentance before hee condemneth them.
c I saue that I would be their God, which manner of othe was obfuscated from all antiquitie where they vsed to lift vp their hands toward heaven, acknowledging God to bee the author of truth and the defender thereof, and also the iudge of the heart, wishing that he should take vengeance, if they concealed any thing which they knew to bee truth.
d God had forbidden them to make mention of the idole, Exo. 23. 13. psal. 16. 4.
e Which thing declarerh the wickednesse of mans heart, which iudge Gods seruice by their eyes and outward senses.
f God had euer this respect to his glory, that he would not haue his Name euill spoken of among the Gentiles to the punishment that his people deserued, in confidence whereof the godly were prayed, as Exod. 31. 12, Numb. 14. 13.

of your fathers, neither observe their manners, nor desire your felues to copy their idoles.

19 I am the Lord your God: walke in my statutes, and keepe my iudgements and doe them,

20 And sanctifie my Sabbaths, and they shall be a signe betweene me and you, that yee may know that I am the Lord your God.

21 Notwithstanding the children rebelled against mee: they walked not in my statutes, nor kept my iudgements to doe them, which if a man doe hee shall live in them, but they polluted my Sabbaths: then I thought to powre out mine indignation upon them, and to accomplish my wrath against them in the wilderness.

22 Wherefore I will bring mine hand, and had respect to my Name, that it should not be polluted before the heathen, in whose sight I brought them forth.

23 Yet I lift up mine hand vnto them in the wilderness, that I would scatter them among the heathen, & disperse them through the countreys.

24 Because they had not executed my iudgements, but had cast away my statutes, and had polluted my Sabbaths, and their eyes were after their fathers idoles.

25 Wherefore I gaue them also statutes, that were not good, and iudgements, wherein they should not live.

26 And I polluted them in their owne gifts, in that they caused to passe by the fire all that first openeth the wombe, that I might destroy them, to the end that they might know that I am the Lord.

27 Therefore I soune of man, speake vnto the house of Israel, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Per in this your fathers haue blasphemed me, though they had before griuously transgressed against me.

28 As for when I had brought them into the land, for the which I lifted up mine hand to giue it to them, then they sawe every high hill, and all the thicke trees, and they offered there their sacrifices, and there they presented their offering of provocation: there also they made their sweet savour, and powred out there their drinke offerings.

29 Then I said vnto them, What is the high place wherunto ye goe? And the name thereof was called O Bamah vnto this day.

30 Wherefore say vnto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Are ye not polluted? after the manner of your fathers: and commit ye not whoredome after their abomi-nations?

31 For when you offer your gifts, & make your sonnes to passe through the fire, you pollute your felues with all your idoles vnto this day: shall I answer you when I am asked, O house of Israel? As I live, saith the Lord God, I will not answer you when I am asked.

I bring you from the people, and gather you out of the countreys, wherein yee haue bene

CHAP. XXI.

³ He threatneth the sword, and destruction to Jerusalem. ²⁵ He sheweth the fall of King Zedekiah. ²⁸ He is commanded to prophesie the destruction of the children of Ammon. ³⁰ The Lord threatneth to destroy Nebuchad-nazzar.

The word of the Lord came to me againe, saying,

2 Sonne of man, let thy face toward Jerusalem, and drop thy word toward the holy places, and prophesie against the land of Israel,

3 And say to the land of Israel, Thus saith the Lord, Behold, I come against thee, and will draw my sword out of his sheath, and cut off from thee both the righteous and the wicked.

4 Seeing then that I will cut off from thee both the righteous and wicked, therefore shall my sword goe out of his sheath, against all flesh from the South to the North.

5 That all flesh may know that I the Lord have drawn my sword out of his sheath, and it shall not returne any more.

6 Mourne therefore, thou sonne of man, in the paine of thy rimes, and mourne bitterly before them.

7 And if they say unto thee, Wherefore mournest thou? then answer, Because of the huytre: for it cometh, and every heart shall melt, and all hands shall be weak, and all minds shall faint, and all knees shall fall away as water, behold, it cometh, and shall be done, saith the Lord God.

8 Again, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

9 Sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, say, A sword, a sword both sharpe and furbished.

10 It is sharpened that it may glitter: how shall wee reioyce: for it contemneth the sword of my sonne, as all other rees.

11 And bee hath given it to be furbished, that he may handle it: this sword is sharpe, and is furbished, that he may give it into the hand of his slayer.

12 Cry, and howle, sonne of man: for this shall come to my people, and it shall come unto all the princes of Israel: the terror of the sword shall be upon my people: I will therefore upon thy thigh.

13 For it is a trial, and what shall this be, if the sword contemne even the rod? It shall be no more, saith the Lord God.

14 Thou therefore, sonne of man, prophesie, and smite: hand to hand, & let the sword be doubled: let the sword that hath killed, returne the third time: it is the sword of the great slaughter entering into their prime chambers.

15 I have brought the feare of the sword into all their gates to make their heart to faint, and to multiplye their ruines. Ah it is made bright, and it is sharpened for the slaughter.

16 Get thee alone: go to the right hand, or get thy selfe to the left hande, whithersoever thy face turneth.

17 I will also smite mine hands together, and will cause my wrath to cease. I the Lord have said it.

18 The word of the Lord came unto me againe, saying,

19 Also thou sonne of man, appoint thee two wayes, that the sword of the King of Babel may come: both twaine shall come out of one land, and chuse a place, and chuse it in the corner of the way of the cutie.

20 Appoint a way, that the sword may come to Rabbath of the Ammonites, and to Iudah in Jerusalem the strong citie.

21 And the King of Babel shalde at the parting of the way, at the head of the two wayes, consulting by divination, and made his arrows bright: he consulted with soles and looked in the ether.

22 At his right hand was the divination for Jerusalem to appoint captaines, to open their mouth in the slaughter, and to lift up their voyce with shouting, to lay engines of warre against the gates, to cast a mount, and to build a fortress.

23 And it shall be unto them as a false divination in their sight for the others made unto them: but he will call to remembrance their iniquitie, to the intent they should be taken.

24 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because ye have made your iniquitie to be remembered, in discouraging your rebellion, that in all your works your finnes might appeare: because, I say, that ye are come to remembrance, ye shalbe taken with the hand.

25 And thou O Prince of Israel polluted, and wicked, whole day is come, when iniquitie shall have an end.

26 Thus saith the Lord God, I will take away the diademe, and take off the crowne: this shall be no more the same I will craile the humble, and will abase him that is hie.

27 I will overturne, overturne, overturne it, and it shall be no more untilt bee: I come whole right it is, and I will give it him.

28 And thou sonne of man, prophesie, and say, Thus saith the Lord God to the children of Ammon, and to their blasphemie: say thou, I say, The sword, the sword is drawn forth, and furbished to the slaughter to consume, because of the glittering:

1 Ierusalem is reproveth for cruelty. 2 5 Of the wicked desires of the false prophets and priests, and of their insatiable concupiscence. 27 The tyranny of rulers. 29 The wickedness of the people.

M Deuour the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 How thou sonne of man, wilt thou iudge, wilt thou iudge this bloody city? wilt thou shew her all her abominations?

3 Then say. Thus sayeth the Lord God, The citie which sheddeth blood in the mids of it, that her time may come, and maketh tools against her selfe to pollute her selfe.

4 Thou hast offended in the blood, that thou hast shed, and hast polluted thy selfe in thine blood, which thou hast made, and thou hast caused thy dayes to draw neere, and art come vnto thy terme: therefore haue I made thee a reproch to the heathen, and a mocking to all countries.

9 In thee are men that cary tales to shed blood: in thee are they that eate vpon the mountaine: in the mids of thee they commit abomination.

10 In thee haue they discovered their fathers shame: in thee haue they vexed her that was polluted in her floures.

11 And euerie one hath committed abomination with his neighbours wife, and euerie one hath wickedly defiled his daughter in law, and in thee hath euerie man forced his owne sister, euen his fathers daughter.

12 In thee haue they taken giftes to shed blood: thou hast taken bribery and the increase, and thou hast defrauded thy neighbours by extortion, and hast forgotten mee, saith the Lord God.

13 Beholde, therefore I haue smitten mine hands vpon the countenance, that thou hast shed, and vpon the blood, which hath bene in the mids of thee.

14 Can thine heart endure, or can thine hand be strong in the dayes that I shall haue to doe with thee? I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

15 And I will scatter thee among the heathen, and disperses thee in the countries, and will cause thy filthinesse to cease from thee.

16 And thou shalt take thine inheritance in thy selfe in the sight of the heathen, & thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

17 ¶ And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, The house of Israel is vnto mee as dross: all they are brass, and stone, and yron, and lead in the mids of the furnace: they are euen the dross of silver.

19 Therefore thus sayeth the Lord God, Because ye are all as dross, Beholde, therefore I will gather you in the mids of Ierusalem.

20 As they gather slur and chaffe, and yron, and lead, and thine into the mids of the furnace, to blow the fire vpon it to melt it, so will I gather you in mine anger, and in my wrath, and will put you there and melt you.

21 I will gather you, I say, and blow the fire of my wrath vpon you, and you shall bee melted in the mids thereof.

22 As silver is melted in the mids of the furnace, so shall yee bee melted in the mids thereof, and yee shall know that I the Lord haue powred out my wrath vpon you.

23 And the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

24 Sonne of man, say vnto her, Thou art the land that is vncleane, and not sained vpon in the day of wrath.

25 There is a conspiracy of her prophets in the mids thereof like a roaring lion, rauening the pray: they haue deuoured soules: they haue taken the riches & precious things: they haue made her many widowes in the mids thereof.

26 Her priests haue broken my Law, and haue defiled mine holy things: they haue put no difference betwene the holy & prophane, neither discerned betwene the vncleane, and the cleane, and haue hid their eyes from my Sabbath, and I am profaned among them.

27 Her princes in the mids thereof, are like wolves, rauening the pray to shed blood, and to destroy soules for their owne covetous lucre.

28 And her prophets haue dauided them with intempered morter, seeing vanities and diuining lies vnto them, saying, Thus sayeth the Lord God, when the Lord had not spoken.

29 The people of the land haue violently oppressed by spoliing and robbing, and haue vexed the poore and the needy: yea, they haue oppressed the stranger against right.

30 And I sought for a man among them that should make by the hedge, and stand in

CHAP. XXII.

Of the idolatry of Samaria and Ierusalem, vnder the names of Aholah and Aholibah.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, there were two women, the daughters of one mother.

3 And they committed fornication in Egypt, they committed fornication in their youth: there were their breasts pycked, and there they quiled the teates of their virginity.

4 And the names of them were Aholah the elder, and Aholibah her sister: and they were mine, and they bare sonnes and daughters: this were their names: Samaria is Aholah, and Ierusalem Aholibah.

5 And Aholah played the harlot: when she was mine, and shee was sit on fire with her louers, to wit, with the Assyrians her neighbours.

6 Which were clothed with blew silke, both capitaines and princes: they were all pleasant young men, and horsemen riding vpon horses.

7 Thus shee committed her whoresome with them, even with all them that were the chosen men of Assur, and with all on whom she doted, and defiled her selfe with all their idoles.

8 Neither left she her fornications, learned of the Egyptians: for in her youth she lay with her, and they husked the breasts of her virginity, and powred their whoresome vpon her.

9 Wherefore I deflowered her into the bandes of their louers, even into the bandes of the Assyrians, vpon whom she doted.

10 These discouered her shame: they tooke away her sonnes and her daughters, and slew her with the sword, and shee had an euill name among women: for they had executed iudgement vpon her.

11 And when her sister Aholibah sawe this, shee married her selfe with inordinate loue, more then shee, and with her fornications more then her sister with her fornications.

12 Shee doted vpon the Assyrians her neighbours, both capitaines and princes clothed with diuers suites, horsemen riding vpon horses: they were all pleasant young men.

13 Then I saw that shee was defiled, and that they were both after one sort.

14 And that they increased her fornications: for when shee sawe men painted vpon the wall, the images of the Caldeans painted with vermilion,

15 And girded with girdles vpon their loynes, and with diademes vpon their heads (looking all like princes after the manner of the Babylonians in Caldea, the land of their nativity.)

16 Alsoone, I say, as she saw them, she doted vpon them, and sent messengers vnto them into Caldea.

17 Now when the Babylonians came to her into the bed of loue, they defiled her with their fornication, and shee was polluted with them: and her lust departed from them.

18 So she discouered her fornication, and discloled her shame: then mine heart forsooke her, like as mine heart had forsoaken her sister.

19 Yet she increased her whoresome more and called to remembrance the dayes of her youth, wherein she had played the harlot in the land of Egypt.

20 For shee doted vpon their seruants, whose members are as the members of asses, and whose issue is like the issue of horses.

21 Thou calledst to remembrance the wickednesse of thy youth, when thy teares were husked by the Egyptians, therefore the pay of thy youth are thus.

22 Therefore, O Aholibah, thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will call vpon thy louers against thee, from whom thine heart is departed, and I will bring them against thee on every side.

23 To wit, the Babylonians, and all the Caldeans, Bereked, and Shoah, and Koa, and all the Assyrians with them: they were all pleasant young men, capitaines and princes: all they were valliant and renowned, riding vpon horses.

24 Euen these shall come against thee with charres, wagons & wheelers, and with a multitude of people, which shall see against thee buckler, and shield, and helmet round about: and I will leaue the punishment vnto them, and they shall iudge thee according to their iudgements.

25 And I will lay mine indignation vpon thee, and they shall deale cruelly with thee: they shall cut off thy nose and thy eares, and thy remnant shall fall by the sword: they shall carrie away thy sonnes and thy daughters, and thy residue shall bee demoured by the fire.

26 They shall also strippie thee out of thy clothes, and take away thy faire iewels.

27 Thus will I make thy wickednesse to cease from thee, and thy fornication out of the land of Egypt: so that thou shalt not lift vp thine eyes vnto them, nor remember Egypt any more.

28 For thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will deflower thee into the hand of them, whom thou hast: euen into the bandes of them from whom thine heart is departed.

29 And they shall handle thee despitously, and shall take away all thy labours, and shall leaue thee naked and bare, and the shame of thy fornications shall be discouered, both thy wickednesse and thy whoresome.

30 I will doe these things vnto thee, because thou hast gone a whoring after the heathen, and because thou art polluted with their idoles.

31 Thou hast walked in the way of thy sister: therefore will I giue her a cup into thine hand.

h These were the names of certaine princes and capitaines vnder Nebuchad-nar.

i Ebr. I will punish indignous before them.

|| Or, lawes.

i They shall destroy thy princes and priests with the rest of thy people.

k All thy treasures and riches, which thou hast gotten by labor.

|| All the world shall see thy shamefull fornication of God, & sense idoles.

m I will execute the same iudgements and vengeance against thee, & that with greater severity.

32 Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt drinke of thy sisters cup, deepe & large: thou shalt bee laughed to scorn and had in derision, because it containeth much.

33 Thou shalt bee filled with drunkenness and sorrow, even with the cup of destruction and desolation, with the cup of thy sister Samaria.

34 Thou shalt even drinke it, and toying it out to the dregges, and thou shalt breake the sheards thereof, and teare thine owne breastes: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

35 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast forgotten mee, and cast mee behind thy backe, therefore thou shalt also beare thy wickednesse and thy whores doine.

36 The Lord said moreover vnto mee, Sonne of man, write thou vnto Aholah and Aholibah: and wilt thou declare to them their abominations?

37 For they haue played the whores, and blood is in their hands, and with their idoles haue they committed adulterie, and haue also caused their sonnes, whom they bare vnto me, to passe by the fire to be their meat.

38 Moreover, thus haue they done vnto mee, they haue defiled my Sanctuary in the same day, and haue prophaned my Sab-baths.

39 For when they had slaine their children to their idoles, they came the same day into my Sanctuary to defile it: and loe, thus haue they done in the mids of mine house.

40 And how much more is it that they sent for men to come from far, vnto whom a messenger was sent, and loe, they came: for whom thou diddest wash thy selfe, and paintedst thine eyes, and deckedst thee with ornaments,

41 And latest vpon a costly bed, and a table prepared before it, wherupon thou hast set mine incense, and mine oyle.

42 And a boyce of a multitude being at ease was with her: and with the men to make the company great, were brought men of Saba from the wilderness, which put bracelets vpon their hands, & beaurifull crownes vpon their heads.

43 Then I said vnto her that was old in adulteries, Now shall she and her fornications come to an end.

44 And they went in vnto her as they go to a common harlot: so went they to Aholah and Aholibah the wicked woman.

45 And the righteous men they shall iudge them, after the manner of harlots, and after the manner of murderers: for they are harlots: and blood is in their hands.

46 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will bring a multitude vpon them, and will giue them vnto the tumult, and to the spoile.

47 And the multitude shall stone them with stones, & cut them with their swords: they shall slay their sonnes and their daughters, and burne vp their houses with fire.

48 Thus will I cause wickednes to cease out of the land, that all women may bee taught, not to doe after your wickednesse.

49 And they shall lay vpon your wickednesse

vpon you, and yet shall beare the finnes of your idoles, and ye shall know that I am the Lord God.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 He sheweth the destruction of Ierusalem by a parable of a seething pot. 26 The parable of Ezekiel wif being dead.

Again in the ninth yere, in the tenth moneth, in the tenth day of the month came the word of the Lord vnto mee, saying,

2 Sonne of man, write thee the name of the day, even of this same day: for the King of Babel let himselfe against Ierusalem this same day.

3 Therefore speake a parable vnto the rebellious house, and say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Prepare a pot, prepare it, and also powre water into it.

4 Gather the pieces thereof into it, euery good piece as the thigh and the shoulder, and fill it with the chiefe bones.

5 Take one of the best sheepe, and burne all the bones vnder it, and make it boyle well, and seeke the bones of it therein.

6 Because the Lord God saith thus, Vnto the bloody citie, euen to the pot, whose skomme is therein, and whose skom is not gone out of it: bring it out a piece by piece: let no lot fall vpon it.

7 For her blood is in the mids of her: she set it vpon an high rocke, and powred it not vpon the ground to couer it with dust.

8 That it might cause warth to arise, and take vengeance: when I haue let her blood vpon an high rocke: that it should not be couered.

9 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will make the bloody citie, for I will make the burning great.

10 Oape on much wood: kindle the fire, consume the flesh, and cast in spice, and let the bones be burnt.

11 Then set it empty vpon the coales thereof, that the brasie of it may be hot, and may burne, and that the filthinesse of it may bee molten in it, and that the skom of it may be consumed.

12 The bath wearied her selfe with lyes, and her great skomme went not out of her: therefore her skomme shall be consumed with fire.

13 Thou remainest in thy filthines and wickednesse: because I would haue purged thee, and thou wast not purged, thou shalt not be purged from thy filthines, till I haue caused my wrath to light vpon thee.

14 I the Lord haue spoken it: it shall come to passe, and I will doe it: I will not spare, neither will I spare, neither will I repent: according to thy wayes, and according to thy works shall I iudge thee, saith the Lord God.

17 Cease from sighing: make no mourning for the dead, and binde the tyre of thine head upon thee, and put on thy shoes upon thy feet, and cover not thy lips, and eat and not the bread of men.

18 So I spake unto the people in the morning, and at even my wife died: and I did in the morning, as I was commanded.

19 And the people said unto mee, Wilt thou not tell vs what these things meane toward vs, that thou doest so?

20 Then I answered them, The word of the Lord came unto me, saying, 21 Speake unto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will pollute my Sanctuary, even the pride of your power, the pleasure of your eyes, and your hearts desire, and your sonnes, and your daughters whom yee haue left, shall fall by the sword.

22 And yee shall doe as I haue done: yee shall not cover your lips, neither shall yee eat the bread of men.

23 And your fire shalbe vpon your heads, and your shoes vpon your feete: yee shall not mourne nor weepe, but yee shall pine away for your iniquities, and mourne one toward another.

24 Thus Ezekiel is vnto you a signe: according to all that he hath done, yee shall doe: and when this cometh, yee shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Also, thou sonne of man, shall it not bee in the day when I take from them their power, the top of their honour, the pleasure of their eyes, and the desire of their heart, their sonnes and their daughters, 26 That hee that escapeth in that day, shall come vnto thee to tell thee that which he hath heard with his eares?

27 In that day shall thy mouth be opened to him which is escaped, & thou shalt speake and be no more dumbe, and thou shalt bee a signe vnto them, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXV.

1 The word of the Lord against Ammon, which was spoken at the fall of Ierusalem. 8 Against Moab and Seir, Idumea and the Philistines.

The word of the Lord came againe vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against the Ammonites, and prophesie against them,

3 And say vnto the Ammonites, Heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God, because thou saydest, I ha, ha, against my Sanctuary, when it was polluted, and against the land of Israel, when it was desolate, and against the house of Iudah, when they went into captiuitie,

4 Behold, therefore I will deliuer thee to the men of the East for a possession, and they shall set their palaces in thee, and make their dwellings in thee: they shall eat thy fruit, and they shall drinke thy milke.

5 And I will make Rabbah a dwelling place for camels, and the Ammonites a sheepe coat, and yee shall know that I am the Lord.

6 For thus saith the Lord God, Because thou hast clapped the hands, and stamped with the feete, and reioyced in heart, with all thy despite against the land of Israel,

7 Behold, therefore I will stretch out mine hand vpon thee, and will deliuer thee to be spoiled of the heathen, and I will roote thee out from the people, and I will cause thee to be destroyed out of the countreys, and I will destroy thee, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

8 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Moab and Seir doe say, Behold, the house of Iudah is like vnto all the heathen.

9 Therefore, behold, I will open the side of Moab, even of the Cities of his Cities, I say, in his frontiers with the pleasant countrey Beth-Ishumoth, Baal-meon, and Kirathaim.

10 I will call the men of the East against the Ammonites, and will giue them in possession, so that the Ammonites shall no more be remembered among the Nations.

11 And I will execute iudgements vpon Moab, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

12 Thus saith the Lord God, Because that Edom hath done euill by taking vengeance vpon the house of Iudah, and hath committed great offence, and reuenged himselfe vpon them,

13 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I will also stretch out mine hand vpon Edom, and destroy man and beast out of it, and I will make it desolate from Teman, and the city of Dedan shall fall by the sword.

14 And I will execute my vengeance vpon Edom, by the hand of my people Israel, and they shall doe in Edom according to mine anger, and according to mine indignation, and they shall know my vengeance, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the Ididitims haue executed vengeance, and reuenged themselves with a despitefull heart, to destroy it for the old hatred, 16 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will stretch out mine hand vpon the Ididitims, and I will cut off the Cherethims, and destroy the remnant of the sea coast.

17 And I will execute great vengeance vpon them with rebukes of mine indignation, and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall lay my vengeance vpon them.

AND in the eleuenth yere, in the first day of the month, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, because that Tyrus hath said against Ierusalem, Aha, the gate of the people is broken: it is turned vnto me: for seeing thee is desolate, I shall be exulted.

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against thee, O Tyrus, and I will bring by many nations against thee, as the Sea mounteth vp with his waues.

4 And they shall destroy the walles of Tyrus, and breake downe her towers: I will also scrape her dust from her, and make her like the top of a rocke.

5 Thou shalt be for the spreading of nets in the mids of the Sea: for I haue spoken it, saith the Lord God, and it shall be a spoile to the Nations.

6 And her daughters which are in the field, shall bee slaine by the sword, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 For thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will bring vpon Tyrus Nabuchad-nezzar King of Babel, a King of kings, from the North, with horses and with charrets, and with horsemen, with a multitude and much people.

8 He shall slay with the sword thy daughters in the field, and hee shall make a fort against thee, and cast a mount against thee, and lift vp the buckler against thee.

9 Hee shall set engines of warre before him against thy walles, and with his weapons breake downe thy towers.

10 The dust of his horses shall couer thee, for their multitude: thy walles shall shake at the noise of the horsemen, and of the wheelles, and of the charrets, when hee shall enter into thy gates, as into the entry of a Citie that is broken downe.

11 With the hoofes of his horses shall hee tread downe all thy streets: he shall slay thy people by the sword, and the pillars of thy strength shall fall downe to the ground.

12 And they shall robbe thy riches, and spoile thy merchandise, and they shall breake downe thy walles, and destroy thy pleasant houses, and they shall cast thy stones and thy timber and thy dust into the middes of the water.

13 Thus will I cause the sound of thy songs to cease, and the sound of thyne harpes shall be no more heard.

14 I will lay thee like the top of a rocke: thou shalt be for a spreading of nets: thou shalt be built no more, for I the Lord haue spoken it, saith the Lord God.

15 Thus saith the Lord God to Tyrus, Shall not the Isles tremble at the sound of thy fall, and at the cry of the wounded, when they shall see slaine and murdered in the mids of thee?

16 Then all the Princes of the Sea shall come downe from their thrones: they shall lay away their robes, and put off their broyered garments, and shall clothe themselves with sackcloth: they shall sit vpon the ground, and be afflicted at every moment, and be amazed at thee.

17 And they shall take by a lamentation for thee, and say to thee, How art thou destroyed, that wast inhabited of the Sea men, the renowned Citie which was strong in the Sea, both she and her inhabitants, which cause their feare to bee on all that haunt therein!

18 Now shall the Isles be afflicted in the day of thy fall: yea, the Isles that are in the Sea, shall be troubled at thy departure.

19 For thus saith the Lord God, When I shall make thee a desolate Citie, like the cities that are not inhabited, and when I shall bring the deepe vpon thee, and great waters shall couer thee,

20 When I shall cast thee downe with them that descend into the pit, with the people of old time, and shall set thee in the low parts of the earth, like the old ruines, with them, I say, which goe downe to the pit, so that thou shalt not be inhabited, and I shall shew my glory in the land of the living.

21 I will bring thee to nothing, and thou shalt bee no more: though thou be sought for, yet shalt thou neuer bee found againe, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXVII.

16 They of Aram were thy merchants for the multitude of thy wares: they occupied in thy faire with emerauds, purple, and dyed woike, and fine linnen, and copall, and pearle.

17 They of Iudah and of the land of Israel were thy merchants: they brought for thy merchandise wheate of Minitch, and Pannag, and hony, and oyle, and balsme.

18 They of Damascus were thy merchants in the multitude of thy wares, for the multitude of all riches, as in the wine of Helbon, and white wooll.

19 They of Danallo and of Iauan, going to and fro, occupied in thy faire: yron woike, cassia and calamus were among thy merchandise.

20 They of Dedan were thy merchants in precious clothes for the charres.

21 They of Arabia, and all the princes of Medar occupied with thee in lambes, and rammes, and goats: in these were thy thy merchants.

22 The merchants of Sheba, and Raamah were thy merchants: they occupied in thy faire with the chiefe of all spices, and with all precious stones and gold.

23 They of Hiram and Canneh, and Eden, the merchants of Sheba, Apher, and Chilmad were thy merchants.

24 These were thy merchants in all sorts of things, in raiment of blue like, and of dyed woike, and in coffers for the rich apparell, which were bound with cordes: chaires also were among thy merchandise.

25 The ships of Tarshish were thy chiefe in thy merchandise, and thou wast replenished, and made very glorious in the mids of the sea.

26 Thy robbers haue brought thee into great waters: the East winde hath broken thee in the mids of the sea.

27 Thy riches and thy faire, thy merchandise, thy martines and pilors, thy calkers, and the occupiers of thy merchandise, and all the men of warre that are in thee, and all the multitude which is in the mids of thee, shall fall in the mids of the sea, in the day of thy ruine.

28 The inburbs shall shake at the sound of the cry of thy pilots.

29 And all that handle the oare, the mariners and all the pilots of the sea shall come Zidon, Arvad, and downe from their ships, and shall stand upon the land.

30 And shall cause their voyce to be heard against thee, and shall cry bitterly, and shall cast dust upon their heades, & wallow themselves in the ashes.

31 They shall plucke off their haire for thee, and gird them with a sackcloth, and they shall weep for thee, with sorrow of heart and bitter mourning.

32 And in their mourning they shall take up a lamentation for thee, saying, What city is like Tyus, so destroyed in the mids of the sea!

33 When thy waters went forth of the seas, thou filledst many people, and thou diddest enrich the kings of the earth with the multitude of thy riches and of thy merchandise.

34 When thou shalt be broken by the seas in the depths of the waters, thy merchandise, and all the multitude which was in the mids of thee, shall fall.

35 All the inhabitants of the Isles shall be astonishd at thee, and all their kings shall bee sore afraid and troubled in their countenance.

36 The merchants among the people shall hiss at thee: thou shalt bee a terror, and neuer shalt be any more.

C H A P. XXVIII.

1 The word of God against the King of Tyrus for his pride. 21 The word of the Lord against Zidon. 25 The Lord promiseth that hee will gather together the children of Israel.

The word of the Lord came againe unto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, say unto the Prince of Tyrus, Thus saith the Lord God, Because thine heart is exalted, and thou hast saide, I am a god, I sit in the seat of God in the mids of the sea, yet thou art but a man and not God, and I thought thou diddest thinke in thine heart that thou wast equall with God.

3 Behold, thou art wiser then Daniel, there is no secret, that they can hide from thee.

4 With thy wisdom and thine understanding thou hast gotten thee riches, and hast gotten gold and silver into thy treasures.

5 By thy great wisdom, and by thine occupying, hast thou increased thy riches, and thine heart is lifted up because of thy riches.

6 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because thou diddest thinke in thine heart, that thou wast equall with God,

7 Behold, therefore I will bring strangers upon thee, even the terrible Nations: and they shall draw their swordes against.

That is, the cities neere about thee, as was Zidon, Arvad, and others.

n Whereby is meant a long time: for it was prophesied to be destroyed but seauente yeeres, as Isa. 23. 1.

a I am safe therefore none can come to hurt me, as God is in the heauen, b Thus hee speaketh by derision, for Daniel had declared notable signes of his wisdom in Babylon, when Ezekiel wrote this.

against the beauty of thy wisdom, and they shall defile thy brightness.

8 They shall cast thee down to the pit, and thou shalt die the death of them, that are slain in the midst of the sea.

9 Altho thou say then before him that slayeth thee, I am a god: but thou shalt bee a man and no god, in the hands of him that slayeth thee.

10 Thou shalt die the death of the uncircumcised by the hands of strangers: for I have spoken it, saith the Lord God.

11 Behold now, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

12 Some of man, take by a lamentation upon the king of Tyrus, and say unto him, Thus saith the Lord God, Thou shalt be by the summe, and art full of wisdom and perfect in beauty.

13 Thou hast bene in Eden the garden of God: cury precious stone was in thy garment, the ruby, the topaz, and the diamond, the chrysolite, the onix and the talper, the saphire, the emerald, and the carbuncle, and gold: the workmanship of thy timbers, and of thy pipes was prepared in thee in the day that thou wast created.

14 Thou art the anointed Cherub, that covereth, & I have set thee in honour: thou wast upon the holy mountaine of God: thou hast walked in the mids of the stones of fire.

15 Thou was perfect in thy wayes from the day that thou wast created, till iniquity was found in thee.

16 By the multitude of thy merchandise, they have filled the mids of thee with cruelty, and thou hast sinned: Therefore I will cast thee as profane out of the mountaine of God, and I will destroy thee, O covering Cherub, from the mids of the stones of fire.

17 Thine heart was lifted up, because of thy beauty, and thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightness: I will cast thee to the ground: I will lay thee before kings, that they may behold thee.

18 Thou hast defiled thy sanctification by the multitude of thine iniquities, and by the iniquity of thy merchandise: therefore will I bring forth a fire from the mids of thee, which shall consume thee: and I will bring thee to ashes upon the earth, in the sight of all them that behold thee.

19 All they that know thee among the people, shall be astonished at thee: thou shalt bee a terror, and never shalt thou bee any more.

20 Again, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

21 Some of man, let thy face against Zion, and prophesie against it.

22 And say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Zion, and I will be glorified in the mids of thee: and they shall know that I am the Lord, when I shall have executed iudgements in her, and shall be sanctified in her.

23 For I will send into her pestilence, and blood into her streets, and the staine shall fall in the mids of her: the enemy shall come against her with the sword on every side, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

24 And they shall see no more a picking thorn unto the house of Israel, nor any grievous thorne of all that are round about them, and despised them, and they shall know that I am the Lord God.

25 Thus saith the Lord God, When I shall have gathered the house of Israel from the people where they are scattered, and shall be sanctified in them in the sight of the heathen, then shall they dwell in the land, that I have given to my servant Jacob.

26 And they shall dwell safely therein, and shall build houses, and plant vineyards: yea, they shall dwell safely, when I have executed iudgements upon all round about them that despise them, and they shall know that I am the Lord their God.

CHAP. XXIX.

His prophesie against Pharaoh and Egypt. 13 The Lord promisseth that he will restore Egypt after fourty years, 18 Egypt is the reward of King Nechochad-nazar for the labour which hee took against Tyru.

In the tenth yeere, and in the tenth moneth, in the twelfth day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Some of man, let thy face against Pharaoh the King of Egypt, and prophesie against him, and against all Egypt.

3 Speak, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I come against thee, O Pharaoh King of Egypt, the great dragon, that lieth in the mids of his rivers, which hath said, The river is mine, and I have made it for my selfe.

4 But I will put hookes in thy scales, and I will cause the fish of thy rivers to sticke unto thy scales, and I will draw thee out of the mids of thy rivers, and all the fish of thy rivers shall sticke unto thy scales.

5 And I will leave thee in the wilderness, both thee and all the fish of thy rivers: thou shalt fall upon the open field: thou shalt not be brought together, nor gathered: for I have given thee for meate to the beastes of the field, and to the fowles of the heaven.

6 And all the inhabitants of Egypt shall know that I am the Lord, because they have bene a staffe of reeds to the house of Israel.

7 When they tooke holde of thee with their hand, thou diddest breake, and rent all their shoulder: and when they leaned upon thee, thou brakest and madest all their loynes to floundre & byright.

8 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I will bring a sword upon thee, and destroy man and beast out of thee.

9 And the land of Egypt shall bee desolate and waste, and they shall know that I am the Lord: because he hath said, The river is mine, and I have made it.

10 Behold, therefore I come upon thee, and upon thy rivers, and I will make the land of Egypt utterely waste and desolate from

2 A comparison of the prosperitie of Pharaoh with the prosperitie of the Assyrians, 10 He prophesies a like destruction to them both.

h Whereby we see that tyrants haue no power of themselves, neither can doe any more harme then God appointeth, and when he will they must cease.

a Of Zedekias reigne, or of Belsaiab captiuitie.

b Meaning, that he was not like in strength to the king of the Assyrians, whom the Babylonians overcame.

c Many other nations were vnder their dominion, || Or, semites.

d Signifying, that there was no greater power in the world then his was.

|| Or, show as hee is.

e That is, of Nebuchad-nazzar, who afterward was the monarch and onely ruler of the world.

And in the eleuenth yere, in the thirtieth moneth, & in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, speake vnto Pharaoh king of Egypt, & to his multitude, whom art thou like in thy greatnesse?

3 Behold, Asshur was like a cedar in Lebanon with faire branches, and with thicke shadowing boughes, and shot vp very high, & his top was among the thicke boughes.

4 The waters nourished him, and the deepe exalted him on high with her riuers running round about his plants, and sent out her little riuers vnto all the trees of the field.

5 Therefore his height was traeked aboue all the trees of the field, and his boughes were multiplied, and his branches were long, because of the multitude of the waters, which the deepe sent out.

6 All the foules of the heauen made their nests in his boughes, and vnder his branches did all the beastes of the field bring forth their young, and vnder his shadow dwelt all mightie nations.

7 Thus was hee faire in his greatnesse, and in the length of his branches: for his root was nere great waters.

8 The cedars in the garden of God could not hide him: no firre tree was like his branches, and the cheestnut trees were not like his boughes: all the trees in the garden of God were not like vnto him in his beautie.

9 I made him faire by the multitude of his branches: so that all the trees of Eden that were in the garden of God, enuied him.

10 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, Because hee is lifted vp on high, and hath shot vp his top among the thicke boughes, and his heart is lifted vp in his height,

11 I haue therefore deliuered him into the hands of the mightiest among the heathen: hee shall handle him, for I haue cast him away for his wickednesse.

12 And the strangers haue destroyed him, even the terrible nations, and they haue left him vpon the mountaines, and in all the valleys his branches are fallen, and his boughes are broken by all the riuers of the land: and all the people of the earth are departed from his shadow, and haue forsaken him.

13 Vpon his ruine shall all the foules of the heauen remaine, and the beastes of the field shall be vnder his branches.

14 So that none of all the trees by the waters shall be exalted by their height, neither shall shoot vp their top among the thicke boughes, neither shall their leaues stand vp in their height, which drinke so much water: for they are all deliuered vnto death in the neither parts of the earth in the midst of the children of men, among them that goe downe to the pit.

15 Thus saith the Lord God, In the day when he went downe to hell, I caused them to mourne, and I covered the deepe for him, and I did restraîne the floods thereof, and the great waters were stayed: I caused Lebanon to mourne for him, and all the trees of the field fainted.

16 I made the nations to shake at the sound of his fall, when I cast him downe to hell, with them that descend into the pit, and all the excellent trees of Eden, and the best of Lebanon: euen all that are nourished with waters, shall be comforted in the neither parts of the earth.

17 They also went downe to hell with him vnto them that be slaine with the sword, and his arme, and they that dwell vnder his shadow in the midst of the beastes.

18 To whom I art thou thus like in glory and in greatnesse among the trees of Eden? yet thou shalt bee cast downe with the trees of Eden vnto the neither parts of the earth, thou shalt sleepe in the midst of the vncircumcised, with them that be slaine by the sword: this is Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XXXII.

2 The Prophet is commanded to bewaile Pharaoh King of Egypt. 12 Hee prophesies that destruction shall come vnto Egypt through the King of Babylon.

And in the twelfth yere in the twelfth moneth, & in the first day of the moneth, the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, take vp a lamentation for Pharaoh king of Egypt, and say vnto him, Thou art like a lion of the nations, and art as a dragon in the Sea: thou castest out thy riuers, and troublest the waters with thy feet, and stampedst in their riuers.

3 Thus saith the Lord God, I will therefore spread my net over thee with a great multitude of people, and they shall make thee come vp into my net.

4 Then will I leave thee vpon the lands, and I will cast thee vpon the open field, and I will cause all the foules of the heauen to remaine vpon thee, and I will fill all

f Hereby is signified the destruction of the power of the Assyrians by the Babylonians, g The deepe waters that caused him to moune to high (meaning his great abundance & pompe) that now lament as though they were covered with sackcloth.

h To cause this destruction of the king of Assyria to seeme more horrible, he setteth forth other kings and princes, which are dead, as though they reioiced at the fall of such a tyrant. i Meaning, that Pharaohs power was nothing so great as his was. k Reade Chap. 38, 10.

all the beastes of the field with thee.

5 And I will lay thy flesh upon the mountaintains, and fill the valleys with thine height.

6 I will also water with thy blood, the land wherein thou swimdest, even to the mountaintains, and the rivers shall be full of thee.

7 And when I shall put thee out, I will cover the heaven, and make the stars thereof dark: I will cover the sunne with a cloud, and the moone shall not give her light.

8 All the lightes of heaven will I make dark for thee, and bringe darknes upon thy land, saith the Lord God.

9 I will also trouble the hearts of many people, when I shall bring thy destruction among the nations, and upon the countreys which thou hast not known.

10 Per, I will make many people amazed at thee, and their kings shall be astonished with feare for thee, when I shall make my sword to glitter against their faces, and they shall be afraid at every moment: every man for his owne life in the day of thy fall.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, The sword of the King of Babel shall come upon thee.

12 By the swordes of the mightie will I cause thy multitude to fall: they all shall be terrible nations, and they shall destroy the pompe of Egypt, and all the multitude thereof shall be consumed.

13 I will destroy also all the beastes thereof from the great water fides, neither shall the foote of man trouble them any more, nor the houses of beest trouble them.

14 Then will I make their waters deepe, and cause their rivers to runne like oyle, saith the Lord God.

15 When I shall make the land of Egypt desolate, and the countrey with all that is therein, shall be layne waste: when I shall smite all them which dwell therein, then shall they knowe that I am the Lord.

16 This is the mourning wherewith they shall lament her: the daughters of the nations shall lament her: they shall lament for Egypt, and for all the multitude, saith the Lord God.

17 In the twelfth yerre, also in the fifteenth day of the month, came the word of the Lord unto me, saying,

18 Sonne of man, lament for the multitude of Egypt, and cast them downe, even them and the daughters of the mighty nations into the netter parts of the earth, with them that goe downe into the pit.

19 Whom dost thou passe in beauty? goe downe and sleepe with the uncircumcised.

20 They shall fall in the mids of them that are slaine by the sword: hee is belivered to the sword: hee is becomen, and all her multitude.

21 The most mightie and strong shall speake to him out of the middes of hell with them that helpe her: they are gone downe and sleepe with the uncircumcised that bee slaine by the sword.

22 As thou is there and all his companie:

their graves are about him: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword.

23 All their graves are made in the flore of the pit, and his multitude are round about his graver: all they are slaine and fallen by the sword, which caused feare to be in the land of the living.

24 There is a clam and all his multitude round about his grave: all they are slaine & fallen by the sword, which are gone downe with the uncircumcised into the netter parts of the earth, which caused themselves to bee feared in the land of the living, yet have they borne their shame with them that are gone downe into the pit.

25 They have made his bed in the mids of the slaine with all his multitude: their graves are round about him: all their uncircumcised are slaine by the sword: though they have caused their feare in the land of the living, yet have they borne their shame with them that goe downe to the pit: they are laid in the mids of them that bee slaine.

26 There is a speech, Tubal, and all their multitude: their graves are round about them: all their uncircumcised were slaine by the sword, though they caused their feare to be in the land of the living.

27 And they shall not lie with the bastant of the uncircumcised, that are fallen, which are gone downe to the grave, with their weapons of warre, and have laide their swordes vnder their heads, but their iniquitie shall bee vpon their bones: because they were the feare of the mightie in the land of the living.

28 Per, thou shalt be broken in the mids of the uncircumcised, and lie with them that are slaine by the sword.

29 There is Chom, his kings, and all his princes, which with their strength are laide by them that were slaine by the sword: they shall sleepe with the uncircumcised, and with them that goe downe to the pit.

30 There be all the princes of the North, with all the Sidonians which are gone downe with the slaine, with their feare: they are ashamed of their strength, and the uncircumcised sleepe with them that bee slaine by the sword, and beare their shame with them that goe downe to the pit.

31 Pharaoh shall see them, and he shall be comforted over all his multitude: Pharaoh and all his armie shall be slaine by the sword, saith the Lord God.

32 For I have caused my feare to be in the land of the living: and he shall be layd in the middes of the uncircumcised with them that are slaine by the sword, even Pharaoh and all his multitude, saith the Lord God.

Being the sword upon a land, if the people of the land take a man from among them,
and make him their watchman,

3 If when hee seeth the sword come upon the land, hee blow the trumpet, and warne
the people,

4 Then hee that heareth the sound of the trumpet, and will not be warned, if the sword come and take him away, his blood shall be upon his owne head.

5 For he heard the sound of the trumpet, and would not be admonished: therefore his blood shall be upon him: but he that receiveth warning, shall save his life.

6 But if the watchman see the sword come, and blowe not the trumpet, and the people bee not warned: if the sword come, and take any person from among them, hee is taken away for his iniquitie, but his blood will I require at the watchmans hand.

7 So thou, O sonne of man, I have made thee a watchman unto the house of Israel:
therefore thou shalt heare the worde at my mouth, and admonish them from me.

8 When I shall say unto the wicked, O wicked man, thou shalt die the death, if thou doest not speake, and admonish the wicked of his way, that wicked man shall die for his iniquitie: but his blood will I require at thine hand.

9 Wherefore, if thou warne the wicked of his way, to turne from it, if he doe not turne from his way, hee shall die for his in-iquitie: but thou shalt deliuered thy soule.

10 Therefore O thou sonne of man, speake unto the house of Israel, Thus ye speake and say, If our transgressions & our sinnes be upon vs, and we are consumed because of them, how should we then live?

11 Say vnto them, As I live, sayeth the Lord God, I desire not the death of the wicked, but that the wicked turne from his way, and live: turne you, turne you from your ruill wayes, for why will ye die, O ye house of Israel?

12 Therefore thou sonne of man, say unto the children of thy people, The righteous-nesse of the righteous shall not deliuer him in the day of his transgression, nor the wickednesse of the wicked shall cause him to fall therein, in the day that hee returne from his wickednesse, neither shall the righteous live for his righteousness in the day that hee sinne.

13 When I shall say vnto the righteous, that hee shall surely live, if hee trust to his owne righteousnesse, and commit iniquitie, all his righteousnesse shall be no more remembered, but for his iniquitie that hee hath committed,
he shall die for the same.

14 Again, when I shall say vnto the wicked, Thou shalt die the death: if hee turne from his sinne, and doe that which is lawfull and right,

15 To wit, if the wicked restore the pledge, and give againe that hee had robbed, & walke in the statutes of life, without committing iniquitie, he shall surely live and not die.

16 None of his sinnes that hee hath committed, shall be mentioned vnto him, because he hath done that which is lawfull & right, he shall surely live.

17 Per the children of thy people say,
The way of the Lord is not equal: but their owne way is unequal.

18 When the righteous turneth from his righteousnesse, and committeth iniquitie, hee shall surely die thereby.

19 But if the wicked returne from his wickednesse, and doe that which is lawfull and right, he shall surely live thereby.

20 Per ye say, The way of the Lord is not equal. O ye house of Israel, I will iudge you every one after his wayes.

21 Also in the twelfth yeere of our captivity, in the tenth month, and in the fifth day of the month, one that had escaped out of Jerusalem, came vnto me, and sayd, The city is smitten.

22 Now the hand of the Lord had beene upon me in the evening afore hee that had escaped, came, and had opened my mouth, untill hee came to me in the morning: and when hee had opened my mouth, I was no more dumb.

23 Again the word of the Lord came unto me, and said,

24 Sonne of man, these that dwell in the desolate places of the land of Israel, talke and say, Abraham was but one, and hee possessed the land: but wee are many, therefore the land shall be given vs in possession.

25 Wherefore say vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, Pee eat with the blood, and lift up your eyes toward your idols, and shed blood: should you then possesse the land?

26 Pee frane upon your O swordes: pee woke abomination, and pee desire every one his neighbours wife: should ye then possesse the land?

27 Say thus vnto them, Thus saith the Lord God, As I live: to surely they that are in the desolate places, shall fall by the sword:
and him that is in the open field, will I give vnto the beasts to be deuoured: and they that bee in the forrest and in the caues, shall die of the pestilence.

28 For I will lay the land desolate and waste, and the poynte of her strength shall cease, and the mountaines of Israel shall be desolate, and none shall passe thorow.

29 Then shall they knowe that I am the Lord, when I have laid the land desolate and waste because of all their abominations that they haue committed.

30 Also thou sonne of man, the children of thy people that talke of thee by the wailes and in the doores of houses, and speake one to another, every one to his brother, saying, Come, I pray you, and heare what is the word that cometh from the Lord.

viech to come: and my people sit before thee, and heare thy wordes, but they will not doe

CHAP. XXXIII.

2 Against the shepherds that despised the flocke of Christ, and sought their owne gain. 7 The Lord saith that he will visit his dispersed flocke, and gather them together. 23 He promisseth his true shepherd Christ, and with him peace.

And the word of the Lord came unto me saying,

2 Some of man, prophesie against the shepherds of Israel, prophesie and say unto them, Thus saith the Lord God unto the shepherds, *Will be unto the shepherds of Israel, that feed themselves: should not the shepherds feed the flockes?

3 Ye eat the ^{fat} fat, and feede the you with the wood: ye kill them that are fed, but yet feede not the sheepe.

4 The weak have ye not strengthened: the sick have ye not healed, neither have ye bound up the broken, nor brought againe that which was driven away, neither have ye sought that which was lost, but with cruelty, and with rigour have ye ruled them.

5 And they were scattered without a shepherd: and when they were dispersed, they were ^{denounced} denounced of all the beasts of the field.

6 My sheepe wandered thowts all the mountains, and upon every high hill: yea, my flock was scattered thowts all the earth, and none did seek after them.

7 Therefore ye shepherds, heare the word of the Lord.

8 As I live, saith the Lord God, surely because my flock was spoiled, and my sheepe were denounced of all the beasts of the field, having no shepherd, neither did my shepherds seek my sheepe, but the shepherds fed themselves, and fed not my sheepe,

9 Therefore heare ye the word of the Lord, O ye shepherds.

10 Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I come against the shepherds, and will require my sheepe at their hands, and cause them to cease from feeding the sheepe: neither shall the shepherds feede themselves any more: for I will deliver my sheepe from their mouths, and they shall no more denounce them.

11 For thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I will search my sheepe, and seek them out.

12 As a shepherd searcheth out his flock, when he hath bene among his sheepe that are scattered, so will I search out my sheepe, and will deliver them out of all places, where they have bene scattered in the cloudes and darke day.

13 And I will bring them out from the people, and gather them from the countries, and will bring them to their owne land, and feede them upon the mountaines of Israel, by rivers, and all the inhabited places of the country.

14 I will feede them in a good pasture, and upon the high mountaines of Israel shall their fold bee: there shall they lie in a good fold, and in fat pasture shall they feede upon the mountaines of Israel.

15 I will feede my sheepe, and bring them to their rest, saith the Lord God.

16 I will seek that which was lost, and bring againe that which was driven away, and will bind up that which was broken, and will strengthen the weak, but I will destroy the fat and the strong, and I will feede them with ^{indgement} indgement.

17 Also you my sheepe, Thus saith the Lord God, Beholde, I iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe, betweene the rammes and the goates.

18 Somewhat a small thing have ye to have eaten up the good pasture, but ye must treade downe with your feete the residue of your pasture: and to have drunk of the deepe waters, but ye must trouble the residue with your feete?

19 And my sheepe eat that which ye have troden with your feete, & drink that which ye have troubled with your feete.

20 Therefore thus saith the Lord God unto them, Beholde, I, even I will iudge betweene the fat sheepe and the lean sheepe.

21 Because ye have thrust with side and with shoulder, and pushed all the weak with your hornes, till ye have scattered them abroad,

22 Therefore will I helpe my sheepe, and they shall no more bee spoiled, and I will iudge betweene sheepe and sheepe.

23 And I will set up a shepherd over them, and he shall feed them, even my servant ^{David} David, hee shall feede them, and he shall be their shepherd.

24 And I the Lord will be their God, and my servant David shall be the prince among them, I the Lord have spoken it.

25 And I will make with them a covenant of peace, and will cause the evil beasts to cease out of the land: and they shall dwell safely in the wilderness, and sleepe in the woods.

26 And I will set them, as a blessing, round about my mountain: and I will cause raine to come downe in due season, and there shall be raine of blessing.

27 And the tree of the field shall yeeld her fruit, and the earth shall give her fruit, and they shall be safe in their land, and shall know that I am the Lord, when I have broken the coardes of their yoke, and delivered them out of the hands of those that served themselves of them.

28 And they shall no more bee spoiled of the heathen, neither shall the beasts of the land devour them, but they shall dwell safely, and none shall make them afraid.

29 And I will raise up for them a plant of renowne, and they shall no more consume with hunger in the land, neither beare the reproch of the heathen any more.

30 Thus shall they understand, that I the Lord their God am with them, and that they, even the house of Israel, are my people, saith the Lord God.

31 And yet my sheepe, the sheepe of my pasture are men, and I am your God, saith the Lord God.

g Meaning, such as lift up themselves above their brethren and thinke they have no need to be governed by me.

h That is, by putting difference betweene the good and the bad, and so going to either as they deserve.

2 The destruction that shall come in mount Seir, because they troubled the people of the Land.

Moreover the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

2 Sonne of man, set thy face against mount Seir, and prophesie against it,

3 And say unto it, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, O mount Seir, I come against thee, and I will stretch out mine hand against thee, and I will make thee desolate and waste.

4 I will lay thy cities waste, and thou shalt be desolate, and thou shalt know that I am the Lord.

5 Because thou hast had a perpetual hatred, and hast put the children of Israel to flight by the force of the sword in the time of their calamitie, when their iniquitie had an end,

6 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will prepare thee unto blood, and blood shall pursue thee: except thou have blood, even blood shall pursue thee.

7 Thus will I make mount Seir desolate, and waste, and cut off from it him that passeth out, and him that returneth.

8 And I will fill his mountaines with his Name men: in thine hills, and in thy valleys, and in all thy rivers shall they fall, that are slain with the sword.

9 I will make thee perpetual desolation, and thy cities shall not returne, and yet shall know that I am the Lord.

10 Because thou hast said, These two nations, and these two countreys shall be mine, and we will possess them (seeing the Lord was there.)

11 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord God, I will enue thee according to thy word, and according to thine indignation which thou hast shed in thine hatred against them: and I will make my self known among them when I have judged thee.

12 And thou shalt know, that I the Lord have heard all thy blasphemies which thou hast spoken against the mountaines of Israel, saying, They be waste, they are given us to be desolate.

13 Thus with your mouthes ye have boasted against mee, and have multiplied your wordes against mee: I have heard them.

14 Thus saith the Lord God, So shall all the world reioyce, when I shall make thee desolate.

15 As thou diddest reioyce at the inheritance of the house of Israel, because it was desolate, so will I do unto thee: thou shalt be desolate, O mount Seir, and all Idumea wholly, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXVI.

8 He promises to deliver Israel from the Gentiles. 22 The benefits done unto the Jews, are to be ascribed to the mercy of God, and not unto their deserving. 26 God reneweth our hearts, that we may walk in his commandments.

Also thou sonne of man, prophesie unto the mountaines of Israel, and say, Ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord.

2 Thus saith the Lord God, Because the enemy hath said against you, Hee, even hee, his places of the world are ours in possession,

3 Therefore prophesie, & say, Thus saith the Lord God, Because that they have made you desolate, and swallowed you upon every side that ye might bee a possession unto the residue of the heathen, and ye are come unto the tips and tongues of men, and unto the reproch of the people,

4 Therefore ye mountaines of Israel, heare the word of the Lord God, Thus saith the Lord God to the mountaines and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleys, and to the waste and desolate places, and to the cities that are forsaken: which are spoiled and had in derision of the residue of the heathen that are round about.

5 Therefore thus saith the Lord God: Surely in the day of mine indignation have I spoken against the residue of the heathen, and against all Idumea which have taken my land for their possession, with the joy of all their heart, and with despitefull mindes to cast it out for a prey.

6 Prophezie therefore upon the lande of Israel, and say unto the mountaines, and to the hills, to the rivers, and to the valleys, Thus saith the Lord God, Behold, I have spoken in mine indignation, & in my wrath, because ye have suffered the shame of the heathen.

7 Therefore thus saith the Lord God, I have lifted up mine hand, surely the heathen that are about you, shall bear their shame.

8 But you, O mountaines of Israel, ye shall shooe forth your branches, and bring forth your fruit to my people of Israel: for they are ready to come.

9 For behold, I come unto you, and I will turne unto you, and ye shall be filled and sown.

10 And I will multiply the men upon you, even all the house of Israel wholly, and the cities shall be inhabited, and the desolate places shall be builded.

11 And I will multiply upon you man and beast, and they shall increase and bring forth, and I will cause you to dwell after your old estate, and I will bestow birdies upon you more then at the first, and ye shall know that I am the Lord.

12 Yea, I will cause men to walke upon you, even my people Israel, and they shall possess you, and ye shall be their inheritance, and ye shall no more be desolate: I will be to them.

13 Thus saith the Lord God, Because they say unto you, Thou land is desolate, ye men, and have become a waste of thy people, 14 Therefore thou shalt devour men no more, neither waste thy people henceforth, saith the Lord God.

15 Neither will I cause men to beare in thee the shame of the heathen any more, neither shall thou beare the reproch of the people any more, neither shall cause thy folk to fall any more, saith the Lord God.

16 ¶ Moreover the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

17 Some of mine, when the house of Israel dwelt in their owne land, they defiled it by their owne wayes, and by their deedes: their way was before me as the filthiest of the menftruous.

18 Wherefore I powred my wrath upon them, for the blood that they had shed in the land, and for their idoles, wherewith they had polluted it.

19 And I scattered them among the heathen, and they were dispersed thorow the countreys: for according to their wayes, and according to their deedes, I iudged them.

20 ¶ And when they entered unto the heathen, whither they went, they polluted my holy Name, when they sayd of them, These are the people of the Lord, and are gone out of his land.

21 But I favoured mine holy Name, which the house of Israel had polluted among the heathen, whither they went.

22 Therefore say unto the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, I doe not this for your sakes, O house of Israel, but for mine: holy Names sake, which ye polluted among the heathen, whither ye went.

23 And I will sanctifie my great Name, which was polluted among the heathen, among whom you have polluted it, and the heathen that know that I am the Lord, saith the Lord God, when I shall be sanctified in you before all their eyes.

24 For I will take you from among the heathen, and gather you out of all countreys, and will bring you into your owne land.

25 Then will I powre cleane water upon you, and ye shall be cleane: yea, from all your filthinesse, and from all your idoles will I cleanse you.

26 ¶ A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you, and I will take away the stonie heart out of your bodie, and I will give you a heart of flesh.

27 And I will put my spirit within you, and cause you to walke in my statutes, and ye shall keepe my iudgements and doe them.

28 And ye shall dwell in the land, that I gave to your fathers, and ye shall be my people, and I will be your God.

29 I will also deliver you from all your filthinesse, and I will call for a come, and will increase it, and lay no famine upon you.

30 For I will multiply the fruite of the trees, and the increase of the field, that ye shall beare no more the reproch of famine among the heathen.

31 Then shall ye remember your owne wicked wayes, and your deedes that were not good, and shall iudge your selves worthy to haue bene destroyed for your iniquities, and for your abominations.

32 Wele known unto you that I doe not this for your sakes saith the Lord God: therefore, O ye house of Israel, be ashamed and confounded for your owne wayes.

33 Thus saith the Lord God, What time as I shall have cleansed you from all your iniquities, I will cause you to dwell in the cities, and the desolate places shall be builded.

34 And the desolate land shall bee tilld, whereas it lay waste in the sight of all that passed by.

35 For they sayd, This waste land was like the garden of Eden, and these waste and desolate and ruinous cities were strong, and were inhabited.

36 Then the residue of the heathen that are left round about you, shall know that the Lord buildeth the ruinous places, and planteth the desolate places: I the Lord haue spoken it, and will doe it.

37 Thus saith the Lord God, I will yet for this bee sought of the house of Israel, to performe it unto them: I will increase them with men like a flocke.

38 As the holy flocke, as the flocke of Jerusalem in their iolenne feastes, so shall the desolate cities bee filled with flocks of men, and they shall know, that I am the Lord.

and say unto Gog, Thus saith the Lord God, In that day when my people of Israel dwelteth safe, thou shalt not know it.

15 And come from thy place out of the North parts, thou and much people with thee: all shall ride upon horses, even a great multitude and a mighty armie.

16 And thou shalt come up against my people of Israel, as a cloud to cover the land:
thou shalt be in the latter dayes, and I will bring thee upon my lande, that the heathen may know me, when I shall be sanctified in thee, O Gog, before their eyes.

17 Thus saith the Lord God, Art not thou he, of whom I have spoken in old time, by the hand of my servants the Prophets of Israel, which prophesied in those dayes and yeeres, that I would bring thee upon them?

18 At the same time also when Gog shall come against the land of Israel, saith the Lord God, my wrath shall arise in mine anger.

19 For in mine indignation and in the fire of my wrath have I spoken it: surely at that time there shall be a great shaking in the land of Israel.

20 So that the fishes of the sea, and the fowles of the heauen, and the beasts of the field, and all that move and creepe upon the earth, and all the merchant are upon the earth shall tremble at my presence, and the mountaines shall be over throwen, and the stones shall fall, and every wall shall fall to the ground.

21 For I will call for a sword against him throughout all my mountaines, saith the Lord God: every mans sword shall be against his brother.

22 And I will pleade against him with persecution, and with blood, and I will cause to raine upon him and upon his bandes, and upon the great people, that are with him, a sore raine, and hailstones, fire, and byrstone.

23 Thus will I be magnified, and sanctified, and known in the eyes of many nations, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 Hee sheweth the destruction of Gog and Magog, 11 The granes of Gog and his hosts. 17 They shall be devoured of birds and beasts. 23 Wherefore the house of Israel in captiue, 24 Their bringing againe from captiue is promised.

Therefore thou house of man, prophete against Gog, and say, Thus saith the Lord God, behold, I come against thee, O Gog, the chief Prince of Meshech and Tubal.

2 And I will bring thee up, and leave but the first part of thee, and will cause thee to come up from the North parts, and will bring thee upon the mountaines of Israel:

3 And I will smite thy bowe out of thy left hand, and I will cause thine arrowes to fall out of thy right hand.

4 Thou shalt fall upon the mountaines of Israel, and all the bands, and the people, that is with thee: for I will gather thee into the birds, and to every feathered fowle and beast of the field to be devoured.

5 Thou shalt fall upon the open fields: for
I have spoken it, saith the Lord God.

6 And I will kindle a fire on Magog, and among them that dwell safely in the Cities, and they shall know that I am the Lord.

7 So will I make mine holy Name known in the middes of my people Israel, and I will not suffer them to pollute mine holy Name any more, and the heathen shall know that I am the Lord, the holy One of Israel.

8 Behold, it is come, and it is done, saith the Lord God: this is the day whereof
I have spoken.

9 And they that dwell by the cities of Israel, shall go forth, and shall burne another fire upon the weapons, and on the shields, and bucklers, upon the bowes, and upon the arrows, and upon the shafts in their hands, and upon the speares, and they shall burne them with fire seven yeeres.

10 So that they shall bring no wood out of the field, neither cut downe any one of the forests: for they shall burne the weapons with fire, and they shall robbe those that robbed them, and spoile those that spoiled them, saith the Lord God.

11 And at the same time will I fight with Gog: a place there for buriall in Israel, even the valley: whither they shall go toward the East part of the Sea: and I will cause them that passe by, to stoppe their noses, and there shall they bury Gog with all his munition: and they shall call it the valley of Hamonogog.

12 And from thence shall I say, that the house of Israel be burying of them, that they may cleanse the land.

13 For all the people of the land shall burie them, and they shall have a name when I shall be glorified, saith the Lord God.

14 And they that chose out men to go continually upon the land with them that trauaile, to bury those that remaine upon the ground, to cleanse it: they shall search to the end of Ierusalem.

15 And the travellers that passe through the land, if any see a manes bone, then shall he set up a signe by it, till the buriers have buried it, in the valley of Hamonogog.

16 And also the name of the cite shall be Hamonogog: thus shall they cleanse the land.

17 And thou house of man, thus saith the Lord God, speake unto every feathered fowle, and to all the beasts of the field, Assemble you to slay, and come: gather you together on every side to my sacrifice, for I doe sacrifice a great sacrifice for you upon the mountaines of Israel, that ye may see flesh and drinke blood.

18 See shall eat the flesh of the vallent, and drinke the blood of the Princes of the earth, of the warriors, of the labours, and of the goates, and of bullocks, even of all fatte beasts of Bashan.

19 And ye shall eat fatte till ye be full,

22 So the house of Israel shall knowe, that I am the Lord their God from that day, and to forreth.

23 And the heathen shall knowe, that the house of Israel went into captivitee for their iniquity, because they trespassed against me: therefore did I my face from them, and gave them into the hand of their enemies: so fell they all by the sword.

24 According to their uncleanness, and according to their transgressions have I done unto them, and hid my face from them.

25 Therefore thus sayth the Lord God, Now will I bring againe the captivitee of Jacob, and have compassion upon the whole house of Israel, and will beivous for mine holy Name.

28 Then shall they knowe, that I am the Lord their God, which caused them to bee ledde into captivitee among the heathen: but I have gathered them unto their owne lande, and have left none of them any more there.

29 Further will I hide my face any more from them: for I have powred out my Spirit upon the house of Israel, sayth the Lord God.

CHAP. XL.

The restoring of the Citie and the Temple.

I the first and twentieth yeere of our being in captivitee, in the beginning of the yeere, in the first day of the month, in the fourteenth yeere after that the citie was smitten, in the selfe same day, the hand of the Lord was upon mee, and brought mee thither.

2 Into the land of Israel brought he me by a divine vision, and set mee upon a very high mountaine, whereupon was as the building of a citie, toward the South.

3 And hee brought mee thither, and behold, there was a man, whose similitude was to looke to, like brasse, with a linen thread in his hand, and a reed to measure with: and he stood at the gate.

4 And the man sayd unto mee, Sonne of man, behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eare, and set thine heart upon all that I shall shew thee: for to the intent that they might see the vision, art thou brought hither: declare all that thou seest, unto the house of Israel.

5 And behold, I saw a wall on the outside of the house round about: and in the space hand was a reede to measure with, of six cubits long, by the cubite, and an hand breadth: so hee measured the breadth of the building with one reede, and the height with one reede.

6 Then came hee unto the gate, which looked toward the East, and went by the flammes thereof, and measured the // poile of the gate which was one reede broad, and // the other poile of the gate, which was one reede broad.

7 And every chamber was one reede long, and one reede broad, and betweene the chambers, were five cubites: and the poile of the gate by the porch of the gate within was one reede.

8 He measured also the porch of the gate within with one reede.

9 Then measured hee the porch of the gate of eight cubites, and the // poile thereof, of two cubites, and the porch of the gate was inward.

10 And the chambers of the gate Eastward, were three on this side, and three on that side: they three were of one measure, and the poile had one measure on this side, and one on that side.

11 And hee measured the breadth of the entrie of the gate ten cubites, and the height of the gate thirteene cubites.

12 The space also betwixt the chambers was one cubite on this side, and the space was one cubite on that side, and the chambers were five cubites on this side, and five cubites on that side.

13 Wee measured then the gate from the rooke of a chamber to the top of the gate: the breadth was five and twentie cubites, doore against doore.

14 Wee made also postes of threescore cubites, and the postes of the court, and of the gate had one measure round about.

15 And upon the fore front of the entrie of the gate unto the forefront of the porch of the gate within were fiftie cubites.

16 And there were narrowe windowes in the chambers, and in their poile: within the gate round about, and likewise to the arches: and the windowes went round about within: and upon the poile were palme trees.

17 Then brought hee me into the outward court, and loe, there were chambers, and a pavement made for the court round about, and thirty chambers were upon the pavement.

18 And the pavement was by the side of the gates our against // length of the gates, and the pavement was beneath.

19 Then hee measured the breadth from the forefront of the lower gate without, unto the forefront of the court within, an hundred cubites Eastward and Northward.

20 And the gate of the outward court, that looked toward the North, measured hee after the length and breadth thereof.

21 And the chambers thereof were, three on this side, and three on that side, and the postes thereof and the arches there-

Chap. 36, 37.

a The Jewes counted the beginning of the yeere after two sorts: for their feasts they began to count in March, and for their other affaires in September: so that this is to be vnderstood of September.

b Which was an Angel in forme of a man that came to measure out this building of merr after the measure of the first gate : the length thereof was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fine and twentieth cubites.

22 And their windows and their arches with their palme trees, were after their measure of the gate that looketh toward y^e East, and the going by unto it had seven steps, and the arches thereof were before them.

23 And the gate of the inner court stood out against the gate toward the South, and toward the East, and he measured from gate to gate an hundred cubites.

24 After that, he brought me toward the South, and loe, there was a gate toward the South, and he measured the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to their measures.

25 And there were windows in it, and in the arches thereof round about like those windows : the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fine and twentieth cubites.

26 And there were seven steps to goe by to it, & the arches thereof were before them : and it had palme trees, one on this side, and another on that side upon the post thereof.

27 ¶ And there was a gate in the inner court toward the South, and he measured from gate to gate toward the South an hundred cubites.

28 And hee brought mee into the inner court by the South gate, & he measured the South gate according to these measures.

29 And the chambers thereof, and the postes thereof, and the arches thereof according to these measures, and there were windows in it, and in the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and fine and twentieth cubites broad.

30 And the arches round about were fine and twentieth cubites long, and fine cubites broad.

31 And the arches thereof were toward the inner court, and palme trees were upon the postes thereof, and the going by to it had right steps.

32 ¶ Again hee brought me into the inner court toward the East, and hee measured the gate according to these measures.

33 And the chambers thereof, & the postes thereof, and the arches thereof were according to these measures, and there were windows therein, and the arches thereof round about, it was fiftie cubites long, and fine and twentieth cubites broad.

34 And the arches thereof were toward the inner court, and palme trees were upon the postes thereof, on this side and on that side, and the going by to it had right steps.

35 ¶ After, hee brought me to the South gate, and measured it, according to these measures.

36 The chambers thereof, the postes thereof, and the arches thereof, and there were windows therein round about : the height was fiftie cubites, and the breadth fine and twentieth cubites.

37 And the postes thereof were toward the inner court, and palme trees were upon the postes thereof on this side, and on that side, and the going by to it had right steps.

58 And euerie chamber, and the entrie thereof was under the postes of the gates : there they washed the burnt offering.

39 And in the porch of the gate stood two tables on this side, and two tables on that side, upon the which they flew the burnt offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering.

40 And at the side beyond the steeple, at the entry of the South gate stood two tables, and on the other side, which was at the porch of the gate, were two tables.

41 Fourte tables were on this side, and fourte tables on that side by the side of the gate, even eight tables whereupon they flew their sacrifice.

42 And the fourte tables were of between stone for the burnt offerings, of a cubit and an halfe long, and a cubit and an halfe broad, and one cubit hie : whereupon also they laide the instruments wherewith they stee the burnt offering and the sacrifice.

43 And within were borders an hand broad, fastened round about, and upon the tables lay the flesh of the offering.

44 And without the inner gate, were the chambers of the singers in the inner court, which was at the side of the South gate, and their prospect was toward the South, and one was at the side of the East gate, having the prospect toward the South.

45 And beside unto mee, this chamber whose prospect is toward the South, is for the Priests that haue charge to keepe the house.

46 And the chamber whose prospect is toward the North, is for the Priests that haue the charge to keepe the altar : these are the sonnes of Sadok among the sonnes of Leui, which may come nere to the Lord to minister vnto him.

47 So he measured the court an hundred cubites long, and an hundred cubites broad, even four square, likewise the altar that was before the house.

48 And he brought me to the porch of the house, and measured the postes of the porch, fine cubites on this side, and fine cubites on that side : and the breadth of the gate was three cubites on this side, and three cubites on that side.

49 The length of the porch was twentieth cubites, and the breadth eleven cubites, and he brought me by the steps whereby they went by to it, and there were pillars by the postes, one on this side, and another on that side.

CHAP. xli.

1 The disposition and order of the building of the Temple and the other things thereto belonging.

Afterward, hee brought me to the Temple and measured the postes, five cubites broad on the one side, and five cubites broad on the other side, which was the breadth of the Tabernacle.

2 And the breadth of the entrie was tenne cubites, and the sides of the entrie were five cubites on the one side, and five cubites on the other side, and hee measured the length thereof forty cubites, and the breadth twentie cubites.

3 Then went hee in, and measured the postes

poises of the entire two cubits, and the entire five cubits, and the breadth of the entire seven cubits.

4 So he measured the length thereof twenty cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits before the Temple. And he said unto me, This is the most holy place.

5 After, he measured the wall of the house, five cubits, and the breadth of every chamber four cubits round about the house on every side.

6 And the chambers were chamber upon chamber, three and thirtie foote high, and they entered into the wall made for the chambers which was round about the house, that the posts might be fastened therein, and not be fastened in the wall of the house.

7 And it was large, and went round mounting upward to the chambers: for the staire of the house was mounting upward round about the house: therefore the house was larger upward: so they went up from the lowest chamber to the highest by the sides.

8 I saw also the house be round about the foundations of the chambers were a full creepe of five great cubits.

9 The thickness of the wall which was for the chamber without was five cubits, and that which remained, was the place of the chambers that were within.

10 And between the chambers was the thickness of twenty cubits round about the house on every side.

11 And the doores of the chambers were toward the place that remained, one doore toward the South, and another doore toward the North, and the breadth of the place that remained, was five cubits round about.

12 Now the building that was before the separate place toward the West corner, was twenty cubits broad, and the wall of the building was five cubits thick, round about, and the length ninety cubits.

13 So he measured the house an hundred cubits long, and the separate place, and the building with the walls thereof were an hundred cubits long.

14 Also the breadth of the forefront of the house, and of the separate place toward the East, was an hundred cubits.

15 And he measured the length of the building, over against the separate place, which was behind it, and the chambers on the one side, and on the other side an hundred cubits with the temple within, and the arches of the court.

16 The postes and the narrow windowes, and the chambers round about, on three sides over against the postes, filled with cedar wood round about, and from the ground up to the windowes, and the windowes were filled.

17 And from above the doore into the inner house and without, and by all the wall round about within and without it was filled according to the measure.

18 And it was made with Cherubims and palme trees, so that a palme tree was between a Cherub and a Cherub: and every Cherub had two faces.

19 So that the face of a man was toward the palme tree on the one side, and the face of a lion toward the palme tree on the other side: thus was it made throughout all the house round about.

20 From the ground unto above the doore were Cherubims and palme trees made as in the wall of the Temple.

21 The postes of the Temple were squared, and thus to looker unto was the similitude and forme of the Sanctuary.

22 The altar of wood was three cubits high, and the length thereof two cubits, and the corners thereof, and the length thereof, and the sides thereof were of wood. And he said unto me, This is the table that shall be before the Lord.

23 And the Temple and the Sanctuary had two doores.

24 And the doores had two wickets, even two turning wickets, two wickets for one doore, and two wickets for another doore.

25 And upon the doores of the Temple there were made Cherubims, and palme trees, like as was made upon the walls, and there were thick planties upon the forefront of the porch without.

26 And there were narrow windowes and palme trees on the one side, and on the other side, by the sides of the porch, and upon the sides of the house, and thick planties.

CHAP XLII.

Of the chambers of the Temple for the Priests, and the holy things.

Then brought hee me into the better court by the way toward the South, and hee brought me into the chamber that was over against the separate place, and which was before the building toward the South.

2 Before the length of an hundred cubits, was the South doore, and it was five cubits broad.

3 Over against the twenty cubits which were for the inner court, and over against the pavement, which was for the better court, was chamber against chamber in three rows.

4 And before the chambers was a gallerie of tenne cubits wide, and within was a way of one cubit, and their doores toward the South.

5 Now the chambers above were narrower: for those chambers seemed to ent by their, so wit, the lower, and those that were in the midst of the building.

6 For they were in three rows, but had not pillars as the pillars of the court: therefore there was a difference from them beneath, and from the midstmost, even from the ground.

7 And the wall that was without our against the chambers, toward the better court on the forefront of the chambers, was five cubits long.

8 For the length of the chambers that were in the better court, was fiftie cubits: and for, before the Temple were an hundred cubits.

9 And under these chambers was the entry on the East side, as one goeth into them from the outward court.

10 The chambers were in the thicknesse of the wall of the court toward the East, over against the separate place, and over against the building.

11 And the way before them was after the manner of the chambers, which were toward the South, as long as they, and as broad as they: and all their entries were like, both according to their fashions, and according to their doors.

12 And according to the doors of the chambers that were toward the South, was a doore in the corner of the way, even the way directly before the wall toward the East, as one entereth.

13 Then said he unto mee, The North chambers, and the South chambers which are before the separate place, they bee holy chambers, wherein the Priests that approach unto the Lord shall eat the most holy things: there shall they lay the most holy things, and the meat offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering: for the place is holy.

14 When the Priests enter therein, they shall not goe out of the holy place into the utter court, but there they shall lay their garments wherein they minister: for they are holy, and shall put on other garments, and so shall approach to those things which are for the people.

15 Now when hee had made an ende of measuring the inner house, hee brought mee forth toward the gate whose prospect is toward the East, & measured it round about.

16 He measured the East side with the measuring reed, five hundred reedes, even with the measuring reed round about.

17 He measured also the North side, five hundred reedes, even with the measuring reed round about.

18 And he measured the South side, five hundred reedes with the measuring reed.

19 He turned about also to the West side, and measured five hundred reedes with the measuring reed.

20 He measured it by the four sides: it had a wall round about, five hundred reedes long, and five hundred broad, to make a separation betwene the Sanctuary, and the prophane place.

CHAP. XLIII.

9 Hee sheweth the glory of God going into the Temple, from whence it had before departed. 7 He mentioneth the idleness of the children of Israel, for the which they were consumed and brought to nought. 9 He is commanded to call them againe to repentance.

Afterward hee brought mee to the gate, even the gate that turneth toward the East.

1 And behold the glory of the God of Israel came from out of the East, whose voice was like a noise of great waters, and the earth was made light with his glory.

3 And the vision which I saw was * like the vision, even as the vision that I saw when I came to destroy the Citie: and the visions were like the vision that I saw by the river Chebar: and I fell upon my face.

4 And the glory of the Lord came into the house by the way of the gate, whose prospect is toward the East.

5 So the Spirit tooke me up, & brought me into the inner court, and behold the glory of the Lord filled the house.

6 And I heard one speaking unto me out of the house: and there stood a man by me,

7 Which said unto me, Sonne of man, this place is my Throne, and the place of the soles of my feet, whereas I will dwell among the children of Israel for ever, and the house of Israel shall no more defile mine holy Name, neither they nor their kings by their fornication, nor by the carckisses of their kings in their high places.

8 Albeit they let their thresholds by their thresholds, and their posts by my posts (for there was but a wall betwene me and them) yet have they defiled mine holy Name with their abominations that they have committed: wherefore I have consumed them in my wrath.

9 Now therefore let them put away their fornication, and the carckisses of their kings farre from me, and I will dwell among them for ever.

10 Thou sonne of man, shew this house to the house of Israel, that they may bee ashamed of their wickednesse, and let them measure the pattern.

11 And if they be ashamed of all that they have done, shew them the forme of the house, and the pattern thereof, and the going out thereof, and the coming in thereof, and the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and all the figures thereof, and all the lawes thereof, and write it in their sight, that they may keepe the whole fashion thereof, and all the ordinances thereof, and doe them.

12 This is the description of the house, it shall be upon the top of the Mount: all the limits thereof round about shall be most holy. Behold, this is the description of the house.

13 And these are the measures of the Altar after the cubites: the cubite is a cubite and an hand breadth, even the bottome shall be a cubite, and the breadth a cubite, and the border thereof by the edge thereof round about shall be a span: and this shall be the height of the Altar.

14 And from the bottome which toucheth the ground to the lower place, shall be two cubites, and the breadth one cubite, and from the lower place to the great piece shall be four cubites, and the breadth one cubite.

15 So the Altar shall be four cubites, and from the altar upward shall be four cubites.

16 And the altar shall be twelve cubits long and two line broad, and four square in the four corners thereof.

17 And the frame shall be fourteene cubits long, & fourteene broad in the four square corners thereof, and the border about it shall be half a cubit, and the bottome thereof shall be a cubit about, and the steps thereof shall be turned toward the East.

Chap. 33.
* When I prophesied the destruction of the Citie by the Caldeans.

18 And he said unto me, Some of man, thus saith the Lord God, These are the ordinances of the Altar in the day when they shall make it to offer the burnt offering thereon, and to sprinkle blood thereon.

19 And thou shalt give to the Priests, and to the Levites that be of the seed of Zadok, which approach unto me, to minister unto me, saith the Lord God, a young bullocke for a sinne offering.

20 And thou shalt take of the blood thereof, and put it on the four corners of it, and on the four corners of the frame, and upon the border round about: thus shalt thou cleanse it and reconcile it.

21 Thou shalt take the bullocke also of the sin offering, and burne it in the appointed place of the house without the Sanctuary.

22 But the second day thou shalt offer an hee goat without blemish for a sinne offering, and they shall cleanse the Altar, as they did cleanse it with the bullocke.

23 When thou shalt make an ende of cleansing it, thou shalt offer a young bullocke without blemish, and a ramme out of the flocke without blemish.

24 And thou shalt offer them before the Lord, and the Priests shall call salt upon them, and they shall offer them for a burnt offering unto the Lord.

25 Seven dayes shalt thou prepare every day an hee goat for a sin offering: they shall also prepare a young bullocke, and a ramme out of the flocke without blemish.

26 Thus shalt they seven dayes purifie the Altar, and cleanse it, and consecrate it.

27 And when these dayes are expired, upon the eighth day and so forth, the Priests shall make your burnt offerings upon the Altar, and your peace offerings, and I will accept you, saith the Lord God.

CHAP. XLIII.

Hee representeth the people for their offences. 7 The uncircumcised in heart, and in the flesh. 9 Who are to bee admitted to the service of the Temple, and who so be refused.

Then hee brought mee toward the gate of the outward Sanctuary, which turneth toward the East, and it was shut.

2 Then said the Lord unto mee, This gate shall bee shut, and shall not bee opened, and no man shall enter by it, because the Lord God of Israel hath entered by it, and it shall bee shut.

3 It appertaineth to the Prince: the prince himselfe shall sit in it to eat bread before the Lord: hee shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate, and shall goe out by the way of the same.

4 Then brought hee mee toward the second gate before the house: & when I looked, behold, the glory of the Lord filled the house of the Lord, and I fell upon my face.

5 And the Lord said unto me, Sonne of man, I marke well, and behold with thine eyes, and heare with thine eares, all that I say unto thee, concerning all the ordinances of the house of the Lord, and all the Lawes thereof, and marke well the entering in of the house with every going forth of the Sanctuary.

6 And thou shalt say to the rebellious, even to the house of Israel, Thus saith the Lord God, I house of Israel, yee have enough of all your abominations,

7 Seeing that yee have brought into my Sanctuary strangers, uncircumcised in heart, and uncircumcised in flesh, to be in my Sanctuary, to pollute mine house, when yee offer my bread, even fat and blood: and they have broken my Covenant, because of all your abominations.

8 For yee have not kept the ordinances of mine holy things: but you your selves have set other to take the charge of my Sanctuary.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, No stranger uncircumcised in heart, nor uncircumcised in flesh, shall enter into my Sanctuary, of any stranger that is amongst the children of Israel,

10 Neither yet the Levites that are gone backe from mee, when Israel went astray, which went astray from me after their idols, but they shall beare their iniquitie.

11 And they shall serve in my Sanctuary, and keepe the gates of the house, and minister in the house: they shall slay the burnt offering and the sacrifice for the people, and they shall stand before them to serve them.

12 Because they served before their idols, and caused the house of Israel to fall into iniquitie: therefore have I lift up mine hand against them, saith the Lord God, and they shall beare their iniquitie.

13 And they shall not come neere unto me to do the office of the Priest unto me, neither shall they come neere unto any of mine holy things in the most holy place, but they shall beare their shame and their abominations, which they have committed.

14 And I will make them keepers of the watch of the house, for all the service thereof, and for all that shall be done therein.

15 But the Priests of the Levites, the sonnes of Zadok, that keepe the charge of my Sanctuary, when the children of Israel went astray from mee, they shall come neere to me to serve me, and they shall stand before me to offer me the fat and the blood, saith the Lord God.

16 They shall enter into my Sanctuary, and shall come neere to my table to serve me, and they shall keepe my charge.

17 And when they shall enter in at the gates of the inner court, they shall be clothed with linnen garments, and no wooll shall come upon them, while they serve in the gates of the inner court, and within.

18 They shall have linnen bonnets upon their heads, and shall have linnen breeches upon their loynes: they shall not gird themselves in the wearing places.

19 And when they goe forth into the better court, even to the better court to the people, they shall put off their garments, wherein they ministered, and lay them in the holy chambers, and they shall put on other garments: for they shall not sanctifie the people

b For they had brought idols, which were of other countries, to teach them their idols.

c Ye have not offered unto me according to my Law.

d The Levites which had committed idolatry, were put from their dignity, and could not be received into the Priests office, although they had bin of the house of Aaron, but must serve the inferior office, as to watch and to keepe the doors, Reade 2. i. i. 3. 3.

20 They shall not also shave their heads, nor suffer their locks to grow long, but round their heads.

21 * Neither shall any Priest drinke wine when they enter into the inner court.

22 Neither shal they take for their wiues a widow, or her that is diuorced, but they shall take maidens of the seede of the house of Israel, or a widow that hath bene the widow of a Priest.

23 And they shall teach my people the difference betweene the holy and profane, and cause them to discerne betweene the vncleane and the cleane.

24 And in controuersie they shall stand to iudge, and they shall iudge it according to my iudgements: and they shall keepe my lawes and my statutes in all mine assemblies, and they shall sanctifie my Sabbaths.

25 *And they shall come at no dead person to defile themselves, except at their father, or mother, or sonne, or daughter, brother or sister, that hath had yet none husband : in these may they be defiled.

26 And when he is cleansed, they shall reckon unto him seven days.

27 And when hee goeth into the Sanctuary unto the inner court to minister in the Sanctuary, hee shall offer his sinne offering, saith the Lord God.

28 * And the Priesthood shall bee their inheritance, yea, I am their inheritance: therefore shall ye give them no possession in Israel, for I am their possession.

29 They shall eat the meat offering, and the sinne offering, and the trespass offering, and every dedicate thing in Israel, shall bee theirs.

30 * And all the first of all the first borne, and every oblation, even all of every sort of your oblations shall be the Priests. Ye shall also giue vnto the Priest the first of your dough, that he may cause the blessing to rest to thine house.

31 The Priestes shall not eat of any thing that is dead, or to me, whether it bee foule or beast.

CHAPTER XLV.

2 Out of the land of promise are there separate four portions, of which the first is given to the Priest and to the Temple, the second to the Levites, the third to the cities, the fourth to the prince. 9 An exhortation unto the heads of the isle. 10 Of iust weights and measures.

13 And coner, when yee shall divide the land for inheritance, ye shall offer an oblation unto the Lord, an holy portion of the land, five and twentieth thousand reedes long, and ten thousand broad: this shall bee holy in all the borders thereof round about.

2 Of this there shall bee for the Sanctuary five hundredeth in length, with five hun-dredeth in breadth, all square round about, and fiftie cubites round about for the suburbs thereof.

3 And of this measure shalt thou measure the length of five and twenty thousand, and the breadth of three thousand : and in it shall be the Sanctuary, and the most holy place.

4. The holy portion of the land shall be the Priests, which minister in the Sanctuary, which come neere to serue the Lord: and it shall bee a place for their houses, and an holy place for the Sanctuary.

5 And in the five and twenty thousand of length, and the ten thousand of breadth, shall the Levites that minister in the house, haue their possession for twenty chambers.

6 Also ye shall appoint the possession of the city five thousand broad, and five and twenty thousand long over against the oblation of the holy portion: it shall be for the whole house of Israel.

7 And a portion shall be for the prince on the one side, and on that side of the oblation of the holy portion, and of the possession of the cities, even before the oblation of the holy portion, and before the possession of the cities from the West corner Westward, and from the East corner Eastward, "and the length shall be by one of the portions from the West border unto the East border.

8 In this land shall bee his possession in Israel: and my Princes shall no more oppress my people, and the rest of the land shall they give to the house of Israel, according to their tribes.

9 Thus saith the Lord God, Let it be sufficient you, O Princes of Israel: leave off cruelty and oppression, and execute Judgement and Justice: take away your exactions from my people saith the Lord God.

IO Ye shall haue iust balances, and a true
Ephah, and a true Bath.

11 The Ephah and the Bath shall be equal: A Bath shall containe the tenth part of an Homer, and an Ephah the tenth part of an Homer: the equalitye thereof shalbe after the Homer.

12 * And the shekel shall bee twentieth gerahs, and twentieth shekels, and ^d six and twentieth shekels, and fiftene shekels shall be your Maneh.

13 This is the oblation that ye shall offer, the first part of an Ephah of an homer of wheat, and ye shall give the first part of an Ephah of an homer of barley.

14 Concerning the ordinance of the oyle, even of the Bath of oyle, yee shall offer the tenth part of a Bath out of the Coz, (renne Baths are an Homer, for ten Baths fill an Homer.)

15 And one lambe of two hundred sheepe out of the fat pastures of Israel for a meate offering, and for a burnt offering, & for peace offerings, to make reconciliation for them,
saith the Lord God.

16 All the people of the land shall give this oblation for the Prince in Israel.

17 And it shall be the Princes part to give burnt offerings, and meate offerings, and drink offerings in the leſſeme fraſh, and in the new Moones, and in the Sabbaths, and in all the high fraſh of the houſe of Iſrael: they ſhall prepare the ſinne offering, and the meate offering, and the burnt offering, and the peace offerings to make reconciliation for the houſe of Iſrael.

CHAP. XLVI.

1 The sacrifices of the Sabbath and of the new Moone, 8 Thow which doerest they must go in, or comout of the Temple, &c.

Thus saith the Lord God, The gate of the inner court, that is toward the East, shall be shut the six working dayes: but on the Sabbath it shall be opened, and in the day of the new moone it shall be opened.

2 And the prince shall enter by the way of the porch of that gate without, and shall stand by the post of the gate, and the Priests shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings, and hee shall worship at the threshold of the gate, after hee shall goe forth, but the gate shall not be shut till the evening.

3 Likewise the people of the land shall worship at the entry of this gate before the Lord on the Sabbaths, and in the new Moones.

4 And the burnt offering that the prince shall offer unto the Lord on the Sabbath day shall be five lambs without blemish, and a ramme without blemish.

a That is, as much as he will,

5 And the meat offering shall be an Ephah for a ramme: and the meat offering for the lambs: a gift of his hand, and an Ephah of oyle to an Ephah.

6 And in the day of the new moone it shall be a young bullocke without blemish, and five lambs and a ramme: they shall be without blemish.

b Meaning, as he shall thinke good,

7 And he shall prepare a meat offering, even an Ephah for a bullocke, and an Ephah for a ramme, and for the lambs according as hee shall thinke good, and an Ephah of oyle to an Ephah.

8 And when the prince shall enter, he shall goe in by the way of the porch of that gate, and he shall goe forth by the way thereof.

9 But when the people of the land shall come before the Lord in the solemn feastes, hee that entereth in by the way of the North gate to worship, shall goe out by the way of the South gate: and hee that entereth by the way of the South gate, shall goe forth by the way of the North gate: hee shall not returne by the way of the gate whereby hee came in: but they shall goe forth out against it.

10 And the prince shall be in the midst of them: hee shall goe in when they goe in, and when they goe forth, they shall goe forth together.

11 And in the feastes, and in the solemnities, the meate offering shall be an Ephah to a bullocke, and an Ephah to a ramme, and to the lambs, the gift of his hand, and an Ephah of oyle to an Ephah.

12 Now when the prince shall make a free burnt offering, or peace offerings freely unto the Lord, one shall then open him the gate, that turneth toward the East, and hee shall make his burnt offering, and his peace offerings as hee did on the Sabbath day: after, he shall goe forth, and when he is gone forth, one shall shut the gate.

13 Thou shalt daily make a burnt offering unto the Lord of a Lamb of one yeere without blemish: thou shalt doe it every morning.

14 And thou shalt prepare a meat offering for it every morning, the first part of an Ephah, and the third part of an Ephah of oyle, to mingle with the fine flour: this meate offering shall be continually by a perpetual ordinance unto the Lord.

15 Thus shall they prepare the lambe, and the meate offering, and the oyle every morning, for a continual burnt offering.

16 Thus saith the Lord God, If the Prince give a gift of his inheritance unto any of his sonnes, it shall be his sonnes, and it shall be their possession by inheritance.

17 But if he give a gift of his inheritance to one of his servants, then it shall be his to the years of libertie after, it shall returne to the prince, but his inheritance shall remaine to his sonnes for ever.

18 Moreover, the prince shall not take of the peoples inheritance, nor thrust them out of their possession: but hee shall cause his sonnes to inherit of his owne possession, that my people bee not scattered every man from his possession.

19 After hee brought mee through the entry, which was at the side of the gate, into the holy chambers of the Priests, which stood toward the North: and behold, there was a place at the West side of them.

20 Then said hee unto mee, This is the place where the Priests shall see the trespass offering, and the sinne offering, where they shall bake the meate offering, that they should not beare them into the inner court, to sanctifie the people.

21 Then he brought me forth into the outer court, and caused mee to goe by the four corners bottoms of the court; and before, in every corner of the court, there was a court.

22 In the four corners of the court there were courts toward of forty cubits long, and thirty broad: these four courts were of one measure.

23 And there was a wall about them, even about those four, & hitches were made under the wall round about.

24 Then said he unto me, This is the kitchen where the ministers of the house shall set the sacrifice of the people.

CHAP. XLVII.

1 The vision of the waters, that came out of the Temple. 2 The crafts of the land of promise, and the dominion thereof by tribes.

Afterward he brought me into the door of the house: and behold, waters issued out from under the threshold of the house Eastward: for the forefront of the house stood toward the East, and the waters came down from under the right side of the house, at the South side of the altar.

2 Then brought he me out toward the Southgate, and led me about by the way without unto the better gate, by the way that turneth Eastward: and behold, there came fourth waters on the right side.

3 And when the man that had the line in his hand went forth Eastward, he measured a thousand cubits, and he brought me through the waters: the waters were to the ancles.

4 Again he measured a thousand, and brought me through the waters: the waters were to the knees: again he measured a thousand, and brought me through: the waters were to the loins.

5 Afterward he measured a thousand, and it was a river that I could not pass over: for the waters were risen, and the waters did flow as a river that could not be passed over.

6 And he said unto me, Son of man, hast thou seen this? Then he brought me, & caused me to return to the brink of the river.

7 Now when I returned, behold, at the brink of the river were very many trees on the one side, and on the other.

8 Then said he unto me, These waters issue out toward the East country, and run down into the plain, and shall go into one sea: they shall run into another sea, and the waters shall be wholesome.

9 And every thing that liveth, which I brought, whithersoever the rivers shall come, shall live, and there shall be a very great multitude of fish, because the waters shall come thither: for they shall be wholesome, and every thing that liveth which the river cometh.

10 And there the fishers shall stand upon it, & from En-gedi even unto En-eglain, they shall spread out their nets: for their fish shall be according to their kinds, as the fish of the maine sea, exceeding many.

11 But the myrtle places thereof, and the marishes thereof shall not be wholesome: they shall be made salt pits.

And in as great abundance as in the great Ocean where they are found. 1 That is, the wicked and reprobate.

12 And by the river upon the border thereof, on this side, and on that side shall grow all fruitfull trees, whose leaves shall not fade, neither shall the fruit thereof fail: it shall bring forth new fruit according to his months, because their waters issue out of the Sanctuary: and the fruit thereof shall be for medicine.

13 & Thus said the Lord God, This shall be the border, whereby ye shall divide the land according to the twelve tribes of Israel: Joseph shall have two portions.

14 And ye shall inherit it, one as well as another: concerning the which I left my name unto you, and ye shall have it.

15 And this shall be the border of the land toward the South sea, from the maine Sea toward Hebron as men go to Sechem.

16 Hamath, Brachon, Sidon, which is between the border of Damascus, and the border of Hamath and Hama, Hama, which is to be the coast of Hama.

17 And the border from the Sea shall be Hazar, Enan, and the border of Damascus, and the residue of the South, Hamath, and the border Hamath: so shall be the South part.

18 But the East side shall ye measure from Hamath, and from Damascus, and from Hebron, and from the land of Idari by Jordan, and from the border unto the East sea: and so shall be the East part.

19 And the South side shall be toward Teman from Camar to the waters of Shephoch in Kadish, and the river to the maine sea: so shall be the South part toward Teman.

20 The West part also shall be the great sea from the border, till a man come over against Hamath: this shall be the West part.

21 So shall ye divide the land unto you, according to the tribes of Israel.

22 And you shall divide it by lot for an inheritance unto you, and to the strangers that dwell among you, which shall beget children among you, and they shall be unto you as home in the country among the children of Israel, they shall part inheritance with you in the midst of the tribes of Israel.

23 And in what tribe the stranger dwelleth, there shall ye give him his inheritance, saith the Lord God.

7 And by the border of Reuben, from the East quarter unto the West quarter, a portion for Judah.

8 And by the border of Judah, from the East part unto the West part, shall be the offering which they shall offer of fine and twenty thousand reeds broad, and of length as one of the other parts, from the East side unto the West side, and the Sanctuary shall be in the midst of it.

9 The oblation that ye shall offer unto the Lord shall be of fine and twenty thousand long, and of ten thousand the breadth.

10 And for them, even for the Priests, make this holy oblation, toward the North side and twenty thousand long, and toward the West side ten thousand broad, and toward the East side ten thousand broad, and toward the South side and twenty thousand long, and the Sanctuary of the Lord shall be in the midst thereof.

11 It shall be for the Priests, that are sanctified of the Gomer of Sadoch, which have kept my charge, which went not astray, when the children of Israel went astray, as the Levites went astray.

12 Therefore this oblation of the land that is offered, shall be theirs, as a thing most holy by the border of the Levites.

13 And once against the border of the Priests, the Levites shall have fine and twenty thousand long, and ten thousand broad: all the length shall be fine and twenty thousand, and the breadth ten thousand.

14 And they shall not sell of it, neither change it, nor abscure the first fruits of the land: for it is holy unto the Lord.

15 And the five thousand that are left in the breadth over against the fine and twenty thousand, shall be a prophane place for the city, for housing, and for suburbs, and the city shall be in the midst thereof.

16 And there shall be the measures thereof, the North part five hundred and four thousand, and the South part five hundred and four thousand, and the East part five hundred and four thousand, and the West part five hundred and four thousand.

17 And the suburbs of the city shall be toward the North two hundred and fifty, and toward the South two hundred and fifty, and toward the East two hundred and fifty, and toward the West two hundred and fifty.

18 And the residue in length over against the oblation of the holy portion shall be ten thousand Eastward, and ten thousand Westward, and it shall be over against the oblation of the holy portion, and the increase thereof shall be for food unto them that serve in the city.

19 And they that serve in the city, shall be of all the tribes of Israel that shall serve therein.

20 All the oblation shall be fine and twenty thousand with five and twenty thousand: you shall offer this oblation four square for the Sanctuary, and for the possession of the city.

21 And the residue shall be for the prince on the one side and on the other of the oblation of the Sanctuary, and of the possession of the city, over against the fine and twenty thousand of the oblation toward the East border, and Westward over against the fine and twenty thousand toward the West border, over against that be of the portion of the prince: this shall be the holy oblation, and the house of the Sanctuary shall be in the midst thereof.

22 Moreover, from the possession of the Levites, and from the possession of the city, that which is in the midst shall be the princes: between the border of Judah, and between the border of Benjamin shall be the princes.

23 And the rest of the tribes shall be thus: from the East part unto the West part, Benjamin shall be a portion.

24 And by the border of Benjamin, from the East side unto the West side, Simeon a portion.

25 And by the border of Simeon from the East part unto the West part, Issachar a portion.

26 And by the border of Issachar from the East side unto the West, Zebulun a portion.

27 And by the border of Zebulun from the East part unto the West part, Gad a portion.

28 And by the border of Gad at the South side, toward Tamar, the border shall be from Tamar unto the waters of Ghoribah in Kadesh, and to the river that runneth into the main sea.

29 This is the land, which ye shall distribute unto the tribes of Israel for inheritance, and these are their portions, saith the Lord God.

30 And these are the bounds of the city, on the North side five hundred, and four thousand measures.

31 And the gates of the city shall be after the names of the tribes of Israel, the gates Northward, one gate of Reuben, one gate of Judah, and one gate of Levi.

32 And at the East side five hundred and four thousand, and three gates, and one gate of Joseph, one gate of Benjamin, and one gate of Dan.

33 And at the South side, five hundred and four thousand measures, three ports, one gate of Simeon, one gate of Issachar, and one gate of Zebulun.

34 At the West side five hundred and four thousand, with three gates, one gate of Gad, one gate of Asher, and one gate of Naphtali.

THE ARGUMENT.

THe great providence of God, and his singular mercie toward his Church are most lively here set forth, who never leaveth his defective, but now in their greatest miseries and afflictions giueth them Prophets, as Ezekiel, and Daniel, whom hee adorned with such graces of his holy Spirit, that Daniel about all other had most special revelations of such things as should come to the Church, even from the time that they were in captivity, to the last end of the world, and to the general resurrection, as of the foure monarchies and Empires of all the world, to wit, of the Babylonians, Persians, Grecians and Romanes. Alfo of the certaine number of the times even vnto Christ, when all ceremonies and sacrifices should cease, because he should be the accomplishment thereof: moreover, he sheweth Christs office and the cause of his death, which was by his sacrifice to take away sinnes, and to bring everlasting life. And as from the beginning God ever exercised his people vnder the crosse, so hee teacheth here, that after that Christ is offered, hee will still leave this exercise to his Church vntill the dead rise againe, and Christ gather his into his kingdome in the heauens.

1 The captiuitie of Iehoiakim king of Iudah, 4 The king chooseth certaine young men of the Iewes to leaue his law, 5 They haue the kings ordinance appointed, 8 but they abstaine from it.

a Hee is King. 24. 1.

b Which was a plaine by Babylon, where was the temple of the great god, and is here taken for Babylon. c Who was as master of the wardes, d Hee calleth them Eunuches whom the King nourished and brought vp to be rulers of other countreys afterward. e His purpose was to keepe them as hostages, and that he might shew himselfe victorious, and also by their good increase and learning of his religion, they might fauour rather him than the Iewes, and so to be able to serue him as gouernours in their land: moreover by this means the Iewes might be better kept in subiection, fearing other wise to procure hurt to these noble men. f The king required three things: that they should be of noble birth, that they should be witty and learned, and that they should be of a strong and comely nature, that they might doe him better seruice: this he did for his owne commendation, the more it is not to praise his libertie: yet in this he is worthy of praise, that hee esteemed learning, and knewe that it was a necessarie meane to gouerne by.

g That they might forget their owne religion and Country fashions, to serue him the better to his purpose: yet it is not to be thought that Daniel did leaue any knowledge that was not godly: in all points he refused the abuse of things & superstition, in so much that hee would not eate the meate which the King appointed him, but was content to learne the knowledge of naturall things, h That by their good entertainment, they might learne to forget the mediocrity of their owne people.

thing them: three yeres, that at the end thereof, they might stand: b before the king.

6 Now among these three certaine of the children of Iudah, Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah.

7 Vnto whom the chiefe of the Eunuches gave other names: for hee called Daniel, Belteshazzar, and Hananiah, Shadrach, and Mishael, and Azariah, Abdenago.

8 But Daniel had determined in his heart, that hee would not b besee himselfe with the portion of the kings meate, nor with the wine which hee dranke: therefore he required the chiefe of the Eunuches that he might not drinke himselfe.

9 Now God had brought Daniel into fauour, and tender loue with the chiefe of the Eunuches.)

10 And the chiefe of the Eunuches sayd vnto Daniel, I feare my lord the king, who hath appointed your meate and your drinke: therefore if hee see your faces worse liking, then the other children, which are of your sort, then shall ye make me lose mine bread vnto the king.

11 Then sayd Daniel vnto the chiefe of the Eunuches, whom the king had set over Daniel, Hananiah, Mishael, and Azariah, 12 Be come thy seruants, I beseech thee, ten dayes, and let them giue vs 7 pulse to eat, and water to drinke.

13 Then let our countenances be looked vpon before thee, and the countenances of the children that eate of the portion of

should not entice him by this sweete poyson, to forget his religion and accustomed sobriety, and that in his meate and drinke he might daily remember of what people he was: and Daniel bringeth this in to shew how God from the beginning assisted him with his Spirit, and at length called him to be a Prophet. n He supposed they did this for their religion, which was contrary to the Babylonians: and therefore herein he representeth them which are of no religion: for neither hee would condemne them, nor maintain his owne. o - Meaning, that within this space he might haue the triall, and that no man should be able to disesteem it: and thus hee spake, being moued by the Spirit of God. p Not that it was a thing abominable to eate dainty meates and to drinke wine, as both before and after they did, but if they should haue hereby becomen worse to the King, and haue refused their owne religion, that meate and drinke had bene accursed.

the kings meat; and as then fast, dealt with the servants.

14. So he consented to them in this matter, and proved them ten dayes.

15. And at the end of ten dayes, their countenances appeared fairer, and in better liking than all the childrens, which did eat the portion of the kings meat.

16. And when the king took away the portion of their meat, and the wine that they should drinke, and gave them pulse.

17. As for these four children, God gave them knowledge, and understanding in all learning, and wisdom; also he gave Daniel understanding of all visions and dreames.

18. Now when the time was expired, that the king had appointed to bring them in, the chief of the eunuchs brought them before Beruchad-nazzar.

19. And the king communed with them, and amongst them all was found none like Daniel, Dananias, Michael, and Azarias: therefore those they beloved the king.

20. And in all matters of wisdom, and understanding that the king enquired of them, he found them ten times better then all the enchanters & astrologians that were in all his realm.

21. And Daniel was unto the first year of king Cyrus.

shall shew the interpretation.

And the king answered, and said to the Chaldeans, If he thing is gone from me. If ye will not make me understand the dreame with the interpretation thereof, ye shall be hanged in pieces, and your houses shall be made a stake.

6. But if ye declare the dreame, and the interpretation thereof, ye shall receive of gifts and rewards, and great honour: therefore shew me the dreame, and the interpretation of it.

7. They answered againe, and said, Let the king know his servants the dreame, and we will declare the interpretation thereof.

8. Then the king answered, and said, I know certainly that ye would gainst the time, because ye see the thing is gone from me.

9. But if ye will not declare mee the dreame, there is but one judgement for you: for ye have prepared lying & corrupt words, to please before me till the time be changed: therefore tell mee the dreame, that I may know, if ye can declare mee the interpretation thereof.

10. Then the Chaldeans answered before the king, and said, There is no man upon earth, that can declare the thing: neither yet, there is neither king, nor prince, nor lord that sheweth his things at an instance of an astrologer, or Chaldean.

11. For it is a rare thing that the king requirith, and there is none other that can declare it before the king, except the gods whose dwelling is not with men.

12. For this cause the king was angry, and in great furie, and commanded to destroy all the wise men of Babel.

13. And when sentence was given, the wise men were slaine, and they sought Daniel and his fellows to be put to death.

14. Then Daniel answered with counsel and wisdom to Arioch the Kings chief steward, which was gone forth to put to death the wise men of Babel.

15. Yes he answered, and said unto Arioch the Kings captain, Why is the sentence so hasty from the king? Then Arioch declared the thing to Daniel.

16. So Daniel went, and desired the king that he would give him leave, and that hee would shew the king the interpretation thereof.

17. Then Daniel went to his house and shewed the matter to Dananias, Michael, and Azarias his companions.

18. That they should deferre the God of heaven for grace in this secret, that Daniel and his fellows should not perish with the rest of the wise men of Babel.

19. Then was the secret revealed unto Daniel in a vision by night: therefore Daniel praised the God of heaven.

20. And Daniel answered and said, The game of God be praised for ever and ever: for wisdom and strength are his.

21. And hee changed the times and seasons: hee taketh away kings: hee setteth up kings: hee giveth wisdom unto the wise, and

This is a full reward of their arrogance

(which wanted of them) that they had the knowledge of all things; that they should be proved fools, and that to their perpetual shame and confusion.

Herein appeared their ignorance, that notwithstanding their brag, yet were they not able to tell the dreame, except hee entred them into the same, and therefore they would pretend knowledge where was but mere ignorance, and so as deluded the people, they were worthy to die.

¶ Ebr. Judah the same.

CHAP. II.

1. The dreame of Nebuchad-nazzar. 2. The king commeth into the first wint of Babylon to his home, because they could not interpret his dreame.

3. Daniel requirith time to solve the question. 4. Daniel brought unto the king, and sheweth him his dreame and the interpretation thereof. 5. Of the overthrowing kingdoms of Chalde.

And in the second year of the reign of Beruchad-nazzar, Beruchad-nazzar dreamed a dreame, wherein his spirit was troubled, and his sleep was upon him.

2. Then the king commanded to call the enchanters, and the astrologians, & the sorcerers, and the Chaldeans, that they shew the king his dreame: in they came and stood before the king.

3. And the king said unto them, I have dreamed a dreame, and my spirit was troubled to know the dreame.

4. Then spake the Chaldeans to the king in the Chaldean language, O King, thus saith the servants thy dreame, and we

a The father and the sonne were both called by this name; so that this is meant of the sonne, when he reigned alone; for he reigned also after a sort with his father. b Not that hee had many dreames, but because many matters were concerned in this dreame. c Because it was so rare and strange a dreame, that he had not had the like. d He was to haue with sleepe that he began to sleepe againe. Some read, and his sleepe was broken from him. e For all these Astrologers and Sorcerers called themselves by this name of honor, as though all the wisdom and knowledge of the revery depended upon them, & that all other countreys were void of this knowl. f That is, in the Syrian tongue, which differed not much from the Chaldean, save it seemed to be more eloquent, and therefore the learned used to speake thus the Jewish writers doe to this day.

k He sheweth that man hath neither wisdom nor knowledge, but very darke blindness and ignorance of himselfe for it cometh onely of God, that man understandeth any thing.

l To whom thou madest thy promise, and who liued in thy feare: whereby he excluded all other gods.

m Meaning, power to interpret it.

n Whereby appereth that many were slaine, as verse 13, and the rest Daniels also were persecuted under conditions, not that Daniel favoured their wicked profession, but that hee had respect to equite, because the king proceeded according to his wicked affection, & not considering if his sentence were lawfull or no.

o He affirmeth that man by reason & art is not able to attaine to the counsell of Gods secrets, but the understanding onely thereof must come of God, whereby he finisheth the king with a certaine feare and reverence of God, that he might be the more apt to receive the his mysteries that should be revealed.

p Because he had said that God onely must reveale the signification of this dreame, the King might have asked, why Daniel did emerge to interpret it: and therefore he sheweth that he was but Gods Minister, and had no gifts, but such as God had given him to set forth his glory, q By gold, silver, brasse, and yron, are meant, the Caldean, Persian, Macedonian and Roman kingdome, which should successively rule all the world, till Christ (which is here called the stone) come himselfe and destroy the last: and this was to assure the Jewes, that their afflictions should not end with the Empire of the Caldeans, but that they should patiently abide the coming of Messiah, which should be at the end of the fourth Monarchie.

22 Hee discovereth the deepe and secret things: hee knoweth what is in the darke-ness, and the light dwelleth with him.

23 I thank thee, and praise thee, O thou God of my fathers, that thou hast given me wisdom and strength, and hast shewed me now the thing that wee desired of thee: for thou hast declared unto vs the Kings matter.

24 Therefore Daniel went unto Arioch, whom the King had appointed to destroy the wise men of Babel: hee went and said thus unto him, Destroy not the wise men of Babel, but bring me before the King, and I will declare unto the King the interpretation.

25 Then Arioch brought Daniel before the King in all hast, and said thus unto him, I have found a man of the children of Iudah that were brought captives, that will declare unto the King the interpretation.

26 Then answered the king, and said unto Daniel, whose name was Belshazzar, Art thou able to shew mee the dreame which I have seene, and the interpretation thereof?

27 Daniel answered in the presence of the King, and said, The secret which the King hath demanded, can neither the wise, the astrologians, the enchanters, nor the sooth-sayers declare unto the King.

28 But there is a God in heaven that revealeth secrets, and sheweth the King Belshazzar what shall be in the latter dayes. Thy dreame, and the things which thou hast seene in thine head upon thy bed, is this.

29 O King when thou wast in thy bed, thoughts came into thy minde, what should come to passe hereafter, and he that revealeth secrets, revealed thee what shall come.

30 As for mee, thy secret is not shewed me for any wisdom that I have, more then any other living, but onely to shew the King the interpretation, and that thou mightest know the thoughts of thine heart.

31 O King, thou sawest, and beheldst, there was a great image: this great image whose glory was so excellent, stood before thee, and the forme thereof was terrible.

32 His images head was of fine gold, his breast and his armes of silver, his belly and his thighs of brasse, 33 His legs of yron, and his feet were part of yron, and part of clay.

34 Thou beheldst it till a stone was cut without hands, which smote the image upon his feet, that wast of yron and clay, & brake them to pieces.

35 Then was the yron, the clay, the brasse, the silver and the golde broken altogether, and became like the chaffe of the summer flowers, and the winde carried them away, that no place was found for them: and the stone that smote the image, became a great mountaine, and filled the whole earth.

36 This is the dreame, and wee will declare before the King the interpretation thereof.

37 O King, thou art a king of kings: for the God of heaven hath given thee a kingdome, power, strength, and glory.

38 And in all places where the children of men dwell, the beasts of the field, and the fowles of the heaven hath he given into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler over them all: thou art this head of gold.

39 And after thee shall rise another kingdome, inferior to thee, of silver, and another third kingdome shall be of brasse, which shall beare rule over the earth.

40 And the fourth kingdome shall be strong as yron: for as yron breaketh in pieces, and subdueth all things, and as yron breaketh all these things, so shall it brake in pieces, and bruiseth all.

41 Whereas thou sawest the feet and toes, part of potters clay, and part of yron: the kingdome shall be divided: but there shall be in it of the strength of the yron, as thou sawest the yron mixed with the clay, and earth.

42 And as the toes of the feet were part of yron, and part of clay, so shall the kingdome be partly strong, and partly broken.

43 And whereas thou sawest yron mixed with clay and earth, they shall mingle themselves with the seede of men: but they shall not have one with another, as yron cannot be mixed with clay.

44 And in the dayes of these kings, shall the God of heaven set up a kingdome, which shall never bee destroyed: and this kingdome shall not be given to another people, but it shall break and destroy all other kingdomes, and it shall stand for ever.

45 Whereas thou sawest that the stone was cut off the mountaine without hands, and that it brake in pieces the yron, the brasse, the clay, the silver and the gold: so the hardness thereof, but to the violence in respect of filius. a That is, the Romane Empire shall subdue all these other aforesaid, which after Alexander were divided into the Macedonians, Grecians, Syrians, and Egyptians. x They shall have civill warres, and continuall discords among themselves. y They shall by marriages and affinities thinke to make themselves stronger, yet shall they never bee joyned in hearts. z His purpose is to shew that all the kingdomes of the world are transitory, and that the kingdome of Christ shall onely remaine for ever. a Meaning Christ, who was sent of God, and not set up by man, whose kingdome at the beginning should be small and without beauty to mans judgement, but should at length grow and fill the whole earth, which he calleth a great mountaine, as verse 35, And this kingdome which is not onely ascribed to the person of Christ, but also to the whole body of his Church, and to every member thereof shall be as small as the spirit that is in them is life eternall, Rom. 8. 10.

r Daniel leaveth out the kingdome of the Assyrians, which was before the Babylonian, both because it was not a Monarchy and generall Empire, and also because he would declare the things that were to come, to the coming of Christ, for the comfort of the eleeed among these wonderfull alterations: and he calleth the Babylonian kingdome the golden because in respect of the other three, it was the best, and yet warre off itselfe wicked and cruell.

s Meaning the Persians, which were not inferior in dignitie, power & riches, but were worse touching ambition, cruelty, and all kind of vice: shewing that the world should grow worse and worse, till it was restored by Christ.

t That is, of the Macedonians, made of brasse, not alluding to the great God hath retained the king what shall come to pass hereafter, and the dream is true, and the interpretation thereof is sure.

b Though this humbling of the king seems to deserve commendation, yet because he toyed with the Prophets, it is to be reprov'd, and Daniel herein erred if he suffered it: but it is credible that Dan el admonished him of his fault and did not suffer it.

c This confession was but a sudden motion, as it was also in Pharaoh, Exod. 9. 27. 28. but his heart was not touched, as appeared soon after ward. d Not that the Prophet was desirous of gifts or honour, but because by this means he might relieve his poor brethren which were grievously oppressed in this their captivity, and also hee received them, lest he should offend this cruel king, which willingly gave them. e He did not this for their private profit, but that the whole Church which was then there in affliction might have some release and ease by this benefit. f Meaning, that either he was a judge, or that hee had the whole authority, so that none could be admitted to the king's presence but by him.

46 ¶ When the king Nebuchad-nezzar fell upon his face, and bowed himselfe unto Daniel, and commanded that they should offer meat offerings, and sweet odours unto him.

47 Also the king answered unto Daniel, and said, I know of a truth that your God is a God of gods, and the Lord of kings, and the revealer of secrets, seeing thou couldst open this secret.

48 So the king made Daniel a great man, and gave him many and great gifts. Hee made him governor over the whole province of Babel, and chiefe of the rulers, and above all the wise men of Babel.

49 ¶ Then Daniel made request to the king, and heere Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego over the charge of the province of Babel: but Daniel saie in the gate of the king.

judges, the secretaries, the counsellors, the officers, and all the governors of the provinces were assembled unto the dedicating of the image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set up: and they stood before the image, which Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set up.

4 ¶ Then an herald cryed aloud, Bee it knowne to you, O people, nations, and languages,

5 ¶ That when yee heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, plalterie, dulcimer, and all instruments of musick, ye fall down and worship the golden image that Nebuchad-nezzar the king hath set up.

6 ¶ And whosoever falleth not downe and worshippeth, shall the same houre be cast into the midst of an hore fierie fornace.

7 ¶ Therefore alioone as all the people heard the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, plalterie, and all instruments of musick, all the people, nations, and languages fell downe, and worshipped the golden image, that Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set up.

8 ¶ By reason whereof that same time came men of the Chaldeans, and grievously accused the Jewes.

9 For they spake and said to the king Nebuchad-nezzar, O King, thus saith the ruler.

10 ¶ Thou, O king, hast made a decree, that every man that shall heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, plalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musick, shall fall downe and worship the golden image.

11 And whosoever falleth not downe, and worshippeth, that hee should be cast into the midst of an hore fierie fornace.

12 There are certaine Jewes whom thou hast set over the charge of the Province of Babel, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: these men, O king, have not regarded thy commandement, neither will they serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image that thou hast set up.

13 ¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar in his anger and wrath commanded that they should bring Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego to these men were brought before the king.

14 And Nebuchad-nezzar spake and said unto them, What disorder it will not you, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego serve any god, nor worship the golden image that I have set up?

15 ¶ Now therefore are ye ready when yee heare the sound of the cornet, trumpet, harpe, sackbut, plalterie, and dulcimer, and all instruments of musick, to fall down and worship the image, which I have made: for if ye worship it not, ye shall be cast immediately into the midst of an hore fierie fornace, for why is that God that can deliver you out of mine hands?

16 Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego answered, and said to the king, O Nebuchad-nezzar, we are not careful to answer thee in this matter.

17 Behold, our God whom we serve, is should have doubted in this holy cause, and therefore they lay that they are resolved to die for Gods cause, d These are the two dangerous weapons wherewith Sathan vint to fight aginst the children of God, the content of the multitude, and the cruelty of the punishment: or though some feared God yet the multitude which consented to the wickedness, alighted them: and how the king required not an inward consent, but an outward gesture, that the Jewes might by little and little learne to forget their true Religion. e It seemeth that they named not Daniel, because he was greatly in the kings favour, thinking if these three had been destroyed, they might have had better occasion to accuse Daniel: and this declared that this policy of erecting this image, was invented by the malicious flatterers which sought nothing but the destruction of the Jews, whom they accused of rebellion and ingratitude. f Signifying that he would need them to grace, if they would now at the length obey his decree. g For they should have done injury to God, if they

CHAP. III.

1. The king setteth up a golden image. 8 Certain are accused because they despised the kings commandment, and are put into a burning oven. 23 By belief in God they are delivered from the fire. 26 Nebuchad-nezzar confesseth the power of God after the sight of his miracle.

Nebuchad-nezzar the king made a image of gold, whose height was threescore cubites, and the breadth thereof six cubites, hee set it up in the plaine of Dura, in the province of Babel.

¶ Then Nebuchad-nezzar the king sent forth to gather together the Nobles, the Princes, and the Dukes, the Judges, the secretaries, the counsellors, the officers, and all the governors of the provinces, that they should come to the dedicating of the image which Nebuchad-nezzar the king had set up.

3 So the nobles, princes and dukes, the

a Under pretence of religion & holiness in making an image to his idolatrous self, he sought his owne ambition and vainglory: & this declareth, that he was not touched with the true feare of God before, but that hee confessed him on a sudden motion as the wicked, when they are overcome with the greatnesse of his works. The Greeke interpreters write that this was done eighteene years after the dream, and as may appear, the king feared lest the Jewes by their Religion should have altered the state of his common wealth, and therefore he meant to bring all to one kinde of religion, and so rather sought his own quietnesse then Gods glory. b Showing that the idol is not known for an idol so long as he is with the workman: but when the ceremonies and customs are rectified and vied, and the consent of the people is there, then of a blocke they thinke they have made a god. c This was sufficient with the wicked at all times to approve their religion, if the kings authority were alleged for the establishment thereof, not considering in the meane season what Gods word did permit.

h They ground on two points, first on the power & providence of God over them, and secondly on their cause, which was Gods glory, and the testifying of his true religion with their blood, and so make open confession, that they will not so much as outwardly consent to idolatry.

i This declareth that more than tyrannical rage, and the more wittie they show themselves in inventing strange and cruel punishments, the more is God glorified by his servants, to whom he giveth patience & constancy to abide the cruelty of their punishment: for either he delivereth them from death, or for this life giveth them a better.

k For the Angels were called the sonnes of God because of their excellency: therefore the King called this Angel, whom God sent to comfort him in these great troubles, the Sonne of God.

l This commendeth their obedience unto God: that they would not for any fear depart out of this furnace till the time appointed, as Noah remained in the Ark till the Lord called him forth.

m He was moved by the greatness of the miracle to praise God, him his heart was touched. And here we see that miracles are not sufficient to convert men to God, but by and with them must chiefly be adjoynted with the which there can be no faith.

h able to deliver us from the hate fierce for-nace, and he will deliver us out of thine hands, O King.

18 But if not, be it known unto thee, O King, that we will not serve thy gods, nor worship the golden image, which thou hast set up.

19 ¶ Then was Arbuchad-nezzar full of rage, and the fozme of his visage was changed against Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego: therefore he charged and commanded that they should heare the foz-nace at once seven times more then it was wont to be heat.

20 And he charged the most valiant men of warre that were in his armie, to binde Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, and to cast them into the hate fierce foz-nace.

21 So these men were bound in their coats, their bolts, and their cloaks, with their other garments, and cast into the midst of the hate fierce foz-nace.

22 Therefore, because the Kings commandment was straight, that the foz-nace should be exceeding hote, the flame of the fire slew those men that brought forth Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego.

23 And these three men, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego fell downe bound into the midst of the hate fierce foz-nace.

24 ¶ Then Arbuchad-nezzar the King was affrighted and rose up in haste, and spake, and sayd unto his counselliers, Did not wee call these men bound into the midst of the fire? And he answered, and sayd unto the King, It is true, O King.

25 And hee answered, and sayd, Lo, I see four men loose, walking in the midst of the fire, and they have no hurt: and the fozme of the fourth is like the Sonne of God.

26 Then the King Arbuchad-nezzar came neere to the mouth of the hate fierce foz-nace, and spake and sayd, Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, the servants of the high God, goe forth and come higher: so Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego came forth of the midst of the fire.

27 Then the nobles, pinners, and duikes, and the Kings counselliers came together to see these men, because the fire had no power over their bodies: for not an haire of their head was burnt, neither were their coats changed, nor any smelt of fire came upon them.

28 Therefore Arbuchad-nezzar spake and sayd, Blessed be the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, who hath sent his Angel, and delivered his servants, that put their trust in him, and have changed the Kings commandment, and yielded their bodies rather then they would serve or worship any gods, save their owne God.

29 Therefore I make a decree, that every people, nation, and language, which speak any blasphemy against the God of Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, shall be damned in pieces, and their houses shall be made a lake, because there is no God that can deliver us from this foie.

30 Then the King promoted Shadrach, Meshach, and Abednego, in the province of Babel.

31 Arbuchad-nezzar King unto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world, Peace be multiplied unto you.

32 I thought it good to declare the signes & wonders, that the high God hath wrought toward me.

33 How great are his signes, and how mighty are his wonders! his Kingdome is an everlasting Kingdome, and his dominion is from generation to generation.

so they suffer double punishment. o Meaning, so farre as his dominion extended, p Read Chap. 3. 44.

CHAP. II.

2 Another dream of Nebuchad-nezzar, which Daniel declareth. 29 The Prophet declareth how a proud king he should become as a beast. 31 After hee acknowledgeth the power of God, and is restored to his former dignitie.

I Nebuchad-nezzar bring at rest in mine house, and flourishing in my palace.

2 Saw a dream, which made me affraid, and the thoughts upon my bed, and the visions of mine head troubled me.

3 Therefore made I a decree, that they should bring all the wise men of Babel before me, that they might declare unto me the interpretation of the dream.

4 So came the enchanters, the astrologians, the Chaldeans and the soothsayers, to whom I tolde the dream, but they could not shew me the interpretation thereof.

5 Till at the last Daniel came before me, (whose name was Belteshazzar, according to the name of my god, which hath the spirit of the holy Gods in him) and before him I tolde the dream, saying,

6 O Belteshazzar, chiefe of the enchanters, because I know that the spirit of the holy Gods is in thee, and no secret troubleth thee, tell mee the visions of my dream, that I have seen, and the interpretation thereof.

7 Thus were the visions of mine head in my bed. And behold, I saw a tree in the midst of the earth, and the height thereof was great:

8 A great tree and strong, and the height thereof reached unto heaven, and the sight thereof to the ends of all the earth.

9 The branches thereof were faire, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all: it made a shadow under it for the fowles of the heaves, and the d This no doubt was a great griefe to Daniel, not onely to have his name changed, but to be called by the name of a vile idole, which thing Nebuchad-nezzar did, to make him forget the true religion of God. e Which also was a great griefe to the Prophet, to be punished among the forerunners, and men whose practices were wicked and contrary to Gods word. f By the tree, is signified the dignity of a king, whom God ordeineth to be a distinct, small kind of men, and whose state is profitable for mankind.

g Meaning, the Angel of God, which neither eateth nor fleepeth, but is ever ready to do Gods will, and is not infected with mans corruption, but is ever holy: and in that that he comendeth to cut down this tree, he knew that it should not be cut down by man, but by God. h Hereby hee meaneth that Nebuchad nezzar should not only for a time lose his kingdome, but be like a beast. i God hath decreed this judgement, and the whole army of heaven haue as it were subscribed vnto it, like as also they desire the execution of his decree against all them that lift vp themselves against God. k This was troubled for the great iudgment of God which he saw damned against the King: and so the Prophets vsed on the one part to denounce Gods iudgments for the zeal they bare to his glory, and on the other part to haue compassion vpon man, and also to consider that they should be subiect to Gods iudgements, if he did not regard them with pity. l Whereby hee meaneth a long space, as seven yeeres, Some interpret: seven monethes, and others seven weekes: but it seemeth hee meant of yeeres foyles of the heauen breuen in the boughes thereof, and all flesh fed of it.

10 I saw in the visions of mine head, vpon my bed, and behold, a watchman, and an holy one came downe from heauen.

11 And cryed aloud, and said thus, Hew downe the tree, and breake off his branches: shake off his leaues, and scatter his fruit, that the beasts may feed vnder it, and the foules from his branches.

12 Hew therewith the stumpe of his roots in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grass of the field, and let it bee wet with the dew of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts among the grass of the field.

13 Let his heart be changed from mans nature, and let a beasts heart bee giuen vnto him, and let seven times be passed ouer him.

14 The sentence is according to the decree of the watchman, and according to the word of the holy ones: the demand was answered, to the intent that liuing men may know, that the most high hath power ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whom he will, and appointeth ouer it the most abject among men.

15 This is the dreame, that I King Nebuchad nezzar haue seene: therefore thou, O Belteshazzar, declare the interpretation thereof: for all the wise men of my kingdome are not able to shewe mee the interpretation: but thou art able, for the spirit of the holy Gods is in thee.

16 When Daniel (whose name was Belteshazzar) held his peace by the space of one houre, and his thoughts troubled him, and the King spake and sayd, Belteshazzar, let neither the dreame, nor the interpretation thereof trouble thee. Belteshazzar answered, and said, My lord, the dreame be to them that hate thee, and the interpretation thereof to thine enemies.

17 The tree that thou sawest, which was great and mighty, whose height reached vnto the heauen, and the light thereof through all the world,

18 All those leaues were faire, and the fruit thereof much, and in it was meate for all, vnder the which the beasts of the field dwelt, and vpon whose branches the foules of the heauen did sit,

19 It is thou, O King, that art great and mighty: for thy greatness is growen, and reaches vnto heauen, and thy dominion to the ends of the earth.

20 Whereas the king saw a watchman, and a holy one that came downe from heauen, and sayd, Hew downe the tree, and destroy it, yet saue the stumpe of the roots thereof in the earth, and with a band of yron and brasse binde it among the grass of the field, and let it be wet with the dew of heauen, and let his portion be with the beasts of the field, till seven times passe ouer him,

21 This is the interpretation, O King, and it is the decree of the most high, which is come vpon thy lord the King,

22 That they shall diue thee from men, and thy dwelling shall bee with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eat grass as the oxen, and they shall wet thee with the dew of heauen: and seven times shall passe ouer thee, till thou knowest, that the most high beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it to whom he will.

23 Whereas they sayd, that one should leaue the stumpe of the tree roots, thy kingdome shall remaine vnto thee: after that, thou shalt know that the heauens haue the rule.

24 Wherefore, O King, let my counsell be acceptable vnto thee, and breake off thy sinnes by righteousness, and thine iniquities by mercie toward the poore: for, let there bee an healing of thine error.

25 All these things shall come vpon the King Nebuchad nezzar.

26 At the end of twelue monethes, hee walked in the royall palace of Babel.

27 And the King spake and sayd, Is not this great Babel, that I haue built for the house of the kingdome by the might of my power, and for the honour of my multitude?

28 While the worde was in the Kings mouth, a voyce came downe from heauen, saying, O King Nebuchad nezzar, to thee bee it spoken, Thy kingdome is departed from thee,

29 And they shall diue thee from men, and thy dwelling shall bee with the beasts of the field: they shall make thee to eat grass as the oxen, and seven times shall passe ouer thee, vntill thou knowest, that the most high beareth rule ouer the kingdome of men, and giueth it vnto whom he will.

30 The very same house was this thing fulfilled vpon Nebuchad nezzar, and hee was diuen from men, and did eat grass as the oxen, and his body was wet with the dew of heauen, till his haire was growen as Eagles feathers, and his nayles like birds claws.

31 And at the end of these dayes I Nebuchad nezzar lift vp mine eyes vnto heauen, and mine vnderstanding was restored vnto mee, and I gaue thanks vnto the most high, and I praised and honoured him that liueth for euer, whose power is an everlasting power, and his kingdome is from generation to generation.

32 And all the inhabitants of the earth are reputed as nothing: and according to this I will be woorked in the armie of heauen and, in the inhabitants of the earth: and none can stay his hand, nor say vnto him, What dost thou?

33 At the same time was mine vnderstanding restored vnto mee, and I returned to the honour of my kingdome: my glorye and my beauty was restored vnto mee, and my counsellers, and my princes fought vnto mee, and I was established in my kingdome, and my glory was augmented toward mee.

34 Now therefore, I Nebuchad nezzar stand content there with, and giue him the glory: seemeth that he had beene put from his kingdome before.

m Not that his shape or forme was changed into a beast, but that he was either stricken mad, and so avoided mans company, or was cast out for his tyranny, and so wandred among beasts, and ate herbes and grass. n Daniel sheweth the cause why God thus punished him, o Cleave from prouoking God to anger any longer by thy sinnes, that he may mitigate his punishment, if thou shew by thine vpright life that thou hast true faith and repentance. p Suffer thy seruants of thy house liue to be distressed, q After that Daniel had declared this vision: and this his pride declared that it is not in man to conuert to God except his Spirit moue him, seeing that these terrible threatenings could not moue them to repent. r When the terme of their seven yeeres was accomplished Chis. 7. 14. micha. 4. 7. luke 1. 31. s He confesseth Gods will to be the rule of all iustice, and a most perfect law where by hee gouerneth both man and Angels and deuils, so that some ought to moue or avenge a reason of his doings, but only before. t By whom it is said

CHAP. V.

5 Belshazzar King of Babylon seeth an handwriting on the wall. 8 The Soothsayers called of the King cannot expound the writing. 35 Daniel readeth it, and interpreteth it also. 36 The King is slain. 37 Darius enioyeth the kingdom.

King Belshazzar made a great feast to a thousand of his princes, and dranke wine before the chowland.

2 And Belshazzar while hee tasted the wine, commaunded to bring him the golden and silver vessels, which his father Nabuchadnezzar had brought from the Temple in Jerusalem, that the king and his princes, his wives, and his concubines might drinke therein.

3 Then were brought the golden vessels, that were taken out of the Temple of the Lords house at Jerusalem, and the king and his princes, his wives, and his concubines dranke in them.

4 They dranke wine, and played the gods of gold and of silver, of brass, of yron, of wood and of stone.

5 At the same houre appeared fingers of a mans hand, which wrote ouer against the candlesticke vpon the playster of the wall of the kings palace, and the king saw the palme of the hand that wrote.

6 Then the kings countenance was changed, and his thoughts troubled him, so that the saynes of his loynes were loosed, and his knees shooke one against the other.

7 Wherefore the King cryed louder, that they should bring the Astrologians, the Chaldeans and the soothsayers. And the King spake, and sayde to the wise men of Babel, Whosoener can reade this writing, and declare mee the interpretation thereof, shall bee clothed with purple, and shall haue a chaine of golde about his necke, and shall bee the third ruler in the kingdom.

8 Then came all the kings wisemen, but they could neither reade the writing, nor shew the King the interpretation.

9 Then was King Belshazzar greatly troubled, and his countenance was changed in him, and his princes were astonished.

10 Now the Queene by reason of the taske of the King and his princes came into the banquet house, and the Queene spake, and sayde, O King, liue for euer: let not thy thoughts trouble thee, nor let thy countenance be changed.

11 There is a man in thy kingdom, in whom is the spirit of the holy goddes, and in the dayes of thy father, light and vnderstanding and wisdom like the wisdom of the gods, was found in him: whom the King Nabuchadnezzar thy father, the King, I say, thy father, made chiefe of the Enchanters, Astrologians, Chaldeans, and Soothsayers.

12 Because a more excellent spirit, and knowledge, and vnderstanding (for hee did expound dreames, and declare hard sentences, and dissolued doubts) were found in him, even in Daniel, whom the king named Belshazzar: now let Daniel bee called, and hee will declare the interpretation.

13 Then was Daniel brought before the King, and the King spake, and sayd vnto Daniel, Art thou that Daniel, which art of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, whom my father the king brought out of Iurie?

14 Now I haue heard of thee, that the spirit of the holy gods is in thee, and that light and vnderstanding, and excellent wisdom is found in thee.

15 Now therefore, wise men and Astrologians haue bene brought before mee, that they should reade this writing, and shewe mee the interpretation thereof, but they could not declare the interpretation of the thing.

16 Then heard I of thee, that thou couldest shewe interpretations, and dissolue doubts: now if thou canst reade the writing, and shewe mee the interpretation thereof, thou shalt bee clothed with purple, and shalt haue a chaine of golde about thy necke, and shalt bee the third ruler in the kingdom.

17 Then Daniel answered, and sayd before the king, Keepe thy rewards to thy selfe, and giue thy gifts to another: yet I will reade the writing vnto the king, and shew him the interpretation.

18 O king, heare thou, The most high God gaue vnto Nabuchadnezzar thy father a kingdom, and maiestie, and honour, and glory.

19 And for the maiestie that he gaue him, all people, nations, and languages trembled and feared before him: he put to death whom hee would: hee slew whom hee would: whom hee would hee let liue, and whom hee would hee put downe.

20 But when his heart was puffed up, and his mind hardened in pride, hee was deposed from his kingly throne, and they tooke his honour from him.

21 And he was diuined from the fumes of men, and his heart was made like the beasts, and his dwelling was with the wilde asses: they fedde him with grasse like oren, and his body was wetted with the dew of the heauen, till hee knew that the most high God bare rule ouer the kingdom of men, and that hee appointeth ouer it, whom hee pleaseth.

22 And thou his sonne, O Belshazzar, hast not humbled thine heart, thought thou knewest all these things.

i Reside chap. 4. 6. and this declareth that both this name was odious vnto him, and also that he did not vie these vile practices, because he was not among them when all were called.

k For the idolaters thought, that the Angels had power as God, and therefore had them in like estimation, as they had God, thinking the spirit of prophesie and vnderstanding came of them.

l Before he reade the writing, hee declared to the king his great ingratitude toward God, who could not bee moued to giue him the glory, considering his wonderful worke toward his grandfather, and so sheweth that hee doeth not sinne of ignorance, but of malice.

CHAP. VI.

1 Daniel is made ruler ouer the gouernours. 5 An act against Daniel. 16 He is put into a denne of lions by the commandment of the king. 23 He is delivered by faith in God. 24 Daniels accusers are put into the lions. 25 Darius by a decree magnifieth the God of Daniel.

It pleased Darius to set ouer the kingdome an hundredth and twentie gouernours, which should bee ouer the whole kingdome.

2 And ouer these three rulers (of whom Daniel was one) that the gouernours might giue accomptes vnto them, and the King should haue no damage.

3 Now this Daniel was preferred aboue the rulers and gouernours, because the spirit was excellent in him, and the King thought to set him ouer the whole Realme.

4 Therefore the rulers and gouernours sought an occasion against Daniel concerning the kingdome: but they could finde none occasion nor fault: for hee was so faithfull, that there was no blame nor fault found in him.

5 Then saide these men, Wee shall not find an occasion against this Daniel, except we finde it against him concerning the Law of his God.

6 Therefore the rulers and these gouernours went together to the King, and sayd thus vnto him, King Darius, thus saue thee.

7 All the rulers of thy kingdome, the officers and gouernours, the counsellors, and dukes haue consulted together to make a decree for the King, and to establish a statute, that whosoever shall atke a petition of any god or man for thirtie dayes, saue offeuer, O King, he shall be cast into the den of lions.

8 Now, O King, confirme the decree, and seale the writing, that it bee not changed, according to the law of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

9 Wherefore king Darius sealed the writing and the decree.

10 Now when Daniel understood that hee had sealed the writing, hee went into his house, and his window being open in his chamber toward Jerusalem, hee knelled vpon his knees three times a day, and prayed, and praised his God, as he did aforetime.

11 Then these men assembled, and found Daniel praying, and making supplication vnto his God.

12 So they came, and spake vnto the king concerning the kings decree, that thou hast sealed the decree, that euery man that shall make request to any god or man, within thirtie dayes, saue to thee, O King, shall bee cast into the denne of Lions: The king answered, and sayd, The thing is true, according to the Lawe of the Medes and Persians, which altereth not.

13 Then answered they, and sayde vnto the king, This Daniel which is of the children of the captiuitie of Iudah, regardeth not thee, O King, nor the decree that thou hast sealed, but maketh his petition three times a day.

14 When the king heard these words, hee was sore displeased with himselfe, and set his heart on Daniel to deliuer him: and hee laboured till the Sunne went downe, to deliuer him.

15 Then these men assembled vnto the king, and said vnto the king, Understand O King, that the Lawe of the Medes and Persians is, that no decree nor statute which the king confirmeth, may bee altered.

16 Then the King commanded, and they brought Daniel, and cast him into the denne of lions: now the king spake, and saide vnto Daniel, Thy God, whom thou alway seruest, euen he will deliuer thee.

17 And a stone was brought, and layde vpon the mouth of the denne, and the king sealed it with his owne signet, and with the signet of his princes, that the purpose might not bee changed, concerning Daniel.

18 Then the king went vnto his palace, and remained fasting, neither were the instruments of musike brought before him, and his sleep went from him.

19 Then the king arose early in the morning, and went in all hast vnto the denne of lions.

20 And when hee came to the denne, hee cried with a lamentable voyce vnto Daniel: and d Herein is condemned the wickednesse of the king, who would be set vp as a god, and passed not what wicked lawes hee procured for the maintenance of the same.

e Because hee would not by his silence shew that hee consented to this wicked decree, hee let open his window toward Jerusalem, when hee prayed: both to stirre vp himselfe with the remembrance of Gods promises to his people wher they should pray toward that Temple, and also that other might see, that hee would neither consent in heart nor deed for these few dayes to any thing that was contrary to Gods glory.

f Thus the wicked maintaines euill lawes by constancie and authority, which is oftentimes either lightnesse, or stubbornnesse, when as the innocents thereby perish, & therefore gouernours neither ought to feare nor be ashamed to breake such b This heathen King preferred Daniel a stranger to all his nobles & familiars, because the graces of God were more excellent in him then in others.

c Thus the wicked cannot abide the graces of God in others, but seeke by all occasions to deface them: therefore against such a fault there is no better remedy then to walke uprightly in the feare of God, and to haue a good conscience, and the king spake, and said to Daniel, O Daniel, the seruant of the liuing God, is not thy God (whom thou alway seruest) able to deliuer thee from the lions?

21 Then said Daniel unto the King, O King, live for ever.

22 Why God hath sent his Angel, and hath shut the Lyons mouthes, that they haue not hurt mee, for my ^hiustice was found out before him, and vnto thee, O King, I haue done ⁱno hurt.

23 Then was the king exceeding glad for him, and commanded that they should take Daniel out of the den: so Daniel was brought out of the den, and no manner of hurt was found upon him, because he ^k beleueed in his God.

24. And by the commaundement of the king, these men which had accused Daniel, were brought, and were ¹ cast into the den of lions, even they, their children, & their wives; and the lions had the masterie of them, and brake all their bones a pieces, or eatte they came at the ground of the den.

25 Afterward king Darius wrote, Unto all people, nations and languages, that dwell in all the world: Peace be multiplied unto you.

26 I make a decree, that in all the dominion of my kingdome, men tremble and feare ^m before the God of Daniel: for he is the ⁿ liuing God, and remaineth for ever: and his kingdome shall not perishe, and his dominion shall be euerslasting.

27 He rescueth & deliuereth, and he worketh signes & wonders in heauen and in earth: who hath deliuered Daniel from the power of the lions.

28 So this Daniel prospered in the reigne of Darius, and in the reigne of Cyrus of Persia.

3 A vision of foure beasts is shewed unto Daniel.
8 The ten hornes of the fourth beast. 27 Of the everlasting kingdome of Christ.

a Whereas the people of Israel looked for a

IN the first yere of Belshazzar king of Babel, Dantel saw a dreame, and there were visions in his head, upon his bed : a then hee wrote a drama, and declared the summe of the matter.

2 Daniel spake and sayde, I sawe in my vision by night, and beholde, the foure windes of the heauen stroue vpon^b the great sea:

3 And foure great beasts came vp from the sea, one diuers from another.

4 The first was as a lion, and had eagles wings: I beheld, till the wings thereof were pluckt off, & it was lifted up from the earth, and set upon his feete as a man, and a mans heart was esum him.

5 And beholder, another beast which was the second, was like a beare, and stood by on the one side: and hee had three ribbes in his mouth betweene his teeth, and they said thus vnto him, Arise, and deuoure much flesh.

6 After this, I beheld, and lo, there was another like a ^b leopard, which had upon his backe ⁱ foure wings of a foule: the beast had also foure heads: and ^k dominion was giuen him.

7. After this, I saw in the visions by night, and beholde, the ¹ fourth beast was fearefull, and terrible, and very strong. It had great^m yron teeth: it deuoured, and brake in pieces, and stamped the ^a residue vnder his feete: and it was unlike to the beasts that were before it: for it had ^o tenne hoines.

8 As I considered the hornes, beholde, there came by among them another little r These Romane Emperors at the first had a certaine humanity, and gentleness, & were content that each other as the Consuls and Senate should beare the name of dignitie, so that they might haue the prouit, and therefore in elections and counsels would behaue themselves according as did other Senators: yet against their enemies, and those that would resist them, they were fierce and cruell, which is here meant by the proud mouth, f Meaning, the places where God and his Angels should come to iudge these Monarchies, which iudgement should begin at the first coming of Christ, e That is, God which was before all times, & is here described as mans nature is able to comprehend some portion of his glory.

u This is, an infinite number of Angels, which were ready to execute his commandment. x This is meant of the first coming of Christ, when as the will of God was plainly revealed by his Gospel. y Meaning, that he was atoned when he saw these Emperors in such dignitie and pride, and so suddenly destroyed at the coming of Christ, when this fourth Monarchy was subiect to men of other nations. v As the three former Monarchies had an end, at the time that God appointed, although they flourished for a time, so shall this fourth haue, and they that patiently abide Gods appointment, shall enjoy the promises. a Which is meant of Christ, who had not yet taken vpon him mans nature, neither was the son of Dauid according to the flesh, as he was afterward: but appeared then in a figure, and that in the cloudes: that is, being separate from the common sort of men by manifest signes of his diuinity. b To wit, when he ascended into the heauen, and his diuine Maiesty appeared, and all power was given vnto him in respect of that that he was our Mediatour. c This is meant of the beginning of Christs kingdome, when God the Father gaue vnto him all dominion, as to the Mediatour to the intent that he should gouerne here the Church in earth continually, till the time that he brought them to eternall life. d Through the frangensse of the vision. e Meaning, of the Angels, as verse 10.

the first hornes pluckt away: and beholde, in this home were eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking presumptuous things.

9 I beheld, till the hornes were set vp, and the Ancient of dayes did sit, whose garment was white as snow, and the haire of his head like the pure wooll: his throne was like the fierie flaine, and his wheeles as burning fire.

10 A fierie streame issued, and came forth from before him: thousand thousands ministred vnto him, and ten thousand thousands stood before him: the iudgement was set, and the bookes opened.

11 Then I beheld, because of the voyce of the presumptuous words, which the home spake: I behelde, euen till the beast was slaine, and his body destroyed, and given to the burning fire.

12 As concerning the other beasts, they had taken away their dominion, yet their liues were prolonged for a certaine time and season.

13 ¶ I beheld in visions by night, beheld, one like the sonne of man came in the cloudes of heauen, and approached vnto the Ancient of dayes, and they brought him before him.

14 And he gaue him dominion, and honour, and a kingdome, that all people, nations and languages should serue him: his dominion is an euermlasting dominion, which shall neuer be taken away: and his kingdome shall neuer be destroyed.

15 ¶ I Daniel was troubled in my spirit in the middes of my body, and the visions of mine head made me afraid.

16 Therefore I came vnto one of them that stood by, and asked him the truth of all this: to bee tolde mee, and shewed mee the interpretation of these things.

17 These great beasts which are foure, are foure kings, which shall arise out of the earth.

18 And they shall take the kingdome of the Saints of the most High, which shall possesse the kingdome for euer, euen for euer and euer.

19 ¶ After this I would know the truth of the fourth beast, which was so unlike to all the others, very fearefull, whose teeth were of yron, and his napes of brasse, which deuoured, brake in pieces, and stamped the residue vnder his feet.

20 Also to know of the tenne hornes that were in his head, and of the other which came vp, before whom these fell, and of the home that had eyes, and of the mouth that spake presumptuous things, whose looke was more stout then his fellows.

21 I behelde, and the same home made battell against the Saints, yea and prevailed against them.

22 ¶ Till the Ancient of dayes came, and iudgement was giuen to the Saints of the most High: and the time approached, that the Saints possessed the kingdome.

23 ¶ Then he said, The fourth beast shall bee vnto all the kingdomes, and shall deuoure the whole earth, and shall treade it downe, and brake it in pieces.

24 And the tenne hornes out of this kingdome are ten kings: that shall rise: & another shall rise after them, and hee shall bee like to the first, and he shall subdue three kings.

25 And shall speake words against the most High, and shall consume the Saints of the most High, and thinke that he may change times and lawes, and they shall bee giuen into his hand, vntill a time, & times, and the diuiding of time.

26 But the iudgement shall sit, and they shall take away his dominion, to consume and destroy it vnto the end.

27 And the kingdome, and dominion, retained them for terme of life: also the Romans were the strongest of all the other, and were neuer quiet among themselves. i Reade verse 7. k This is meant of the fourth beast, which was more terrible then the other. l Meaning the Romane Emperors, who were most cruel against the Church of God both of the Iewes and of the Gentiles. m Till God shewed his power in the person of Christ, by the preaching of the Gospel gaue vnto his sonne, & so obtained a famous name in the world, and were called the Church of God, or the kingdom of God. n Reade the exposition hereof verse 1. o That is, shall make wicked decrees & proclamations against Gods word & lend thoroughout all their dominion, to destroy all that did professe. p These Emperors shall not consider that they had their power of God, but thinke it is in their owne power to change Gods Lawes and mans, and as it were the order of nature, as appeareth by Octauius, Tiberius, Caligula, Nero, Domitianus, &c. q God shall suffer the thus to rage against his Saints for a long time, which is meant by the time and times, but at length hee will affwage these troubles, and shorten the times for his elects sake, Matth. 24. 32. which is here meant by the diuiding of time. r God by his power shall restore things that were out of order, and so destroy this little home that it shall neuer rise vp againe. s He sheweth wherefore the beast should bee destroyed, to wit, that his Church might haue rest and quietnesse, which, though they doe not fully enjoy here, yet they haue it in hope, and by the preaching of the Gospel enjoy the beginning thereof, which is meant by these words, Vnder the lawe: and therefore hee here speaketh of the beginning of Christs kingdome in this world, which kingdome the faithful haue by the participation: that they haue with Christ their head.

1 That is, some of every sort that bear rule.

and the greatness of the kingdome under the whole heaven shall bee given to the holy people of the most high, whose kingdome is an everlasting kingdome, and all powers shall serve and obey him.

18 Even this is the end of the matter, I Daniel had many cogitations which troubled mee, and my countenance changed in mee; but I kept the matter in my heart.

19 And I kept the matter in my heart, and wrote it for the use of the Church.

CHAP. VIII.

1 A vision of a battell betweene a ramme and a goat. 2 The understanding of this vision.

1 In the third yere of the reigne of King Belshazzar, a vision appeared unto mee, even unto mee Daniel, after that which appeared unto me at the first.

2 And I saw in a vision, and when I saw it, I was in the palace of Shushan, which is in the province of Elam, and in a vision me thought I was by the river of Ulai.

3 When I looked up and saw, and beheld, there stood before the river a ramme, which had two hornes: and these two hornes were big: but one was higher then another, and the highest came up last.

4 I saw the ramme pushing against the West, & against the South, and against the South: so that no beasts might stand before him, nor could deliver out of his hand, but he did what he listed, and became great.

5 And as I considered, behold, a goat came from the West over the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and this goat had on his backe that appeared betweene his eyes.

6 And he came unto the ramme that had the two hornes, whom I had seene standing by the river, and came unto him in his fierce rage.

7 And I saw him come unto the ramme, and bring mounes against him, bee sinore the ramme, and brake his two hornes, and there was no power in the ramme to stand against him, but hee cast him downe to the ground, and stamped upon him, and there was none that could deliver the ramme out of his power.

8 Therefore the goat waxed exceeding great, and when he was at the strongest, his great horn was broken: and for it came by force that appeared toward the four winds of the heaven.

9 And one of one of them came forth a litle borne, which waxed very great toward the South, and toward the East, and toward the pleasant land.

10 Then it grew up unto the top of heaven, and it cast downe some of the host, and of the dwellers in the ground, and trode upon them.

11 And extolled himselfe against the prince of the host, from whom the daily sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his sanctuary was cast downe.

12 And a time shall bee given him over the daily sacrifice for the iniquity: and it shall cast downe the truth to the ground, & thus shall he doe and prosper.

13 Then I heard one of the Saints speaking, and one of the Scribes spake unto a certaine one, saying, How long shall endure the vision of the daily sacrifice, and the iniquity of the desolation to treade both the Sanctuary and the army under foot?

14 And he answered mee, Unto the evening, and the morning, two thousand and three hundred, then shall the Sanctuary be cleansed.

15 And when I Daniel had seene the vision, and sought for the meaning, behold, there stood before me like the similitude of a man.

16 And I heard a mans voyce betweene the banks of Ulai, which called and sayd, Gabriel, make this man to understand the vision.

17 So he came where I stood: and when he came, I was afraid, & fell upon my face: but he said unto me, Understand, I seene of man: for in the last time shall be the vision.

18 Now as he was speaking unto mee, I being allsepe fell on my face to the ground: but he touched me, and set me up in my place.

19 And he said, Behold, I will shew thee what shall bee in the last time: for in the end of the time appointed it shall come.

20 The ramme which thou sawest having two hornes, are the kings of the Medes and Persians.

21 And the goat is the king of Grecia, and the great horn that is betweene his eyes, is the first king.

22 And that that is broken, and four stood up for it, are foure kingdomes, which shall stand up of that nation, but not in his strength.

23 And in the ende of their kingdome, when the rebellious shall be consumed, a king of fierce countenance, and understanding

3 And I turned my face vnto the Lord God, and sought by prayer and supplications, with fasting, and sackcloth and ashes.

4 And I prayed vnto the Lord my God, and made my confession, saying, O Lord God, which art great and fearefull, and keepest covenants & mercie toward them which love thee, and toward them that keepe thy commandments,

5 We haue sinned, and haue committed iniquitie, and haue done wickedly, yea, we haue rebelled, and haue departed from thy precepts, and from thy iudgements.

8 O Lord, vnto vs apperaineth open shame, to our kings, to our princes, and to our fathers, because we haue sinned against thee.

9 Yet compassion and forgiveness is in the Lord our God, albeit we haue rebelled against him.

10 For we haue not obeyed thy voice of the Lord our God, to walke in his lawes, which hee had layd before vs by the ministration of his seruants the Prophets.

11 Yea, all Israel haue transgressed thy lawe, and are turned backe, & haue not heard thy voice: therefore the curse is powred vpon vs, and the oath that is written in the Law of Moses the seruant of God, because we haue sinned against him.

13 All this plague is come vpon vs, as it is written in the law of Moses: yet made we not one prayer before the Lord our God, that we might turne from our iniquities, and vnderstand thy truth.

14 Therefore hath the Lord made ready the plague, and brought it vpon vs: for the Lord our God is righteous in all his works which hee doeth: for we would not heare his voice.

CHAP. XI.

1 A prophesie of the kingdomes which should be cōsumed to the Church of God, as of Persia, 3 Of Greece, 5 Of Egypt, 28 Of Syria, 39 and of the Romanes.

a The Angel assurth Daniel that God hath given him power to performe these things seeing he appointed him to assist Darius when he overcame the Caldees, b Whereof Canbyles that now reigned, was the first, the second Smerdes, c thirde Darius the son of Hystaspis, & the fourth Xerxes, which all were enemies to the people of God, and stood against them.

c For he raised up all the East countries to fight against the Grecians: and albe he had in his army nine hundred thousand men, yet in foure yeres he was discomfited, and fled away with shame. d That is, Alexander the great.

e For when his estate was most flourishing, hee overcame himselfe with drinke, and to fell into a disease: or as some write, was poisoned by Cassander. f For his twelue chiefe princes first divided his kingdome among themselves. g After this his monarchie was divided into foure: for Seleucus had Syria, Antigonus Asia minor, Cassander the kingdome of Macedonia, and Ptolemus Egypt.

h Thus God requented Alexanders ambition and cruelty, in causing his posterity to be murdered partly of the fathers chiefe friends, & partly one of another. i None of these foure shall be able to bee compared to the power of Alexander. k That is, his posteritie having no part thereof. l In wit. Ptolemus the king of Egypt.

m That is, Antiochus the sonne of Seleucus, and one of Alexanders princes that be more mightie: for he should haue both Asia & Syria. n That is, berenice the daughter of Ptolemus Philadelphus shall be given in marriage to Antiochus Theos, thinking by this affinity that Syria and Egypt should haue a continuall peace together.

18 Then there came againe, and touched me, out like the appearance of a man, and he strengthened me.

19 And said, O man, greatly beloved, feare not: peace be vnto thee: bee strong and of good courage. And when he had spoken vnto me, I was strengthened, and said, Let my Lord speake: for thou hast strengthened me.

20 Then said hee, Knowest thou wherefore I am come vnto thee? but now will I returne to fight with the Prince of Persia: and when I am gone forth, for the Prince of Grecia shall come.

21 But I will shew thee that which is decreed in the Scripture of truth: and there is none that holdeth with me in these things, but Michael your prince.

South shall come to the king of the North, to make an agreement, but shee shall not retain the power of the arme: neither shall he be continue, nor his arme: but shee shall be deliuered to death, and they that brought her, and he that begate her, and he that comforted her in their times.

7 But out of the budde of her roots shall one stand up in his stead, which shall smite with an arme, and shall enter into the fourre of the King of the North, and doe with them as hee list, and shall prevaille.

8 And shal also carry captiues into Egypt their gods with their molten images, and with their precious vessels of silver and of gold, and he shall continue more yeres then the king of the North.

9 So the king of the South shall come into his kingdome, and shall returne into his owne land.

10 Therefore his sonnes shall be stirred up, and shall assemble a mighty great arme: and one of them shall come ouerflow, and passe thowit: then shall hee returne, and be stirred up by his foerrell.

11 And the king of the South shall bee angry, and shall come forth and fight with him, even with the King of the North: for hee shall set forth a great multitude, and the multitude shall bee giuen into his hand.

12 Then the multitude shall be proud, and their heart shall be lifted up: for hee shall cast downe thousands: but hee shall not fill prevaille.

13 For the king of the North shall returne, and shall set forth a greater multitude then afore, and shall come forth (after certaine yeres) with a mighty army, and great riches.

14 And at the same time there shall many stand up against the king of the South: also the rebellious children of the people, shall exalte themselves to stablish the diuion, but they shall fall.

15 So the King of the North shall come, and cast up a mount, and take the strong Citie: and the armies of the South, shall not resist, neither his chosen people, neither shall there bee any strength to withstand.

16 But hee that shall come, shall doe but to him as hee list, and none shall stand against him.

This was the second battell that Antiochus fought against Ptolemies Epiphane.

17 Against her shall he set his face to enter into the power of his whole kingdom, and his confederates with him: thus shall he doe, and hee shall give him the daughter of woman, to destroy her: but the shall not stand on his side, neither hee shall him.

18 After this shall hee turne his face into the place, and shall take many: but a prince shall cause his shame to light upon him, beside that hee shall cause his owne shame to come upon himselfe.

19 For he shall turne his face toward the foes of his owne land: but hee shall overthrowen, and fall, and be no more found.

20 When shall stand up in his place in the glory of the kingdom, one that shall raise taxes, but after fewe dayes hee shall be destroyed, neither in warre, nor in battell.

21 And in his place shall stand up a wise person, to whom they shall not give the honour of the kingdom: but hee shall come in peaceably, and obtaine the kingdom by flatteries.

22 And the armes shall be overthrowen with a flood before him, and shall be broken: and also the prince of the covenant.

23 And after the league made with him, he shall loose his wickedly: for hee shall come up, and overcome with a small people.

24 He shall enter into the quiet and plentifull province, and hee shall doe that which his fathers have not done, nor his fathers fathers: he shall divide among them the pray and the spoyle, and the substance, yea, and he shall reward his druces against the strong holds, run for a time.

25 And he shall strike by his power a his courage against the king of the South with a great army, and the king of the South shall be liered up to battell with a very great and mighty armie: but he shall not stand:

Hosea.

THE ARGUMENT.

After that the ten tribes had fallen away from God by the wicked & fubtil counsel of Ieroboam the sonne of Nebat, and in stead of his true Ieremie commanded by his word, worshipped him according to their owne fantasies and traditions of men, giving themselves to molle vile idolatry and superstition, the Lord from time to time sent them Prophets to call them to repentance: but they grew ever worse and worse, and still abused Gods benefices. Therefore now when their prosperitie was at the highest vnder Ieroboam the sonne of Ioaah, God sent Hosea and Amos to the Israelites (as he did at the same time Isaiah and Micah to them of Iudah) to censure them of their ingratitude: and whereas they thought themselves to bee greatly in the favour of God, and to be his people, the Prophet calleth them bastards and children borne in adultery: and therefore sheweth them that God would take away their kingdome, and give them to the Assyrians to be led away captives. Thus Hosea faithfully executed his office for the space of twenty yeres, though they remained still in their wickednes and vices, and derided the Prophets, and concerned Gods iudgements. And because they should neither be discouraged with threatnings onely, nor yet flatter themselves by the sweetness of Gods promises, he setteth before them the two principall parts of the Law, which are the promise of saluation, and the doctrine of life: for the first part he directeth the faithful to Messiah, by whom only they should have true deliuerance: and for the second, he vnieth threatnings and tokens to bring them from their wicked maners and vices: and this is the chiefe scope of all the Prophets, either by Gods promises to allure them to be godly, or else by threatnings of his iudgements to feare them from vices: and albeit that the whole Law containe the two points, yet the Prophets moreover note particularly, both the time of Gods iudgements, and the manner.

CHAP. I.

1 The time when Hosea prophesied. 2 The idolatry of the people. 3 The calling of the Gentiles. 4 Christ in the head of all the people.

Hosea the sonne of Beeri, in the dayes of Izziah, Iotham, Abaz, and Hoziah kings of Iudah, and in the dayes of Ieroboam the sonne of Ioaah king of Israel.

2 At the beginning the Lord spake by Hosea, and the Lord said vnto Hosea, Goe: take vnto thee a wife of fornications, and children of fornications: for the land hath committed great whoredome, departing from the Lord.

3 So hee went and tooke a Gomer the daughter of Diblaim, which conceived and bare him a sonne.

4 And the Lord said vnto him, Call his name: Israel: for yet a little, and I will visit the blood of Israel vpon the house of Iehu, and will cause to cease the kingdome of the house of Israel.

5 And at that day will I also breake the bow of Israel in the valley of Jezreel.

6 Shee conceived yet againe, and bare a daughter, and God said vnto him, Call her name, Lo-ruhama: for I will no more haue pittie vpon the house of Israel: but I will utterly take them away.

7 Yet will I haue mercy vpon the house of Iudah, and will save them by the Lord their God, and will not save them by holme, nor by sword, nor by battell, by hopes, nor by holmen.

8 Now when shee had weaned Lo-ruhama, she conceived and bare a sonne.

9 Then said God, Call his name: Lo-ammi: for yet are not my people: therefore will I not be yours.

10 Yet the number of the children of Israel shall be as the sand of the sea, which cannot be measured nor told: and in the place where it was said vnto them, Yet are not my people, it shall be said vnto them, Ye are the sonnes of the living God.

11 Then shall the children of Iudah, and the children of Israel be gathered together, and appoint themselves one head, and they shall come up out of the land: for great is the day of Jezreel.

except he had prestroed them, he declareth that though they were destroyed, yet the true Israelites, which are the sonnes of the promise, should be without number, which stand both of the Iews, and the Gentiles, Rom. 9. 26. n To wit, after the captiuitie of Babylon when the Iewes were restored: but chiefly this is referred to the time of Christ, who should be the head both of the Iewes and Gentiles. o The calamitie and destruction of Israel shall be so great, that to restore them shall be as a miracle.

CHAP. II.

1 The people is called to repentance. 2 He sheweth their idolatry, and threatneth them except they repent.

3 Vnto your brethren, Ammi, and to a Sion, that I have promised your sisters, Rubamah.

2 Plead with your mother: plead you deliuerance, it remained that you encourage one another to embrace the same, considering that ye are my people on whom I will haue mercie. b God threatneth that the fault was not in him but in the Synagogue, & their idolatries, that hee forsooke them, Hag. 2. 23. 24.

a Called also A-zariah, who being a leper was deposed from his kingdome, b so that it may be gathered by the name of these four kings that he prophesied about threescore yeres.

c That is, one that of long time had accustomed to play the harlots: not that the Prophet delighted in such, but because in a vision, or as was commanded by God he saw such a vain this parable or figure the idolatry of the Synagogue, and of the people her children, d Gomer signifieth a consumption or corruption, and Diblaim clusers of figs, declaring that they were all corrupt like rotten figs, e Meaning, that they should be no more called Israelites, of the which name they boasted, because Israel called prenaile with God: but that they were as bastards, and therefore should be called Israelites, that is, scattered people alluding vnto Israel, which was the chiefe city of the ten tribes vnder A-hab, where Iehu shed so much blood, 2 Kin. 10. 2, 3, 11. f I will be avenged vpon Iehu for the blood that he shed in Israel: for albeite God stirred him vp to execute his iudgements, yet he did them for his owne ambition and not for the glory of God, as the end declarer for hee builded vp that idolatry, which hee had destroyed. g When the measure of their iniquitie is full, and I shall take vengeance and destroy all their pollicie and force, h That is, not obtaining mercie whereby he signifies that Gods favour was departed from them, i For the Israelites neuer returned, and after that they were taken captives by the Assyrians, k For after their captiuitie he restored them miraculously by the means of Cyrus, Ezech. 1. 1.

l That is, not my people, m Because they thought that God could not have been true in his promise, n In respect they thought that God could not have been true in his promise, o The calamitie and destruction of Israel shall be so great, that to restore them shall be as a miracle.

1 The people is called to repentance, 2 He sheweth their idolatry, and threatneth them except they repent.

3 Vnto your brethren, Ammi, and to a Sion, that I have promised your sisters, Rubamah.

2 Plead with your mother: plead you deliuerance, it remained that you encourage one another to embrace the same, considering that ye are my people on whom I will haue mercie. b God threatneth that the fault was not in him but in the Synagogue, & their idolatries, that hee forsooke them, Hag. 2. 23. 24.

c Meaning, that their idolatry was so great, that they were not ashamed, but boasted of it, Ezek. 16. 35.

d For though this people were as an harlot for their idolatries, yet he had left them with their apparell & dowrie and certain signes of his fauour, but if they continued still, he would utterly destroy them.

e When I brought her out of Egypt, Ezek. 16. 4.

f That is, bastards, & begotten in adultery.

g Meaning the idoles which they serued, and by whom they thought they had wealth and abundance.

h I will punish thee, that then thou shalt see whether thine idoles can helpe thee and bring thee into such straits, that thou shalt haue no lust to play the wanton.

m That is, all her seruile ceremonies, and inuentions, whereby she worshipped her idoles.

n I will punish her for her idolatry.

o By shewing how harlots trim themselves to please others, he declareth how the superstitious idolaters use a great part of their religion in decking themselves on their holy dayes.

p By my benefits in offering her grace and mercie, vpon in that place where she shall thinke her selfe destitute of all helpe and comfort.

q Which was a plentiful valley, and wherein they had great comfort when they came out of the wilderness, as Ier. 7. 26, and is called the doore of hope, because it was a departing out of death, and an entry into life.

r Shee shall then praise God as she did when she was deliuered out of Egypt.

with her: for she is not my wife, neither am I her husband: but let her take away her ornaments out of her sight, & her adulteries: & from betwene her breasts,

3 And I strip her naked, and set her as in the day that she was borne, and make her as a wilderness, and leave her like a dry land, and slay her for this.

4 And I will haue no pities vpon her children: for they be the children of fornications.

5 For their mother hath played the harlot: shee that conceived them, hath done shamefully: for the sake, I will goe after my louers that giue me my bread and my water, my wooll and my flaxe, mine oyle and my drinke.

6 Therefore behold, I will stop by thy way with thornes, and make an hedge, that shee shall not finde her paths.

7 Though she follow after her louers, yet shall shee not come at them: though shee seeke them, yet shall shee not finde them: then shall shee say, I will goe and returne to my first husband: for at that time was I better then now.

8 Now she did not know that I gaue her corne and wine and oyle, and multiplied her siluer and gold, which they bestowed vpon Baal.

9 Therefore will I returne, & take away my corne in the time thereof, and my wine in the season thereof, and will recover my wooll and my flaxe lent to conuer her shame.

10 And now will I visit her as I visited her in the light of her louers, and no man shall deliuer her out of mine hand.

11 I will also cause all her mirth to cease, her feast dayes, her new moones, and her Sabbathes, and all her sollemne feasts.

12 And I will destroy her vines, and her fig trees, whereof she hath laid, These are my rewards that my louers haue giuen me: and I will make them as a forest, and the wilde beasts shall eate them.

13 And I will visit vpon her the dayes of Baalim, wherein she burnt incense to them: and she decked herselfe with her earerings and her Jewels, and she followed her louers and forgot me, saith the Lord.

14 Therefore behold, I will punish her and bring her into the wilderness, and speake friendly vnto her.

15 And I will giue her her vineyards from thence, and the valley of Achor: for the doore of hope, and she shall sing there as in the dayes of her youth, and as in the day when she came vp out of the land of Egypt.

16 And at that day, saith the Lord, thou shalt call me Iehouah, and shalt call me no more Baalim.

17 For I will take away the names of Baalim out of her mouth, and they shall be no more remembered by their names.

18 And in that day will I make a covenant for them, with the wilde beasts, and with the foules of the heauen, and with that that creepeth vpon the earth, & I will bryake the bow and the sword, and the battell out of the earth, and will make them to sleepe safely.

19 And I will marry thee vnto mee for ever: yea, I will marry thee vnto mee in righteousness, and in iudgement, and in mercie and in compassion.

20 I will euen marry thee vnto mee in faithfulness, and thou shalt know the Lord.

21 And in that day I will beare, saith the Lord, I will euen beare the heauens, and they shall beare the earth.

22 And the earth shall beare the cypre, and the vine, and the oyle, and they shall beare Azeel.

23 And I will sowe her vnto mee in the earth, and I will haue mercie vpon her, that was not pitied, and I will say to them which were not my people, Ye haue art my people. And they shall say, Thou art my God.

CHAP. III.

The Lord shall be cast off for their idolatry, & Afterward they shall returne to the Lord.

Then said the Lord to mee, See yet, and loue a woman (beloued of her husband, and was an harlot) according to the loue of the Lord toward the children of Israel: yet they looked to other gods, and I loued the wine bottles.

2 So I bought her to mee for siluerne pieces of siluer, and for an homer of barley, and an halfe homer of barley.

3 And I said vnto her, Thou shalt abstaine from many dayes: Thou shalt not play the harlot, and thou shalt bee to none other man, and I will be so vnto thee.

4 For the children of Israel shall remain many dayes without a king, and without a prince, and without an offering, and without an image, and without an Ephod, and without Teraphim.

5 Afterward shall the children of Israel conuert, and seeke the Lord their God, and Dauid their king, and shall feare the Lord, and his goodnes in the latter dayes.

^h Meaning, the whole body of the people which were weary with hearing the word of God, h The more I was beneficiall vnto them.

Hear the word of the Lord, ye children of Israel: for the Lord hath a controuersie with the inhabitants of the land; because there is no truth, nor mercy, nor knowledge of God in the land.

2 By wearing, and lying, and killing, and straling, and whoring, they breake out, and blood toucheth blood.

3 Therefore shall the land mourne, and every one that dwelleth therein, shall be cut off, with the beasts of the field, and with the fowles of the heauen, and also the fishes of the sea shall be taken away.

4 Per: let none rebuke, nor reprove another: for thy people are as they that rebuke the Priest.

5 Therefore shall thou fall in the day, and the Prophet shall fall with thee in the night, and I will destroy thy mother.

6 Why people are destroyed for lacke of knowledge: because thou hast refused knowledge, I will also refuse thee, that thou shalt bee no Priest to mee: and seeing thou hast forgotten the Law of thy God, I will also forget thy children.

7 As they were increased, so they sinned against me: therefore will I change their glory into shame.

8 They eate vp the finnes of my people and lift vp their minds in their iniquitie.

9 And there shall be like people, like Priests: for I will visit their wayes upon them, and reward them their deuis.

10 For they shall eate, and not haue enough: they shall commit adultery, and shall not increase, because they haue left off to take heed to the Lord.

11 They drinke, and wine, and newe wine take away their heart.

12 Why people arte counsell at their rockes, and their staffe teacheth them: for the spirit of fornications hath caused them to erre, and they haue gone a whoring from vnder their God.

13 They sacrifice vpon the tops of the mountains, and burne incense vpon the hills vnder the oakes, and the poplar tree, and the elme, because the shadow thereof is good: therefore your daughteres shall bee harlots, and your spouses shall be whores.

14 I will not visit your daughteres when they are harlots, nor your spouses when they are whores: for they themselues are separated with harlots, and sacrifice with whores: therefore the people that

CHAP. V.

1 Against the Priests and rulers of Israel, 13 The helpe of man is vaine.

O Priests, heare this, and hearken, ye, house of Israel, and giue ye eare, O house of the King: for iudgement is toward you, because ye haue bene a snare on Mizpah, and a net spread vpon Gabaz.

2 Yet they were profound, to decline to slaughter, though I haue bene a rebuker of them all.

3 I know Ephraim, and Israel is not hid from me: for now, Ephraim, thou art become an harlot, and Israel is defiled.

4 They will not giue their iniquities to turne vnto their God: for the spirit of fornication is in the middest of them, & they haue not knowne the Lord.

5 And the pride of Israel doeth testify to his face: therefore shall Israel a Ephraim fall in their iniquitie: Iudah also shall fall with them.

6 They shall goe with their sheepe, and with their bullockes to serke the Lord: but they shall not finde him: for hee hath withdrawn himselfe from them.

7 They haue transgressed against the Lord: for they haue begotten strange children: now shall a month requiue them with their positions.

8 Blow ye the trumpet in Sibeath, and the shawme in Ramah: crye out at Beth-aven, after the Benjamin.

9 Ephraim shall see desolation in the day of rebuke: among the tribes of Israel haue I caused to know the truth.

10 The priuies of Iudah were like them that excoome the bound: therefore will I powe out my wrath vpon them like water.

11 Ephraim is oppressed, and broken in generate, so that there is no hope in them. g Their destructions not farre off. h That is, all liell comprehended vnder this saying, signifying that the Lords plagues should pursue them from place to place till they were destroyed. i By the sacrifice they shall know that I haue surely determined this. k They haue turned vnto downe all poliicall order, and all manner of Religion.

Ch 3 Iudgement.

r God would punish them for their iniquities, and will teach them to learn by his example to returne in time. s For alittle the Lord had honored this place in times past by his presence, yet because it was abused by their idolatry, he would not that his people should be so polluted.

a The Priests & princes caught the poore people in their snares, as the fowles did. b The birds, in these two hee mountaynes. c Now withstanding they seemed to be giuen altogether to holiness, and to sacrifices, which here be called slaughter in contempt. d Though I had admonished them continually by my Prophetes, they boasted themselves, not onely to be Israelites, but also Ephraimites, because their king Ieroboam came of that tribe. e A meaning, that I, concerning of all admonitions, that is, their children are degenerate.

12 Therefore will I be unto Ephraim as a moth, and to the house of Judah as a scorching fire.

13 When Ephraim saw his sickness, and Judah his wound, then went Ephraim unto Ashtar, and sent unto king Jerob: yet could he not heale you, nor cure you of your wound.

14 For I will be unto Ephraim as a tyon, and as a lions whelp to the house of Judah: I, even I will spoile, and goe away: I will take away, and none shall rescue it.

15 I will goe, and returne to my place, till they acknowledge their fault, and seek me: in their affliction they will seek me diligently.

CHAP. VI.

1 Affliction causeth a man to turne to God, 9 The wickedness of the Priest.

Come, and let vs: returne to the Lord: for he hath spoiled, and hee will heale vs: he hath wounded vs, and he will bende vs vp.

2 After two dayes will hee reuine vs, and in the third day hee will raise vs vp, and we shall line in his sight.

3 Then shall we haue knowledge, and inuenour our selues to know the Lord: his going forth is prepared as the morning, and he shall come vnto vs as the raine, and as the latter raine vnto the earth.

4 O Ephraim, what shall I doe vnto thee? Judah, how shall I intreate thee? for your goodnesse is as a morning cloud, and as the morning dew it goeth away.

5 Therefore haue I cut downe by the Prophets: I haue slaine them by the words of my mouth, and the iudgements were as the light that goeth forth.

6 For I desired mercie, and not sacrifice, and the knowledge of God more then burnt offerings.

7 But they like men haue transgressed the covenant: there haue they trespassed against me.

8 A Micah is a clite of them that worke iniquitie, and is polluted with blood.

9 And as theyrues wait for a man, to the company of Israhels murder in the way by consent: for they worke mischief.

10 I haue seene villanie in the house of Israel: there is the whorehouse of Ephraim: Israel is defiled.

11 Pen, Judah hath set a plant for thee, while I would returne the captivity of my people.

CHAP. VII.

1 Of the vices and wantonness of the people 12 Of their punishment.

When I would haue heales Israel, then the iniquitie of Ephraim was discouered, and the wickedness of Samaria:

maria: for they haue dealt falsely: and the sacrifice cometh in, and the robber spoyleth without.

2 And they consider not in their hearts, that I remember all their wickedness: now their owne inuentions haue brekt them about: they are in my sight.

3 They make the king glad with their wickedness, and the princes with their lies.

4 They are all adulterers, and as a very oven heated by the baker, which ceaseth from raising vp, & from kneading the dough, untill it be leavened.

5 This is the day of our king: the princes haue made him sick with flagons of wine: he stretcheth out his hand to loozer.

6 For they haue made ready their heart like an oven, whilst they lie in wait: their baker sleepeth all the night: in the morning it burneth as a flame of fire.

7 They are all hot as an oven, and haue denoured their Judges: all their kings are fallen: there is none among them that callet vnto me.

8 Ephraim hath mist himself among the people. Ephraim is as a cake on the hearth not turned.

9 Strangers haue denoured his strength, and hee knoweth it not: yea, a gray haire is here and there vpon him, yet hee knoweth not.

10 And the pillow of Israel testifieth to his face, and they doe not returne to the Lord their God: nor seeke him for this.

11 Ephraim also is like a dune decrested, without a heart: they call to Egypt: they go to Asshur.

12 But when they shall goe, I will spread my net vnto them, and draw them downe as the fowles of the heauen: I will chastise them as their congregation hath heard.

13 Alas vnto them: for they haue fled away from me: destruction shalbe vnto them, because they haue transgressed against me: though I haue redeemed them, yet they haue spoken lies against me.

14 And they haue not cried vnto me with their hearts, when they bowed vpon their beds: they assemble themselves for wine and wine, and they rebel against me.

15 Though I haue bound, and strengthened their arme, yet doe they imagine mischief against me.

16 They returne, but not to the most High: they are like a decrested dune: their princes shall fall by the sword, for the rage of their tongues: this shalbe their derision in the land of Egypt.

it is better to cleane onely to God, or to seeke the helpe of man. i According to my curses made to the whole Congregation of Israel. k That is, diuers times redeemed them, and delivered them from death. l When they were in affliction, and cried out for paine, they sought not vnto mee for helpe. m They onely like their owne commoditie and wealth, and passe not for me then God. n Because they boast of their owne strength, and passe not what they speake against me and my seruant, Psal. 73. 9.

CHAP. VIII.

1 The destruction of Judah and Israel, because of their idolatry.

a He sheweth the people how they ought to turne to the Lord that he might calke his plagues.
b Though he correct vs: from time to time, yet his helpe will not be farre off, if we returne to him.
c You seeme to haue a certaine holiness, and repentance, but it is vpon the sudden and as a morning cloud, & I haue laboured by my Prophets: and as it were framed you to bring you to amendment, but all was in vaine: for my word was not meate to feede them: but a sword to slay them.
e My doctrine which I taught thee was most euident.
f He sheweth to what scope his doctrine tended that they should ioyne the obedience of God, and the loue of their neighbour with outward sacrifice.
g That is, like light and weak persons.
h Which was the place where the Priests dwelt, and which should haue bene best instructed in my word.
i That is, doeth imitate thine idolatrie and hath taken grafts of thy trees.

a Meaning, that there was no one kind of vice among them, but that they were subiect to all wickedness, both secret and open.
b They estimate their wicked king Ieroboam above God, and seeke but how to flatter and please him.
c He compareth the rage of the people to a burning oven which the baker heateth till all his dough be leuened and raised.
d They shall all riot and commit in their lealities solemnities, whereby their king was overcome with lust and brought him diseases, and delighted in flatteries.
e By their occasion God hath deprived them of all good things.
f That is, he counterfeits the religion of the Gentiles, as but as a cake baked on the same side, and raw on the other: that is, neither through hot nor through cold, but partly a lew, and partly a Gentile.
g Which was token of his manifold afflictions.
h That is, without all iudgment, as they that cannot tell whether ageth the Prophet to signify

ing of the ene-

thers in the wilderness.

consider how to and how to seek help.

tribute which the king and the princes shall lay them to repentance.

nours count the word of God as strange in respect of their owne inventions. k Saying that they offer to the Lord, but he accepteth no
service, which he himself hath
not appointed.

Be the trumpet to thy mouth: he shall come as an eagle against the house of the Lord because they have transgressed my covenant, and have despised against my Law.

2 Israel shall cry unto me, My God, we know thee.

3 Israel hath cast off the thing that is good: the enemies shall pursue him.

4 They have set up a king, but not by me: they have made princes and I know it not: of their silver and their gold have they made them idols: therefore shall they be destroyed.

5 Thy calf, O Samaria, hath cast thee off: mine anger is kindled against them:
how long will they be without innocency.

6 For it came from Israel: the workman made it, therefore it is not God:
but the calf of Samaria shall be broken in pieces:

7 For they have fowled the wind, as they shall reap the whirlwind: it hath no stalk:
the bud shall bring forth no increase: it is as if they were fowled, the strangers shall devoure it.

8 Israel is despoiled, now shall they be as nothing the Gentiles as a desell wherein is no pleasure.

9 For they are gone up to Ashur: they are as a wild ass alone by himselfe: Ephraim hath hired lovers.

10 Yet though they have hired among the nations, now will I gather them, and they shall sorrow a little, for the burden of the king, and the princes.

11 Because Ephraim hath made many altars to sinne, his altars shall be to sinne.

12 I have written to them the great things of my Law: but they were counted as a strange thing.

13 They sacrifice flesh for the sacrifices of mine offerings, and eat it: but the Lord accepteth them not: now will he remember their iniquities, and visit their sinnes: they shall returne to Egypt.

14 For Israel hath forgotten his maker and builded Temples, and Judah hath increased strong cities: but I will send a fire upon his cities, and it shall devour the palaces thereof.

15 Saying that they offer to the Lord, but he accepteth no
service, which he himself hath
not appointed.

CHAP. IX.

Of the hunger and captivity of Israel.

Therefore not, O Israel for Ioy, as other people: for thou hast gone a whoring from thy God: thou hast loved a reward upon every corner stone.

2 The fleece and the winepress shall not feede them, and the new wine shall faile in her.

3 They will not dwell in the Lords land but Ephraim will returne to Egypt, and they will eat badmeane things in Assyrie.

4 They shall not offer wine to the Lord, but rather live by playing the whore, then to be entertained of her own husband. c These outward things that thou seekest, shall become from thee. d All their doings both touching policie and religion, shall be rejected as things polluted.

neither shall they sacrifice bee pleasant unto him: but they shall be unto them as the head of mourners: all that eat thereof, shall be polluted: for their head for their soules shall not come into the house of the Lord.

5 What will ye doe then in the solemn day, and in the day of the feast of the Lord?

6 For loe, they are gone from a destruction: but Egypt shall gather them up, and Sennacherib shall burie them: the nettle shall possesse the pleasant places of their silver, and the thornes shall be in their tabernacles.

7 The dayes of visitation are come: the dayes of recompence are come: Israel shall know it: the prophet is a fool: the spiritual man is made, for the multitude of thine in-iquities: therefore the barred is great.

8 The watchman of Ephraim should be with my God: but the prophet is the share of a fouler in all his wayes, and hated in the house of his God.

9 They are deeply set: they are corrupt as in the dayes of Gibeah: therefore hee will remember their iniquities, hee will visit their sinnes.

10 I found Israel like grapes in the wildernesse: I sawe your fathers as the first ripe in the figger at her first time: but they went to Baal-Deor, and separated themselves unto that shame, and their abomi-nations were according to their lovers.

11 Ephraim their glory shall bee away like a bird: from the birth and from their wombe, and from the conception.

12 Though they dying by their children, yet I will depine them from being men: rewote to them, when I depart from them.

13 Ephraim, as I sawe, is as a tree in Tyrus planted in a cottage: but Ephraim hath bying forth his children to the murderer.

14 O Lord, give them: what wilt thou give them? give them a barren wombe and drye breasts.

15 All their wickednesse is in Gilgal for there doe I hate them: for the wickednesse of their inventions, I will cast them out of mine house: I will love them no more: all their princes are rebels.

16 Ephraim is smitten, their roote is dried up: they can bring no fruit: yea, though they bring forth, yet will I slay them the beare of their body.

17 My God will cast them away, because they did not obey him: and they shall wander among the nations.

lousers the idols n Signifying, that God would destroy their children by their sundry meanes, and so confound them by little and little. o As they keep tender plants in their houses in Tyrus to preserve them from the colde ayre of the Sea, so was Ephraim at the first vnto me, but now will I give him to the slaughter. p The Prophet seeing the great plagues of God toward Ephraim, prayeth to God to make them barren rather than that this great slaughter should come upon their children. q The chief cause of their destruction is, that they commit idolatry, and corrupt my religion in Gilgal.

2 Their heart is divided: now shall they be found faultie: he shall breake downe their Altars: he shall destroy their images.

3 For now they shall say, We haue no King because we feared not the Lord: and what should a king doe to vs?

4 They haue spoken wordes, swearing falsely in making a covenant: thus iudgement groweth as wormewood in the furrowes of the field.

5 The inhabitants of Samaria shall feare because of the calfe of Beth-aven: for the people thereof shall mourne ouer it, and the Chemarims thereof that reioyced on it for the glory thereof, because it is departed from it.

9 O Israel, thou hast sinned from the dayes of Gibeah: there thy food: the battell in Gibeah against the children of iniquity did not touch them.

10 It is my desire that I should chastise them: and the people shall be gathered against them, when they shall gather them selues in their two furrowes.

11 And Ephraim is as a heifer bred to delight in: they say, but I will passe by her fat necke: I will make Ephraim to ride: Judah shall plow, and Iacob shall breake his clods.

12 How to your selues in righteousness: scape after the measure of mercy: breake vp your fallow ground: for it is time to seeke the Lord, till hee come and raise righteousness vpon you.

13 But you haue plowed wickedness: ye haue reaped iniquity: you haue eaten the fruit of lies: because thou didst trust in thine owne wayes, and in the multitude of thy strong men.

14 Therefore shall a tumult arise among thy people, and all thy munitions shall be destroyed, as Shalman destroyed Betharbel in the day of battell: the mother with the children was dashed in pieces.

15 So shall Beth-el be vnto you, because of your malicious wickedness: in a morning shall the king of Israel be destroyed.

CHAP. XI.

1 The benefits of the Lord toward Israel. 3 Their ingratitude against him.

VVhen Israel was a childe, then I loved him, and called my sonne out of Egypt.

2 They called them, but they went thus from them: they sacrificed vnto Baalim and burnt incense to images.

3 I led Ephraim also, as one should beare them in his arms: but they knew not that I healed them.

4 I led them with cords of a man, euen with bands of stone, and I was to them, as hee that taketh off the yoke from their lawes: and I said, be mercie vnto them.

5 He shall no more returne into the land of Egypt, but Ashur shall be his King because they refused to beare it.

6 And the sword shall fall on his cities, and shall consume his barres, and deuoure them because of their owne counsels.

7 And my people are bent to rebellion against me: though they called them to the most high, yet none at all would heare him.

8 How shall I give thee up Ephraim: how shall I deliver thee, Israel: how shall I make thee, as Admah: how shall I set thee as Sodom: mine heart is turned within me: my representations are rolled together.

9 I will not repute the fiercenes of my wrath: I will not returne to destroy Ephraim: for I am God, and not man the holy one in the midst of thee, and I will not enter into the citie.

10 They shall walke after the Lord: hee shall roare like a lyon: when hee shall roare then the children of the West shall feare.

11 They shall feare as a Sparrow out of Egypt, and as a Dove out of the land of Ashur, and I will place them in their houses saith the Lord.

12 Ephraim compasseth me about with lies, and the house of Israel with deceit: but Iudah yet ruleth with God, and is faithful with the Saints.

9 Though I am the Lord thy God from the land of Egypt, yet will I make thee to 10 I haue also spoken by the Prophets, thanks.

tation against her God: they shall fall by the sword: their infants shall be dashed in pieces, and their women with child shall be ript.

2 O Israel, returne vnto the Lord thy God: for thou hast fallen by thine iniquitie.

3 Take vnto you words, and turne to the Lord, and say vnto him, Take away all iniquitie, and receiue vs graciously: so will we render the calves of our lips.

4 Althow shall not lase vs: neither will we ride vpon horses: neither will we say

1 The abomination of Israel, 9 and cause of their destruction.

When Ephraim spake, there was a trembling: hee exalted himselfe in Israel, but hee hath sinned in Baal, and is dead.

2 And now they sinne more and more, and haue made them molten images of their silver, and idoles, according to their owne vnderstanding: they were all the woorkes of the craftsmen: they say one to another wiles they sacrifice a man, let them kisse the calves.

3 Therefore they shall be as the morning cloud, and as the morning dew that passeth away, as the chaffe that is driven with a whirlewinde out of the steepe, and as the smoke that goeth out of the chimney.

Joel.

THE ARGUMENT.

The Prophet Joel first rebuketh them of Iudah, that bring now punished with a great plague of famine, remaine still obstinate. Secondly, he threatneth greater plagues, because they grew daily to a more hardnes of heart, and rebellion against God, notwithstanding his punishments. Thirdly, he exhorteth them to repentance, shewing that it must be earnest, and proceed from the heart, because they had grievously offended God. And so doing, he promitteth that God will be merciful, and not forget his Covenants that he made with their fathers: but will send his Christ, who shall gather the scattered sheepe, and restore them to life and liberty, though they seemed to be dead.

CHAP. I.

1 A prophesie against the Iewes. 2 Hee exhorteth the people to prayer and fasting, for the miserie that was at hand.

THE word of the Lord that came to Joel the sonne of Bethuel.

2 Heard ye this, O Elders, and hearken ye all inhabitants of the land, whether such a thing hath bene in your dayes, or yet in the dayes of your fathers.

3 Tell you your children of it, and let your children shew to their children, & their children to another generation.

4 What which is left of the palmer worme, hath the grasshopper eaten, and the residue of the grasshopper hath the canker worme eaten, and the residue of the canker worme hath the caterpillar eaten.

5 Awake ye drunkards of wine, because of the new wine: for it shall bee pulled from your mouth.

6 Pea, & a Nation commeth vpon my land, mightie, and without number, whose teeth are like the teeth of a Lion, and bee hath the lawes of a great Lion.

7 He maketh my Vine waste, and pillereth off the barks of my figge tree: hee maketh it bare, and cakerh it downe, the branches thereof are made white.

8 Bourne like a Virgin girded with sackcloth for the husband of her youth.

9 The meat offering, and the drinke offering is cut off from the house of the Lord: the Priests the Lords ministers mourne.

10 The field is wasted: the land mourneth: for the corne is destroyed: the new wine is dried up, and the oyle is decayen.

11 Bee ye ashamed. O husbandmen: haile, O ye Vine dressers, for the wheate, and for the barley, because the harvest of the field is perished.

12 The Vine is dried up, and the figtree is decayed: the pomegranate tree, and the palme tree, and the apple tree, even all the trees of the field are withered: surely the joy is withered away from the sonnes of men.

13 Cried you situes and lament, ye Priests, howe ye ministers of the Altar come, and lie all night in sackcloth, ye ministers of my God: for the meate offering and the drinke offering is taken away from the house of your God.

14 Sanctifie you a fast: call a solemn assembly: gather the Elders, and all the inhabitants of the land into the house of the Lord your God, and cry vnto the Lord.

15 Alas for the day, for the day of the Lord is at hand, and it cometh as a destruction from the Almighty.

16 Is not the meate cut off before our eyes? and loy, and gladnesse from the house of our God?

17 The seed is rotten vnder their cloath, the garners are destroyed: the barnes are broken downe, for the corne is withered.

18 How do the beastes mourne: the herds of cattell pine away, because they haue no pasture, and the flockes of sheepe are destroyed.

19 O Lord, to thee will I cry: for the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderness, and the flame hath burnt vp all the trees of the field.

20 The beastes of the field cry also vnto thee: for the riuers of waters are dried up, and the fire hath deuoured the pastures of the wilderness.

5 Like the noise of charrets in the toppes of the mountaines shall they leape, like the noise of a flame of fire that denounceth the bubble, and as a mighty people prepared to the battell.

6 Before his face shall the people tremble: all faces shall gather blacknesse.

7 They shall runne like strong men, and goe up to the wall like men of warre, and every man shall goe forward in his wayes, and they shall not stay in their pathes.

8 Neither shall one thrust another, but every one shall walk in his party: and when they fall upon the sword, they shall not be wounded.

9 They shall runne to and fro in the city: they shall runne upon the wall: they shall climb up upon the houses, and enter in at the windowes like the theefe.

10 The earth shall tremble before him, the heavens shall shake, the sunne and the moon shall bee dark, and the starres shall withholden their shining.

11 And the Lord shall utter his voice before his host: for his host is very great: for he is strong that doeth his words: for the day of the Lord is great and very terrible, and who can abide it?

12 Therefore also now the Lord sayeth, Turne you unto me with all your heart, and with fasting, and with weeping, and with mourning.

13 And rent your heart, and not your clothes: and turne unto the Lord your God, for he is gracious and mercifull, slow to anger, and of great kindness, and repenteth him of the rull.

14 Who knoweth, if he will returne and repent and leave a blessing behind him, even a meate offering, and a drinke offering unto the Lord your God?

15 Blow the trumpet in Zion, sanctifie a fast, call a solemn assembly.

16 Gather the people: sanctifie the congregation, gather the Elders: ascribe the children, and those that suck the breasts: let the bridegroome goe forth of his chamber, and the bride out of her bachelers chamber.

17 Let the Ministers the ministers of the Lord weep betweene the porch and the Altar, and let them say, Spare the people, O Lord, and give not thine heritage into reproach, that the heathen should rule over them, & therefore should they say among the people, Where is their God?

18 Then will the Lord be zealous over his land, and spare his people.

19 Yea, the Lord will answer and say unto his people, Behold I will send you corne, and wine and oyle, and you shall be satisfied therewith: and I will no more make you a reproach among the heathen.

20 But I will remove farre off from you the Assyrian army, and I will destroy him into a land, barren and desolate, with his face toward the East sea, and his end to the bottom sea, and his stink shall come up, and his corruption shall ascend, because he hath exalted himself to doe this.

21 Feare not, O land, be glad and rejoyce: for the Lord will doe great things.

22 Be not afraid ye beastes of the field: for the pastures of the wilderness are green: for the tree beareth her fruit: the figge tree and the vine doe give their foyle.

23 Be glad then ye children of Zion, and rejoyce in the Lord your God: for he hath given you the raine of righteousness, and he will cause to come downe for you the raine even the first raine, and the latter raine in the first moneth.

24 And the barnes shall be full of wheate, and the presses shall abound with wine & oyle.

25 And I will render you the peeces that the grasshopper hath eaten, the canker worme, and the caterpillar, and the palmer worme, my great host which I sent among you.

26 So you shall eat and bee satisfied, and praise the name of the Lord your God, that hath dealt marvellously with you: and my people shall never be ashamed.

27 Yee shall also know that I am in the mids of Israel, and that I am the Lord your God, and none other, and my people shall never be ashamed.

28 And afterward will I purge out my Spirit upon all flesh: and your sonnes and your daughters shall prophesie: your old men shall dreame dreames, and your young men shall see visions.

29 And also upon the strangers, and upon the maydes in those dayes will I purge my Spirit.

30 And I will shew wonders in the heavens, and in the earth: blood and fire, and pillars of smoke.

31 The Sunne shall be turned into darkness, and the Moone into blood, before the great and terrible day of the Lord come.

32 But whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord, shall be saved: for in mount Zion, and in Jerusalem shall be deliverance, as the Lord hath said, and in the remnant, whom the Lord shall call.

Against the enemies of the Church.

Amos.

The harvest ripe: Damascus.

c That which the enemy gate for the sale of my people, he bestoweth ypo harlots and drinks. d He taketh the cause of his Church in hand against the enemy, as though the injury were done to himselfe. e Have I done you wrong, that ye will render me the like? f For afterward God would them by Nebuchadnezzar & Alexander the great, for the love he bare to his people, and thereby they were comforted as though the price had bene theirs. g When I shall execute my judgement against mine enemies, I will cause every one to be ready and to prepare their weapons to destroy one another for my Church sake.

Jehoshaphat, and will pleade with them there for my people, and for mine heritage Israel, whom they have scattered among the nations, and parred my land.

3 And they have call lots for my people & have given the child for the harlot, & sold the girls for wine, that they might drinke.

4 Pra, and what have you to doe with me, O Tyne and Zion, and all the coasts of Idumea: will ye render mee a recompense? and if ye recompense me, swiftly and speedily will I render you a recompense upon your head,

5 For ye have taken my silver and my gold, and have carried into your temples my goodly and pleasant things.

6 The children also of Judah and the children of Jerusalem have you sold unto the Grecians, that ye might send them farre from their border.

7 Behold, I will raise them out of the place where ye have sold them, and will render you reward upon your owne head.

8 And I will sell your sonnes and your daughters into the hand of the children of Judah, and they shall sell them to the Sabaeans, to a people farre off: for the Lord hath spoken it.

9 Publish this among the Gentiles: prepare warre, wake up the mighty men: let all the men of warre draw neere and come up.

10 Breaker your plow shares into two swords, and your sickes into speares: let the weak say, I am strong.

11 Assemble your selves, and come all ye heathen, and gather your selves together round about: there shall the Lord call down thy mighty men.

12 Let the heathen be wakened, and come up to the valley of Jehoshaphat: for there will I sit to judge the heathen: round about.

13 One in your sickes, for the harvest is ripe: come, ye you sow, for the winepress is full: yea, the wine-press runneth over, for their wickedness is great.

14 Multitude, multitude, come into the valley of threshing: for the day of the Lord is neere in the valley of threshing.

15 The sunne & moone shall be darkened, and the starres shall withdraw their light.

16 The Lord also shall roare out of Zion, and utter his voyce from Jerusalem, and the heavens and the earth shall shake, but the Lord will be the hope of his people, and the strength of the children of Israel.

17 So shall ye know that I am the Lord your God dwelling in Zion, mine holy mountaine: then shall Jerusalem bee holy, and there shall no strangers goe: for so sayeth the Lord.

18 And in that day shall the mountaines drop downe new wine, and the hills shall flow with milke, and all the rivers of Judah shall run with waters, and a fountaine shall come forth of the house of the Lord, and shall water the valley of Shittim.

19 Egypt shall be wast, & Idom shall be a desolate wilderness, for the injuries of the children of Judah, because they have shed innocent blood in their land.

20 But Judah shall dwell for ever, and Jerusalem from generation to generation.

21 For I will cleanse their blood, that I have not cleansed, and the Lord will dwell in Zion.

enemies shall have no part of this grace. n Hee had suffered his Church hitherto to lie in their filthinesse, but now he promisseth to cleanse them, and to make them pure unto him.

h Thus he shall encourage the enemies, when their wickedness is full: yea, to destroy one another, which he calleth the valley of Gods judgement. i God afflicth his against all troubles, that when he destroyeth his enemies, his children shall be delivered. k The strangers shall no more destroy his Church, which if they do, it is the people which by their sinnes make themselves breach for the enemy. l He promisseth to his Church abundance of grace, read Ezekiel 47. i, which should water and comfort the most barren places. THE ARGUMENT.

Among many other Prophets that God raised up to admonish the Israelites of his plagues for their wickedness & idolatry, he stirred up Amos, who was an herdman or shepard of a poore towne, and gave him both knowledge and constancie to reprove all estates and degrees, and to denounce Gods horrible judgements against them, except they did in time repent: shewing them that if God spare not the other Nations about them, who had lived as it were in ignorance of God in respect of them, but for their sinnes will punish them, that they could looke for nothing, but an horrible destruction, except they turned to the Lord by vnfeigned repentance. And finally he comforteth the godly with hope of the coming of the Messiah, by whom they should have perfect deliverance and salvation.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophesie of Amos. 2 The word of the Lord against Damascus. 3 The Philistines, Tyrus Idumea and Armon.

TH words of Amos, who was among the herdmen at Ecra, which hee saw upon Israel in the dayes of Uzziah King of Judah, and in the dayes of Jeroboam the son of Joath King of Israel, two yeeres before the earthquake.

2 And he said, The Lord shall roare from Zion, & utter his voyce from Jerusalem, and the dwelling places of the shepherds shall perish, and the toppe of Carmel shall wither.

3 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Damascus, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they have threshed Silead with threshing instruments of yon.

4 Therefore will I send a fire into the house of Hazael, and it shall denoure the palaces of Ben-hadad.

meant by three and foure which make seven, because the Israelites should the more deeply consider Gods iudgements toward them.

i If the Syrians it is not soe speed for committing this crueltie against one Citie, it is not possible that Israel should escape punishment, which hath committed so many and grievous sinnes against God and man.

6 I will speake also the barres of Damascus, and cut off the inhabitant of Bashan: and him that holdeth the scepter out of Bashan: and the people of Aram shall go into captivity unto Kir, saith the Lord.

7 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Izzab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they caried away prisoners the whole captivity to shut them by in Edom.

7 Therefore I will send a fire vpon the wallles of Izzab, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

8 And I will cut off the inhabitant from Ashdod, him that holdeth the scepter from Ashkelon, and turne mine hand co Ekron, and the remnant of the Philistines shall perish, saith the Lord God.

9 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Tyne, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they shut the whole captiuitie in Edom, and haue not remembered the brotherly covenant.

10 Therefore will I send a fire vpon the wallles of Tyne, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof.

11 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Edom, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because he did pursue his brother with the sword, and did cast off all pietie, and his anger spoiled him ruermore, and his wrath watched him alway.

12 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Teman, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Bozrah.

13 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of the children of Ammon, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue riue by the women with childre of Gilead, that they might enlarge their border.

14 Therefore will I kindle a fire in the wall of Rabbah, and it shall deuoure the palaces thereof, with shouting in the day of battell, and with a tempest in the day of the whirlwind.

15 And their King shall goe into captivity, bee and his princes together, saith the Lord.

CHAP. II.

Against Moab, Iudah, and Israel.

Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Moab, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because it burnt the bones of the king of Edom inro lime.

2 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Moab, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Kerioth, and Moab shall die with tumult, with shouting, and with the sound of a trumpet.

3 And I will cut off the Iudge out of the mids thereof, and will slay all the Princes thereof with him, saith the Lord.

4 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Iudah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they haue cast away the Law of the Lord, and haue not kept his commandements, and their King canst driue himselfe, were thus punished, Iudah which was so fully instructed of the Lords will, might not thinke to escape.

to erre after the which their fathers haue walked.

5 Therefore will I send a fire vpon Iudah, and it shall deuoure the palaces of Ierusalem.

6 Thus saith the Lord, For three transgressions of Iezrah, and for foure, I will not turne to it, because they tolde the righteous for liars, and the pious for spones.

7 They gaue once the head of the poore in the dust of the earth, and peruert the wayes of the meete; and a man and his father will goe in to a mayde to dishonour mine holy Name.

8 And they lie downe vpon clothes layd to pledge: by euery altar; and they drinke the wine of the condemned in the house of their God.

9 Per destroyed I the Amorite before them, whose height was like the height of the cedars, and he was strong as the oakes: notwithstanding I destroyed his fruit from aboue, and his roote from beneath.

10 Also I brought you up from the land of Egypt, and you fourte yerres rowed the wilderness, to possesse the land of the Amorite.

11 And I rayled vpon you for your finnes for Prophets, and of your young men for Nazarites. Is it not euen thus, O ye children of Israel, saith the Lord?

12 But ye gaue the Nazarites wine to drinke, and commanded the Prophets, saying, Prophete nor.

13 Behold, I am pressed vnder you, as a cart is pressed that is full of sheaves.

14 Therefore the flight shall perish from the swift, and the strong shall not strengthen his force, neither shall the mighty saue his life.

15 For hee that handleth the bow, shall stand, and he that is swift of foot, shall not escape, neither shall he that rideth the horse, saue his life.

16 And he that is of a mightie courage amongst the strong men, shall see away naked in that day, saith the Lord.

I Ye contemned my benefices, and abused my graces, and craftily went about to stoppe the mouthes of my Prophets. Ye haue wearied me with your finnes, I sa. 1. 14. I Noe shall be deliuered by any means.

d Can any thing come without Gods providence?

e Shall his threatenings be in vaine?

f Shall the Prophets threaten Gods iudgements, and the people not be afraid?

g Doeth any aduerſe come without Gods appointment? 11s. 45. 7.

h God dealeth not with the ſc- racles as hee doth with other people: for hee euer warneth them before of his plagues by his Prophets.

i Because the people euer mur- mured againſt the Prophets, he ſheweth that Gods Spirit mooued them ſo to ſpeake as they did.

k He calleth the ſtrangers, as the Philiftins and Egyptians to be witneſſes of Gods iudgements againſt the Iſrae- lites for their cruelty and op- preſſion.

l The fruit of their cruelty and cheſt appeareth by their great riches which they haue in their houſes. m When the Lion hath ſati- ate his hunger, the ſhepherd ſindeeth a legge, or a tip of an eare, to ſhew that the ſheepe hath been worried. n Where they thought to haue had a ſure hold, and to haue been in ſafety.

5 Can a bird fall in a ſnare upon the earth where no ſowler is? as will he take up the ſnare from the earth, and haue taken nothing at all?

9 Shall a trumpet be blown in the citie, and the people be not afraid? as ſhall there be euil in a citie, and the Lord hath not done it?

7 Surely the Lord God will doe no- thing, but he^a reuealeth his ſecret unto his ſervants the Prophets.

8 The lion hath roared: who will not be afraid? The Lord God hath ſpoken: who can but^b Diſobey?

9 Proclaime in the Palaces at Aſſodon, and in the palaces in the land of Egypt, and ſay, Aſſemble your ſelues upon the moun- tains of Samaria: ſo bebold the great ru- mours in the midw thereof, and the oppreſſed in the midw thereof.

10 For they know not to doe right, ſayth the Lord: they ſtoye up violence, and robbery in their palaces.

11 Therefore thus ſaith the Lord God, An aduerſary ſhall come euen round about the country, and ſhall bring downe thy ſtrength from thee, and thy palaces ſhall be ſpoiled.

12 Thus ſaith the Lord, As the ſhepherd taken^c out of the mouth of the Lyon two legs, or a piect of an eare: ſo ſhall the children of Iſrael be taken out that dwell in Samaria in the corner of a bed, and in^d Damſcus, as in a couch.

13 Weare and teſtifie in the houſe of Jaakob, ſaith the Lord God, the God of hoſts.

14 Surely in the day that I ſhall viſit the tranſgreſſions of Iſrael upon him, I will alſo viſit the altars of Beth-el, and the hornes of the altar ſhall be broken off, and fall to the ground.

15 And I will ſmite the winter houſe with the ſummer houſe, and the hornes of purpoſe ſhall periſh, and the great houſes ſhall be conſumed, ſaith the Lord.

Against the governors of Samaria.

a Thus he cal- let: the Princes and governours, which being overwhelped with the great abundance of Gods benefi- ces, ſo get God, and the ſtore hee cal- leth them by the name of beaſts, and not of men.

b Their encourage ſuch as haue authority ouer the people, to perſwade them ſo that they may haue profit by it. c He allueth to ſuch as which catch ſin by hookes and thornes,

Hear this word ye^a kine of Baſhan, that are in the mountain of Samaria, which oppreſſe the poore, and deſtroy the needy, and they lay to their maſters, b Biting, and let vs drinke.

2 The Lord God hath ſwoyne by his holineſſe, that in the dayes ſhall come upon you, that he will take you away with^c thornes, and your poſterity with ſnookes.

3 And ye ſhall goe out at the breaches, currying^d forward: and ye ſhall caſt your ſelues out of the palace, ſaith the Lord.

4 Come to^e Beth-el, and tranſgreſſeſſe Gilgal, ſmully tranſgreſſion, and bring your ſacrifices in the morning, & your riches after three^f yeeres.

5 And offer a thankſgiving^g of leaſen, puſſiſh, and proclaime the free offerings: for thou ſhalt ſay, O ye children of Iſrael, ſaith the Lord God.

6 And therefore haue I giuen you^h cleane- neſſe of teeth in all your cities, and ſtanceneſſe of bread in all your places, yet haue ye not re- turned unto me, ſaith the Lord.

7 And alſo I haue withhelden the raine from you, when there were yet threeⁱ mo- neths to the harueſt, and I cauſed it to raine upon one citie, & haue not cauſed it to raine upon another citie: one piece was rained up- on, and the piece whereupon it rained not, withered.

8 So two or three cities wandered into one citie, to drinke water, but they were^j not ſatiſfied: yet haue ye not returned unto me, ſaith the Lord.

9 I haue ſmitten you with blaſting, and mildew: your great gardens and your vine- yards, and your fig trees, & your olive trees did the palmer worne deuoure: yet haue ye not returned unto me, ſaith the Lord.

10 Beſtillence haue I ſent among you, after the manner of^k Egypt: your young men haue I ſlaine with the ſword, and haue taken away your hoſts: & I haue made the ſtink of your tents to come up euen into your no- ſtrils: yet haue ye not returned unto me, ſaith the Lord.

11 I haue overthowen you, as God o- uerthrew Sodome and Gomoah: and ye were as^l a ſtrechard pluckt out of the burn- ing, yet haue ye not returned unto me, ſaith the Lord.

12 Therefore thus will I doe unto thee, O Iſrael: and becauſe I will doe this unto thee, prepare to^m meete thy God, O Iſrael.

13 For loe, hee that ſmureth the moun- taines, and createth the winde, and decla- reth unto man what is his thought: which maketh the morning darkneſſe, and walketh upon the high places of the earth, the Lord God of hoſts is his Name.

A lamentation for the captiuitie of Iſrael.

Hear ye this word, which I liſt vt upon you, euen a lamentation of the houſe of Iſrael.

2 The virgin Iſrael is fallen, and ſhall no more riſe: ſhee is left upon her land, and there is none to liſt her up.

3 For thus ſaith the Lord God, The ci- tie which went out by a thouſand, ſhall leaue anⁿ hundred: and that which went forth by a hundred, ſhall leaue ten to the houſe of Iſrael.

4 For thus ſaith the Lord vnto the houſe of Iſrael, Seeke ye me, and ye ſhall liue.

5 But ſeeke not Beth-el, nor enter into Gilgal, nor goe not to Beer-ſheba: for Gil- gal is it goe into captiuitie, and Beth-el ſhall come to nought.

6 Seeke the Lord, and ye ſhall liue, leſt be the honour of God: therefore hee ſayeth that theſe ſhall not ſaue them,

13 Yet take both his money and also his food wherewith he should live.

14 God will so plague them, that they shall not suffer the godly ones to open their mouths to rebuke them of their faults.

15 So that all despise him because of lamentation for the great plagues.

16 Thus he speaks because the wicked & hypocrites lay their wickedness to charge Gods judgments, whereas the guilty themselves are silent, Jer. 10.

17 And in all the times shall be lamentation: for I will punish them in their day.

18 Come unto you, that desire the day of the Lord: what have you done with it? the day of the Lord is darkness and not light.

19 As if a man did flee from a lion, and a bear met him: or went into the house, and leaned his hand on the wall, and a serpent bit him.

23 Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songs: (for I will not hear the melody of thy viols.)

10 They have hated him, that rebuked in the gate: and they abhorred him that spake by dignity.

11 Forasmuch then as your trading is upon the poor, and ye take from him burdens of wheat, ye have built houses of green stone, but ye shall not dwell in them: ye have planted pleasant vineyards, but ye shall not drink wine of them.

12 For I know your manifold transgressions, and your mighty sinnes: they afflict the just, they take rewards, and they oppress the poor in the gate.

13 Therefore the prudent shall keep silence in that time, for it is an evil time.

14 Seek ye God and not evil, that ye may live: and the Lord God of hostes shall be merciful unto the remnant of Joseph.

16 Therefore the Lord God of hostes, the Lord sayeth thus: Mourning shall be in all streets: and they shall say in all the high places, Alas, alas: and they shall call the husbandman to lamentation, and such as can mourn, to mourning.

17 And in all the times shall be lamentation: for I will punish them in their day.

21 I hate & abhorre your feast days, and I will not meet in your solemn assemblies.

22 Though you offer me burnt offerings and meat offerings, I will not accept them: neither will I regard the peace offerings of your fat beasts.

23 Take thou away from me the multitude of thy songs: (for I will not hear the melody of thy viols.)

24 And let judgment run down as waters, & righteousness as a mighty river.

25 Have ye offered unto me sacrifices and offerings in the wilderness forty years, O house of Israel?

26 But you have borne yoke, & yoked your ungers, and the snare of your gods, which ye made to your selves. 27 Therefore will I cast you to go into captivity beyond Damascus, saith the Lord, whose name is the God of hostes.

CHAP. VI.

Asking the price of Israel living in pleasure, & then them that are at ease in Zion, and trust in the mountain of Samaria, which were famous at the beginning of the nations: and the house of Israel came to them.

2 Go ye unto Calneh, and see: and from thence go ye to Hamath the great: then go ye down to Gath of the Philistines, be ye better then their king domes: or the border of their lands greater then your border.

3 Pe that put farre away the evil day, and approach to the seat of iniquitie?

4 They lie upon beds of purple, & stretch themselves upon their beddes, and eat the lambs of the flock, and the calves out of the stall.

5 They sing to the sound of the viol: they invent to themselves instruments of musike like David.

6 They drink wine in bowles, & anoint themselves with the chief ornaments, but no man is loath for the affliction of Joseph.

7 Therefore now shall they goe captive with the first that goe captive, and the sorrow of them that stretched themselves, is at hand.

8 The Lord God hath sworn by himself, sayeth the Lord God of hostes, I abhorre the excellency of Jacob, and hate his palaces: therefore will I deliver up the city with all that is therein.

9 And if there remaine some men in one house, they shall die.

10 And his uncle shall take him up and burne him to carry out the bones out of the house, and shall say unto him that is by the sides of the house, Is there yet any with thee? And he shall say, None. Then shall he say, Woe thy tongue: for thou mayest not remember the name of the Lord.

11 For behold, the Lord commandeth, and he will smite the great house with breaches, and the little house with clefts.

12 Shall horses runne upon the rocks? or will one plow there with oxen? for ye have turned judgment into gall, and the tonnesse and rior. 8 As he caused divers kinds of instruments to be made to serve Gods glory, so these did contend to inuade as many to serve their wanton affections and lusts. 9 They pickled not their brethren, whereof now many were slain, and carried away captives. 10 Somerade, the joy of them that stretch themselves, shall depart. 11 Read Lev. 24. 1. That is, the riches & pompe. 12 The destruction shall be so great, that none almost shall be left to bury the dead: and therefore they shall burne them at home, to steele out the burnt ashes with more sale. 13 That is, to loose neigbour that dwelleth round about. 14 They shall be so afflicted at this destruction, that they shall no more boast of the Name of God, and that they are his people: but they shall be dumb when they hear Gods Name, and abhorre it, as they that are desperate or desperate. 15 Hee compareth them to barren rocks, whereupon it is in vaine to bestow labour: shewing that Gods benediction can have no place among them.

CHAP. VII.

God sheweth certain visions, whereby he signifieth the destruction of the people of Israel. 10 The false accusation of Amos, ch. 12. His crafty counsel.

a To denounce
the land, and bee allured to the insading of the enemies,

b After the pub-like commandement for mowing was given:
as as some reade,
when the kings sheepe were thorne.

c That is stayed this plague at my prayer.

d Meaning, that Gods indignation was inflamed against the stub-bornesse of this people.

e Signifying that this should be the last measuring of the people, and that he would deferre his iudge-ment no longer.

f That is, when Amos had prophesied that the king should be destroyed: for this wicked priest more for hated he bare to the Prophet, then for love toward king thought this accusation sufficient to condemne him, whereas none other could take place.

g When this instrument of Satan was notable to compasse his purpose by the king, he assayed

by an other stratagem, that was, to feare the Prophet, that he might depart, and not reprove their idolatry there openly, and to hinder his prophie. h Thus he sheweth by his extraordinary vocation, that God had given him a charge which he must needs execute.

Thus hath the Lord God shewed unto me, and behold, he found me grasping in the beginning of the shooting up of the latter growth: and loe, it was in the latter growth after the Kings mowing.

2 And when they had made an end of eating the graffe of the land, then I said, O Lord God, spare, I beseech thee: who shall raise up Jacob? for he is small.

3 So the Lord repented for this. It shall not be, saith the Lord.

4 Thus also hath the Lord God shewed unto me, and behold, the Lord God called to judgement by fire: and it denoured the great deep, and did eat up a part.

5 Then said I, O Lord God, cease, I beseech thee: who shall raise up Jacob? for he is small.

6 So the Lord repented for this. This also shall not be, saith the Lord God.

7 Thus againe he shewed me, and behold, the Lord stood upon a wall made by line with a line in his hand.

8 And the Lord said unto mee, Amos, what seest thou? And I said, A line. Then said the Lord, Behold, I will set a line in the midnes of my people Israel, and will passe by them no more.

9 And the high places of Israel shall be desolate, and the temples of Israel shall be destroyed: and I will rise against the house of Jeroboam with the sword.

10 Then Amaziah the Priest of Bethel sent to Jeroboam king of Israel, saying, Amos hath conspired against thee in the mids of the house of Israel: the land is not able to beare all his words.

11 For thus Amos saith, Jeroboam shall die by the sword, and Israel shall be taken away captiue out of their owne land.

12 Also Amaziah said unto Amos, O thou shee, goe, see thou away into the land of Iudah, and there eate thy bread and prophesie there.

13 But prophesie no more at Beth-el: for it is the kings chappell, and it is the kings court.

14 Then answered Amos, and said to Amaziah, I was no Prophet, neither was I a Prophets sonne, but I was an hearth-man, and a garbener of wild figs.

15 And the Lord took me as I followed the flocke, and the Lord said unto mee, See, prophesie unto my people Israel.

16 Show therefore heare thou the word of the Lord. Thou sayest, prophesie not against Israel, and make nothing against the house
of Israel:

17 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Thy wile shall be an habitation in the close, and thy sonnes and thy daughters shall fall by the sword, and thy land shall be divided by line:
and thou shalt die in a polluted land, and Israel shall surely goe into captiuitie foot of his land.

CHAP. VIII.

Against the rulers of Israel. 7 The Lord
sheweth, 11 The famine of the word of God.

Thus hath the Lord God shewed unto me, and behold, a basket of summer fruit.

2 And hee said, Amos, what seest thou?
And I said, A basket of summer fruit. Then said the Lord unto mee, The end is come upon my people of Israel, I will passe by them no more.

3 And the songs of the Temple shall bee howlings in that day, saith the Lord God:
many dead bodies shall be in every place: they shall cast them forth with violence.

4 Voe this, that ye may make the merde of the land to stink,

5 Saying, When will the new moneth be gone, that we may set come, and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, and make the Ephraim small, and the Israel great, and sell the weights by deceit?

6 That we may buy the poore for silver, and the needy for shoes: yea, and sell the soule of the sonne.

7 The Lord hath sworn by the excellence of Jacob, Surely I will never forget any of their wickednes.

8 Shall not the land tremble for this,
and every one mourn, that dwelleth therein? and it shall rise up wholly as a flood, and it shall be cast out, and drowned as by the flood of Egypt.

9 And in that day saith the Lord God,
I will euen cause the sunne to goe downe at noone: and I will darken the earth in the clear day,

10 And I will turne your feastes into mourning, and all your songs into lamentation: and I will bring sackcloth upon all loynes, and baldnesse upon every head: and I will make it as the mourning of an only sonne, and the end thereof as a bitter day.

11 Behold, the dayes come, saith the Lord God, that I will send a famine in the land, not a famine of bread, nor a thirst for water, but of hearing the word of the Lord.

12 And they shall wander from sea to sea, and from the North euen vnto the East shall they run to and fro to seeke the word of the Lord, and shall not find it.

13 In that day shall the faire virgins and they shall not onely perishe in body, but also in Gods word, which is the foods thereof.

i Thus God did to approve the authoritie of his Prophets by his plagues and miseries, which were sent upon them which were misericordies, 1st, 2d, 3d, and 4th, as this day he doth against them that persecute the missioners of his Gospel.

a Which signified the ripeness of their sin, and the readiness of Gods iudgement.

b There shall be none left to mourn for them.

c By staying the sale of food and necessary things which you have gotten into your own hands, it is cause the poore to spend quickly that little which they have, and length for mis-erie to become death was sent to greene in grace, that they thought the holy day to be an hindrance vnto

them.

habitation of the land shall be drowned in misery, and

them out thence: and though they be hidde

THE ARGUMENT.

THE Idumeans which came of Eſau, were mortall enemies alwayes to the Iſraelites, which came of Iſaac: and therefore did not onely vex them continually with ſundry kinds of cruelty, but alſo ſtirred up other to fight againſt them. Therefore when they were now in their greateſt pro-ſperitie, and did moſt triumph againſt Iſrael, which was in great affliction and miſerie, God raiſed up his Prophet to comfort the Iſraelites, forasmuch as God had now determind to deſtroy their adverſaries, which did ſo fore vex them, and to ſend them ſuch as ſhould deliver them, and ſet vp the Kingdome of Meſſiah, which he had promiſed.

6 How are the things of Edom sought by, and his treasures searched?

7 All the men of thy confederacie have turned thee to the borders: the men that were at peace with thee, have deceived thee, and prevailed against thee: they chose thee by bread, have laid a wound under thee: there is none understanding in him.

8 Shall not I in that day, saith the Lord, even destroy the wise men out of Edom, and understanding from the mount of Seir?

9 And thy strong man, O Teman, shall be afraid, because everyone of the mount of Seir shall be cut off by slaughter.

10 For thy cruelty against thy brother, Jacob, shame shall cover thee, and thou shalt be cut off for ever.

11 When thou sleepest on the other side, in the day that the strangers search away his substance, and strangers enter into his gates, and call lots upon Jerusalem, when thou wast as one of them.

12 But thou shouldst not have despoiled the day of thy day: in the day that he was made a stranger, neither shouldst thou have enjoyed over the children of Judah, in the day of their destruction: thou shouldst not have spoken proudly in the day of affliction.

13 Thou shouldst not have entered into the gate of my people in the day of their destruction, neither shouldst thou have once looked on their affliction in the day of their destruction, nor have laid hands on their substance in the day of their destruction.

Jonah.

THE ARGUMENT.

When Jonah had long prophesied in Israel, and had little profited, God gave him charge to goe and denounce his iudgements against Nineveh the chiefe citie of the Assyrians, because he had appointed, that they which were of the heathen, should convert by the mighty power of his word, and that within three dayes preaching: that Israel might see how horribly they had provoked Gods wrath, which for the space of so many yeeres, had not converted to the Lord for so many Prophets, and so diligent preaching.

The great goodness of God toward his creatures.

a Because here by he should be taken as a false Prophet, and so the Name of God which he preached, should be blasphemed. b Reade Chap. 1.3.

c Thus he prayed of griefe, fearing lest Gods Name by this forgiveness might be blasphemed, as though he sent his Prophets forth to denounce his iudgements in vaine. d Wilt thou bee iudge when I doe things for my glory, and when I doe not?

Therefore it displeased I. Jonah exceedingly, and he was angry.

2 And he prayed vnto the Lord, and sayd, I pray thee, O Lord, was not this my saying, when I was yet in my country: therefore I presented it to thee vnto I. Garshith: for I knew that thou art a gracious God, and mercifull, slowe to anger, and of great kindnesse, and repentest thee of the euill.

3 Therefore now, O Lord, take, I beseech thee, my life from mee: for it is better for me to die then to liue.

4 Then saide the Lord, Doest thou will to be angry?

5 So Jonah went out of the city, and sat on the East side of the cite, and there made him a boorbe, and sat vnder it in the shadow: still he might see what should bee done in the cite.

6 And the Lord God prepared a gourd, and made it to come vp ouer Jonah, that it might bee a shadow ouer his head, and deliver him from his griefe. So Jonah was exceeding glad of the gourd.

7 But God prepared a worme to bite the morning rose the next day: and it bit the gourd that it withered.

8 And when the Sunne did arise, God prepared also a feruent East wind: and the Sunne beat vpon the head of Jonah, that hee fainted, and wished in his heart to die, and said, It is better for mee to die then to liue.

9 And God said vnto Jonah, Doest thou will to be angry for the gourd? And he sayd, I doe well to be angry vnto the death.

10 Then said the Lord, Thou hast had pittie on the gourd for the which thou hast not laboured, neither makest it grow: which came vp in a night, and perished in a night.

11 And should I not I spare Nineveh that great cite, wherein are likewise thousands of persons, that I cannot discern betweene their right hand and their left hand, and also much cattell?

h Thus God mercifully reproooueth him which would pittie himselfe and this gourd, and yet would restraue God to shew his compassion to so many thousand people. i Meaning, that they were children and infants.

Micah.

THE ARGUMENT.

Micah the Prophet of the tribe of Iudah, serued in the worke of the Lord, concerning Iudah and I. Misraell, at the least thirtie yeeres, at what time I. saiah prophesied. Hee declared the destruction, first of the one kingdom, and then of the other, because of their manifold wickednes, but chiefly for their idolary. And to this end he noteth the wickednes of the people, the crueltie of the princes and gouernours, and the permission of the false Prophets, and the delighting in them. Then hee seerth forth the coming of Christ, his kingdom, and the felicitie thereof. This Prophet was not that Micah, which reuisted Ahab and all his false prophets, as 1. King. 22.8, but another of the same name.

CHAP. I.

x The destruction of Iudah and I. Misraell because of their idolary.

He worde of the Lord, that came vnto Micah the I. Misraellite in the dayes of I. Iahaz, Abaz, and I. Iezekiah Kings of Iudah, which bee same concerning Samaria, and I. Ierusalem.

2 Heare, all yee people: hearken thou O earth, and all that therein is, and let the Lord God bee witness against you, euen the Lord from his holy Temple.

3 For behold, the Lord cometh out of his place, and will come downe, and treade vpon the high places of the earth.

4 And the mountaines shall melt vnder him (so shall the valleys cleane) as waxe before the fire, and as the waters that are poured downward.

5 For the wickednesse of I. Iacob is all this, and for the finnes of the house of I. Irael: what is the wickednesse of I. Iacob? Is not Samaria? and which are the high places of I. Iudah? is not I. Ierusalem?

6 Therefore I will make Samaria as an heape of the field, and for the planting of a vineyard, and I will cause the stones thereof to tumble downe into the valley, and I will discouer the foundations thereof.

7 And all the golden images thereof shall be broken, and all the gifts thereof shall bee a Bornein Marrah a city of I. Iudah.

b Because of the malice and obstinacie of the people, whom he had to oft exhorted to repentance, hee hummoueth them to Gods iudgements, taking all creatures and

God himselfe to witness, that the preaching of his Prophets, which they haue abused, shall be auenged. c Meaning hereby that, God will come to iudgement against the strong cities and holds.

f For he doubted as yet whether God would shew them mercie or no; and therefore after fourty dayes, he departed out of the cite, looking what issue God would send. g Which was a further meane to couer him from the heat of the Sunne, as he remained in his boorbe.

h This declared the great inconveniences, where into Gods servants doe fall when they give place to their owne affections, and do not in all things willingly submit themselves to God.

i Samaria which should haue bin an example to I. Irael of true religion and iustice, was the puddle and shewes of all idolary & corruption, and doth themselves of their father I. Iacob. e That is, the idolary and infection, i. Which they gathered by euill practices, and thought that their idoles had enriched them therewith for their seruite vnto them.

g The gaine that came by their idols, shall be consumed as a thing of nought for as the wages or riches of harlots are wickedly gotten, so are they vilely and speedily spent. h Let the Philistines our enemies reioyce at our destruction. i Which was a cite neere to Ierusalem, Ioth. 18. j There called Ophrah, & signifieth dust: therefore he will let them to mourne, and toile themselves in the dust for their duritie.

k These were cities whereby the enemy should passe as he came to Iudah. l I shall not spare before he come our country, and so you shall pay for hislaryng. m For Rabshakeh had shut vp Ierusalem that they could not send to succour them. n To flee away: for Sennacherib layd siege first to that cite, and remaynd therein when hee sent his captaynes and armie against Ierusalem. o Thou first receivedst the idolatry of Ierobam, and so diddest infect Ierusalem. p Thou shalt bribe the Philistines thy neighbours, but they shall deceiue thee, as well as they of Ierusalem. q He prophesied against his owne cite, and because it signified an heritage, hee sayth that God would send an heire to possesse it. r For so they thought themselves for the strength of their city.

burne with the fire, and all the idols thereof, will I destroy: for the gathered it of the hire of an harlot, and they shall returne to the wages of an harlot.

8 Therefore I will mourne and howle: I will goe without cloths, and naked: I will make lamentation like the dragons, and mourning as the ostriches.

9 For her plagues are grievous: for it is come into Iudah: the enemy is come unto the gate of my people, unto Ierusalem.

10 Declare yet it not at Gath, neither weepe ye: for the house of Azzabh coule thy selfe in the dust.

11 Thou that dwellest at Shaphir, goe together naked with shame: shee that dwelleth at Saanan, shall not come forth in the mourning of Beth-ezel the enemy shall receive of you for his standing.

12 For the inhabitant of Mozaoth waited for good, but cuill came from the Lord unto the gate of Ierusalem.

13 I thou inhabitant of Lachish, binde the charret to the beasts of plice: shee is the beginning of the kinne to the daughter of Zion: for the transgressions of Israel were found in thee.

14 Therefore shalt thou give presents to Mozaoth: g Gath: the house of Achizib shall be as a lie to the kings of Israel.

15 Yet will I bring an heire unto thee, i inhabitant of Mozaoth, hee shall come unto Aduzzam: the glory of Israel.

16 Make thee balde, and haue thee for thy delicate children: enlarge thy baldnesse as the eagle: for they are gone into captivity from thee.

5 Therefore thou shalt haue none that shall cast a cord by lot, in the congregation of the Lord.

6 They that prophesied, prophesie yet not: they shall not prebelle to them, neither shall they take shame.

7 Thou that art named the house of Iakob, is the spirit of the Lord shortened: are these his workes? are not my workes good unto him: that walker by night?

8 But hee that was in the other side, as against an enemy: they spoile the beautiful garment from them that passe by peaceably, as though they retigned from the warre.

9 The women of my people haue yee cast out from their pleasant houses, and from their children haue yee taken away my glory continually.

10 Arise and depart, for this is not your rest: because it is polluted, it shall destroy you, men with a force destruction.

11 If a man wake in the spirit, and would lie falsly, saying, I will prophesie unto thee of wine, and of strong drinke, he shall euen be the prophet of this people.

12 I will surely gather thee wholly, i Iakob: I will surely gather the remnant of Israel: I will put them together as the sheepe of Bozrah, euen as the flocke in the mids of their fold: the cities shall bee full of fruit of the men.

13 The breaker vp shall come by before them: they shall breake out and passe by the gate, and goe out by it, and their king shall goe before them, and the Lord shall be upon their heads.

k That is, their substance and liuing, which is Gods blessing, and as it were part of his glory. i Ierusalem shall not bee your safeguard, but the cause of your destruction. m That is, shew himselfe to be a Prophet. n He cheweth what Prophets they delight in: that is, in flatterers, which tell them pleasant tales, and speake of their commodities. o To destroy thee. p The enemies shall breake their gates and walles, and leadeth them into Caldea, and from thence forward, and to help their enemies.

CHAP. III.

1 Against the tyranny of Princes and false Prophets.

And I said, Heare, I pray you, i heads of Iakob, and yee princes of the house of Israel: Should not yee know? iudgement? 2 Hee they hate the good, and loue the euill: they plucke off their skins from them, and their flesh from their bones.

3 And they eat also the flesh of my people, and slay off their skin from them, and they breake their bones, and chop them in pieces as for the pot, and as flesh within the caldron.

4 Then shall they cry unto the Lord, but he will not heare them: he will euen hide his face from them at that time, because they haue done wickedly in their workes.

ther, but compareth them to wolues, lyons, and most cruell beasts, c That is, when I shall visite their wickednes, for though I haue the godly, before they cry, Ila. 65. 24. yet I will not heare them though they cry, Ila. 65. 25. eckl. 8. 18. Iam. 5. 13. pet. 3. 12. 23.

1 Threatning against the waman and dainty people.

6 They would teach the Prophets to preach. We unto them that imagine inquiry, and worke wickednesse upon their beds: when the morning is light, they practice it, because their hand hath power.

2 And they couet fields, and take them by violence, and houses, and take them away: so they oppresse a man and his house, euen man and his heritage.

3 Therefore thus saith the Lord, Behold, against this family haue I deuised a plague, wherewith yee shall not plucke your neckes, and yee shall not goe so proudly, for this time is euill.

4 In that day shall they take by a parable against you, and lament with a holfull lamentation, and say, We be utterly wakened: hee hath changed the portion of my people, how hath hee taken it away to restore it unto me? he hath diuided our fields.

a All those as they rise, they excecise their wicked deuices of the night, and according to their power hurt other. b They are in power. c Thus the lewes lamen, and say, that there is no hope of restitution, seeing their pollutions are diuided among the enemies.

c Ye shall haue no more lands to diuide, as you haue in time past, and as you vied to measure them in the lubile. d Thus the people warn the Prophets, that they speake to them no more: or they cannot abide their threatnings.

e God saith that they shall not prophesie nor receiue no more of their rebukes nor taunts.

f Are these your workes according to his law? g Doe not the godly finde my words comfortable?

h That is, afor-time. i The poore can haue no commodity by them, but they spoile them as though they were enemies.

j The poore can haue no commodity by them, but they spoile them as though they were enemies.

d They deuoure
all their substance and then flatter them, promising that all shall goe well: but if one their bellies, then they inuent all wayes to mis-chiefe.

to prophesie lies,
so God shall reward you with grosse blindness

so that when all shall know that they were but false Prophets,

word of God. g
The Prophet being assured of his vocation by the Spirit of God, seeth himselfe alone against all the wicked showing how God both giue him gifts, y abilities and knowledge to discerne betwene good and euill, and also conscience to reprove the sinnes of the people, and not to flatter them. h They build them houses by bribery, which hee calleth blood and iniquitie i They will say that they are the people of God, & abuse his name, as a pretence to cloke their hypocricie. k Reade Ierc. 26, 18.

5 Thus saith the Lord, Concerning the Prophets that deceiue my people, and bite them with their teeth, and cry, Peace, but if a man put not into their moutnes, they prepare warre against him.

6 Therefore a night shall be vnto you for a vision, and darkness shall be vnto you for a distinction, and the lumme shall goe downe ouer the prophets, and the day shall be darke ouer them.

7 Then shall the Seers be ashamed, and the Soothsayers confounded: yea, they shall all couer their lips, for they haue none answer of God.

8 Per notwithstanding, I am full of power by the Spirit of the Lord, and of iudgement, and of strength to declare vnto Iaakob his transgression, and to Israel his sinne.

9 Heare this, I pray you, ye heads of the house of Iaakob, and yinces of the house of Israel: they abhorre iudgement, and peruerit all equitie.

10 They build vp Zion with blood, and Jerusalem with iniquitie.

11 The heads thereof iudge for rewards, and the Seers thereof teach for hire, and the Prophets thereof prophesie for money:
yet will they learne vpon the Lord, and say,
Is not the Lord among vs? no euill can come vpon vs.

12 Therefore shall Zion for your sake be plowed as a field, and Jerusalem shall be an heape, and the mountaine of the house, as the high places of the forest.

13 Therefore shall Zion for your sake be plowed as a field, and Jerusalem shall be an heape, and the mountaine of the house, as the
high places of the forest.

make them afraid: for the mouth of the Lord of hostes hath spoken it.

5 For all people will walke & curry one in the name of his god, and wee will walke in the name of the Lord our God, for euer and euer.

6 At the same day, saith the Lord, will I gather her that haltereth, and I will gather her that is cast out, and her that I haue afflicted.

7 And I will make her that haltereth, a remnant, and her that was cast farre off, a mighty nation: and the Lord shall reigne ouer them in mount Zion, from henceforth euen for euer.

8 And thou, O tower of the flocke, the strong hold of the daughter Zion, vnto thee shall it come, euen the first dominion, and kingdome shall come to the daughter Jerusalem.

9 Now why dost thou cry out with lamentation: is there no King in thee: is thy counsell perished: for sorrow hath taken thee as a woman in trauaile.

10 How should I mourne, O daughter Zion, like a woman in trauaile: for now shalt thou goe forth of the citie, and dwell in the field, and shalt go into Babel, but there shalt thou be deliuered: there the Lord shall redeme thee from the hand of thine enemies.

11 Now also many Nations are gathered against thee, saying, Zion shall be condemned, and our eye shall looke vpon Zion.

12 But they know not the thoughts of the Lord: they vnderstand not his counsell, for hee shall gather them as the sheaues in the barn.

13 Arise, and thresh, O daughter Zion: for I will make thine home yron, and I will make thine houses brass, and thou shalt brake in pieces many people: and I will consecrate their riches vnto the Lord, and their substance vnto the ruler of the whole world.

m Hee sheweth that the faithfull ought not to measure Gods iudgments by the brags and threatnings of the wicked, but thereby are admonished to lift vp their hearts to God, to call for deliuerance.
n God giue his Church this victory, so oft as bee ouercomen their enemies: but the accomplishment hereof shall bee at the comming of Christ.

vs: thy shall smite the Iudge of Israel with a rod vpon the cheeke.

2 And thou Beth lehem Ephraim, art little to bee among the thousands of Iudah, yet out of thee shall bee come forth vnto mee, that shall bee the ruler in her garisons to trouble others, the Lord would now cause other garisons to vex her, and that her rules should bee smitten on the face most contemptuously. b For so the Iewes diuided their coun-trei, that for euery thousand there was a chiefe captain: and because Bethlehem was not able to make a thousand, hee calleth it little, but yet God will raise vp a captain and gouernor therein: and thus it is not the least by reason of this benefit, as Mat. 2, 6.

e He sheweth that the coming of Christ and all his waies were appointed of God from all eternitie.

d He compareth the Jewes to women with child, who for a time should have great sorrowes, but at length they should have a comfortable deliverance, Ioh. 16. 21.

e That is, Christs kingdom shall be stable and everlasting, and his people, as well the Gentiles as the Jewes shall dwell in peace.

f This Messiah shall be a sufficient king and saviour, and though the enemies invade vs for a time, yet shall God stir up many which shall be able to deliver vs.

g Those whom God shall raise up for the deliverance of his Church, shall destroy all the enemies thereof, which are meant here by the Assyrians and Babylonians which were the chief enemies at that time.

h By this governon God will deliver when the enemy cometh into our land.

i This remnant of the Church which God shall deliver shall only depend on Gods power and defence, as doeth the grasse of the field, and not on the hope of man. k I will destroy all things wherein thou putteth thy confidence, as thy vaine confidence and idolatrie, and so will helpe thee. l It shall be so terrible, that the like hath not bene heard of.

Israel: whose goings forth have bene from the beginning and from everlasting.

3 And heretofore will he give them up, untill the time that she which shall beare, shall travaile: then the remnant of their brethren shall returne unto the children of Israel.

4 And hee shall stand and feede in the strength of the Lord, and in his maiestie of the same of the Lord his God, and they shall dwell still: for now shall hee bee magnified unto the ends of the world.

5 And hee shall be our peace when Assur shall come into our land: when he shall invade in our palaces, then shall wee raise against him seven shepherds, and eight principall men.

6 And they shall destroy: Assur with the sword, and the land of Assur with their swords: thus shall hee be deliver vs from Assur, when hee cometh into our land, and when hee shall invade within our borders.

7 And the remnant of Isaac shall be among many people, as a deaue from the Lord, and as the flowers upon the grasse, that waither not for man, nor boweth in the force of Adam.

8 And the remnant of Isaac shall be among the Gentiles, in the middes of many people, as the lyon among the beasts of the forest, and as the Lyons whelp among the flockes of sheepe, who when he goeth thorow he treadeth downe and teareth in pieces, and none can deliuer.

9 Thine hand shall be lift up upon thine adversaries, and all thine enemies shall be cut off.

10 And it shall come to passe in that day, saith the Lord, that I will cut of thine borders out of the middes of thee, and I will destroy thy chariots.

11 And I will cut off the cities of thy land, and overthrow all thy strong holds.

12 And I will cut off thine incanters out of thine hand, and thou shalt have no more sooth sayers.

13 Thine idoles also will I cut off, and thine images out of the middes of thee: and thou shalt no more worship the worke of thine hands.

14 And I will plucke by thy grones out of the middes of thee: so will I destroy thine enemies.

15 And I will execute a vengeance in my wrath and indignation upon the heathen, which they have not heard.

CHAP. VI.

An exhortation to the dumber creatures to heare the iudgement against Israel being vnkend, 6 What manner of sacrifices doe please God.

Hearken ye now what the Lord saith, Heile thou, and contend before the mount, and let the hills heare thy voyce.

a Metaketh the high mountaines and hard rocks to witnesse against the obstinacie of his people.

2 Heare ye, O mountaines, the Lords quarrell, and ye mightie foundations of the earth: for the Lord hath a quarrell against his people, and he will plead with Israel.

3 O my people what have I done unto thee: or wherein have I grieved thee: testifie against me.

4 Surely I brought thee up out of the land of Egypt, and redeemed thee out of the house of servants, and I have sent before thee Moses, Aaron, and Miriam.

5 O my people, remember now what Balak king of Moab had devised, and what Balaam the sonne of Beor answered him, from Shittim unto Gilgal, that ye may know the right counsell of the Lord.

6 Wherewith shall I come before the Lord, and bow my knee before the Lord: shall I come before him with burnt offerings, and with calves of a yeere old?

7 Will the Lord be pleased with thousands of rammes, or with ten thousand rams of oyle: shall I give my first borne for my transgression, even the fruit of my body for the sinne of my soule?

8 Hee hath shewed thee, O man, what is good, & what the Lord requirith of thee: Surely to doe lustily, and to love mercy and to humble thy selfe, to walke with thy God.

9 The Lords voyce cryeth unto the cities, and the man of wisdome shall see thy name: Heare the royl, and who hath appointed it.

10 Are yet the treasures of wickednesse in the house of the wicked, and the scant measure that is abominable?

11 Shall I visit the wicked balancers, and the bag of deceitfull weights?

12 For the rich men thereof are full of crucke, and the inhabitants thereof have spoken lyes, and their tongue is deceitfull in their mouth.

13 Therefore also will I make thee sick in limiting thee, and in making thee desolate, because of thy sinnes.

14 Thou shalt eate and not be satisfied, and thy casting downe shall be in the middes of thee, and thou shalt take hold, but shalt not deliuer: and that which thou delivereest, will I give up to the sword.

15 Thou shalt sow, but not reape: thou shalt tread the olives, but thou shalt not amoynt thee with oyle: and make sweet wine, but shalt not drinke wine.

16 For the statutes of Omri are kept, let them be the secondable, to know if they will obey God, or no, saying that God hath prescribed them to doe this. h A saying, that when God speaketh to any city or nation, the godly will acknowledge his Maic Rie, and consider not the mortall man that bringeth the threatening, but God that sendeth it. i That is, of Ierusalem, k Thou shalt be consumed with inward grieue and anguish. l Meaning that the cities should goe about to save her men, as they that lay hold on that which they would perleue. m You have received all the corruption and idolatrie, wherewith the tribes were infected vnder Omri and Ahab his sonne: and to excuse our doings, you alledge the kings authoriety by his statutes, and alse wisdom and policie in so doing, but you shall not escape punishment, but as I have shewed you great sorrow, and taken you for my people, so shall your plagues be accordingly, Luke 17. 47.

b I have not hurt thee, but bellowed infinite benefits upon thee.

c That is, remember my beneficia from the beginning, how I delivered you from Balaams curse, and also spared you from Shittim, which was in the plaine of Moab, till I brought you into the land promised.

d That is, the truth of his promise, and his manifold benefits toward you.

e Thus the people by hypocrisie aske how to please God, & are content to offer sacrifices, but will not change their liues.

f There is nothing so deare to man but the hypocrites will offer it unto God, if they thinke thereby to avoid his anger: but they will never be brought to mortifie their owne affections, & to give themselves willingly to serve God as he commandeth.

g The Prophet inf-w words call.

h A saying, that when God speaketh to any city or nation, the godly will acknowledge his Maic Rie, and consider not the mortall man that bringeth the threatening, but God that sendeth it.

i That is, of Ierusalem, k Thou shalt be consumed with inward grieue and anguish.

l Meaning that the cities should goe about to save her men, as they that lay hold on that which they would perleue.

m You have received all the corruption and idolatrie, wherewith the tribes were infected vnder Omri and Ahab his sonne: and to excuse our doings, you alledge the kings authoriety by his statutes, and alse wisdom and policie in so doing, but you shall not escape punishment, but as I have shewed you great sorrow, and taken you for my people, so shall your plagues be accordingly, Luke 17. 47.

and all the manner of the house of Abab, and perwalk in their countsaies, that I should make thee waste, and the inhabitants thereof an hissing: therefore yet shall beare the reproch of my people.

1 Accomplish for the small number of the righteous. 4 The wickedness of the times. 14 The prosperity of the Church.

a The Prophet taketh upon him the person of the earth which complaineth that all her fruits are gone, so that none is left, that is, that there is no godly man remaining: for all are given to cruelty and deceit, so that none spareth his owne brother. b He sheweth that the prince, the iudge and rich man are linked together all to doe euill and to cloke the doings one of another. c That is, the rich man that is able to giue money, abtaineth from no wickedness, nor injury. d These men agree among themselves, and conspire with one consent to doe euill. e They that are of most estimation, and are counted most honest among them, are but thornes and briars to pricke. f Meaning, of the Prophets and gouernours. g The Prophet sheweth that the onely remedy for the godly in desperate euill is to flee vnto God for succour. h This is, spoken in the person of the Church, which calleth the malignant Church her enemy.

VV De is me, for I am as the Summer-garberlings, and as the grapes of the vintage: there is no cluster to care: my soule desired the first ripe fruits;

2 The good man is perished out of the earth, and there is none righteous among men: they all lie in waite for blood: eueri man hunteth his brother with a net.

3 To make good for the euill of their hands, the prince alked, and the iudge iudgeth for a reward: therefore the great man hee speaketh out the corruption of his soule: so they way it vp.

4 The bill of them is as a bier, and the most righteous of them is sharper then a thorne hedge: the day of thy watchmen and thy visitation cometh: then shall bee their confusion.

5 Trust ye not in a friend, neither put ye confidence in a counsellor: keepe the doores of thy mouth from her that lieth in thy bosome.

6 For the sonne reuileth the father: the daughter riseth vp against her mother: the daughter in law against her mother in law, and a mans enemies are the men of his owne house.

7 Therefore I will looke vnto the Lord: I will writte for God my Saviour: my God will heare me.

8 Reioyce not against me, mine enemy: though I fall, I shall arise: when I shall sit in darkenesse, the Lord shall be a light vnto me.

9 I will beare the wrath of the Lord, because I haue sinned against him, vntill hee pleade my cause, and recure iudgement for me: then will he bring me forth to the light, and I shall see his righteousness.

10 Thou seest that is mine enemy, shall looke vpon it, and shame shall couer her, which said vnto me, Where is the Lord thy God? mine eyes shall behold her: now shall shee bee troden downe as the mire of the streets.

11 This is the day that thy walles shall be built: this day shall thine farre away be decreed.

12 In this day also they shall come vnto thee from Ashur, and from the strong cities: and from the strong holds euen vnto the river, and from sea to sea, and from mountaine to mountaine.

13 Notwithstanding, the land shall be desolate because of them that dwell therein, and for the fruites of their inuentions.

14 Feede thy people with thy rodde, the flocke of thine heritage (which dwell solitary in the wood) as in the mids of Carmel: let them feede in Bathan and Gilad, as in old time.

15 According to the dayes of thy coming out of the land of Egypt will I shewe vnto him maruailous things.

16 The nations shall see, and be confounded for all their power: they shall lay their hand vpon their mouth: their eares shall be deafe.

17 They shall like the dust like a serpent: they shall moue out of their holes like wormes: they shall be afraid of the Lord our God, and shall feare because of cher.

18 Who is a God like vnto thee, that taketh away iniquitie, and pisseth by the transgression of the remnant of his heritage? he retaineth not his wrath for euer, because mercie pleaseh him.

19 Hee will turne againe, and haue compassion vpon vs: he will sūdne our iniquities, and cast all their sinnes into the bottom of the sea.

20 Thou wilt performe thy truth to Iacob, and mercy to Abraham, as thou hast sūoyn vnto our fathers in old time.

vnto his Church, when they should be scattered abroad as in solitary places in Babylon, and to be beneficiall vnto them, as in time past. o God promisseth to be fauourable to his people, as he had bene a foretime. p They shall be as dumbe men, and dare brag no more, q They shall be astonished and afraid to heare men speake, lest they should heare of their destruction. r They shall fall flat on the ground for feare. s As though he would not see it, but wink at it. t Meaning of his elect. u The Church is assured, that God will declare in effect the truth of his mercifull promise, which he had made of olde to Abraham, and to all that should apprehend the promise by faith.

Nahum.

THE ARGUMENT.

As they of Ninijew shewed themselves prompt and ready to receiue the word of God at Ionahs preaching, and so turned to the Lord by repentance: so after a certaine time rather giuing themselves to worldly meanes to increase their dominion, then seeking to continue in the feare of God, and trade wherein they had beguyn, they cast off the care of Religion, and so returned to their vomit, and prouoked Gods iust iudgement against them in afflicting his people. Therefore their citie Niueueh was destroyed, and Meroch-baladan king of Babel (or as some thinke Nebuchad-nezzar) enjoyed the Empire of the Assyrians. But because God hath continual care of his Church, he stretcheth vp his Prophet to comfort the godly, shewing that the destruction of their enemies should bee for their consolation. And as it cometh he prophesied about the time of Hezekiah, and not in the time of Manasseh his sonne, as the Lawes write.

CHAP. I.

Of the destruction of the Assyrians, and of the deliverance of Israel.

In the burden of Nineveh. The booke of the vision of Nabum the ¹Chelchir.

² God is jealous, and the Lord reuengeth: the Lord reuengeth: turn the Lord of anger, the Lord will take vengeance on his adversaries, and hee referueth wrath for his enemies.

⁴ Hee rebuketh the sea, and drieth it, and hee drieth by all the rivers: ⁵ Bathan is wasted, and Carmel, and the flours of Libanon is wasted.

⁶ The mountaines tremble for him, and the hills melt, and the earth is burnt at his sight, yea, the world and all that dwell therein.

⁷ Who can stand before his wrath? or who can abide in the fiercenes of his wrath? his wrath is powred out like fire, and the rocks are broken by him.

⁸ The Lord is good, and as a strong hold in the day of trouble, and hee knoweth them that trust in him.

⁹ But passing ouer as with a flood, hee will utterly destroy the place thereof, and darkenesse shall pursue his enemies.

¹⁰ What doe yet? imagine against the Lord: he will make an utter destruction: affliction shall not rise by the second time.

¹² There commeth one out of thee that imagineth cull against the Lord, even a wicked counsellour.

¹⁴ For now I will breake his yoke from thee, and will burst thy bonds in sunder.

¹⁵ And the Lord hath giuen a commandment concerning thee, that no more of thy name bee ¹⁶ soken: out of the house of thy gods will I cut off the graven and the molten image: I will make it thy game for thee, for thou art vile.

¹⁷ Behold, upon the mountaines the feete of him that declareth and publisheth peace: ¹⁸ Judah, keepe thy solemn feasts, performe thy vowes: for the wicked shall no more passe through thee: he is utterly cut off.

¹⁹ Which peace the Iewes should enjoy by the death of Saneherib.

CHAP. II.

Hee describeth the victories of the Caldeans against the Assyrians.

The destroyer is come before thy face: keepe thy munition: looke to the way: make thy loines strong: increase thy strength mightily.

² For the Lord hath turned away the glory of Jacob, as the glory of Israel: for the empires haue emptied them out, and marked their vine branches.

³ The shield of his mighty men is made red: the valiant men are in scarlet: the charots shall be as in the fire and flames in the day of his preparation, and the fire trees shall tremble.

⁴ The charots shall rage in the streets: they shall runne to and fro in the hie wayes: they shall seme like lampes: they shall shote like the lightning.

⁵ Wee shall remember his strong men, they shall stumble as they goe: they shall make haste to the walles thereof, and the defence shall be prepared.

⁶ The gates of the rivers shall be opened, and the palace shall melt.

⁷ And Huzzah the Queene shall be led away captiue, and her maides shall leade her as with the voyce of doves flitting upon their breasts.

⁸ But Nineveh is of old like a poole of water: yet they shall flee away. Stand, stand, shall they cry: but none shall looke backe.

⁹ Spoile ye the silver, spoile the gold: for there is none end of the store, and glory of all the pleasant vessels.

¹⁰ She is empty and boide, and waste, and the heart melteth, and the knees smite together, and sorrow is in all loines, and the faces of them all gather blacknesse.

¹² The lyon did teare in pieces enough for his whelpes, and would for his lioness, and filled his holcs with prey, and his dens with spoile.

That Nineveh is so ancient that it can neuer perish, and is as a fish-pool, whose waters they that walke on the banks cannot touch: but they shall be scattered, and shall not looke backe though men would call them. ¹³ God commandeth the enemies to spoile Nineveh, and promisseth them infinite riches and treasures. ¹⁴ That is, Nineveh and the men thereof shall be after this sort. ¹⁵ ¹⁶ ¹⁷ ¹⁸ ¹⁹ ²⁰ ²¹ ²² ²³ ²⁴ ²⁵ ²⁶ ²⁷ ²⁸ ²⁹ ³⁰ ³¹ ³² ³³ ³⁴ ³⁵ ³⁶ ³⁷ ³⁸ ³⁹ ⁴⁰ ⁴¹ ⁴² ⁴³ ⁴⁴ ⁴⁵ ⁴⁶ ⁴⁷ ⁴⁸ ⁴⁹ ⁵⁰ ⁵¹ ⁵² ⁵³ ⁵⁴ ⁵⁵ ⁵⁶ ⁵⁷ ⁵⁸ ⁵⁹ ⁶⁰ ⁶¹ ⁶² ⁶³ ⁶⁴ ⁶⁵ ⁶⁶ ⁶⁷ ⁶⁸ ⁶⁹ ⁷⁰ ⁷¹ ⁷² ⁷³ ⁷⁴ ⁷⁵ ⁷⁶ ⁷⁷ ⁷⁸ ⁷⁹ ⁸⁰ ⁸¹ ⁸² ⁸³ ⁸⁴ ⁸⁵ ⁸⁶ ⁸⁷ ⁸⁸ ⁸⁹ ⁹⁰ ⁹¹ ⁹² ⁹³ ⁹⁴ ⁹⁵ ⁹⁶ ⁹⁷ ⁹⁸ ⁹⁹ ¹⁰⁰ ¹⁰¹ ¹⁰² ¹⁰³ ¹⁰⁴ ¹⁰⁵ ¹⁰⁶ ¹⁰⁷ ¹⁰⁸ ¹⁰⁹ ¹¹⁰ ¹¹¹ ¹¹² ¹¹³ ¹¹⁴ ¹¹⁵ ¹¹⁶ ¹¹⁷ ¹¹⁸ ¹¹⁹ ¹²⁰ ¹²¹ ¹²² ¹²³ ¹²⁴ ¹²⁵ ¹²⁶ ¹²⁷ ¹²⁸ ¹²⁹ ¹³⁰ ¹³¹ ¹³² ¹³³ ¹³⁴ ¹³⁵ ¹³⁶ ¹³⁷ ¹³⁸ ¹³⁹ ¹⁴⁰ ¹⁴¹ ¹⁴² ¹⁴³ ¹⁴⁴ ¹⁴⁵ ¹⁴⁶ ¹⁴⁷ ¹⁴⁸ ¹⁴⁹ ¹⁵⁰ ¹⁵¹ ¹⁵² ¹⁵³ ¹⁵⁴ ¹⁵⁵ ¹⁵⁶ ¹⁵⁷ ¹⁵⁸ ¹⁵⁹ ¹⁶⁰ ¹⁶¹ ¹⁶² ¹⁶³ ¹⁶⁴ ¹⁶⁵ ¹⁶⁶ ¹⁶⁷ ¹⁶⁸ ¹⁶⁹ ¹⁷⁰ ¹⁷¹ ¹⁷² ¹⁷³ ¹⁷⁴ ¹⁷⁵ ¹⁷⁶ ¹⁷⁷ ¹⁷⁸ ¹⁷⁹ ¹⁸⁰ ¹⁸¹ ¹⁸² ¹⁸³ ¹⁸⁴ ¹⁸⁵ ¹⁸⁶ ¹⁸⁷ ¹⁸⁸ ¹⁸⁹ ¹⁹⁰ ¹⁹¹ ¹⁹² ¹⁹³ ¹⁹⁴ ¹⁹⁵ ¹⁹⁶ ¹⁹⁷ ¹⁹⁸ ¹⁹⁹ ²⁰⁰ ²⁰¹ ²⁰² ²⁰³ ²⁰⁴ ²⁰⁵ ²⁰⁶ ²⁰⁷ ²⁰⁸ ²⁰⁹ ²¹⁰ ²¹¹ ²¹² ²¹³ ²¹⁴ ²¹⁵ ²¹⁶ ²¹⁷ ²¹⁸ ²¹⁹ ²²⁰ ²²¹ ²²² ²²³ ²²⁴ ²²⁵ ²²⁶ ²²⁷ ²²⁸ ²²⁹ ²³⁰ ²³¹ ²³² ²³³ ²³⁴ ²³⁵ ²³⁶ ²³⁷ ²³⁸ ²³⁹ ²⁴⁰ ²⁴¹ ²⁴² ²⁴³ ²⁴⁴ ²⁴⁵ ²⁴⁶ ²⁴⁷ ²⁴⁸ ²⁴⁹ ²⁵⁰ ²⁵¹ ²⁵² ²⁵³ ²⁵⁴ ²⁵⁵ ²⁵⁶ ²⁵⁷ ²⁵⁸ ²⁵⁹ ²⁶⁰ ²⁶¹ ²⁶² ²⁶³ ²⁶⁴ ²⁶⁵ ²⁶⁶ ²⁶⁷ ²⁶⁸ ²⁶⁹ ²⁷⁰ ²⁷¹ ²⁷² ²⁷³ ²⁷⁴ ²⁷⁵ ²⁷⁶ ²⁷⁷ ²⁷⁸ ²⁷⁹ ²⁸⁰ ²⁸¹ ²⁸² ²⁸³ ²⁸⁴ ²⁸⁵ ²⁸⁶ ²⁸⁷ ²⁸⁸ ²⁸⁹ ²⁹⁰ ²⁹¹ ²⁹² ²⁹³ ²⁹⁴ ²⁹⁵ ²⁹⁶ ²⁹⁷ ²⁹⁸ ²⁹⁹ ³⁰⁰ ³⁰¹ ³⁰² ³⁰³ ³⁰⁴ ³⁰⁵ ³⁰⁶ ³⁰⁷ ³⁰⁸ ³⁰⁹ ³¹⁰ ³¹¹ ³¹² ³¹³ ³¹⁴ ³¹⁵ ³¹⁶ ³¹⁷ ³¹⁸ ³¹⁹ ³²⁰ ³²¹ ³²² ³²³ ³²⁴ ³²⁵ ³²⁶ ³²⁷ ³²⁸ ³²⁹ ³³⁰ ³³¹ ³³² ³³³ ³³⁴ ³³⁵ ³³⁶ ³³⁷ ³³⁸ ³³⁹ ³⁴⁰ ³⁴¹ ³⁴² ³⁴³ ³⁴⁴ ³⁴⁵ ³⁴⁶ ³⁴⁷ ³⁴⁸ ³⁴⁹ ³⁵⁰ ³⁵¹ ³⁵² ³⁵³ ³⁵⁴ ³⁵⁵ ³⁵⁶ ³⁵⁷ ³⁵⁸ ³⁵⁹ ³⁶⁰ ³⁶¹ ³⁶² ³⁶³ ³⁶⁴ ³⁶⁵ ³⁶⁶ ³⁶⁷ ³⁶⁸ ³⁶⁹ ³⁷⁰ ³⁷¹ ³⁷² ³⁷³ ³⁷⁴ ³⁷⁵ ³⁷⁶ ³⁷⁷ ³⁷⁸ ³⁷⁹ ³⁸⁰ ³⁸¹ ³⁸² ³⁸³ ³⁸⁴ ³⁸⁵ ³⁸⁶ ³⁸⁷ ³⁸⁸ ³⁸⁹ ³⁹⁰ ³⁹¹ ³⁹² ³⁹³ ³⁹⁴ ³⁹⁵ ³⁹⁶ ³⁹⁷ ³⁹⁸ ³⁹⁹ ⁴⁰⁰ ⁴⁰¹ ⁴⁰² ⁴⁰³ ⁴⁰⁴ ⁴⁰⁵ ⁴⁰⁶ ⁴⁰⁷ ⁴⁰⁸ ⁴⁰⁹ ⁴¹⁰ ⁴¹¹ ⁴¹² ⁴¹³ ⁴¹⁴ ⁴¹⁵ ⁴¹⁶ ⁴¹⁷ ⁴¹⁸ ⁴¹⁹ ⁴²⁰ ⁴²¹ ⁴²² ⁴²³ ⁴²⁴ ⁴²⁵ ⁴²⁶ ⁴²⁷ ⁴²⁸ ⁴²⁹ ⁴³⁰ ⁴³¹ ⁴³² ⁴³³ ⁴³⁴ ⁴³⁵ ⁴³⁶ ⁴³⁷ ⁴³⁸ ⁴³⁹ ⁴⁴⁰ ⁴⁴¹ ⁴⁴² ⁴⁴³ ⁴⁴⁴ ⁴⁴⁵ ⁴⁴⁶ ⁴⁴⁷ ⁴⁴⁸ ⁴⁴⁹ ⁴⁵⁰ ⁴⁵¹ ⁴⁵² ⁴⁵³ ⁴⁵⁴ ⁴⁵⁵ ⁴⁵⁶ ⁴⁵⁷ ⁴⁵⁸ ⁴⁵⁹ ⁴⁶⁰ ⁴⁶¹ ⁴⁶² ⁴⁶³ ⁴⁶⁴ ⁴⁶⁵ ⁴⁶⁶ ⁴⁶⁷ ⁴⁶⁸ ⁴⁶⁹ ⁴⁷⁰ ⁴⁷¹ ⁴⁷² ⁴⁷³ ⁴⁷⁴ ⁴⁷⁵ ⁴⁷⁶ ⁴⁷⁷ ⁴⁷⁸ ⁴⁷⁹ ⁴⁸⁰ ⁴⁸¹ ⁴⁸² ⁴⁸³ ⁴⁸⁴ ⁴⁸⁵ ⁴⁸⁶ ⁴⁸⁷ ⁴⁸⁸ ⁴⁸⁹ ⁴⁹⁰ ⁴⁹¹ ⁴⁹² ⁴⁹³ ⁴⁹⁴ ⁴⁹⁵ ⁴⁹⁶ ⁴⁹⁷ ⁴⁹⁸ ⁴⁹⁹ ⁵⁰⁰ ⁵⁰¹ ⁵⁰² ⁵⁰³ ⁵⁰⁴ ⁵⁰⁵ ⁵⁰⁶ ⁵⁰⁷ ⁵⁰⁸ ⁵⁰⁹ ⁵¹⁰ ⁵¹¹ ⁵¹² ⁵¹³ ⁵¹⁴ ⁵¹⁵ ⁵¹⁶ ⁵¹⁷ ⁵¹⁸ ⁵¹⁹ ⁵²⁰ ⁵²¹ ⁵²² ⁵²³ ⁵²⁴ ⁵²⁵ ⁵²⁶ ⁵²⁷ ⁵²⁸ ⁵²⁹ ⁵³⁰ ⁵³¹ ⁵³² ⁵³³ ⁵³⁴ ⁵³⁵ ⁵³⁶ ⁵³⁷ ⁵³⁸ ⁵³⁹ ⁵⁴⁰ ⁵⁴¹ ⁵⁴² ⁵⁴³ ⁵⁴⁴ ⁵⁴⁵ ⁵⁴⁶ ⁵⁴⁷ ⁵⁴⁸ ⁵⁴⁹ ⁵⁵⁰ ⁵⁵¹ ⁵⁵² ⁵⁵³ ⁵⁵⁴ ⁵⁵⁵ ⁵⁵⁶ ⁵⁵⁷ ⁵⁵⁸ ⁵⁵⁹ ⁵⁶⁰ ⁵⁶¹ ⁵⁶² ⁵⁶³ ⁵⁶⁴ ⁵⁶⁵ ⁵⁶⁶ ⁵⁶⁷ ⁵⁶⁸ ⁵⁶⁹ ⁵⁷⁰ ⁵⁷¹ ⁵⁷² ⁵⁷³ ⁵⁷⁴ ⁵⁷⁵ ⁵⁷⁶ ⁵⁷⁷ ⁵⁷⁸ ⁵⁷⁹ ⁵⁸⁰ ⁵⁸¹ ⁵⁸² ⁵⁸³ ⁵⁸⁴ ⁵⁸⁵ ⁵⁸⁶ ⁵⁸⁷ ⁵⁸⁸ ⁵⁸⁹ ⁵⁹⁰ ⁵⁹¹ ⁵⁹² ⁵⁹³ ⁵⁹⁴ ⁵⁹⁵ ⁵⁹⁶ ⁵⁹⁷ ⁵⁹⁸ ⁵⁹⁹ ⁶⁰⁰ ⁶⁰¹ ⁶⁰² ⁶⁰³ ⁶⁰⁴ ⁶⁰⁵ ⁶⁰⁶ ⁶⁰⁷ ⁶⁰⁸ ⁶⁰⁹ ⁶¹⁰ ⁶¹¹ ⁶¹² ⁶¹³ ⁶¹⁴ ⁶¹⁵ ⁶¹⁶ ⁶¹⁷ ⁶¹⁸ ⁶¹⁹ ⁶²⁰ ⁶²¹ ⁶²² ⁶²³ ⁶²⁴ ⁶²⁵ ⁶²⁶ ⁶²⁷ ⁶²⁸ ⁶²⁹ ⁶³⁰ ⁶³¹ ⁶³² ⁶³³ ⁶³⁴ ⁶³⁵ ⁶³⁶ ⁶³⁷ ⁶³⁸ ⁶³⁹ ⁶⁴⁰ ⁶⁴¹ ⁶⁴² ⁶⁴³ ⁶⁴⁴ ⁶⁴⁵ ⁶⁴⁶ ⁶⁴⁷ ⁶⁴⁸ ⁶⁴⁹ ⁶⁵⁰ ⁶⁵¹ ⁶⁵² ⁶⁵³ ⁶⁵⁴ ⁶⁵⁵ ⁶⁵⁶ ⁶⁵⁷ ⁶⁵⁸ ⁶⁵⁹ ⁶⁶⁰ ⁶⁶¹ ⁶⁶² ⁶⁶³ ⁶⁶⁴ ⁶⁶⁵ ⁶⁶⁶ ⁶⁶⁷ ⁶⁶⁸ ⁶⁶⁹ ⁶⁷⁰ ⁶⁷¹ ⁶⁷² ⁶⁷³ ⁶⁷⁴ ⁶⁷⁵ ⁶⁷⁶ ⁶⁷⁷ ⁶⁷⁸ ⁶⁷⁹ ⁶⁸⁰ ⁶⁸¹ ⁶⁸² ⁶⁸³ ⁶⁸⁴ ⁶⁸⁵ ⁶⁸⁶ ⁶⁸⁷ ⁶⁸⁸ ⁶⁸⁹ ⁶⁹⁰ ⁶⁹¹ ⁶⁹² ⁶⁹³ ⁶⁹⁴ ⁶⁹⁵ ⁶⁹⁶ ⁶⁹⁷ ⁶⁹⁸ ⁶⁹⁹ ⁷⁰⁰ ⁷⁰¹ ⁷⁰² ⁷⁰³ ⁷⁰⁴ ⁷⁰⁵ ⁷⁰⁶ ⁷⁰⁷ ⁷⁰⁸ ⁷⁰⁹ ⁷¹⁰ ⁷¹¹ ⁷¹² ⁷¹³ ⁷¹⁴ ⁷¹⁵ ⁷¹⁶ ⁷¹⁷ ⁷¹⁸ ⁷¹⁹ ⁷²⁰ ⁷²¹ ⁷²² ⁷²³ ⁷²⁴ ⁷²⁵ ⁷²⁶ ⁷²⁷ ⁷²⁸ ⁷²⁹ ⁷³⁰ ⁷³¹ ⁷³² ⁷³³ ⁷³⁴ ⁷³⁵ ⁷³⁶ ⁷³⁷ ⁷³⁸ ⁷³⁹ ⁷⁴⁰ ⁷⁴¹ ⁷⁴² ⁷⁴³ ⁷⁴⁴ ⁷⁴⁵ ⁷⁴⁶ ⁷⁴⁷ ⁷⁴⁸ ⁷⁴⁹ ⁷⁵⁰ ⁷⁵¹ ⁷⁵² ⁷⁵³ ⁷⁵⁴ ⁷⁵⁵ ⁷⁵⁶ ⁷⁵⁷ ⁷⁵⁸ ⁷⁵⁹ ⁷⁶⁰ ⁷⁶¹ ⁷⁶² ⁷⁶³ ⁷⁶⁴ ⁷⁶⁵ ⁷⁶⁶ ⁷⁶⁷ ⁷⁶⁸ ⁷⁶⁹ ⁷⁷⁰ ⁷⁷¹ ⁷⁷² ⁷⁷³ ⁷⁷⁴ ⁷⁷⁵ ⁷⁷⁶ ⁷⁷⁷ ⁷⁷⁸ ⁷⁷⁹ ⁷⁸⁰ ⁷⁸¹ ⁷⁸² ⁷⁸³ ⁷⁸⁴ ⁷⁸⁵ ⁷⁸⁶ ⁷⁸⁷ ⁷⁸⁸ ⁷⁸⁹ ⁷⁹⁰ ⁷⁹¹ ⁷⁹² ⁷⁹³ ⁷⁹⁴ ⁷⁹⁵ ⁷⁹⁶ ⁷⁹⁷ ⁷⁹⁸ ⁷⁹⁹ ⁸⁰⁰ ⁸⁰¹ ⁸⁰² ⁸⁰³ ⁸⁰⁴ ⁸⁰⁵ ⁸⁰⁶ ⁸⁰⁷ ⁸⁰⁸ ⁸⁰⁹ ⁸¹⁰ ⁸¹¹ ⁸¹² ⁸¹³ ⁸¹⁴ ⁸¹⁵ ⁸¹⁶ ⁸¹⁷ ⁸¹⁸ ⁸¹⁹ ⁸²⁰ ⁸²¹ ⁸²² ⁸²³ ⁸²⁴ ⁸²⁵ ⁸²⁶ ⁸²⁷ ⁸²⁸ ⁸²⁹ ⁸³⁰ ⁸³¹ ⁸³² ⁸³³ ⁸³⁴ ⁸³⁵ ⁸³⁶ ⁸³⁷ ⁸³⁸ ⁸³⁹ ⁸⁴⁰ ⁸⁴¹ ⁸⁴² ⁸⁴³ ⁸⁴⁴ ⁸⁴⁵ ⁸⁴⁶ ⁸⁴⁷ ⁸⁴⁸ ⁸⁴⁹ ⁸⁵⁰ ⁸⁵¹ ⁸⁵² ⁸⁵³ ⁸⁵⁴ ⁸⁵⁵ ⁸⁵⁶ ⁸⁵⁷ ⁸⁵⁸ ⁸⁵⁹ ⁸⁶⁰ ⁸⁶¹ ⁸⁶² ⁸⁶³ ⁸⁶⁴ ⁸⁶⁵ ⁸⁶⁶ ⁸⁶⁷ ⁸⁶⁸ ⁸⁶⁹ ⁸⁷⁰ ⁸⁷¹ ⁸⁷² ⁸⁷³ ⁸⁷⁴ ⁸⁷⁵ ⁸⁷⁶ ⁸⁷⁷ ⁸⁷⁸ ⁸⁷⁹ ⁸⁸⁰ ⁸⁸¹ ⁸⁸² ⁸⁸³ ⁸⁸⁴ ⁸⁸⁵ ⁸⁸⁶ ⁸⁸⁷ ⁸⁸⁸ ⁸⁸⁹ ⁸⁹⁰ ⁸⁹¹ ⁸⁹² ⁸⁹³ ⁸⁹⁴ ⁸⁹⁵ ⁸⁹⁶ ⁸⁹⁷ ⁸⁹⁸ ⁸⁹⁹ ⁹⁰⁰ ⁹⁰¹ ⁹⁰² ⁹⁰³ ⁹⁰⁴ ⁹⁰⁵ ⁹⁰⁶ ⁹⁰⁷ ⁹⁰⁸ ⁹⁰⁹ ⁹¹⁰ ⁹¹¹ ⁹¹² ⁹¹³ ⁹¹⁴ ⁹¹⁵ ⁹¹⁶ ⁹¹⁷ ⁹¹⁸ ⁹¹⁹ ⁹²⁰ ⁹²¹ ⁹²² ⁹²³ ⁹²⁴ ⁹²⁵ ⁹²⁶ ⁹²⁷ ⁹²⁸ ⁹²⁹ ⁹³⁰ ⁹³¹ ⁹³² ⁹³³ ⁹³⁴ ⁹³⁵ ⁹³⁶ ⁹³⁷ ⁹³⁸ ⁹³⁹ ⁹⁴⁰ ⁹⁴¹ ⁹⁴² ⁹⁴³ ⁹⁴⁴ ⁹⁴⁵ ⁹⁴⁶ ⁹⁴⁷ ⁹⁴⁸ ⁹⁴⁹ ⁹⁵⁰ ⁹⁵¹ ⁹⁵² ⁹⁵³ ⁹⁵⁴ ⁹⁵⁵ ⁹⁵⁶ ⁹⁵⁷ ⁹⁵⁸ ⁹⁵⁹ ⁹⁶⁰ ⁹⁶¹ ⁹⁶² ⁹⁶³ ⁹⁶⁴ ⁹⁶⁵ ⁹⁶⁶ ⁹⁶⁷ ⁹⁶⁸ ⁹⁶⁹ ⁹⁷⁰ ⁹⁷¹ ⁹⁷² ⁹⁷³ ⁹⁷⁴ ⁹⁷⁵ ⁹⁷⁶ ⁹⁷⁷ ⁹⁷⁸ ⁹⁷⁹ ⁹⁸⁰ ⁹⁸¹ ⁹⁸² ⁹⁸³ ⁹⁸⁴ ⁹⁸⁵ ⁹⁸⁶ ⁹⁸⁷ ⁹⁸⁸ ⁹⁸⁹ ⁹⁹⁰ ⁹⁹¹ ⁹⁹² ⁹⁹³ ⁹⁹⁴ ⁹⁹⁵ ⁹⁹⁶ ⁹⁹⁷ ⁹⁹⁸ ⁹⁹⁹ ¹⁰⁰⁰

1 Of the fall of Nineueh. 8 No power can escape the hand of God.

O Bloody City, it is all full of lies, and robbery: the way departeth not.

2 The noise of a whip, and the noise of the moping of the whetters, and the beating of the hoises, and the leaping of the charrets.

3 The horsman lieth vpon both the bright sword, and the glittering spear, and a multitude is slain, and the dead bodies are man-ny: there is none ende of their corpses: they slumble vpon their corpses.

4 Because of the multitude of the forni-cations of the harlot that is beautifull, and is a mistress of witchcraft, and selleth the people through her whoredome, and the Nations through her witchcraft.

5 Behold, I come vpon thee, sayeth the Lord of hostes, and will discouer thy skirts vpon thy face, and will shew the Nations thy filthinesse, and the kingdomes thy shame.

6 And I will cast filth vpon thee, & make thee vile, and will set thee as a gazing stocke.

7 And it shall come to passe, that all they that looke vpon thee, shall flee from thee, and say, Nineueh is destroyed, who will haue pite-y upon her? where shall I seeke comforters for thee?

8 Art thou better then Sodo, which was full of people, that lay in cheriurims, and had the waters round about it, whose ditch was the sea, and her wall was from the sea?

9 Ethiopia and Egypt were her strength, and there was none ende, But and Lubim were her helpers.

10 Yet was shee caried away, and went into captiuitie: her yong children also were dashed in pieces at the head of all the streets:
and they cast lots for her noble men, and all her mighty men were bound in chains.

11 Also thou shalt be drunken: thou shalt hide thy selfe, and shalt seeke helpe, because of the enemy.

12 All thy strong Cities shall be like figge trees with the first ripe figges: for if they be shaken, they fall into the mouth of the eater.

13 Behold, thy people within thee are women: the gates of thy land shall be opened vnto thine enemies, and the fire shall deuoure thy barres.

14 Draw thee waters for the siege: fortify thy strong holds: got into the clay, and temper the mortar: make strong bricke.

15 There shall the fire deuoure thee: the sword shall cut thee off: it shall eat thee vp like the locusts, though thou bee multiplied

16 Thou hast multiplied thy merchants which remaine in the hedges in the colde

they are.

18 Thy shepherds doe sleepe, O King of Assur: thy strong men lie downe: thy people is scattered vpon the mountaines, and no man gathereth them.

THE ARGUMENT.

THE Prophet complaineth vnto God, considering the great felicity of the wicked, and the miserable oppression of the godly, which endure all kinde of affliction and cruelty, and yet can see none end. Therefore he had this reuelation shewed him of God, that the Caldeans should come and take them away captiues, so that they could looke for none end of their troubles as yet, because of their stubbornnes and rebellion against the Lord. And left the godly should despair, seeing this horrible confusion, hee comforteth them by this, that God wil punish the Caldeans their enemies, when their pride and cruelty shall be at height: wherefore he exhorteth the faithfull to patience by his owne example, and sheweth them a forme of prayer, wherewith they should comfort themselves.

CHAP. I.

2 A complaint against the wicked that persecute the iust.

Woe burden to which Habakkuk
the Prophet did lie.

2 O Lord, how long shall I cry, and thou wilt not heare!
even cry out vnto thee: for violence, thou wilt not helpe!

3 Why dost thou shew me iniquities, and cause me to behold sorow? for spying, and violence are before mee: and there are tharraile vp strife and contention.

4 Therefore the Law is dissolved, and iudgement both neuer goe forth: for the wicked doeth compass about the righteous:

therefore wrong iudgement proceedeth.

5 Wholse among the heathen, and regards, and wonder, and maruelle: for I will worke a worke in your dayes: yee will not believe it, though it be told you.

6 Forsoke, I raise vp the Caldeans, that bitter and furious Nation, which shall goe

g They shall be so many in number. h They shall cast up accounts against it.

i The Prophet comforteth the faithful, that God will also destroy the Babylonians, because they shall abuse this victory & become proud and insolent, attributing the praise thereof to their idols.

k He affirmeth the godly of Gods protection, shewing that the enemies can do no more than God hath appointed, & also that their times required such a sharp rod.

l So that the great deuoureth the small, and the Caldeans destroy all the world. m Meaning that the enemies flatter themselves, and glory in their own force, power, and wit. n Meaning, that they should not,

7 They are terrible and fearful: their judgement and their dignity shall proceed of themselves.

8 Their horses also are swifter then the leopards, and are more fierce then the wolves in the evening, and their horsemen are many: and their horsemen shall come from far, they shall flie as the Eagle hasting to meat.

9 They come all to spoile: before their faces shall be as Eastwind, and they shall gather the captivity as the land.

10 And they shall mock the kings, and the Princes shall be a scorn vnto them: they shall decide every strong hold: for they shall gather dust, and take it.

11 Then shall they take a courage, and transgress and doe wickedly, imputing this their power vnto their god.

12 Art not thou of old, O Lord my God, mine Holy one? we shall not die: O Lord, thou hast ordained them for judgement, & O God, thou hast established them for correction.

13 Thou art of pure eyes, & canst not see evil: thou canst not behold wickednes: wherefore dost thou look vpon the transgressors, and holdest thy tongue, when the wicked deuoureth the man that is more righteous then he?

14 And makest men as the fishes of the sea, and as the creeping things that haue no ruler over them?

15 They take vp all with the angle: they catch in their net, and gather in in their yarne, whereof they reioyce and are glad.

16 Therefore they sacrifice vnto their net, and burne incense vnto their yarne, because by them their portion is fat, and their meat plenteous.

17 Shall they therefore stretch out their net & not spare continually to slay the nations?

CHAP. II.

3 A vision, 5 against pride, contempt, & drunkenness, and delirij.

I will stand vpon my watch, and see mee vpon the tower, and will looke, & see what he would say vnto me, and what I shall answer to him that rebuketh me.

2 And the Lord answered me, and said, Write the Vision, and make it plaine vpon tables, that he may runne: that reader it.

3 For the vision is yet for an appointed time, but at the last it shall speake, and not lie: though it tarry, waite: for it shall surely come, and shall not lye.

4 Behold, he that lieth by himselfe, his mbe is not bright in him, but the lust shall line by his faith.

5 Prea, indeed the proud man is as hee that transgresseth by wine: therefore shall he not endure, because he hath enlarged his desire as the hell, and is as death, and cannot be satisfied, but gathereth vnto him all nations, and heareth vnto him all people.

6 Shall not all these take vp a parable against him, and a taunting pour the against him, and say, Wo, bee that increaseth that which is not his? How long? and he that laboureth himselfe vnto him with thicke clay.

7 Shall not they not rise by suddenly that shall bite thee? and awake, that shall stir thee? and thou shalt be their pray?

8 Because thou hast spoiled many nations, all the remnant of the people shall poyse thee, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

9 Wo, he that coueteth an euill countenance to his house, that hee may set his nest on high, to escape from the power of euill.

10 Thou hast consulted shame to thine owne house, by destroying many people, and hast sinned against thine owne soul.

11 For the stone that cry out of the wall, and the beam out of the timber shall answer it.

12 Allee vnto him that buildeth a towne with blood, and erecteth a Citie by iniquitie.

13 Behold, is it not of the Lord of hosts, that the people shall labour in the very fire: the people shall euen weare themselves for very vanitie.

14 For the earth shall bee filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters couer the sea.

15 Allee vnto him that smeth his neighbour: drinke: thou forgett thine hate, and makest him drunken also, that thou mayest see their privities.

16 Thou art filled with shame: for glorie drinke thou also and be made naked: the cup of the Lords right hand shall be turned vnto thee, and shameful spilling shall bee for thy glory.

17 For the cruelty of Lebanon shall couer thee: so shall the spoile of the heathens, which made them afraid, because of mens blood, and for the wrong done in the land, in the Citie, and vnto all that dwell therein.

18 What proficeth the image? for the maker thereof hath made it an image, and a teacher of lies, though hee that made it, trust therein, when he maketh dumbe idols.

19 Allee vnto him that saith to the wood, Awake, and to the dumbe stone, Rise vp, it shall reach thee: & behold, it is layed of Babylon: who as he was drunken with couetousnes and cruelty, so he prouoketh others to the same, and inflamed them by his rage, and so in the ende brought them to shame. n Whereas thou thoughtest to haue glory of these thy doings, they shall turne to thy shame: for thou shalt drinke of the same cuppa with others in thy turne. o Because the Babylonians were cruel, not onely against other Nations, but also against the people of God, which is meant by Lebanon, and the beaks therein, he sheweth that the like cruelty shall be executed against them. p He sheweth that the Babylonians gods could nothing auail them: for they were but blocks or stones, reade ler. 10.8. q If thou wilt consider what it is, and howe that is hath neither breath nor life, but is a dead thing.

f Signifying, that all the world shall with the destruction of tyrants, and that by their oppression & couetousnes, they heape but vpon themselves more heavy burdens: for the more they get, the more are they troubled.

g That is, the Medes and Persians that should destroy the Babylonians.

h Signifying, that the couetous man is the ruine of his owne house when as he thinketh to enrich it by cruelty and oppression.

i The stones of the house shall cry, and say, that they are built of blood, and the wood shall answer, and say the same of it selfe.

k Meaning, that God will not deferre his vengeance long, but will come and destroy all their labors, as though they were consumed with fire.

l In the destruction of the Babylonians his glory shall appear thorow all the world.

m He reproacheth thus the King of Babylon: who as he was drunken with couetousnes and cruelty, so he prouoketh others to the same, and inflamed them by his rage, and so in the ende brought them to shame. n Whereas thou thoughtest to haue glory of these thy doings, they shall turne to thy shame: for thou shalt drinke of the same cuppa with others in thy turne. o Because the Babylonians were cruel, not onely against other Nations, but also against the people of God, which is meant by Lebanon, and the beaks therein, he sheweth that the like cruelty shall be executed against them. p He sheweth that the Babylonians gods could nothing auail them: for they were but blocks or stones, reade ler. 10.8. q If thou wilt consider what it is, and howe that is hath neither breath nor life, but is a dead thing.

A prayer for the faithfull.

a The Prophet intrudeth his people to pray vnto God not onely for their great finnes, but also for such as they had committed of ignorance.

Psal. 31. 16. f Signifying that God hath wonderfull meane, and cuer had a marueilous power when he would deliuer his Church. g The iniquity of this king of Syria in vexing thy people, was made manifest by thy iudgement, to the comfort of thy Church, Iudg. 7. 32. & also of the Midianites, which destroyed themselves, Iudg. 7. 32. h Meaning that God was not angry with the waters, but that by this meane hee would destroy his enemies and deliuer his Church. i And so diddest vse all the elements as instruments for the destruction of thine enemies. k That is, thy power. l For he had not onely made a covenant with Abraham, but renewed it with his posteritie.

A Prayer of Habakkuk the Prophet for the ignorant.

2 O Lord, I haue heard thy voice, and was afraid: O Lord, reuile thy worke in the mids of the people, in the mids of the peeres make it known: in wrath remember mercy.

3 God cometh from Teman, and the Holyone from mount Paran, Selah, his glory couereth the heauens, and the earth is full of his praise.

4 And his brightnesse was as the light: hee had hornes coming out of his hands, and there was the biding of his power.

5 Before him went the pestilence, and burning coales went forth before his feet.

6 Hee stoode and measured the earth: hee beheld and dissolved the nations, and the euillust mountains were broken, and the ancient hills did bow: his wayes are euillust.

7 For his iniquitie I sawe the tents of Cushan, and the curtaines of the land of Midian did tremble.

8 Was the Lord angry against the riuers? or was thine anger against the floods? or was the wrath against the sea, that thou diddest ride vpon thine horses? thy chariots brought the saluation.

9 Thy bowe was manifestly reuealed, and the arrowes of the tribes were a sure word, Selah, thou diddest cleane the earth with riuers.

10 The mountains sawe thee, and they trembled: the streame of the water passed by: the deepe made a noise, and lift up his hand on high.

11 The Sunne and Moone stood still in their habitation: at the light of thine arrowes they went, and at the bright shining of thy spears.

12 Thou trodest downe the land in anger, and diddest thresh the heathen in displeasure.

13 Thou wentest forth for the saluation of thy people, euen for saluation with thine arrowes: thou hast wounded the head of the house of the wicked, and discoveredst the foundations vnto the necke. Selah.

14 Thou diddest strike thozow with his owne stauces the heads of his villages: they came out as a whirlewinde to scatter mee: their reioycing was as to denounce the poore secretly.

15 Thou diddest walke in the Sea with thine horses vpon the heape of great waters.

16 When I heard, my belly trembled: my lips shooke at the voyce: rottennesse entered into my bones, and I trembled in myself, that I might rest in the day of trouble: for when hee cometh vpon the people, he shall destroy them.

17 For the fig tree shall not flourish, neither shall fruite bee in the vines: the labour of the olive shall faile, and the figdes shall yeelde no meate: the shepe shall bee cut off from the fold, and there shall bee no bullocke in the stalles.

18 But I will reioyce in the Lord: I will ioy in the God of my saluation.

THE ARGUMENT.

Seeing the great rebellion of the people, and that there was now no hope of amendment, hee denounceth the great iudgement of God which was at hand, shewing that their country should be vterly destroyed, and they caried away captiues by the Babylonians. Yet for the comfort of the faithfull, he prophesied of Gods vengeance against their enemies, as the Philistines, Moabites, Assyrians and others, to assure them that God had a continuall care ouer them. And as the wicked should be punished for their finnes and transgressions: so he exhorteth the godly to patience, and trust to finde mercy by reason of the free promise of God made vnto Abraham: and therefore quietly to abide till God shew them the effect of that grace, whereby in the end they should be gathered vnto him, and counted as his people and children.

CHAP. I.

4 Thwarting against Judah and Jerusalem, because of their idleness.

The word of the Lord which came unto Zephaniah the son of Cushi, the son of Gedaliah, the son of Amariah, the son of Hizkiah, in the days of Josiah, the son of Amos king of Judah.

2 I will surely destroy all things from off the land, saith the Lord.

3 I will destroy man and beast: I will destroy the fowles of the heaven, and the fishes of the sea, and ruins shall bee to the wicked, and I will cut off man from off the land, saith the Lord.

4 I will also stretch out mine hand upon Judah, and upon all the inhabitants of Jerusalem, and I will cut off the remnant of Baal from this place, and the name of the Chemarims with the priests.

5 And them that worship the host of heaven upon the house tops, and them that worship and swear by the Lord, and swear by Belsham.

6 And them that are turned back from the Lord, and those that have not sought the Lord, nor inquired for him.

7 Be still at the presence of the Lord God: for the day of the Lord is at hand: for the Lord hath prepared a sacrifice, and hath sanctified his guests.

8 And it shall bee in the day of the Lords sacrifice, that I will visit the princes and the kings children, and all such as are clothed with strange apparell.

9 In the same day also will I visit all those that dwelle upon the threshold so proudly, which fill their masters houses by cruelty and deceit.

10 And in that day, saith the Lord, there shall be a noise, and cry from the fifth gate, and an howling from the second gate, and a great destruction from the hills.

11 Howle ye inhabitants of the low place, for the companies of the merchants is destroyed: all they that beare silver are cut off.

12 And at that time will I search Jerusalem with lights, and visit the men that are frozen in their dregges, and lay in their hearts. The Lord will neither doe good nor doe euill.

13 Therefore their goods shall be spoiled, and their houses waste: they shall also build houses, but not inhabit them, and they shall plant vineyards, but not drinke the wine thereof.

14 I have heard the reproch of Moab, and the rebukes of the children of Ammon, whereby they upbraided my people, and magnified themselves against their hope, and in stead of friendship were:

15 Therefore as I live, saith the Lord the God of Israel, surely Moab therefore he calleth them Canaanites whom the Lord appointed to be slaine, because they counted might bee a resting place for his Church. These nations presumed to take from the Iewes that country which the Lord had given them.

14 The great day of the Lord is nerre: it is nerre and hather greatly, even the voyce of the day of the Lord: the strong man shall cry there bitterly.

15 That day is a day of wrath, a day of trouble and heaviness, a day of destruction and desolation, a day of obscurity and darkness, a day of clouds and blacknesse.

16 A day of the trumpet and alarme against the strong cities, and against the high towers.

17 And I will bring distress upon men, that they shall walke like blind men, because they have sinned against the Lord, and their blood shall bee poured out as dust, and their flesh as dung.

18 Neither shall they silver nor their golde, shall bee able to deliver them in the day of the Lords wrath, but the whole land shall be consumed by the fire of his wrath: for he shall make even a speedie end of all them that dwell in the land.

4 For Assyria shall be forsaken, and Ashkelon desolate: they shall dwine out Ashdod at the noone day, and Ekron shall bee rooted vypp.

5 Alot unto the inhabitants of the sea coast: the nations of the Cherethims, the word of the Lord is against you: O Canaan, the land of the Philistines, I will even destroy thee without an inhabitant.

6 And the sea coast shall bee dwellings, and cottages for shepherds and herdsfolde.

7 And that coast shall bee for the remnant of the house of Judah to feede there upon: in the houses of Ashkelon shall they lodge towarde night: for the Lord their God shall visite them, and turne away their captiuitie.

Haggai.

THE ARGUMENT.

When the time of the seventy yeeres captiuitie, prophesied by Ieremiah, was expired, God raised vp Haggai, Zechariah and Malachi to comfort the Iewes, & to exhort them to the building of the Temple, which was a figure of the spiri-uall Temple and Church of God, whose perfection and excellencie flood in Christ. And because that all were giuen to their owne pleasures and commodities, he declared that that plague of famine, which God sent them among them, was a iust reward of their ingratitude, in that they contemned Gods honour, who had deliuered them. Yet he comforteth them, in that they will retorne to the Lord, with the promise of greater felicitie, forasmuch as the Lord will finish the worke that he hath begun, and send Christ whom he had promised, and by whom they shall attaine to perfit ioy and glory.

CHAP. I.

1 The time of the prophesie of Haggai. 8 An exhortation to build the Temple againe.

a Who was the sonne of Histiak, and the third king of the Persians is some think.

b Because the building of the Temple began to cease by reason that the people were discouraged by their enemies: and if these two miserable men had need to be stirred up, and admonished of their duties, what shall we thinke of other gouernours, whose doings are either against God, or very cold in his cause?

c Not that they condemned the building therof, but they preferred policy, and priuate profit to religion, being content with small beginnings.

d Shewing that they sought not onely their necessitie, but their very pleasures before Gods honour.

e Consider the places of God upon you for preferring your policies to his religion, and because yee seeke not him first of all.

f Meaning, that they should leaue of their owne commodities, and goe forward in the building of Gods Temple, and in the setting out of his religion.

g That is, I will heare your prayers according to my promise, 1. King. 8. 21. 29. h That is, my glory shall be shewed by you. i And so bring it to nothing.

In the second yeere of King Darius in the first month, the first day of the month, came the word of the Lord by the ministrie of the Prophet Haggai vnto Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a Prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak, the high Priest, saying,

2 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, The time is not yet come, that the Lords house should be builded.

3 Then came the word of the Lord by the ministrie of the Prophet Haggai, saying, 4 Is it time for you to dwell in your celled houses, and this house lie waste?

5 Now therefore, thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne waies in your hearts.

6 Yee haue sown much, and bring in little: yee eat, but yee haue not enough: yee drinke, but yee are not filled: yee clothe you, but yee be not warme: and hee that earneth wages, putteth the wages into a broken bag.

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Consider your owne waies in your hearts.

8 Goe vp to the mountaine, and bring wood, and build this house, and I will be shewable in it, and I will be glorified, saith the Lord.

9 Yee looked for much, and loe, it came to little, and when yee brought it home, I did blow vpon it. And why, saith the Lord of hostes? because of mine house that is waste, and yee runne every man vnto his owne house.

10 Therefore the heauen ouer you stayed her selfe from draw, and the earth stayed her selfe.

11 And I called for a mightie vpon the land, and vpon the mountaines, and vpon the countie, and vpon the wine, and vpon the oyle, vpon all that the ground bringeth forth both vpon men, and vpon cattell, and vpon all the labour of the hands.

12 When Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, and Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest with all the remnant of the people, heard the voyce of the Lord their God, and the wordes of the Prophet Haggai, (as the Lord their God had sent him) then the people did feare before the Lord.

13 Then spake Haggai the Lords messenger in the Lords message vnto the people, saying, I am with you, saith the Lord.

14 And the Lord stirred vp the spirit of Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel, a prince of Iudah, and the spirit of Iehoshua the son of Iehozadak the high Priest, and the spirit of all the remnant of the people, and they came, and did the worke in the house of the Lord of hostes their God.

CHAP. II.

He sheweth that the glory of the second Temple shall exceed the first.

In the fourth and twentieth day of the first moneth, in the second yeere of king Darius,

2 In the seventh month, in the one and twentieth day of the month, came the word of the Lord by the ministrie of the Prophet Haggai, saying,

3 Speake now to Zerubbabel the sonne of Shealtiel Prince of Iudah, and to Iehoshua the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest, and to the residue of the people, saying,

4 Who is left among you, that saw this house in her first glory, and how doe you see it now? Is it not in your eyes, in comparison of it, as nothing?

5 Yet now be of good courage, O Zerubbabel, saith the Lord, and be of good comfort, O Iehoshua, sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest: and be strong all yee people of the land, saith the Lord, and doe it: for I am with you, saith the Lord of hostes.

6 According to the word that I covenanted with you, when yee came out of Egypt: so my witte shall remaine among you, feare ye not.

7 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, I will shake the land, and I will shake the heavens, and the earth, and the sea, and the inhabitants thereof.

8 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, though they see not as yet this Temple so glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this should be accomplished in Christ, by whom all things should be renewed.

k This declared that God was the author of the doctrine, & that he was both the minister, as Exo. 14. 3. 1. iud. 7. 30. Actes. 1. 5. 8.

l Which declared that men are vnapt & dull to serue the Lord, neither can they obey his word or his messengers before God reforme their hearts, and giue them new spirits, John 6. 44.

a For the people according as Isa. 32. 11. and Eze. 43. 1. had prophesied, though this Temple should haue bin more excellent then Salomons Temple which was destroyed by the Babylonians, but the Prophets meant the spiri-tuall Temple, the Church of Christ.

b That is, goe forward in building the Temple.

c He exhorted them to patience, though they see not as yet this Temple so glorious as the Prophets had declared: for this should be accomplished in Christ, by whom all things should be renewed.

8 And I will moone all nations, and ^d the desire of all nations shall come, and I will fill this house with glory, saith the Lord of hostes.

9 The silver is mine, and the gold is mine, saith the Lord of hostes.

10 The glory of this last house shall be greater then the first, saith the Lord of hosts: and in this place, will I giue peace, saith the Lord of hosts.

11 ¶ In the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, in the second yeere of Darius, came the word of the Lord vnto the Prophet Baggal, saying,

12 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Aske now the Priests concerning the Law, & say, 13 If one beate a holy flesh in the skirt of his garment, and with his skirt do touch the bread, or the pottage, or the wine, or oyle, or any meat, shall it be holy? And the Priests answered, and said, No.

14 Then said Baggai, If a polluted person touch any of these, shall it bee uncleane? And the Priests answered and said, It shall be uncleane.

15 Then answered Baggat, and said, So is this people, and so is this nation before me, saith the Lord: and so are all the workers of their hands, and that which they offer here is unclean.

16 And now I pray you, consider in your minds: from this^h day, and afoze, even afoze a stone was laid upon a stone in the Temple of the Lord.

17 Before these things were, when one came to an heape of twentie measures, there were but tenne: when one came to the wine presse for to draw out fiftie vessels out of the presse, there were but twentie.

18 I smote you with blasting, and with mildew, and with haille, in all the labours of your hands : yet you turned not to mee, saith
the Lord.

19 Consider I pray you, in your mindes, from this day, and afoze from the foure and twentieth day of the ninth moneth, even from the day that the foundation of the Lords Temple was laid: consider it in your mindes.

20 Is the seed yet in the barn? as yet the vine, and the figge tree, and the pomegranate, and the Olive tree hath not brought forth: from this day will I bless you.

21 And againe the word of the Lord came vnto Haggai in the foure and twentieth day of the moneth, saying,

22 Speak to Zerubbabel the prince of Judah, and say, I will shake the heavens and the earth,

23 And I will ouerthrow the thron of kingdoms, and I will destroy the strength of the kingdoms of the heathen, and I will overthrow the charers, and those that ride in them, and the boyle and the riders shall come downe, every one by the sword of his brother.

THE ARGUMENT.

Two months after that Haggai had begun to prophesy, Zechariah was also sent of the Lord to help him in the labour, and to confirm the same doctrine. First therefore he putteth them in remembrance for what cause God had to fore punish their fathers: and yet comforteth them, if they will repent vainly, and not abuse this great benefit of God in their delinquency, which was a figure of that true deliverance, that all the faithful should have from death and sin, by Christ. But because they still remained in their wickedness and coldness to set forth Gods glory, and were not yet made better by their long banishment, he rebuketh them most sharply: yet for the comfort of the repentant, he ever mixeth the promise of grace, that they might by this means be prepared to receive Christ, in whom all should be sanctified to the Lord.

the former Prophets have cried, saying, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, Turn ye now from your evil ways, and from your wicked works: but they would not hear, nor hearken unto me, saith the Lord.

5 Your fathers, where are they? and do the Prophets live for ever?

6 But did not my words, and my statutes, which I commanded by my servants the Prophets, take holde of your fathers? And as they returned, and said, As the Lord of hosts hath determined to doe unto us, according to our own ways, and according to our works, so hath he dealt with us.

7 Upon the four and twentieth day of the eleventh moneth, which is the moneth Shebat, in the second yere of Darius, came the word of the Lord unto Zechariah the sonne of Berechiah, the sonne of Iddo the Prophet, saying,

8 I saw by night, and beholde a man riding upon a red horse, and he stood among the myrre trees that were in a bosome, and behinde him were three red horses speckled and white.

9 Then said I, O my Lord, What are these? And the Angel that talked with me, said unto me, I will shew thee what these be.

10 And the man that stood among the myrre trees, answered and said, These are they whom the Lord hath sent to goe thorow the world.

11 And they answered the Angel of the Lord, that stood among the myrre trees, and said, We have gone thorow the world: and behold, all the world stretcheth still, and is at rest.

12 Then the Angel of the Lord answered, and said, O Lord of hosts, how long wilt thou be unmercifull to Jerusalem, and to the cities of Judah, with whom thou hast bene displeased now these threescore and ten yeres?

13 And the Lord answered the Angel that talked with me, with good words and comfortable words.

14 So the Angel that communed with me, said unto me, Crie thou, and speake, Thus saith the Lord of hosts, I am zealous over Jerusalem and Zion with a great zeale.

15 And am greatly angry against the cartelle heathen: for I was angry but a little, and they helped forward the affliction,

3 And beholde, the Angel that talked with me, went forth: and another Angel went out to meet him.

4 And said unto him, Runne, speake to this young man, and say, Jerusalem shall be inhabited without walles, for the multitude of men and cattell therein.

5 For I, saith the Lord, will be unto her a wall of fire round about, and will be the glory in the midst of her.

c That is, Christ speaketh to God as the Mediator of his Church, that he would rebuke Satan: and here he sheweth himselfe to be the continuall preferer of his Church.
d Meaning, that Iehosua was wonderfully pre serued in the captiuitie, and now Satan sought to afflicke and trouble him, when he was doing his office. e In respect of the glorious garments, and the precious stones that the Priests did weare before the captiuitie, and by this contemptible state the Prophet signifieth that these small beginnings shalbe made excellent when Christ shall make the full restitution of this Church. f He sheweth of what appaill he speaketh, which is, when our filthy finnes are taken away, and we are clad with Gods mercies, which is meant of the spirituall restitution. g The Prophet prayeth, that besides the raiment, the Priest might also haue to rest his head accordingly, that is, that the dignitie of the Priesthood might be perfected: and this was fulfilled in Christ, who was both Priest and King: and here all such are condemned that can content themselves with any meane reformation in religion, seeing the Prophet desireth the perfection, and obaieth it. h That is, haue rule and gouernement in my Church, as thy predecessors haue had. i Whereby hee meaneth, to haue the whole charge and ministry of the Church.

And he shewed me Iehosua the high Priest, standing before the Angel of the Lord, and Satan stood at his right hand to resist him.
2 And the Lord said vnto Satan, The Lord reprove thee, O Satan: euen the Lord that hath chosen Ierusalem, reprove thee? Is not this a brand taken out of the fire?
3 Now Iehosua was clothed with filthy garments, and stood before the Angel.
4 And he answered and spake vnto those that stood before him, saying, Take away the filthy garments from him. And vnto him hee said, Behold, I haue caused thine iniquitie to depart from thee, and I will clothe thee with change of raiment.
5 And I said, Let them sit a faire diademe vpon his head. So they set a faire diademe vpon his head, and clothed him with garments, and the Angel of the Lord stood by.
6 And the Angel of the Lord testified vnto Iehosua, saying, 7 Thus saith the Lord of hosts, If thou wilt walke in my wayes, and keepe my watch, thou shalt also iudge mine house, and shalt also keepe my courts, and I will giue thee place among these that stand by.

A And the Angel that talked with mee, came againe and waked mee, as a man that is raised out of his sleepe.

3 And two olive trees ouer it, one vpon the right side of the bowle, and the other vpon the left side thereof.
4 So I answered, and spake to the Angel that talked with mee, saying, What are these, my Lord?
5 Then the Angel that talked with mee, answered and said vnto me, Knowest thou not what these be? And I sayd, No, my Lord.

k That is, the Angels who presented the whole number of the faithfull, signifying, that all the godly should willingly receive him.
l Because they follow my word, they are contemned in the world and esteemed as monsters, Ila 2. 12.

a Which was ouer in the midst of the Temple, signifying that the graces of Gods Spirit should thinne there in most abundance, and in all perfection.
b Which conueyed the oyle that dropped from the crown to the lampes, so that the light neuer failed: and this vision was to confirme the faithfull, I God had sufficient power in himselfe to continue his graces, and bring his promise to passe, though he had no help of man.
c Who was a figure of Christ, and therefore this doctrine was directed to all the Church who are his body and members. d He sheweth that Gods power onely is sufficient to preferre his Church, though he vie not mans helpe thereunto. e Hee compareth the power of the aduersaries to a great mountaine, who thought the Iewes nothing in respect of them, and would haue hindered Zerubbabel, who represented Christ, whom the enemies daily labored to let in the building of his spirituall Temple, but all in vaine. f Though the enemies thinke to stay this building, yet Zerubbabel shall lay the highest stone thereof, and bring it to perfection, in that all the godly shall reioyce, and pray vnto God that he would continue his grace and fauour toward the Temple.

8 Moreover the word of the Lord came vnto me, saying,

9 The bandes of Zerubbabel haue layd the foundation of this house: his hands shall also finish it, and thou shalt know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you.

10 For who hath despised the day of the small things? but they shall reioyce, and shall see the stone of time in the hande of Zerubbabel: these seuen are the eyes of the Lord, which goe thorow the whole world.

11 Then answered I, and said vnto him, What are these two olive trees vpon the right and vpon the left side thereof?

12 And I spake moreover, and sayd vnto him, What bee these two olive branches, which thorow the two golden pipes empye themselves into the golde?

13 And he answered mee, and sayd, Knowest thou not what these be? and I sayd, No, my Lord.

14 Then said hee, These are the two olive branches, that stand with the ruler of the whole earth.

g Meaning the prophet, that I am Christ, sent of my Father for the building and preservation of my spiritual Temple.
h Signifying, that all were discouraged at the small and poore beginnings of the Temple.
i Whereby he signifies the plumes & line, that is, that Zerubbabel which represented Christ, should go forward with his building to the joy and comfort of the godly.

though I world beaguilt him, and though his for a while be discouraged, because they see not things pleasant to the eye. k That is, God hath seuen eyes, meaning a continual providence, so that neither Satan nor any power in the world can go about or bring any thing to passe to hinder his worke, Chap. 3. 9. l Which were euer greene and full of oyle, so that they powered forth oyle into the lamps: Signifying, that God will continually maintaine and preserve his Church, and endue it still with abundance and perfection of graces.

CHAP. V.

1 The vision of the flying booke, signifying the curse of them, and such as abuse the Name of God. 6 By the vision of the measure is signified the bringing of Iudahs afflictions into Babylon.

Then I turned mee, and lifted vp mine eyes, and looked, and beholds, a flying booke.

2 And he said vnto me, What seest thou? And I answered, I see a flying booke: the length thereof is twentie cubites, and the breadth thereof ten cubites.

3 Then sayd hee vnto mee, This is the curse that goeth forth ouer the whole earth: for every one that shall be cut off awei on this side, as on that: and every one that shall be cut off, awei on this side, as on that.

4 I will bring it forth, saith the Lord of hostes, and it shall enter into the house of the thee, and into the house of him that shall sweareth by my name: and it shall remaine in the middes of his house, and shall consume it, with the timber thereof, and stones thereof.

5 Then the Angel that talked with mee, went forth and sayd vnto mee, Lift vp now thine eyes, and see what is this that goeth forth.

6 And I said, What is it? And hee sayd, This is an Ephah that goeth forth. Ye sayd moreover, This is the sight of them, that shal all the earth.

7 And beholds, there was lift vp a talent of lead: and this is a woman that stretch in the midst of the Ephah.

8 And he sayd, This is wickednesse, and hee cast it into the midst of the Ephah, and hee cast the weight of lead vpon the mouth thereof.

9 Then lift I vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholds, there came out two women, and the winde was in their wings (for they had wings like the wings of a hawk) and they lift vp the Ephah betweene the earth and the heauen.

10 Then sayd I to the Angel that talked with mee, Whither doe these beare the Ephah?

11 And hee sayd vnto mee, To build it an house in the land of Shinar, and it shall bee established and set there vpon her owne place.

vp iniquity in a measure as in a prison. k Which declared that God would execute his iudgements by the means of weak and infirme means. l To remoue the iniquitie and afflictions that came for the, fume from Iudah, to place it for euer in Babylon.

By the foure chariots hee describeth the foure monarchies.

Again, I turned and lift vp mine eyes, and looked: and beholds, there came foure chariots out from betweene two mountaines, and the mountaines were mountains of brasse.

2 In the first chariot were red horses, and in the second chariot blacke horses.

3 And in the third chariot white horses, and in the fourth chariot, horses of diuers colours, and reddish.

4 Then I answered, and sayd vnto the Angel that talked with me, What are these my Lord?

5 And the Angel answered, and sayd vnto mee, These are the foure spirits of the heauen, which goe forth from standing with the Lord of all the earth.

6 That with the blacke horse went forth into the land of the North, and the white went out after them, and they of diuers colours went forth toward the South country.

7 And the reddish went out, and requir'd to goe, and passe thorow the world. And hee sayd, Goe, passe thorow the world. So they went thorowout the world.

8 Then cried he vpon me, and spake vnto mee, saying, Beholds, these that goe toward ward vnder diuers enemies. d Signifying, that they had endured great afflictions vnder the Babylonians. e These represented their state vnder the Persians which restored them to libertie. f Which signified that god would for some time giue his Church rest, and powre his plagues vpon their enemies, as hee did in destroying Ninueh & Babylon, and other their enemies. g Meaning, all the actions and motions of Gods spirit, which according to his vnchangeable counsell hee causeth to appeare thorow all the world. h That is, toward Egypt, and other countreies thereabout. i That is, they of diuers colours, which aske leave, to signifye that Satan hath no power to hurt or afflict till God giue it him, Job. 1. 21.

a Because the lawns had propoled Gods plagues by continuing his word, & casting off all ingendement and equity, hee sheweth Gods curses written in this booke hadinly light both on them, & their fathers: but now if they would repent, God would lend the same among the Caldeans their former enemies.
b That is, with any injury toward his neighbor.
c Meaning, whether he be in the world. d Hee that transgresseth the first table, & serueth not God aright, but abuleth Gods name. e Which was a measure in dry things, conteining about ten postels.

f That is, all the wickednesse of the wickedly is in Gods sight, which hee keepeth in a measure, and can shut it, or open it at his pleasure.

g To couer the measure. h Which representeth iniquitie, as in the next verse.

i Signifying that Satan should not haue such power against the lawes to tempt them, as hee had in time past, but that God would shut

a By chariots here, as by horses alone, hee meaneth the swift messengers of God to execute and declare his will.

b By the brasse mountaines hee meaneth the eternal counsel of God, whereby he hath from before all eternitie decreed what shall come to passe, and that which neither Satan nor all the world can alter. c Which signified the great cruelty and persecutions that the church had endured

The Branch.

k By punishing the Caldeans, mine anger ceased, & you were delivered, l To receive of him and the other three, money to make the two crowns: which were men of great authority among the Jewes & doubted of the restitution of the kingdom and of the priesthood, and hurt others by their example, m Because this could not be attributed to any one according to the Law therefore it followed that Iehoshua must represent the Messiah, who was both Priest and King.

n Meaning, Christ, of whom Iehoshua was the figure: for in Greeke they were both called Iesus o That is, of himselfe, without the helpe of man. p Which declareth that none could build this Temple, wherof Haggai speaketh, but only Christ: and therefore it was spiritual, & not materiall, Haggai. 1. 10. q Whereof Iehoshua had but a shadow. r The two offices of the kingdom and priesthood shalbe so ioyned together, that they shall bee no more disscured. t Who was also called Haldi. u He was also called Ioshiah v That they may acknowledge their infirmities, which looked y all things should have bene restored incontinently: and of this their infidelitie these two crownes shall remaine as tokens, Actes 1. 6. x That is, the Gentiles by the preaching of the Gospel shall helpe toward the building of this spiritual temple, y if ye will beleefe and remaine in the obedience of faith.

CHAP. VII.

5 The true fasting. 11 The rebellion of the people in the cause of their affliction.

a Which containeth part of November, and part of December.

b That is, the rest of the people that remained yet in Caldea, sent to the Church at Ierusalem, for the resolution of these questions, c Cause these seals were consented upon by the agreement of the whole Church, the one in the month that the Temple was destroyed, and the other when Gedaliah was slaine, Jer. 41. 2. c By the weeping & mourning appeare what exercises they used in their fasting. d That is, prepare my selfe with a devotion to this fast. e Which was now since the time that the Temple was destroyed.

Zechariah:

the North countrey, have pacified my spirit in the North countrey.

9 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

10 Take of them of the captivitie, even of Helvai, and of Tobiah, and of Iedaiab, which are come from Babel, and come thou the same day, and go unto the house of Iosiah the sonne of Sepantiah.

11 Take euen silver and gold, and make crownes, and set them vpon the head of Iehoshua, the sonne of Iehozadak the high Priest.

12 And speake vnto him, saying, Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, and sayth, Beholde the man whose name is the Branch, and he shall growe vpon out of his place, and he shall build the Temple of the Lord.

13 When he shall build the Temple of the Lord, and he shall beare the glory, and shall sit and rule vpon his throne, and hee shall bee a Priest vpon his throne, and the counsell of peace shalbe betwene them both.

14 And the crowne shall bee to Helem, and to Tobiah, and Iedaiab, and to Hen the sonne of Sepantiah, for a memoriall in the Temple of the Lord.

15 And they that are farre off, shall come and build in the Temple of the Lord, and ye shall know that the Lord of hostes hath sent me vnto you. And this shall come to passe, if ye will obey the voyce of the Lord your God.

hostes vnto me, saying,

5 Speake vnto all the people of the land, and to the Priests, and say, When ye fasted, and mourned in the first and seuenth moneth, euen the seuerie yeeres, did ye fast vnto me? sae I approue it?

6 And when ye did eate, and when ye did drinke, did ye not eate for your felicitie, and drinke for your felicitie?

7 Should ye not heare the wordes, which the Lord hath cryed by the ministry of the former Prophets when Ierusalem was inhabited, and in her prosperitie, and the cities thereof round about her, when the South and the plaine was inhabited?

8 And the word of the Lord came vnto Zechariah, saying,

9 Thus speaketh the Lord of hostes, saying, Execute true iudgement, and shewe mercie and compassion, euerie man to his brother,

10 And oppresse not the widow, nor the fatherlesse, the stranger, nor the poore, and let none of you imagine euill against his brother in your heart.

11 But they refused to hearken, and pulled away the shoulder, and stopped their eares, that they should not heare.

12 Yea, they made their hearts as an adamant stone, lest they should heare the lawe and the wordes which the Lord of hostes sent in his spirit by the ministry of the former Prophets: therefore came a great wrath from the Lord of hostes.

13 Therefore it is come to passe, that as hee cryed, and they would not heare, so they cryed, and I would not heare, sayth the Lord of hostes.

14 But I scatterd them among all the nations, whome they knewe not: thus the land was desolate after them, that no man passed thither nor returned: for they layed the pleasant land waste.

hypocrisie, which thought by their fasting to please God, and by such things as they inuented, and in the meane season would not seeue him as he had commanded, k He sheweth that it did not fall with a sincere heart, but for hypocrisie, and that it was not done of a pure religion, because they lacked these offices of charitie, which should have declared that they were godly, Math. 23. 23. l And would not cary the Lords burden, which was sweet and easie: but would beare their owne, which was heauie & grieuous to the flesh, thinking to merit thereby: which similitude is taken of oxen, which thinke at the yoke, Nehem. 9. 39. m Which declareth that they rebelled no onely against the Prophets, but against the Spirit of God that spake in them, n That is, after they were caryed captiue. o By their sinnes whereby they prouoked Gods anger,

CHAP. VIII.

2 Of the returne of the people vnto Ierusalem, and of the mercy of God toward them. 16 Of good works.

20 The calling of the Gentiles.

A Gaine the wordes of the Lord of hostes came to me, saying,

2 Thus sayth the Lord of hostes, I was zealous for Zion with great zealousie, and I was zealous for her with great wrath.

3 Thus sayth the Lord, I will returne vnto Zion, and will dwell in the midwes of Ierusalem: and Ierusalem shall be called a citie of truth, and the Mountain of the f For there were both of the people, and of the Priests, which doubted as touching this conuention, besides them which as yet remained in Caldea, and reasoned of it, as of one of the chiefe points of their religion.

g For they thought they had deserved toward God, because of this fast, which they inuented of themselves: and though fasting it selfe be good, yet because they thought it a seruice toward God, and trusted therein, it is reprobated.

h Did you not eate and drinke for your owne commoditie? and so likewise did abstine according to your owne fantasies, and not after the discipline of my lay.

i He rebuketh them for their inuention of such things as they inuented, and in the meane season would not seeue him as he had commanded, k He sheweth that it did not fall with a sincere heart, but for hypocrisie, and that it was not done of a pure religion, because they lacked these offices of charitie, which should have declared that they were godly, Math. 23. 23. l And would not cary the Lords burden, which was sweet and easie: but would beare their owne, which was heauie & grieuous to the flesh, thinking to merit thereby: which similitude is taken of oxen, which thinke at the yoke, Nehem. 9. 39. m Which declareth that they rebelled no onely against the Prophets, but against the Spirit of God that spake in them, n That is, after they were caryed captiue. o By their sinnes whereby they prouoked Gods anger,

A I loued my deitie with a singular loue, so that I could not abide that any should do her any injury. b Because she shall be faithful, & loyal toward me, her husband.

e Though their enemies did greatly molest and trouble them, yet God would come and dwell among them, and to preserve them so long as nature would suffer them to live, and increase their children in great abundance. d He sheweth wherein our faith standeth, that is, to believe that God can performe that which he hath promised, though it seeme never so vnpossible to man, Gen. 18.14. Rom. 4.10. e So that their returne shall not be in vaine: for God will accomplish his promise, and their prosperitie shall be sure and stable. f Let neither reprobation of your private commoditie, neither counsel of others, nor feare of enemies discourage you in the going forward with the building of the Temple, but be constant and obey the Prophets which encourage you therunto, g For God curseth your worke, for that neither man nor beast had profit of their labours. h Read Ezek. 18.30. i Which declareth that man cannot merite to God: will he change mans heart by his spirit, and so beginne to doe well, which is to pardon his sinnes, and to give him his graces.

Lord of hostes, the holy mountaine.

4 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, There shall yet old men and olde women dwell in the streets of Ierusalem, and euery man with his staffe in his hand for very age.

5 And the streets of the city shall be full of hoyses and girles playing in the streets thereof.

6 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Though it be impossible in the eyes of the remnant of this people in these dayes, should it therefore be impossible in my sight, saith the Lord of hostes?

7 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, Behold, I will deliuer my people from the East country, and from the West country.

8 And I will bring them, and they shall dwell in the midst of Ierusalem, and they shall be my people, and I will bee their God in truth and in righteousness.

9 Thus saith the Lord of hostes: Let your hands be strong, yet that haire in these dayes these words by the mouth of the Prophets, which were in the day that the foundation of the house of the Lord of hostes was laide, that the Temple might be builded.

10 For before these dayes there was no hire for man, nor any hire for beast, neither was there any peace to him that went out, or came in because of the affliction: for I set all men, euery one against his neighbour.

11 But now I will not increase the residue of this people as aforetime, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 For the seed shall be prosperous: the vine shall giue her fruit, and the ground shall giue her increase, and the brauens shall giue their draw, and I will cause the remnant of this people to possesse all these things.

13 And it shall come to passe, that as yee were a curse among the heathen, O house of Iudah, and house of Israel, so will I deliuer you, and yee shall be a blessing: feare not, but let your hands be strong.

14 For thus saith the Lord of hostes, As I thought to punish¹ you, when your fathers prouoked mee vnto wrath, saith the Lord of hostes, and repented not.

15 So againe haue I determined in these dayes² to doe well vnto Ierusalem, and to the house of Iudah: feare ye not.

16 These are the things that ye shall doe. Speake yee euery man the truth vnto his neighbour: reuerce iudgement truly and uprightly in your gates.

17 And let none of you imagine euill in your hearts against his neighbour, and loue no false oath: for all these are the things that I hate, saith the Lord.

18 And the word of the Lord of hostes came vnto me, saying,

19 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, The fast of the fourth month, and the fast of the fifth, and the fast of the tenth, and the fast of the tenth shall bee to the house of Iudah for ioy and gladnesse, and prosperous be their feasts: therefore loue the truth and peace.

20 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, That three shall yet come people, and the inhabitants of great cities.

21 And they that dwell in one city, shall goe to another, saying, * Thy lvs goe and pray before the Lord, and seeke the Lord of hostes: I will goe also.

22 For a great people and mighty nations shall come to seeke the Lord of hostes in Ierusalem, and to pray before the Lord.

23 Thus saith the Lord of hostes, In those dayes shall ten men take hold out of all languages of the nations, euen take holde of the skirt of him that is a Jew, and say, We will goe with you: for we haue heard that God is with you.

the great zeale that God should giue the Gentiles to come to his Church, and to ioyne with the Iewes in his true religion, which should be in the kingdome of Christ. Ista. 2.2. meach. 4.1.

CHAP. IX.

1 The threatening of the Gentiles, 9 The coming of Christ.

THE burden of the word of the Lord in the land of Hadrach: and Damascus shall bee his¹ rest: when the eyes of man euen of all the tribes of Israel shall be toward the Lord.

2 And Hamath also shall border² there by: Tyrus also and Sidon, though they bee very wile.

3 For Tyrus did build her selfe a strong hold, and heaped vp filth as the dust, and gold as the mire of the streets.

4 Behold, the Lord will spoile her, and her will smite her³ powder in the Sea, and she shall be deuoured with fire.

5 Ashkelon shall see it, and feare, and Gaza also shall be very sorrowfull, and Ekron: for her countenance shall be abaymed, and the king shall perish from Gaza, and Ashkelon shall not be inhabited.

6 And the stranger shall dwell in Ashdod, and I will cut off the pride of the Philistines.

7 And I will take away his blood out of his mouth, and his abominations from between his⁴ teeth, but hee that remaineth, euen he shall be for our God, and he shall bee as a prince in Iudah, but Ekron shall bee as a Iebusite.

8 And I will campe about⁵ mine house against the armie, against him that passeth by, and against him that returneth, with this name of Wisdom.

f Though they of Tyrus thinke themselves inuincible by reason of the sea that compasseth them round about, yet they shall not escape Gods iudgements. g Meaning, that all should be destroyed save a very few, that should remaine as strangers. h Hee promisseth to deliuer the Iewes when hee shall take vengeance on their enemies for their crueltie, and wrongs done to them. i As the Iebusites had bene destroyed, so should Ekron and all the Philistines. k Hee sheweth that Gods power onely shall bee sufficient to defend his Church against all aduersaries, bee they neuer so cruel, or assemble their power neuer so often.

k Which fast was appointed when the citie was besieged, and was the first fast of these four: and here the Prophet sheweth, that if the Iewes will repent, and turne wholly to God, they shall haue no more occasion to fast, or to shew signes of heavinesse: for God will send them ioy and gladnesse.

l He declareth

a Whereby he meaneth Syria, b Gods anger shall abide vpon their chiefe citie, and not spare much as that, c When the Iewes shall conuert and repent, then God will destroy their enemies.

d That is, by Damascus, meaning that Hamah or Antiochia should be vnder the same rod and plague, e Hee cruelly sheweth the cause of their destruction, because they deceived all other by their craft and subtiltie, which they cloaked with this name of Wisdom.

1 That is, God hath now scene the great injuries and afflictions wherewith they have bene afflicted by their enemies.

m That is, hee hath righteously and saluation in himselfe for the vlt and commoditie of his Church.

n Which declarereth that they should not looke for such a king as should be glorious in the eyes of man, but should be poore, and yet in himselfe haue all power to deliuer his: and this is meant of a Christ, as Mat. 23. 5. o No power of man or creature shall be able to let this kingdom of Christ, and he shall peaceably gouerne them by his word,

p That is, from sheraia to the sea called Syria-cum, and by these places which the Iewes knew he meant an infinite space and compass of the whole world.

q That is from Euphrates. r Meaning, Ierusalem, or the Church which is figured by the blood of Christ, whereof the blood of the sacrifices was a figure, and is here called the covenant of the Church, because God made it with his Church, and left it with them for the loue that he bare vnto them. s God sheweth that he will deliuer his Church out of all dangers, seeme they neuer so great. t That is, into the holy land, where the citie and the Temple are, where God will defend you. u Meaning, the faithfull, which seemed to be in danger of their enemies eneuery side, and yet liued in hope that God would restore them to libertie. x That is, double benefices and prosperitie in respect of that, which your fathers enioyed from Dauid's time to the captiuitie. y I will make Iudah and Ephraim, that is, my whole Church, victorious against all enemies, which hee here meaneth by the Grecians. z Hee promisseth, that the Iewes shall destroy their enemies and haue abundance, and excheffe of all things, as there is abundance on the Altar when the sacrifice is offered: Which things are not to moue them to inemperance, but to sobriety, and a thankfull remembrance of Gods great liberality. a The faithfull shall be preferred, and reuerenced of all, that the very enemies shall be compelled to esteeme them: for Gods glory shall shine in them. as Iosephus declarereth of Alexander the great, when he met Iadi the high Priest.

and no oppressour shall come vpon them any more: for now haue I scene with mine eyes.

9 Reioyce greatly, O daughter Zion: shout for Ioy, O daughter Ierusalem: behold thy King cometh vnto thee: he is iust, and laued himselfe, poore, and riding vpon an asse, and vpon a colt the foale of an asse.

10 And I will cut off the charrets from Ephraim, and the horse from Ierusalem: the bowe of the battell shall bee broken, and hee shall speake peace vnto the heathen, and his dominion shall bee from sea vnto sea, and from the riuer to the end of the land.

11 Thou also shalt bee saved through the blood of thy Covenant, I haue loosed thy prisoners out of the pit wherein is no water.

12 Turne you to the strong holme, ye prisoners of hope: euen to day doe I declare, that I will rendre thee double vnto ther.

13 For Iudah haue I bent as a bow for me: Ephraims hand haue I filled, and I haue raised by thy sonnes, O Zion; against thy sonnes, O Grecia, and haue made thee as a giants wood.

14 And the Lord shall bee come out of them, and his arrow shall goe forth as the lightning: and the Lord God shall blow the trumpet, and shall come forth with the white-winds of the South.

15 The Lord of hostes shall defend them, and they shall deuoure them, and subdue them with sling stones, and they shall drink, and make a noyse as through wine, and they shall be filled like bowels, and as the hopes of the altar.

16 And the Lord their God shall deliuer them in that day as the flocke of his people: for they shall bee as the flocks of the crowne lifted vp vpon his land.

17 For how great is his goodnesse! and how great is his beautie! come shall make the young men cheerefull, and new wine the matres.

2 The vanitie of idolatry. 3 The Lord promisseth to visite and comfort the house of Israel.

Aske you of the Lord raine in the time of the latter raine: so shall the Lord make white clouds, and giue you showers of raine, and to eueny one graue in the field.

2 Surely the seales haue spoken vanitie, and the dreamers haue scene a lye, and the dreamers haue tolde a balme thing, they comfort in balme: therefore they went away as sheepe: they were troubled, because there was no shepheard.

3 My wrath was kindled against the shepherds, and I said vnto the goats: but the Lord of hostes will visite his flocke the house of Iudah, and will make them as his beautifull herte in the battell.

4 But of him shall the corner come forth: out of him the naile, out of him the bow of battell, and out of him euery appointer of tribute also.

5 And they shall bee as the mighty men, which tread downe their enemies in the mire of the shetretes in the battell, and they shall fight, because the Lord is with them, and the riders and hostes shall be confounded.

6 And I will strengthen the house of Iudah, and I will preferre the house of Ioseph, and I will bring them againe, for I pitey them, and they shall bee as though I had not cast them off: for I am the Lord their God, and will beare them.

7 And they of Ephraim shall bee as a giant, and their heart shall reioyce as through wine: yea, their children shall see it, and be glad: & their heart shall reioyce in the Lord.

8 I will blesse for them, and gather them: for I haue redeemed them: and they shall increase, as they haue increased.

9 And I will sowe them among the people, and they shall remember mee in farre countreies: and they shall lue with their children, and turne againe.

10 I will bring them againe also out of the land of Egypt, and gather them out of Asshur: and I will bring them into the land of Silead and Lebanon, and place shall nor be found for them.

11 And hee shall goe into the Sea with affliction, and shall smite the waves in the sea, shall the depths of the riuer shall dye vp: and the pride of Asshur shall be cast downe, and the scepter of Egypt shall depart away.

12 And I will strengthen them in the Lord, and they shall walke in his name, saith the Lord.

h That is, the ten tribes, which should be gathered vnder Christ to the rest of the Church. i Wherby he declarereth the power of God, who needeth no great preparation when he will deliuer his, for with a beck or hisse he can call them from all places suddenly. k Though they shall yet be scattered and seeme to bee lost, yet it shall be probable vnto them: for there they shall come to the knowledge of my Name which was accomplished vnder the Gospel, among whom it was first preached. l Not that they should returne into their countrey, but bee gathered and ioyned in one faith by the doctrine of the Gospel. m Hee alludeth to the deliuerance of the people out of Egypt, whereas the Angel smote the floods and riuers.

CHAP. XI.

1 The destruction of the Temple. 4 The care of the faithful in committed to Christ. 9 A grievous vision against Jerusalem and Iudah.

Open the doores, O Lebanon, and the fire shall devour thy cedars.

2 Houe¹ three trees: for the cedar is fallen, because all the mightie are destroyed: howe ye, O oaks of Bashan, for the defended forest is cut downe.

3 There is the voyce of the howling of the shepheards: for their glory is destroyed: the voyce of the roaring of lions whelpes: for the pride of Iorden is destroyed.

4 Thus saith the Lord my God, Feede the sheepe of the slaughter.

5 They that possesse them, slay them, and sinne not: and they that sell them, say, Blessed bee the Lord: for I am rich, and their owne shepheards spare them not.

6 Surely, I will no more spare those that dwell in the land, saith the Lord: but loe, I will deliuer the men cury one into his neighbours hand, and into the hand of his king: and they shall smite the land, and out of their hands I will not deliuer them.

7 For I fed the sheepe of slaughter, euen the poore of the flocke, and I tooke vnto mee two stauces: the one I called Beauty, and the other I called Bands, and I fed the sheepe.

8 Three shepheards also I cut off in one moneth, and my soule loathed them, and their soule abhorred me.

9 Then said I, I will not feede you: that die, let it die: and that that periseth, let it perish: and let the remnant eate, cury one the flesh of his neighbour.

10 And I tooke my staffe, euen Beauty, and brake it: that I mighte disannul my couenant, which I had made with all people.

11 And it was broken in that day: and so the poore of the sheepe that waited vpon me, knew that it was the word of the Lord.

12 And I said vnto them, If ye thinke it good, giue me my wages: and if no, leave off: so they weighed for my wages thirtie pecies of silver.

13 And the Lord said vnto mee, Cast it vnto the portter: a goodly price that I was valued at of them. And I tooke the thirtie pecies of silver, and cast them to the portter in the house of the Lord.

14 Then brake I mine other staffe, euen the Bands, that I mighte dissolve the brotherhood betwene Iudah and Israel.

15 And the Lord said vnto me, Take to thee yet the instruments of a foolish shepheard.

16 For loe, I will raise vp a shepheard in the land, which shall not looke for the thing that is lost, nor seeke the tender lambs, nor heale that that is hurt, nor feede that that standeth vp: but he shall care the flesh of the fat, and teare their clawes in peeces.

17 O idole shepheard that leaneeth the flocke: the sword shall bee vpon his arme, and vpon his right eye. His arme shall be cleane dived vp, and his right eye shall bee verily darkened.

And founde. By the arme he signifieth strength, as he doeth wisdom and iudgement by the eye: that is, the plague of God shall take away both thy strength and iudgement.

CHAP. XII.

Of the destruction and building againe of Ierusalem.

The burden of the word of the Lord vpon Israel, saith the Lord, which spreadeth the heauens, and laide the foundation of the earth, and founed the spirit of man within him.

2 Behold, I will make Ierusalem a cup of poyson vnto all the people round about: and also with Iudah will he be in the siege against Ierusalem.

3 And in that day will I make Ierusalem an haule stone for all people: all that lift it vp shall be toyme, though all the people of the earth be gathered together against it.

4 In that day sayeth the Lord, I will smite euery horse with astonishment, and his rider with madnesse, and I will open mine eyes vpon the house of Iudah, and will smite euery horse of the people with blindness.

5 And the Princes of Iudah shall say in their hearts, The inhabitants of Ierusalem shall be my strength in the Lord of hostes their God.

6 In that day will I make the princes of Iudah like colles of fire among the wood, and like a firebrand in the sheafe, and they shall, drunne all the people round about on the right hand and on the left: and Ierusalem shall bee inhabited againe in her owne place, euen in Ierusalem.

7 The Lord also shall preserve the tents of Iudah, as aforetime: therefore the glory of the house of Dauid shall not be lost, nor the glory of the inhabitants of Ierusalem against Iudah.

8 In that day shall the Lord defend the inhabitants of Ierusalem, and be that is feeble among them, in that day shall be as David, and the house of David shall be as Gods house, and as the Angel of the Lord before them.

9 And in that day will I seeke to destroy all the nations that come against Ierusalem.

10 And I will powre vpon the house of David,

Signifying, that they should haue a certaine kinde of regiment, and outward shew of government: but in effect it should be nothing: for they should be wolues and deuouring beasts in stead of shepheards.

And is in health as he doeth wisdom and iudgement by the eye: that is, the plague of God shall take away both thy strength and iudgement.

That is, the ten tribes which neglected Gods benefit in deliuering their brethren, & had rather remaine in captiuitie, then to returne home when God called them.

Ierusalem shall be defended against all her enemies, so that God defend all Iudah also, and shall destroy the enemies.

Euery captaine that had many vnder him afore, shall now thinke that the small power of Ierusalem shall be sufficient to defend them against all enemies, because the Lord is among them.

The people which are now as it were dispersed by the fields, and lie open to their enemies, shall be no lesse preferred by my power, than if they were vnder their Kings, (which is meant by the house of David) in their defended cities, e They shall have the feeling of my grace by faith, and know that I have compassion on them.

f That is, whom they have continually vexed with their obstinacy, & grieved my spirit, Ioh. 1. 9 37. where it is referred to the Spirit of God.

g They shall turne to God by true repentance, whom before they had so grievously offended by their ingratitude. h They shall lament and repent exceedingly for their offences against God. i Which was the name of a towne and place neere unto Megiddo, where Iosiah was slaine, 2 Chron. 35. 22. k That is, in all places where the Iewes shall remaine. l Signifying, that this mourning or repentance should not be a vaine ceremony: but every one touched with his owne griefe shall lament. m Vnder these certaine families he containeth all the tribes, & sheweth that both the Kings and the Priests had by their sinnes pierced Christ. n Called also Simeon. o To wit, which were elected by grace, and preferred from the common destruction.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Of the fountaine of grace. 2 Of the cleane rid-dances of idolatry. 3 The zeale of the godly against false prophets.

a He sheweth what shall be the fruit of their repentance, to wit, remission of sinnes by the blood of Christ, which shall be a continual running fountaine, and purge them from all uncleanness.

b He promisseth that God will also purge them from all superstition, and that their religion shall be pure. c Meaning, the false Prophets and teachers, who are the corrupters of all religion, whom the Prophet here calleth vncleane spirits.

d That is, when they shall prophesie, and make God, which is the author of trueth, a cloake therewith. e He sheweth what zeale the godly shall have vnder the kingdome of Christ. Deut. 13. 6, 9. f God shall make them ashamed of their errors & lies, and bring them to repentance, and they shall no more weare Prophets apparell, to make their doctrine seeme more holy. g They shall confesse their former ignorance, and be content to labour for their liuing.

David, and vpon the inhabitants of Jerusalem the Spirit of grace and of compassion, and they shall looke vpon me, whom they haue pierced, and they shall lament for him, as one mourneth for his onely sonne, and bee sorry for him as one is sorry for his first borne.

11 In that day shall there bee a great mourning in Jerusalem, as the mourning of Hadadrimmon in the valley of Berigadon.

12 And the land shall befall euery family apart, the family of the house of Dauid apart, and their wiues apart: the family of the house of Ierobam apart, and their wiues apart:

13 The family of the house of Ierem apart, and their wiues apart: the family of the house of Shebiam apart, and their wiues apart.

14 All the families that remaine, every family apart, and their wiues apart.

these wounds in thine handes? Then hee shall answer, Thus was I wounded in the house of my friends.

7 And I sword vpon my shepherds, and vpon the man that is my fellow, saith the Lord of hostes: I will smite the shepherds, and the flocke shall be scattered, and I will turne mine hand vpon the little ones.

8 And in all the land, saith the Lord, two parts therein shall bee cut off, and die: but the third shall be left therein.

2 And I will bring that third part thorow the fire, and will thinne them as the silver is thinned, and will try them as golde is tryed: they shall call on my Name, and I will heare them: I will say, It is my people, and they shall say, The Lord is my God.

fore this great comfort shall come vnder Christ, there should be an horrible dissolution among the people: for their gouernours and pastors should be destroyed, and the people should be as scattered sheepe: and the Euangelist applyeth this to Christ, because he was the head of all Pastors, Matt. 26. 31. k The greatest part shall haue no portion of these blessings, & yet they that shall enioy them, shall be tried with great afflictions, so that it shall be known that onely Gods power and his mercies doe preferre them.

CHAP. XIII.

8 Of the doctrine that shall proceed out of the Church, and of the restoration thereof.

9 Hold, the day of the Lord cometh, and by thy people shall bee divided in the mids of thee.

2 For I will gather all nations against Jerusalem to battell, and the citie shall be taken, and the houses spoiled, and the women defiled, and halfe of the citie shall goe into captivity, and the residue of the people shall not be cut off from the citie.

3 Then shall the Lord goe forth and fight against those nations, as when hee fought in the day of battell.

4 And his feete shall stand in that day vpon the mount of olmes, which is before Jerusalem on the East side, and the mount of olmes shall cleane in the mids thereof: toward the East and toward the West there shall bee a very great halcy, and halfe of the mountaine shall remoue toward the North, and halfe of the mountaine toward the South.

5 And yee shall flee vnto the valley of the mountaines: for the valley of the mountaines shall reach vnto Bzai: yea, yee shall flee like as yee fled from the earthquake in the dayes of Ozias King of Iudah: and the Lord my God shall come, and all the saints with thee.

6 And in that day shall there be no cleare light, but darke.

7 And there shall be a day (it is knowne to d So that out of all the parts of the world they shall see Jerusalem, which was before hid with this mountaine: and this he meaneth of the spiritual Jerusalem the Church. e He speaketh of the hypocrites, which could not abide Gods presence, but should flee into all places, where they might hide them among the mountaines. f Read Amos 1. 1. g Because they did not credit the Prophets words, he turneth to God, and comforteth himselfe in that that hee knoweth that these things should come, and faith, Thou, O God, with thine Angels wilt come to performe this great thing.

h Signifying, that there should be great troubles in the Church, and that the time hereof is in the Lords hands, yet at length (which is here meant by the evening) God would send comfort.

i That is, the spiritual graces of God, which should ever continue in that abundance.

k All idolatry & superstition shall be abolished, and there shall be one God, one faith, & one Religion.

l This new Religion shall be sense through all the world, and shall excell the first in excellency, wealth, and greenesse.

m God will not only raise up war without, but sedition at home to try them.

n To hurt and oppress him.

the Lord^h neither day nor night, but about the evening time it shall be light.

8 And in that day shall thereⁱ waters of life goe out from Jerusalem, halfe of them toward the East sea, and halfe of them toward the uttermost sea, and shall bee both in Summer and Winter.

9 And the Lord shall King over all the earth: in that day shall there bee one^j Lord, and his name shall be one.

10 All the land shall be turned^k as a plaine from Geba to Rimmon, toward the South of Jerusalem, and it shall be lifted up, and inhabited in her place: from Beniamins gate unto the place of the first gate, unto the corner gate, and from the tower of Hananel, unto the Kings winepresses.

11 And men shall dwell in it, and there shall be no more destruction, but Jerusalem shall be safely inhabited.

12 And this shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all people that have fought against Jerusalem: their flesh shall consume away, though they stand upon their feet, and their eyes shall consume in their holes, and their tongue shall consume in their mouth.

13 But in that day^m a great tumult of the Lord shall be among them, and every one shall take theⁿ band of his neighbour, and his hand shall rise up against the band of his neighbour.

14 And Judah shall fight also against Jerusalem, and the arme of all the heathen shall be gathered round about, with^o gold and silver, and great abundance of apparell.

15 Yet this shall be the plague of the house, of the mul, of the camel, and of the ass, and of the beastes that bee in their tents as this^p plague.

16 But it shall come to passe that every one that is left of all the Nations, which came against Jerusalem, shall goe up from yeere to yeere to worship the King the Lord of hosts, and to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

17 And who so will not come up of all the families of the earth unto Jerusalem to worship the King the Lord of hosts, even upon them shall come no raine.

18 And if the family of Egypt goe not up, and come not, it shall not raine upon them. This shall be the plague wherewith the Lord will smite all the heathen that come not up to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

19 This shall be the punishment of Egypt, and the punishment of all the Nations, that come not up to keepe the feast of Tabernacles.

20 In that day shall there bee written upon the^q brides of the horses, The holiness unto the Lord, and the^r pots in the Lords house shall be like the bowles before the Altar.

21 Yea, every pot in Jerusalem and Judah shall be holy unto the Lord of hosts, and all they that sacrifice, shall come and take of them, and seeke therein: and in that day there shall be no more the^s Canaanite in the House of the Lord of hosts.

o The enemies are rich, and therefore shall not come for a prey, but to destroy and shed blood.

p As the men should be destroyed, ver. 12.

q By the Egyptians which were great enemies to true Religion, he meaneth all the Gentiles.

r Signifying, that to what service they were put now (whether to labour, or to serve in war) they were now holy, because the Lord had sanctified them.

s As precious the one as the other, because they shall be sanctified.

t But all shall be pure and cleane, and there shall neither be hypocrite, nor any that shall corrupt the true service of God.

Malachi.

THE ARGUMENT.

THIS Prophet was one of the three which God raised up for the comfort of his Church after the captivitie, and after him there was no more untill Iohn Baptist was sent, which was either a token of Gods wrath, or an admonition that they should with more fervent desires looke for the coming of Messiah. He confirmeth the same doctrine that the former doe, but chiefly he reproveth the Priests for their countenance, and for that they served God after their owne fantasies, and not according to the prescript of his word. He also noteth certaine peculiar sinnes, which were then among them, as marrying idolatrous and many wives, murmuring against God, impaciency, and such like. Notwithstanding for the comfort of the godly, hee declareth that God would not forget his promise made unto their fathers, but would send CHRIST his messenger, in whom the Covenant should be accomplished, whose coming should begeth the wicked, and bring all consolation and joy unto the godly.

CHAP. I.

A complaint against Israel, and chiefly the Priests.

In the burden of the word of the Lord to Israel by the ministry of Malachi.

2 I have loved you, saith the Lord: yet ye say, Wherein hast thou loved us? Whereas not Esau Iacob his brother, saith the Lord: yet I loved Iacob.

3 And I hated Esau, and made his mountaines waste, and his heritage a wilderness for dragons.

4 Though Edom say, Wee are unpov-erished, but we will returne, and build the desolate places, yet saith the Lord of hosts, They shall build, but I will destroy it, and they shall call them, The border of wickedness, and the people with whom the Lord is angry for ever.

5 And your eyes shall see it, and ye shall say, The Lord will be magnified upon the border of Israel.

6 A some honoureth his father, and a servant his master: If then I be a father, where is mine honour? And if I be a master, where is my fear, saith the Lord of hosts unto you, Do Priests that despise my Name: and ye say, Wherein have we despised thy Name?

7 Hee noeth their grosse hypocrisie, which would not see their faults, but most impudently covered them, & so were blind guides.

d Besides the rest of the people, hee condemneth the Priests chiefly, because they should have reproveth others for their hypocrisie, and obstinacie against God, and not have hardened them by their example to greater evils.

a Reade Isa.

12.1. b Which declar-eth their great ingratitude, that did not acknowledge this love, which was so evident, in that he chose Abraham from out of all the world, and next chose Iacob the younger brother of whom they came, and left Esau the elder. c For besides that the signes of mine hatred appeared even when he was made servant unto his younger brother, being yet in his mothers belly, and also afterwards in that hee was put from his birthright, yet even now before your eyes the signes hereof are evident, in that that his country lieth waste and he shall never returne to inhabit it, whereas I yet people, whom the enemy hated more then them, are by my grace and love toward you delivered, Reade Rom. 9.13.

f Ye receive all manner offerings for your owne greedinesse, and doe not examine whether they be according to my Law or no.

g Not that they said thus, but by their doings they declared no lesse. h You make it no fault: where by he condemneth them that thinke it sufficient to serve God, partly as he hath commanded, and partly after mans fantasie, and so come not to that purenes of Religion which he requirith, and therefore in reproch he sheweth them that a mortall man would not be content to be so served.

i He derideth the Priests, who bare the people in hand, that they prayed for them, and sheweth that they were the occasion, that these evils came vpon the people.

k Will God consider your office and state seeing ye are so courteous and wicked? l Because the Levites who kept the doores, did not try whether the sacrifices that came in, were according to the Law, God with-standeth that they would rather shut the doores, then to receive such as were not perfect. m God sheweth that their ingratitude, and neglect of his true Service, shalbe the cause of the calling of the Gentiles, & here the Prophet that was vnder the Law, framed his words to the capacitee of the people, and by the Altar and sacrifice he meaneth the spirituall Service of God, which should be vnder the Gospel, when an ende should be made to all these Legall ceremonies by Christs onely sacrifice. n Both the Priests and the people were infected with this error, that they passed not what was offered: for they thought that God was as well content with the leane as with the fat: but in the meane season they shewed not that obedience to God which he required, and so committed both impie-ty, and also shewed their contempt of God, and courtoosnes. o The Priests and people were both weary with serving God, and passed not what manner of sacrifice and service they gave to God: for that which was least profitable, was thought good ynough for the Lord. p Thus is, hath ability to serve the Lord according to his word, and yet will serve him according to his courteous minde.

7 See offer: & incense bread vpon mine Altar, and you say, Altherin haue we polluted thee? In that ye say, The table of the Lord is not so to be regarded.

8 And if ye offer the blinde for sacrifice, it is not euill: and if ye offer the lame and sicke, it is not euill: offer it now vnto the Prince: will hee bee content with thee, or accept thy person, saith the Lord of hostes?

9 And now, I pray you, pray before God, that hee may haue mercie vpon vs: this hath bene by your meanes: will hee regard your persons, saith the Lord of hostes?

10 What is there euen among you, that would shut the doores, and kindle not fire on mine Altar in vaine? I haue no pleasure in you, saith the Lord of hostes, neither will I accept an offering at your hand.

11 For from the rising of the Sunne vnto the going downe of the same, my Name is great among the Gentiles, and in euery place incense shall be offered vnto my Name, and a pure offering: for my Name is great among the heathen, saith the Lord of hostes.

12 But ye haue polluted it, in that ye say, The table of the Lord is polluted, and the fruit thereof, euen his meate is not to be regarded.

13 See said also, Behold, it is a wearines, and ye haue sinned at it, saith the Lord of hostes, and ye offered that which was toorne, and the lame, and the sicke: thus ye offered an offering: should I accept this of your hand, saith the Lord?

14 But cursed be the deceiver, which hath in his flocke a male, and voweth, and sacrificeth vnto the Lord a corrupt thing: for I am a great King, saith the Lord of hostes, and my Name is terrible among the heathen.

And now, O ye Priests, this commandment is for you.

2 If ye will not heare it, nor consider it in your heart, to give glory vnto my Name, saith the Lord of hostes, I will euen send a curse vpon you, & will curse your blessings: yea, I haue cursed them already, because ye doe not consider it in your heart.

3 Behold, I will corrupt your seed, and cast dung vpon your faces, euen the dung of your seluine feakes, and you shall bee like vnto it.

4 And ye shall know, that I haue sent this commandment vnto you, that my Covenante which I made with Leui, might stand, saith the Lord of hostes.

5 My Covenante was with him of life and peace, and I gaue him feare, and hee feared mee, and was afraid before my Name.

6 The Law of Truth was in his mouth, and there was no iniquitie found in his stippes: hee walked with me in peace and equitie, and did turne many away from iniquitie.

7 For the Priests lips should preserve knowledge, and they should keepe the Law at his mouth: for he is the messenger of the Lord of hostes.

8 But ye are gone out of the way: ye haue caused many to fall by the Law: ye haue broken the Covenante of Leui, saith the Lord of hostes.

9 Therefore haue I made you also to be despised, and vile before all the people, because ye kept not my wayes, but haue bene partiall in the Law.

10 Vane we not all one? rather: hath not one God made vs? why doe wee transgresse euery one against his brother, and breake the Covenante of our fathers?

11 Iudah hath transgressed, and an abomination is committed in Israel and in Ierusalem: for Iudah hath defiled the holines of the Lord which hee loued, and hath married the daughter of a strange god.

12 The Lord will cut off the man that doeth this: both the master and the seruant out of the Tabernacle of Iacob, and him that offereth an offering vnto the Lord of hostes.

13 And this haue ye done againe, and covered the altar of the Lord with teares, with weeping, and with mourning: because him according to his word. h I preferred Leui a certaine Law to serve me. i He served mee and set forth my glory with all humilitie and submission. k Hee sheweth that the Priest ought to haue knowledge to instruct other in the word of the Lord. l He is as the treasure house of Gods word, and ought to giue to euery one according to their necessitie and not to releser it for himselfe. m Shewing, that whosoer doeth not declare Gods will, is not his messenger and Priest. n The Prophet accuseth the ingratitude of the Iewes toward God and man: for seeing they were all borne of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to be his holy people, they ought neither to offend God, nor their brethren. o Whereby they had bound themselves to God to be an holy people. p They haue ioyned themselves in marriage with them that are of another religion. q Thus, the Priests re-yeare the people to lament, because that God doeth not regard their sacrifices, so that they seeme to sacrifice in vaine.

a He speaketh vnto them chiefly, but vnder them he conteineth the people also.

b To serve me according to my word.

c That is, the abundance of Gods benefits.

d Your seed sown shall come to no profit.

e You boast of your holnes, sacrifices, and feasts, but they shall turne to your shame, and be as vile as dung.

f The Priests objected against the Prophet, that he could not reprove them, but he must speake against the Priests, and the office established of God by promise, but he sheweth that the office is nothing slandered, when these villaines and dung are called by their owne names.

g He sheweth what were the two conditions of the covenante made with the tribe of Leui: one Gods part, that he would giue them long life and felicity, on their part, that they should faithfully serve him.

h I preferred Leui a certaine Law to serve me. i He served mee and set forth my glory with all humilitie and submission.

k Hee sheweth that the Priest ought to haue knowledge to instruct other in the word of the Lord.

l He is as the treasure house of Gods word, and ought to giue to euery one according to their necessitie and not to releser it for himselfe.

m Shewing, that whosoer doeth not declare Gods will, is not his messenger and Priest.

n The Prophet accuseth the ingratitude of the Iewes toward God and man: for seeing they were all borne of one father Abraham, and God had elected them to be his holy people, they ought neither to offend God, nor their brethren.

o Whereby they had bound themselves to God to be an holy people.

p They haue ioyned themselves in marriage with them that are of another religion.

q Thus, the Priests re-yeare the people to lament, because that God doeth not regard their sacrifices, so that they seeme to sacrifice in vaine.

CHAP. II.

Threatnings against the Priests, being seducers of the people.

the

I This is another fault, whereof he accuserth them, that is that they brake the lawes of marriage.

1 As the one half of thy selfe,

2 She that was ioined to thee by a selemine covenant, and by the imocation of Gods Name,

3 Did not God makeman & woman as one flesh and not many?

4 By his power and vertue he could haue made many women for one man.

5 As should be borne in lawfull and moderate marriage wherein is no excess of lust, a Containe your selues within your bounds, and be sober in mind, and bridle your affections. 6 Northard doth allow diuorcement, but of the two faults hee sheweth which is the lesse. 7 He thinketh it sufficient to keepe his wife still, albeit hee take others, and so as it were couereth his fault. 8 Ye murmured against God, because hee heard not you asfoone as ye called. 9 In thinking that God fauoured the wicked, and hath no respect to them that serue him. 10 Thus they blasphemed God in condemning his power and iustice, because hee iudged not according to their fantasies.

CHAP. III.

1 This is meant of the messenger of the Lord John Baptist, and of Christ's office.

2 Behold, I will send my messenger, and hee shall prepare the way before mee: and the Lord whom ye seek, shall speedily come to his Temple: euen the messenger of the covenant whom ye desire: behold, hee shall come, saith the Lord of hostes.

3 But who may abide the day of his coming? and who shall endure, when hee appeareth: for he is like a purging fire, and like fullers sope,

4 And hee shall sit downe to trie and fine the siluer: hee shall enen fine the sonnes of Lewi, and purifie them as gold and siluer, that they may bring offerings vnto the Lord in righteousness.

5 Then shall hee the offerings of Iudah and Ierusalem be acceptable vnto the Lord, as in old time, and in the yeeres afore.

6 And I will come nere to you to iudgement, and I will be a swift witnesse against the foothlayers, and against the adulterers, and against false swearers, & against those that wrongfully keepe backe the hirtings wages, and vex the widowe and the fatherlesse, and oppresse the stranger, and feare not me, saith the Lord of hostes.

7 For I am the Lord: I change not, and ye sonnes of Iacob be not consumed.

8 Hee bringeth in the Priests, that they may bee lights and life vnto others. For they murmured against God, because they sawe not his helpe euer present to defend them: and therefore hee accuseth them of ingratitude, and sheweth that in that they are not daily consumed, it is a token that hee doth still defend them, & to his mercy to ward them neuer changeth, the offering is no more regarded, neither returned acceptably at your hands.

14 Yet ye say, We therein? Because the Lord hath bene witness betwene thee and the wife of thy youth, against whom thou hast transgressed, yet is she thy companion, and the wife of thy covenant.

15 And did not? hee make one? yet had he abundance of spirit: and wherefore one? because hee sought a godly seed: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and let none trespass against the wife of his youth.

16 If thou hatest her, put her away saith the Lord God of Israel, yet hee couereth the injury vnder his garment, saith the Lord of hostes: therefore keepe your selues in your spirit, and transgresse not.

17 Ye haue wearied the Lord with your words: yet ye say, We therein haue weariied him? When ye say, Every one that doth euill is good in the sight of the Lord, and hee delighteth in them. Where is the God of iudgement?

18 Your words haue bene stout against mee, saith the Lord: yet ye say, What haue we spoken against thee? 19 Pee haue said, It is in vaine to serue God: and what profit is it that we haue kept his Commandement, and that wee walked humbly before the Lord of hostes? 20 Therefore we count the proud blessed: euen they that worke wickednesse are set up, and they that reioyce in God, yea, they are delivered.

21 Then spake they that feared the Lord, every one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name.

22 And they shalbe to me, saith the Lord of hostes, in that day that I shall do this, for a flocke, and I will spare them as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him.

23 Then shall you returne, and discern betwene the righteous and the wicked: betwene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

24 Then shall you returne, and discern betwene the righteous and the wicked: betwene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

25 Then shall you returne, and discern betwene the righteous and the wicked: betwene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

26 Then shall you returne, and discern betwene the righteous and the wicked: betwene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

27 Then shall you returne, and discern betwene the righteous and the wicked: betwene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

28 Then shall you returne, and discern betwene the righteous and the wicked: betwene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

29 Then shall you returne, and discern betwene the righteous and the wicked: betwene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

30 Then shall you returne, and discern betwene the righteous and the wicked: betwene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

7 From the dayes of your fathers, ye are gone away from mine ordinances, and haue not kept them: I returne vnto mee, and I will returne vnto you, sayeth the Lord of hostes: but ye sayd, We therein shall we returne?

8 Will a man spoyle his gods? yet haue ye spoiled mee: but ye say, We therein haue we spoiled thee? In riches and offerings.

9 Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye haue spoiled mee, euen this whole nation.

10 Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and proue me now therewith, saith the Lord of hostes, if I will not open the windowes of heauen vnto you, and poure you out a blessing without measure.

11 And I will rebuke the deuorers for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruit of your ground, neither shall your vine bee barren in the field saith the Lord of hostes.

12 And all nations shall call you blessed: for ye shall be a pleasant land, saith the Lord of hostes.

13 Your words haue bene stout against mee, saith the Lord: yet ye say, What haue we spoken against thee?

14 Pee haue said, It is in vaine to serue God: and what profit is it that we haue kept his Commandement, and that wee walked humbly before the Lord of hostes?

15 Therefore we count the proud blessed: euen they that worke wickednesse are set up, and they that reioyce in God, yea, they are delivered.

16 Then spake they that feared the Lord, every one to his neighbour, and the Lord hearkened and heard it, and a booke of remembrance was written before him for them that feared the Lord, and that thought vpon his Name.

17 And they shalbe to me, saith the Lord of hostes, in that day that I shall do this, for a flocke, and I will spare them as a man spareth his owne sonne that serueth him.

18 Then shall you returne, and discern betwene the righteous and the wicked: betwene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

19 Then shall you returne, and discern betwene the righteous and the wicked: betwene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

20 Then shall you returne, and discern betwene the righteous and the wicked: betwene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

21 Then shall you returne, and discern betwene the righteous and the wicked: betwene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

22 Then shall you returne, and discern betwene the righteous and the wicked: betwene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

23 Then shall you returne, and discern betwene the righteous and the wicked: betwene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

24 Then shall you returne, and discern betwene the righteous and the wicked: betwene him that serueth God, and him that serueth him not.

APOCRYPHA.

THE ARGUMENT.

THESE bookes that follow in order after the Prophets vnto the new Testamen^t, are called APOCRYPHA, that is, bookes which were not received by a common consent to bee read and expounded publickly in the Church, neither yet serued to proue any point of Christian religion, as in as much as they had the consent of the other Scriptures called Canonically to confirme the same, or rather whereon they were grounded: but as bookes proceeding from godly men, were received to bee read for the advancement and furtherance of the knowledge of the historie, and for the instruction of godly manners: which bookes declare that at all times God had an especiall care of his Church, and left them not vnto vterly delitute of teachers, and meanes to confirme them in the hope of the promised Messiah, and also witnesseth that those calamities that God sent to his Church, were according to his providence, who had both so threatened by his Prophets, and so brought it to passe for the destruction of their enemies, and for the triall of his children.

1. King. 23. 31.
2. Chron. 35. 1.

As Iudas kept the Passouer to his Lord in Ierusalem, and offered the Passouer in the fourteenth day of the first moneth,

2 And appointed the Priests according to their dayes courses, being clothed with long garments in the Temple of the Lord.

3 And he spake to the Levites the holy ministers of Israel, that they should sanctifie themselves to the Lord, to set the holy Arke of the Lord in the house, which Salomon the sonne of king David had built.

4 And sayd, Ye shall no more beate the Arke upon your shoulders: now therefore serue the Lord your God, and take the charge of his people of Israel, and prepare according to your families and tribes.

5 After the writing of David king of Israel, and according to the maner of Salomon his sonne, and stand in the Temple (according to the order of the dignitie of your fathers the Levites) which were appointed before your brethren the children of Israel.

6 Offer in order the Passouer, & make ready the sacrifices for your brethren, and keepe the Passouer after the Lords commandement giuen to Moyses.

7 And Iudas gaue to the people that was present, threite thousand lambes and kids with thre thousand calues.

8 These were giuen of the kings possessions according to the promise, to the people, and to the Priests, and to the Levites. Then gaue Iudas and Zacharias, and 37 others the gouernours of the Temple, to the priests for the Passouer two thousand five hundred sheepe, and thre hundred calues.

9 Furthermore, Iechonias, & Samaias, and Patthanaiel his brethren, and 37 Sabias, and 37 Chielus, and 37 Joazim captaines gaue to the Levites for the Passouer five thousand sheepe, and seven hundred calues.

10 And when these things were done, the Priests & the Levites stood in order, hauing unleaued bread according to the tribes.

11 And after the order of the dignitie of their fathers, before the people to offer to the Lord, as it is written in the bookes of Moyses: and thus they did in the morning.

12 And they roasted the Passouer with fire as appointed, and they set their offerings with perfumes in caldrons and pots.

13 And set it before all them that were of the people, and afterward they prepared for themselves, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

14 For the Priests offered the fat vnto the evening, and the Levites did make ready for themselves, and for the Priests their brethren the sonnes of Aaron.

15 And the holy singers the sonnes of Asaph, were in their orders, according to the appointed ordinances of David, to wit, Asaph, and Azarias, and 37 Eddius, which was of the kings appointment.

16 And the porters were at every gate so that it was not lawfull that any should passe his ordinary watch: for their brethren the Levites made ready for them.

17 And in that day those things which appertained to the sacrifice of the Lord, were accomplished, that they might offer the Passouer.

18 And offer sacrifices vpon the altar of the Lord, according to the commandement of king Iudas.

19 So the children of Israel, which were present at that time, kept the Passouer, and the feast of unleaued bread seven dayes.

20 And there was not such a Passouer kept in Israel since the time of Samuel the Prophet.

21 And all the kings of Israel did not offer such a Passouer, as did Iudas, and the Priests, and the Levites, and the Jewes, and all Israel, which were found to remaine in Ierusalem.

22 In the eighteenth yeere of the reigne of Iudas was this Passouer kept.

23 The works of Iudas were by this before:

before his Lord with a heart full of godliness.

2 Chron. 33.20.

25 ¶ Now after all these acts of Iosias, it came to passe that when Pharaoh King of Egypt came to moue war at Carchamis vpon a Cuphates, Iosias went out against him.

26 But the King of Egypt sent to him, saying, Lett that haue I to doe with thee, O King of Iudea?

27 I am not sent of the Lord God against thee: but my warre is vpon Cuphates, and now the Lord is with me, and the Lord hath sent me forward to depart from me, and hee not against the Lord.

28 But Iosias would not turne back his chariot from him, but prepared himselfe to fight with him, not regarding the wordes of Ieremias the Prophet, by the mouth of the Lord.

29 But hee set himselfe in battell array against him in the field of Megiddo, and the Phinces came downe to king Iosias.

30 And the King saide to his seruants, Conuie me out of the battell, for I am very weak. And by and by his seruants brought him out of the battell.

31 So hee gat vpon his second chariot, & being come againe to Ierusalem hee changed his life, and was buried in his fathers graue.

32 And in that Iudea was Iosias bewailed, yea, Ieremias the Prophet did lament for Iosias, and the gouernours, and their wiues did lament him vnto this day: and this was ordeined in all the kinred of Israel, to be done continually.

33 But these things are written in the booke of the storyes of the kings of Iudea, & euery one of the acts that Iosias did, and his glory, and his knowledge in the Law of the Lord, and the things which hee did before, and the things now rehearsed are registered in the booke of the kings of Israel & Iudea.

2 Kings 23.30. 3
2 Chron. 36.1.

34 Then they of the nation tooke * Joachaz the sonne of Iosias, and made him king in stead of his father Iosias, when hee was three and twentie yeere old.

35 And hee reigned in Iudea and in Ierusalem three monethes for the king of Egypt deposed him from reigning in Ierusalem.

36 Hee reared also the people of an hundred talents of silver, and one talent of gold.

37 And the king of Egypt made Joachim his brother King of Iudea and Ierusalem.

38 And hee bound Iechaz and his gouernours: but when hee had taken Iechaz his brother, he led him away into Egypt.

39 Twenty and five yeere olde was Joachin, when hee reigned in Iudea and Ierusalem, and hee did euill in the sight of the Lord.

40 Wherefore against him came vp Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, who when he had bound him with a chain of brasse, led him away into Babylon.

41 Then Nabuchodonosor tooke of the holy vessels of the Lord, and caried them away, & set them in his Temple at Babylon.

42 But all his acts, and his prophanation, and his reproach, are written in the booke of the Chronicles of the Kings.

43 And Joachim his sonne reigned for him: and when hee was made king, hee was eigheteene yeere old.

44 And hee reigned three monethes and ten dayes in Ierusalem, and hee did euill in the sight of the Lord.

45 ¶ So a yeere after Nabuchodonosor sent and brought him to Babylon with the holy vessels of the Lord.

46 And hee made Serdecias king of Iudea and Ierusalem, when hee was one and twentie yeere old, and hee reigned euen yeeres.

47 And hee did euill in the sight of the Lord, neither did hee feare the wordes spoken * by Ieremias the Prophet from the mouth of the Lord.

Lev. 23.11.

48 For after that hee was twome to king Nabuchodonosor, hee swore himselfe by the name of the Lord, and fell away, and hardened his neck and his heart, and transgressed the Lawes of the Lord God of Israel.

49 Also the gouernours of the people, and the Priests committed many things against the Lawes, and passed all the pollutions of all nations, and polluted the Temple of the Lord, which was sanctified in Ierusalem.

50 Nevertheless the God of their fathers sent his messenger to call them back, because hee spared them, and his owne Tabernacle.

51 But they derided his messengers, and in the daye that the Lord spake vnto them, they mocked his Prophets.

52 So that hee being moued to anger against his people for their great wickednes, commanded the kings of the Caldeans to invade them.

53 These killed their yong men with the sword round about their holy Temple, neither did they spare yong man, nor mayden, neither old man nor childe among them.

54 But hee deliuered them all into their hands, and all the holy vessels of the Lord, both great and small, with the vessels of the Arke of God, and they tooke and caried away the kings treasures into Babylon.

55 And they set fire in the house of the Lord, and brake downe the wailes of Ierusalem, and burnt their towers with fire.

56 They consumed also all the precious things thereof, and brought them to nought, and those that were left by the sword, hee caried away into Babylon.

57 And they were seruants to him, and to his children till the Persians reigned, to fulfill the word of the Lord by the mouth of * Ieremias.

1 Cyrus came leaues to the Jewes to returne. 10 He sent the holy vessels. 13 The names of them that returned. 16 Their adversaries did let their building, and the Kings letters for the same.

¶ The first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus 2 Chron. 36.23.
the Lord by the mouth of Ieremias, 2 Chron. 36.23.

2 The Lord raised by the spirit of Cyrus King of the Persians, and he made proclamation throughout all his kingdom, even by reppelle letters,

3 Saying, Thus saith Cyrus King of the Persians, The Lord of Israel, even the most his Lord, hath made me King over the whole world.

4 And he hath commanded me to build him an house in Jerusalem which is in Iudaea.

5 If there bee any therefore of you of his people, let the Lord, even his Lord be with him, and let him goe up to Jerusalem, which is in Iudaea, and build the house of the Lord of Israel: he is the Lord which dwelleth in Jerusalem.

6 All they then that dwell in the places round about, shoul, I say, that are in his place, let them helpe him with gold and silver,

7 With giftes, with holles and cattell, and other things, which shall be brought, according to the vowes, into the Temple of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem.

8 ¶ Then arose the chiefe of the families of Iudaea, and of the tribe of Benjamin, and the Priests and Levites, and all whose mind the Lord hath moued to go by, and build an house to the Lord in Jerusalem.

9 And those that were about them, helped them in all things with silver and gold, holles and cattell, and with diuers vowes of many whole minds were stirred by.

10 Also king Cyrus brought out the holy vessels of the Lord, which Nabuchodonosor had caried out of Jerusalem, and had consecrated them in the Temple of his dooles.

11 Now when Cyrus king of the Persians had brought them out, he delivered them to Shethiabares his treasurer.

12 By whom they were given to ¶ Abasar the gouernour of Iudaea.

13 Whereof this was the number: a thousand golden cups, and a thousand silver cups, basins of silver for the sacrifices, nine and twentie, vials of gold thierie, and of silver two thousand foure hundredth and ten, and a thousand other vessels.

14 So all the vessels of golde and silver, which they caried away, were foure thousand foure hundredth, therscore and nine.

15 They were brought by Sanabassar with them of the captiuitie of Babylon to Jerusalem.

16 ¶ But in the time of Artaxerxes king of the Persians, ¶ Belshazzar, ¶ Belshazzar, and Cabellus, and Rathumus, and Berethimus, and ¶ Semellius the secretarie, and others which were ioynd to these, dwelling in Samaria and in other places, wrote vnto him this Epistle here following against them that dwell in Iudaea and Jerusalem, TO THE KING ARTAXERXES OVR LORD.

17 Thy seruantes, Rathumus the writer of things that come to passe, and Semellius the secretarie, and the rest of this council, and the Iudges which are in Coelospia and Phenice.

18 See it now therefore knownen to our lord the King, that the Iewes which came by from you, are come to vs into Jerusalem, that rebellious and wicked cite, and build the marker places, and make up the walls thereof, and lay the foundations of the Temple.

19 Therefore if this cite bee built, and the walles bee finished, they will not onely not endure to pay tribute, but will also resist Kings.

20 And because the things pertaining to the Temple goe forward, we thought it not meete to passe ouer such a thing.

21 But to declare it to our lord the king, that if it be thy pleasure, it may bee sought out in the bookes of thy fathers,

22 And thou shalt finde in the Chronicles the writings concerning these things, and shalt know that this cite did alwayes rebel, and did trouble both kings and cities,

23 And that the Iewes are rebellious, raising alwayes warres therein: for the which cause also this cite was made desolate.

24 Now therefore, O lord the King, wee declare it, that if this cite bee built, and the walles thereof repaired, you shall haue no more passage into Coelospia, nor Phenice.

25 ¶ Then the king wrote againe to Rathumus, that wrote the things that came to passe, and to Berethimus, and to Semellius the secretarie, and to the rest of those that were ioynd with them, and to the dwellers of Samaria, Syria & Phenice, these things that follow.

26 I haue read the Epistle, which ye sent to me: therefore I commanded, that it shoulde be sought out, and it was found, that this cite hath alwayes practised against kings,

27 And that the men thereof were giuen to rebellion and wars, and how that mightie kings and fierce haue reigned in Jerusalem, which took tribute of Coelospia and Phenice.

28 Now therefore I haue commanded to forbid these men to build by the cite, & that it be taken heed, that no more be done,

29 And that those wicked things which should molest the king, goe not forwards.

30 ¶ Then when Rathumus, and Semellius the secretarie, and the rest, which were ioynd with them, had read the things, which King Artaxerxes had written, they moued their tents with speede to Jerusalem with holles and men in aray, 31 And began to let them which built, so that the building of the Temple in Jerusalem ceased vnto the second yere of the reigne of Darius king of the Persians.

CHAP. III.

¶ The fall of Darius: 16 The three wise menes.
Now when Darius reigned, he made a great feast to all his subiects, and to all those of his owne house, and to all the Princes of Media and Persia,

2 And to all the gouernours and captaines, and lieutenants that were with him, from India vnto Ethiopia of an hundred and seuen and twentie prouinces.

3 And when they had eaten and drunke, and were satisfied, they departed, and King Darius went into his chamber, and slepte till he wakened againe.

4 ¶ In the meane time three yong men of the the guard, keepers of the kings body, sayd one to another,

5 Let every one of vs speake a sentence, and hee that shall overcome, and whose sentence shall appeare wisser then the others, Darius the king shall giue him great gifts, and great things in token of victory,

6 As to waite purple, and to drinke in golde, and to sleepe in golde, and a chariot with bridles of gold, an head cire of fine linen, and a chaine about his necke.

7 And he shall sit next to Darius for his wisdom, and shall be called Darius counsil.

8 Then every man wrote his sentence, and sealed it, and put it vnder the pillow of king Darius,

9 And saie, when the king rose, they would giue him the writing, and whose sentence the king and the three princes of Persia should iudge to be wisest, to him should the victory be giuen, as it was appointed.

10 One wrote, The wine is strongest.

11 The other wrote, The king is strongest.

12 The other wrote, Women are strongest, but Enery overcometh all things.

13 ¶ And when the king rose, they tooke the writings and gaue them to him, and hee read them,

14 And sent and called all the noble men of Persia and of Media, and the gouernours and the captaines, and licutenants, and the Consule,

15 And late him downe in the Councell, and the writing was read before them.

16 Then he said, Call the pong men, that they may declare their owne sentences. So they called them, and they came in.

17 Then he said vnto them, Declare vnto vs the writings. So the first began, which had spoken of the strength of wine, 18 And said in this manner, O yee men, how strong is wine! It deceiueh all men that drinke it.

19 It maketh the minde of the king and of the fatherlesse both one, of the bond man and of the free man, of the poore man and of the rich man.

20 It turneth also enery thought into ioy and gladnesse, so that one remembereth no manner of sorow nor debt.

21 It maketh enery heart rich, so that one remembereth neither king nor gouernor, and canst to speake all things by salents.

22 When men haue drunke, they haue no minde to loue either friends or brethren, and a litle after they haue out s word.

23 But when they are from the wine, they doe not remember what they haue done.

24 O yee men, is not wine strongest, which compelleth to doe such things? and hee held his peace when he had thus spoken.

CHAP. II.

Of the strength of a king. 13 Of the strength of women. 34 Of the strength of truth, which sentence is approued. 47 and his perison granted.

¶ When the second which had spoken of the strength of the king, began to say,

2 O yee men, are not men strongest, which beare rule by land and by sea, and ouer all things which are in them?

3 But the king is yet greater: for he ruleth all things, and is Lord of them, so that they doe all things which he commandeth them.

4 If hee bid them make war one against another, they doe it: if hee send them out against the enemies, they go and breake downe mountaines, and walles, and towres.

5 They kill and are killed, and doe not passe the commandement of the king: if they overcome, they bring all to the king, at will the spoiles as all other things,

6 And those also which goe not to warre and battell, but till the earth: for when they haue sowne it againe, they reape it, and bring it to the king, and compel one another to pay tribute to the king.

7 Yet he is but one man: if he bid, Kill, they kill: if he say, Spare, they spare.

8 If he bid, Smite, they smite: if hee bid them, Make desolate, they make desolate: if he bid, Build, they build.

9 If he bid, Cut off, they cut off: if he bid, Plant, they plant.

10 So all his people, and all his armies obey one man: in the meane while he sitteth downe, he eateth, and drinketh, and sleepeh.

11 For these keepe him round about: neither can any one goe and doe his owne business, neither are they disobedient vnto him.

12 O yee men, how should not the king be strongest, seeing he is thus obeyed? So hee held his tongue.

13 ¶ Then the third which had spoken of women and of the truth (this was Sorobabel) began to speake, 14 O yee men, neither the mighty king, nor many men, nor wine is strongest: who then ruleth them? hath dominion ouer them? are they not women?

15 Women haue borne the king, & all the people which beare rule by sea and by land.

16 Euen of them were they borne, and they nourished them which planteth y vines of which the wine is made.

17 They also make mens garments and make men honourable, neither can men bee without women.

18 And if they haue gathered together gold and silver, or any goodly thing, do they not loue a faire and beautifull woman?

19 Do they not leaue all those things and giue themselves wholly vnto her, and gaze and gaze vpon her, & all men desire her more then gold or silver, or any precious thing?

20 A man leaueh his owne father which hath nourished him, and his owne country, and is ioyned with his wife.

21 And for the woman he leopordeth his life, and neither remembereth father nor mother nor country.

22 Therefore by this yee may know that the women beare rule ouer you: doe yee not labour and trauell, and giue and bring all to the women?

23 Yea, a man takerh his sword and goeth forth to kill and to slea, and to saile vpon the sea, and vpon riuers, 24 And hee seeketh a lion and goeth in darkness, and when he hath stollin, rauished and spoiled, hee bringeth it to his loue.

25 Wherefore a man leaueh his owne wife more then father or mother.

26 Per many have run mad for women, and have bin servants for them.

27 Many also have perished, and have erred and sinned for women.

28 How therefore doe you not beleue me? Is not the King great in his power? doe not all regions feare to touch him?

29 Yet I saw him and Agame, the kings concubine, the daughter of the famous Bactarus, sitting on the right hand of the king.

30 And he took the crowne off the Kings head, and put it upon her owne. and strooke the King with her left hand.

31 Per in the same season the King gaped and gazed on her: and if she laughed at him, he laughed: and if she were angry with him, hee did flatter her, that he might be reconciled with her.

32 How then, O ye men, are not women more strong, seeing they doe thus?

33 Then the King and the princes looked one upon another, and began to speake of the truth.

34 O ye men, are not women stronger? great is the earth, and the heauen is high, & the sunne is swift in his course: for hee turneth round about heauen in one day, and runneth againe into his owne place.

35 Is not hee great that maketh these things? therefore the truth is greater and stronger then all.

36 All the earth calleth for truth, and the heauen blesseth it: and all things are shaken and tremble, neither is there any uniuersall thing with it.

37 The wine is wicked, the King is wicked, women are wicked, and all the children of men are wicked, and all their wicked works are such, and there is no trueth in them, and they perish in their iniquitie.

38 But truth doth abide, and is strong for ever, and liueth and reigneth for ever and euer.

39 Altho there is no certifying of persons nor difference: but shee noeth the things which are iust, and abstaineth from uniuersall and wicked things, and all men fauour her works.

40 Neither is there any uniuersall thing in her iudgement, and she is the strength and the kingdom, and the power, and maiestie of all ages. Blessed be the God of truth.

41 So he ceased to speake, and then all the people cried and said, Truth is great and strongest.

42 Then the king said unto him, Alas what thou wilt, besides that which is appointed, and we will giue it thee, because thou art found the wisest, and thou shalt haue libertie to sit by mee, and shalt be called my counsell.

43 Then he said to the King, Remember the vow that thou hast vowed to build Ierusalem, in the day that thou tookest the kingdom.

44 And to send againe all the vessels that were taken out of Ierusalem, which Cyrus set apart when he made a vow to cut off Babylon, and vowed to send them thither.

45 Thou also hast vowed to build the Temple, which the Iudians burnt when Iudaea was destroyed by the Caldeans.

46 And now, O lord the king, this is that which I desire and require of thee, and this is the magnificence, which I require of thee: I re- quire therefore that thou wouldest accomplish the vow which thou hast vowed with thine own mouth to doe to the King of heauen.

47 Then king Darius rising up, killed him, and wrote him letters to all the lieutenants, and capitaines, and garrisons, that they should bring on the way back him, and all that were with him, which went vp to build Ierusalem.

48 And he wrote letters to all the lieutenants in Coelospia, and Phenice, and to them that were in Libanus, that they should bring Cedar wood from Libanus to Ierusalem, and build the citie with him.

49 And he wrote for all the Iewes, which went vp out of his kingdom into Iudaea, concerning their libertie, that no Prince nor Lieutenant, nor gouernour nor forward should enter into their doores.

50 And that all the region which they kept, should pay no tribute, and that the Iudaeans should let goe the villages of the Iewes which they held.

51 And that every yeere there should be giuen for the building of the Temple, twenty talents, untill it were built.

52 And to maintaine the burnt offerings upon the altar every day (as they had a commandment to offer twentene) other ten talents euery yeere:

53 And that all they which went from Babylon to build the citie, should haue libertie, as well they as their posteritie, and all the Iudaeas that went away.

54 He wrote also touching the charges, and the Iudaeas garment, wherein they should minister.

55 And hee wrote that they should giue the Levites their charges, untill the house were finished, and Ierusalem built.

56 Also hee wrote that they should giue pensions and wages to them that kept the citie.

57 And he sent away all the vessels which Cyrus had let apart out of Babylon, and wharfeuer Cyrus had commanded to doe, hee also commanded to doe it, and to send to Ierusalem.

58 And when the young man was gone forth, hee lift up his face to heauen towards Ierusalem, and gaue thanks to the King of heauen.

59 Saying, O thou art the victorie, and of thee is wisdom, and of thee is glory, and I am thy servant.

60 Blessed be thou which hast giuen the wisdom: for unto thee I acknowledge it, O Lord of our fathers.

61 So he tooke the letters, and went out, and came to Babylon, and told all his herbert.

62 And they blessed the God of their fathers, because he had giuen them freedom and libertie.

63 So hee got vp and to build Ierusalem, and the Temple, where his name is remembred, and they rejoyced with instruments of musike and for seven dayes.

63 ¶ Also some of the || Priests and Leuites, and chiefe men, as were the Ancients which had seene the former house,

65 So that the people could not heare the trumpets, because of the weeping of the people: yet there was a great multitude that blew trumpets, so that they were heard farre off.

66 ¶ Wherefore when the enemies of the tribes of Iudah and Benjamin heard it, they came to know what noise of trumpets it was.

67 And they knew that they of the captiuitie built the Temple to the Lord God of Israel.

CHAP. VI.

1 Of Aggeus and Zacharias. 9 The building of the Temple. 3 Sissines would let them. 7 His Epistle to Darius. 23 The Kings answer to the contrary.

Ezra. 5. 1. 2.
Esdras. 1. 1.

BUt^a in the second yeere of the reigne of Darius, Aggeus and Zacharias the sonne of Addo the Prophets prophesied to the Jewes, even unto them that were in Judea and Jerusalem, in the Name of the Lord God of Israel, which they called upon.

2 Then Zorababel sonne of Salathiel, and Jesus the sonne of Josdec stood up and beganne to build the house of the Lord, which is in Jerusalem, the Prophets of the Lord being with them, and helping them.

3 In that time Sissines the gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathabouzanus with his companions came vnto them,

4 And said vnto them, By whose commaundment build you this house and this building, and enterpryse all these other things? and who are the builders that enterpryse such things?

5 But the ancients of the Jewes had grace of the Lord, after that hee had visited the captiuitie,

6 That they were not letted to build, but in was signified vnto Darius of these matters, and an answer was receiued.

7 The copie of the Epistle, which he did write and send to Darius: S I S S I N E S gouernour of Syria and of Phenice, and Sathabouzanus and their companions, presidents in Syria and Phenice, salute King Darius.

8 It may please the King our matter plainly to understand that when wee came to the countrey of Judea, and entred into the citie of Jerusalem, we found in the citie of Jerusalem the ancients of the Jewes that were of the captiuitie,

9 Building an house to the Lord great and new, of beuen ioues, and of great pile, and the timber already laid vpon the walles.

10 And these workes are done with great speede, yea, and the worke hath good successe in their hands, so that it will bee finished with all glory and diligence.

11 Then we asked these ancients, saying, By whose commaundment build you this house, and lay the foundation of these workes?

12 Wee asked them these things to the intent to notifie them to thee, and to write to thee the men that gouerned it: therfore we demanded the names of the gouernours in writing.

13 But they answered, saying, Wee are the seruantes of the Lord, which hath created the heauen and the earth.

1. King 6. 2. 14 And^a this house was built by many yeeres agoe, by a King of Israel great and strong, and was finished.

15 But when our fathers, prouoking God, to wrath, sinned against the Lord of Israel, which is in heauen, hee deliuered them into the hands of Nabuchodonosor King of Babylon of the Caldeans, 16 Who brake downe the house, and burnt it and caried the people captiue to Babylon.

17 But in the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus ouer the countrey of Babylon, King Cyrus wrote that this house should be built up.

18 And the holy vessels of golde and of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had carryed out of the house of Jerusalem, and had dedicated them in his owne Temple, Cyrus the king tooke out of the Temple at Babylon, and they were giuen to Zorababel, and to Sathabassar ruler.

19 And a commaundment was giuen vnto him, that he should cary away those vessels, and put them in the Temple at Jerusalem, and that this Temple of the Lord should be built in this place.

20 Then the same Sathabassar, being come hither, layde the foundations of the house of the Lord at Jerusalem, and since that time till now, it is in building, and is not finished.

21 Now therefore if it please the King, let it be sought vpon in the Kings Libraries concerning Cyrus,

22 And if it be found that the building of the house of the Lord at Jerusalem hath bene done by the consent of King Cyrus, and if it seeme good to the Lord our King, let him make vs answer concerning these things.

23 Then King Darius commaunded to search in the Kings Libraries that were in Babylon, and there was found in Ecobatan, which is a tower in the region of Media, a place where such things were layde vp for memorie.

24 In the first yeere of the reigne of Cyrus, King Cyrus commaunded the house of the Lord at Jerusalem to be builded, where they did sacrifice with the continuall fire.

25 Of the which the height should be of threescore cubites, the breadth of threescore cubites, with three rowes of beuen stones, and one row of new wood of that countrey, and that the costes should bee payed out of the house of King Cyrus,

26 And that the holy vessels of the house of the Lord, as well those of gold as of siluer, which Nabuchodonosor had carryed out of the house in Jerusalem, and broughte into Babylon, should bee restored to the house which is in Jerusalem, and let in the place where they were afore.

27 Also he commaunded that Sissines gouernour of Syria and Phenice, and Sathabouzanus, and their companions, and those which were constitute captaines in Syria & Phenice, should take heede to rekeaine from that place, and to suffer Zorababel the seruant of the Lord, and gouernour of Judea, and the Elders of the Jewes to build that house of the Lord in that place.

28 And I also haue commaunded to Enlil it cleane vp againe, and that they be diligent to helpe them of the captiuitie of the Jewes, till the house of the Lord be finished,

29 And that some part of the tribute of Coelospia

Isaiah and Jeremiah should be diligent to give to these men for sacrifice unto the Lord, and to Zebadai the governor, for bullocks, rammes, and lambs:

30 Also come and take, and wine, and oyle continually every yeere without fail, as the Priests which are in Jerusalem shall tell thee to be spent every day.

31 And the offerings may be made to the Lord God for the king and his children, and that they may pray for their lives.

32 Furthermore he commanded that whosoever should transgress any thing aforesaid spoken or written, or derogate any thing thereof, that a tree should be taken out of his possession, and he be hanged thereon, and that his goods should be the kings.

33 And therefore for the Lord whose name is there called upon, destroy every king and nation, which stretcheth out his hand to hinder or do evil to that house of the Lord which is in Jerusalem.

34 Darius the king hath ordained that it should be diligentely executed according to these things.

CHAP. VII.

1 Sisymanes and his companions follow the Kings commandment, and helpe the Levites to build the Temple.
5 This time that it was built. 10 They keep the Passover.

10 Then Sisymanes the governor of Coelosyria and Phenice, and Sathabouryanes, and their companions obeying King Darius commandments,

2 Allocated diligentely the holy works, working with the ancients and governors of the Sanctuary.

3 And the holy works prospered by Aggeus and Zacharias the Prophets which prophesied.

4 So they finished all things by the commandment of the Lord God of Israel, and with the consent of Cyrus and Darius, and Artaxerxes, king of the Persians.

5 Thus the holy house was finished in the thier and twentieth day of the moneth Adar in the first yeere of Darius king of the Persians.

6 And the children of Israel, and the Priests, and the Levites, and the rest, which were of the captivity, and had any charge, did according to the things written in the booke of Moyses.

7 And they offered for the dedication of the Temple of the Lord, an hundred bulles, two hundred rammes, four hundred lambs.

8 And twelve goats for the sinne of all Israel, according to the number of the tribes of the tribes of Israel.

9 And the Priests and the Levites stood according to their kindreds clothed with long robes in the works of the Lord God of Israel, according to the booke of Moyses, and also the porters in every gate.

10 And the children of Israel offered the Passequer together with them of the captivity, in the fourteenth day of the first moneth, after that the Priests and Levites were sanctified.

11 But all the children of the captivity were not sanctified together, but all the Levites were sanctified together.

12 And they offered the Passequer for all the children of the captivity, and for their brethren the Priests, and for the Levites.

13 Then all the children of Israel which were of the captivity did eat, even all they that had separated themselves from the abominations of the people of the land, and sought the Lord.

14 And they kept the feast of unleavened bread seven dayes, respecting before the Lord.

15 Because he had turned the counsell of the King of the Assyrians towards them to strengthen their hands in the works of the Lord God of Israel.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Esdras cometh from Babylon to Jerusalem. 16 The copie of the communion given by Artaxerxes. 29 Esdras giveth thanks to the Lord. 32 The number of the heads of the people that came with him. 76 His prayer and confession.

AND after these things, when Artaxerxes King of the Persians reigned, Esdras the sonne of || Saryas, the sonne of || Serias, the sonne of || Jechias, the sonne of Salum,

2 The sonne of Sadoth, the sonne of Achob, the sonne of Amarias, the sonne of || Serias, the sonne of || Serimoth, the sonne of || Seraias, the sonne of || Sullas, the sonne of Boccas, the sonne of Abisum, the sonne of Bimires, the sonne of Eleazar, the sonne of Aaron was the high Priest.

3 This Esdras went out of Babylon, and was a scribe well taught in the Law of Moyses, given by the Lord God of Israel.

4 Also the King gave him great honour, and hee found grace in his sight in all his requests.

5 With him also three departed some of the children of Israel, and of the Priests and Levites, and of the holy singers, and of the porters, and of the ministers of the Temple unto Jerusalem.

6 In the seventh yeere of the reigne of Artaxerxes, and in the first moneth: this was the seventh yeere of the King (for they went out of Babylon in the first day of the first moneth,

7 And came to Jerusalem according as the Lord gave them speed in their journey.)

8 For Esdras had gotten great knowledge, so that he would let nothing passe that was in the Law of the Lord, and in the commandments, and he taught all Israel all the ordinances and judgements.

9 So the Commission written by King Artaxerxes was given Esdras the Priest, and reader of the Law of the Lord: the copie thereof followeth.

10 King Artaxerxes to Esdras the Priest, and reader of the Law of the Lord, Salutation.

11 So much as I consider things with pity, I have commanded that they that will and desire of the nation of the Jewes, and of the Priests and Levites which are in our kingdom, should goe with thee unto Israel.

12 Therefore as many as he willing, let them depart together, as it hath seemed good to mee, and my seven friends, the counsellors.

13 That they may desire the things that are in Judea and Jerusalem diligently, as it is contained in the Law of the Lord.

14 And carried the gifts to the Lord of Israel in Jerusalem, which I and my friends have bowed: also all the gold and silver, which shall be found in the country of Babylon appertaining to the Lord in Jerusalem.

15 Which that which is given of the people to the Temple of the Lord their God, that it might be brought to Jerusalem, as well silver as gold, for bulles and rammes, and lambs, and things thereunto pertaining.

16 That they may offer sacrifices to the Lord upon the altar of the Lord their God which is in Jerusalem.

17 And whatsoever thou and thy brethren will doe with the gold or silver, accomplish it according to the will of thy God.

18 And the holy vessels of the Lord which are given thee for the use of the Temple of thy God, which is in Jerusalem, thou shalt let before thy God in Jerusalem.

19 And what other things soever thou shalt remember for the use of the Temple of thy God, thou shalt give it out of the kings treasure.

20 And I also king Artaxerxes have commanded the treasurers of Syria and Phenice, that whatsoever Elzias the Priest and reader of the Lawe of the highest God, shall send for, they should give it him with all speed, even to the summe of an hundred talents of silver.

21 And likewise unto an hundred copes of corne, and an hundred pieces of wine, and other things in abundance.

22 Let all things be done to the highest God according to the Lawe of God with diligence, that wrath come not upon the kingdome of the king and of his sonnes.

23 Also to you it is commanded, that of none of the Priests or Levites, or holy singers, or porters, or ministers of the Temple, or of the workmen of this Temple, no tribute nor tax be taken, nor that any have power to take them in any thing.

24 Thou also, Elzias, according to the wisdom of God, ordaine Judges and governours, that they may iudge in all Syria and Phenice all those which are well instructed in the Lawe of thy God, and teach those, which are not instructed.

25 And let all those which shall transgresse the Lawe of God and the King, bee diligently punished, either with death, or other punishment, either with penaltie of money, or banishment.

26 ¶ Then Elzias the Scribe said, Blessed be the only Lord God of my fathers, which hath put this in the heart of the king to glorifie his house which is in Jerusalem.

27 And hath honoured me before the king, and the counsellors, and all his friends and governours.

28 ¶ Therefore I was encouraged by the helpe of the Lord my God, and gathered men of Israel to goe by with me.

29 These are the gublers after their families and order of dignities, which came by with mee out of Babylon in the reigne of Artaxerxes the king.

gave against our enemies,

51 Because we had said to the king, that the power of our Lord should be with them that sought him, to direct them in all things.

52 Therefore we prayed our Lord against according to these things, whom we found favourable.

53 Then I chose from among the chiefs of the tribes and of the priests, excellent men, to wit, of Ephraim and asaphians, and with them ten of their brethren.

54 And I weighed them the silver and the gold, and the holy vessels of the House of our Lord, which the king and his counsellors, and his princes, and all Israel had given.

55 And I weighed them five hundred and fifty talents of silver, and silver vessels of an hundred talents, and an hundred talents of gold.

56 And twenty golden basins, and twelve vessels of brass, of fine brass shining like gold.

57 And I said to them, you are also holy to the Lord, and the vessels are holy, and the gold, and the silver is a dowry to the Lord of our fathers.

58 Watch, and keep them, till that you give them to the heads of the families of the priests, and Levites, and captains of the families of Israel in Jerusalem in the chambers of the house of our God.

59 So the priests and Levites took the silver and the gold, and the vessels, and carried them to Jerusalem to the Temple of the Lord.

60 And we departed from the flood of Tiberias, in the twelfth day of the first month, and came to Jerusalem, according to the mighty power of our Lord with us: and the Lord delivered us from the beginning of our journey from all enemies. So we came to Jerusalem.

61 And three dayes being past there, in the fourth day the silver that was weighed, and the gold was delivered in the House of our Lord to Harnoth the priest, the sonne of Abiur.

¶ Or, Marimuth the son of Uriu.

62 And with him to Eleazar the sonne of Phineas: and there were with them, Josabab the sonne of Jezus, and North sonne of Sabbanus, Levites: all was delivered them by number and weight.

¶ Or, Neodias, sonne of Jonna.

63 And all the weight of them was written that same hour.

64 Afterwards those that were come out of the captivity, offered sacrifices to the Lord God of Israel, even twelve buls for all Israel, camels four score and sixteen.

65 Lambes three score and twelve, twelve goats for situation, all in sacrifice to the Lord.

66 And they presented the commandments of the king to the Kings stewards, and to the governor of Celsophia and Phenice, who honoured the people, and the Temple of God.

Eze. 9.1.

67 And when these things were done, the governors came to me, saying, the people of Israel, the Priests and the Levites, and the Levites have not separated from them the strange people of the land.

68 For the pollutions of the Gentiles, to wit of the Canaanites, the Phoenicians, and Phoenicians, and Idumites, and Ammonites, and Egyptians, and Idumians.

69 For they have dwelt with their daughters, both they and their sonnes, and the holy tribe is mixed with the strange people of the land, and the governors and rulers have bene partakers of this wickedness from the beginning of the thing.

70 And as soon as I had heard these things, I rent my clothes, and the holy garment, and I pulled the haire of mine head, and off my beard, and laid me downe for sorrowfull, and very sad.

71 Then also all they that were moved with the word of the Lord God of Israel, came to me whiles I wept for the iniquitie, but I sate very sad till the evening sacrifice.

72 Then I rose from the fall with my clothes rent, and the holy garment, and bowed my knees, and stretched forth mine hands to the Lord.

73 And said, O Lord, I am ashamed, and confounded before thy face.

Eze. 9.6.

74 For our sinnes are increased about our heads, and our ignorances are lifted up to heaven.

75 Yet, even from the time of our fathers we are in great sinne unto this day.

76 For our sinnes therefore, and our fathers, we with our brethren, with our kings & priests have bene given up to the king of the earth, to the sword, and to captivity, and for a pray with all shame unto this day.

77 And now how great hath thy mercy bene, O Lord, that there should be left us a root and name in the place of thy holiness!

78 And that thou shouldst reneale to us a light in the house of the Lord our God, and give us meate in the time of our servitude!

79 For when we were in bondage, we were not left of our God, but he gave us favour before the kings of the Persians, that they should give us meate.

80 And that they should honour the Temple of our Lord, and raise up Zion that is desolate, and give us assurance in Judea and Jerusalem.

81 And now, O Lord, what shall we say, having these things: for we have transgressed thy Commandments, which thou hast given by the hands of thy servants the Prophets saying,

82 * Because the land which ye go to inherit, is a land polluted by the pollutions of the strangers of the land, which have filled it with their wickedness.

Dim. 7.1.

83 Therefore now ye shall not sojourn their daughters with your sonnes, neither give your daughters to their sonnes.

84 Neither shall you desire to have peace with them for ever, that ye may be made strong, and eat the good things of the land, and leave it for an inheritance to your children for ever.

85 Therefore all that is come to passe, was done for our wicked works, and for our great sinnes: yet, O Lord, thou hast forgiven our sinnes.

86 And hast given us such a root: but we againe have turned back to transgress thy Law, and to mixe us with the uncleanness of the people of the land.

87 Mightest thou not be angry with us to destroy us, so that thou shouldst neither 35 And of the sonnes of Ephus, Oxytias, Zabadias, Erbes, Buck, Banaias.

36 All these men strange sinners, and put them away with their children.

37 And the Priestes and the Levites dwelt in Jerusalem, and in the country, the first day of the fourth month, and the children of Israel in their own houses.

38 Then all the multitude assembled together with one consent into the broad place before the gate of the Temple toward the East.

39 And spake to Esdras the Priest, and reader, that he should bring the Law of Moyses, which had bin given by the Lord God of Israel.

40 Then brought Esdras the chief Priest the Law to all the multitude, both man and woman, etc. to all the Priestes, that they might heare the Law the first day of the fourth month.

41 And he read in the first broad place of the gate of the Temple, from morning to midday, before the men and the women, and all the multitude hearkened to the Law.

42 So Esdras the Priest and reader of the Law, stood upon a pulpit of wood that was prepared.

43 And there stood by him // Margathias, Sammus, Ananias, Azarias, Durias, Cretias, Balasamus at his right hand.

44 And at his left hand // Phadaius, and Sali, Gethias, Gedolaphus, Sabastias.

45 When Esdras came to the books of the Law before the multitude (for he had memorably before them all.)

46 And they all stood by him, when he expounded the Law, and Esdras blessed the Lord the most high God, the most mighty God of holies.

47 And the whole multitude cryed, Amen.

48 Then Jesus, and // Anus, and Sabadias, and Sammus, and Jacobus, Zabadias, Azarias, Banaias, and Galias, Azarias, and Jonathas, and Ammas, and Biatas the Levites lift up their hands, and fell down on the ground and worshipped the Lord.

49 And taught the Law of the Lord, and stood also earnestly upon the reading.

50 Then said // Thebarates to Esdras the chief Priest and Reader, and to the Levites, that taught the multitude in all things. This day is holy unto the Lord, and all have joy in hearing of the Law.

51 So therefore eat the fat meats, and drink the sweet drinkers, and send presents to them that have not.

52 For this day is holy to the Lord, and hee not for us: for the Lord God will glorify you.

53 So the Levites commanded all these things to the people, saying, this day is holy to the Lord: do not lab.

54 Then they departed all to eat and drink, and to rejoice, and to give presents to them that had not, and to make good cheer.

55 For they were verily with the words, whereby they were instructed, when they were assembled together.

II. Esdras.

CHAP. I.

8 The people is reproved for their unfaithfulness.
30 God will have another people, if these will not be reformed.

The second booke of the Prophet Esdras, the sonne of Seraias, the sonne of Azarias, the sonne of Helcias, the sonne of Sabastias, the sonne of Sadoe, the sonne of Achitob.

2 The sonne of Achias, the sonne of Phineas, the sonne of Hel, the sonne of Amerias, the sonne of Alir, the sonne of Barimath, the sonne of Arua, the sonne of Orias, the sonne of Boisid, the sonne of Abisai, the sonne of Phineas, the son of Eleazar.

3 The sonne of Aaron, (of the tribe of Levi) which Esdras was prisoner in the land of Babel, in the reign of Artaxerxes king of Persia.

4 And the word of the Lord came unto me, saying,

5 Go, and shew my people their sinnes, and their children their wickednes, which they have committed against mee, that they may rell their childrens children.

6 For the sinnes of their fathers are increased in them, because they have forgotten me, and have offered unto strange gods.

7 Have not I brought them out of the land of Egypt from the house of bondage: but they have provoked me unto wrath, and despised my counsels.

8 Will thou off then the haire of thine head, and cast all enill upon them: for they have not beene obedient unto my Law, but they are a rebellious people.

9 How long shall I forbear them, unto whom I have done so much good?

10 Many things have I destroyed for their sake: Pharo with his servants and all his armie have I smitten downe.

11 All the nations have I destroyed before them: I have destroyed the East, the people of the two countreys Tyne and Edom, and have slaine all their enemies.

12 Speake thou therefore unto them, saying, Thus saith the Lord.

13 I have led you throught the sea, I have given you a sure way since the beginning: I gave you Moyses for a guide, and Aaron for a Priest.

14 I gave you light in a pillar of fire, and great wonders have I done among you: yet have ye forgotten me, saith the Lord.

15 Thus saith the Almighty Lord, The quailles were a token unto you: I gave you rents for safety, wherein ye were much.

16 And ye triumphed not in my Name for the destruction of your enemies, but ye yet murmure still.

17 Where are the benefits that I have done for you: when ye were hungry in the wilderness, did ye not cry unto me.

18 Saying, Why hast thou brought us into this wilderness to kill us? It had bene better for us to have served the Egyptians, then to die in this wilderness.

Isa. 1. 13.

31 * When you bring gifts unto mee, I will turne my face from you: for your solemn fast dayes, your new moones, and your circumstances have I forsaken.

32 I sent unto you my servants the Prophets, whom ye have taken and slaine, and torne their bodies in pieces, whose blood I will requite, saith the Lord.

33 Thus sayeth the Almighty Lord, Your house shall be desolate: I will cast you out as the wilde doeth the stubble.

34 Your children shall not have generation: for they have despised my commandment, and done the thing that I hate, before me.

35 Your houses will I give unto a people to come, who shall despoile me though they heare mee not, and they unto whom I never shewed miracle, shall doe the things that I command them.

36 Though they see no Prophets, yet shall they hate their iniquities.

37 * I will declare the grace that I will doe for the people to come, whose children reioyce in gladnesse, and though they have not seene mee with bodily eyes, yet in heart they beleue the things that I say.

38 Now therefore brother, behold what great glory is for the people that come from the East.

39 Unto whom I will give for leaders, Ahiyan, Ahar, Jacob, Othai, Amos, Bithan, Aoi, Andas, Iomas, Mal. 3. 1.

1 The Synagogue sheweth fault with her own children, 18 The Gentiles are called.

Thus sayeth the Lord, I brought this people out of bondage: I gave them also my commandments by my servants the Prophets, whom they would not heare, but despised my counsels.

2 The mother that bare them, sayeth unto them, Goe you away, O children: for I am a widow and forsaken.

3 I brought you up with gladnesse, but with sorrow and heaviness have I lost you: for ye have sinned against the Lord your God, and done the thing that displeaseth him.

4 But what shall I now doe unto you? I am a widow and forsaken: give ye, O my children, and of the mercy of the Lord.

5 And thee, O father, I call for a witness for the mother of these children, which would not keepe my covenant.

6 What thou bring them to confusion, and their mother to a shewe, that their kindred bee not continued.

7 Let their names bee scattered among the heathen, let them be put out of the earth, for they have despised my covenant.

8 Alas were thee, Ahar: for thou hidest the unrighteous in thee: O wicked people, remember what I did unto Sodom and Gomorrah.

9 All those land is mixed with clouds of pitch, and heapes of ashes: so will I doe unto them, that hate me not, saith the Almighty Lord.

10 * Thus saith the Lord unto Esdras, Tell my people, that I will give them the kingdom of Jerusalem, which I would have given unto Israel.
Gen. 19. 14.

11 And I will get me glory by them, and give them the everlasting Tabernacles, which I had prepared for those.

12 They shall have at will the tree of life smelling of oymment: they shall neither labour nor be weary.

13 Go ye, and ye shall receive it: pray that the time which is long, may be shortened to the kingdom: is already prepared for you: watch.

14 Take heaven and earth to witness: for I have abolished the evil, and created the good: for I live, saith the Lord.

15 Brother, embrace thy children, and bring them up with gladnesse: make their feet as fast as a pillar: for I have chosen thee, saith the Lord.

16 And those that be dead will I raise up from their places, and bring them out of the graues: for I have known my name in Israel.

17 Feare not thou mother of these children: for I have chosen thee, saith the Lord.

18 I will send thee my servants Esai and Jeremy to help thee, by whose counsel I have sanctified and prepared for thee twelve trees laden with divers fruits.

19 And as many fountaines, flowing with milke and hony, and seven mighty mountains, whereupon there grow roses and lillies, where by I will fill thy children with joy.

20 Execute iustice for the widowe: iudge the cause of the fatherlesse: give to the poore: defend the fatherlesse: clothe the naked.

21 Heale the wounded and sick: laugh not a lame man to scorn, defend the cripple, and let the blind come into the light of thy clearness.

22 Heale the old and the young that are with in thy walls.

Tnd 11, 17.

23 Whosoever thou findest the dead, take them, and bury them, and I will give thee the first place in my resurrection.

24 Whine wilt, O my people, and rest: for thy quickness shall come.

25 Show thy children, O thou good nurse: stablish their feet.

26 None of the servants that I have given thee, shall perish: for I will seek them from among thy number.

27 Be not weary: for when the day of trouble and beauteous compass, other shall weep and be sorrowful, but thou shalt be merry, and have abundance.

28 The hearers shall come thee, and shall do nothing against thee, saith the Lord.

29 Whine hands shall cover thee, so that thy children shall not see thee.

30 Be joyful, O thou mother, with thy children, for I will deliver thee, saith the Lord.

31 Remember thy children that sleep: for I will bring them out of the sides of the earth, and will show mercy unto them: for I am merciful, saith the Lord Almighty.

32 Embrace thy children, until I come and show mercy unto them: for my fountain runneth over, and my grace shall not fail.

33 I will have received a charge of the Lord upon the mount Doer, that I should go into them of Israel, but when I came to them, they cast me off, and despised the commandment of the Lord.

34 And therefore I say unto you, O ye brethren, that hear and understand, call ye for your shepherds, who shall give you everlasting rest: for he is here at hand, that shall come in the end of the world.

35 Be ready to the reward of the kingdom: for the everlasting light shall shine upon you for evermore.

36 Flee the shadows of this world: receive the top of your glory: I testify my gracious o- penly.

37 Receive the gift that I given you, and be glad, giving thanks unto him that hath called you to the heavenly kingdom.

38 Arise and stand up, and behold the number of those that are sealed by the seal of the Lord.

39 Which are separated from the shadows of the world, and have received glorious garments of the Lord.

40 Take thy number, O Zion, and that by them that are clothed in white, which have fulfilled the Law of the Lord.

41 The number of thy children whom thou longest for, is fulfilled: deliver the power of the Lord, that thy people which have been called from the beginning, may be sanctified.

42 I will draw law upon mount Zion a great people whom I could not number, and they all praised the Lord with songs.

43 And in the midst of them there was a young man higher in stature than them all, and upon every one of their heads hee life crowns, and was higher than the others, which I much marvelled at.

44 So I asked the Angel, and this, who are these my Lords?

45 Who answered and said unto me, These be they that have put off the mortal clothing, and have put on the immortal, and have con- fided the name of God: now are they crowned, and receive the palmers.

46 Then said I unto the Angel, What young man is it that setteth crowns on them, and giveth them the palmers in their hands?

47 And he answered and said unto me, It is the sonne of God, whom they have confided in the world. Then began I greatly to commend them: that had stood so strongly for the name of the Lord.

48 Then the Angel said unto me, See the way, and tell my people, what, and how great wonders of the Lord God thou hast seen.

4 The wonderful works, which God did for the people, are recited. 31 Eldras marvels that God suffereth the Babylonians to have rule over his people, which yet are sinners also.

I At the thirtieth yeere after the fall of the citie, as I was at Babylon, I lay troubled upon my bed, and my thoughts came up to mine heart.

2 Because I saw the desolation of Zion, and the wealth of them that dwelt at Babylon.

3 So my spirit was full of sorrow, so that I began to weake fearfull members in the night, and said,

4 O Lord, Lord, what hast thou done at the beginning, when thou alone plannedst the earth, and gavest commandment unto the people,

5 And a babe unto Adam without fault, who was also the workmanship of thine hands, and hast directed in him the breath of life, so that he lived before thee,

7 Even then thou gavest him commandment to love thy way: but he transgressed it, and immediately thou appointedst death to him, and his generation, of whom came nations, tribes, people and kindreds out of number.

8 And every people walked after their own will, and into manifold things before thee, and despised thy commandments.

9 But at the time appointed thou broughtest the flood upon those that dwelt in the world, and destroyed them.

10 So that by the flood, that came to rutter out of them, which came by death unto Adam.

23 For I did not purpose to enquire of things high things, but of such as were daily meet withall, namely, wherefore Israel is made a reproach to the heathen, and for what cause the people whom thou hast loved, is given over to wicked nations, and why the law of our fathers is abolished, and the written ceremonies are come to none effect.

24 Why are we toiled to and fed through the world as the grasshoppers, and our life is a very scare, and we are not thought worthy to obtaine mercy.

25 But what will be do to his name which is called upon over us? Of these things have I asked thee the question.

26 Then answered hee me, and sayde, The more thou searcest, the more thou shalt marvel: for the world hasteth fast to passe away.

27 And cannot comprehend the things that are promised to the righteous in time to come: for this world is full of unrighteousnesse and weaknesse.

28 But to declare thee the things whereof thou art keel, the euill is sowne, but the destruction thereof is not yet come.

29 Ife euill now that is sowne be not turned vnto the downe, and if the place where the euill is sowne, passe not away, then cannot the thing come that is sowne with good.

30 For the corne of euill seed hath been sowne in the heart of Adam from the beginning, and how much vngodlines hath he brought vnto this time? And how much shall be bring forth vntill the harvest come?

31 Wonder with thy selfe, how much fruite of wickednesse the corne of euill seed bringeth forth.

32 And when the stalkes shall be cut downe, which are without number, how great an harvest must be prepared.

33 Then I answered, and sayd, How, and when shall these things come to passe? Wherefore are our yeeres few and euill?

34 And he answered me, saying, Hasten not to be aboute the most high: for thou labourst in vaine to be about him, though thou endeuour neuer so much.

35 Did not the soules also of the righteous aske question of these things in their chambers, saying, how long shall I thus hope? and when cometh the fruite of my barne, and our wages?

36 And vpon this Ieremiel the Archangel answered, and sayd, When the number of the seedes is filled in you: for hee hath weighed the world in the ballance.

37 The measure of the times is measured: the ages are counted by number, and they shall not be moued or shaken, till the measure thereof be fulfilled.

38 Then answered I, and said, O Lord, Lord, we are all cren full of sinne.

39 And for our sake perauenture the harvest of the righteous is not fulfilled, because of the sinne of them that dwell vpon earth.

40 So hee answered mee, and sayd, See and aske a woman with child, when shee hath fulfilled her nine moneths, if her womb may keep the birth any longer with her?

41 Then said I, No, Lord, shee cannot. And hee said vnto me, But he graue the places of soules are like the wombe.

42 For as shee that is with child, hasteth to escape the necessity of the travail, so do these places haste to deliuer those things that are committed vnto them.

43 That which thou desirest to see, shall bee shewed thee from the beginning.

44 Then answered I, and said, If I haue found grace in thy sight, and if it be possible, and if I be meet thereto, 45 Shew me whether there be more to come then is past, or more things past, then are to come.

46 What is past I know, but what is to come, I know not.

47 And hee said vnto me, Stand on the right side, and I will expound thee this by example.

48 So I stood, and behold, a fire burning ouen passed before me: and when the flame was gone by, I looked, and behold, the smoke had the vpper hand.

49 After this there passed before me a watry cloud, and sent down much rain with a storme: and when the stormy raine was past, the drops came after.

50 Then said he vnto me, Consider with thy selfe, as the raine is more then the drops, and as fire exceedeth the smoke, so the portion that is past, hath the vpper hand, and the drops and the smoke were much.

51 Then I prayed, and sayd, May I line, thinkest thou, vntill that time? Or what shall come to passe in those dayes?

52 He answered me, and said, Of the tokens whereof thou art keel mee, I can tell thee apart: but I am not sent to shew thee of thy life: for I doe not know it.

CHAP. V.

1. In the latter times truth shall be hid, 10 Yrighteousnesse and all wickednesse shall reigne in the world. 23
Israel is rescued, and God deliuereth them. 35 God doth all things in season.

NEuertheless concerning the tokens, behold the times shall come, that they which dwell vpon earth shall be taken in a great number, and the way of the truth shall be hid, and the land shall be barren from faith.

2 And iniquity shall be increased more then thou hast seene now, or hast heard in time past:

3 And it shall come to passe that one shall set in foote, and thou shalt see the land desolate, which now reigneth.

4 Yea, if God graunt thee to live, thou shalt see after the third trumpet, that the Sun shall suddenly shine againe in the night, & the Moone three times a day.

5 Blood shall drop out of the wood, and the stone that giue his voice, and the people shall be moued.

6 And hee shall rule, of whom they hope not: that dwell vpon earth, and the soules shall change place.

7 And

Mat. 24. 1, 22

7 And the sea of Sodom shall cast out fish, and make a noyle in the night, which many shall not knowe, but they shall all heare the voyce thereof.

8 There shall be a confusion in many places, and the fire shall oft breake forth, and the wild beasts shall change their places, and menstruous women shall beate monkeys.

9 And salt waters shall be found in the sweet, and all friends shall fight one against another: then shall we hide it selfe, and understanding depart into his secret chamber.

10 He shall be sought of many, and yet not be found: then shall unrighteousnesse and voluptuousnesse haue the vpper hand vpon earth.

11 One land also shall alke another, and say, Is righteous iustice gone thorow thee? And it shall say, No.

12 At the same time shall men hope, but not obtayne: they shall labour, but their enterpryses shall not prosper.

13 To shew thee such tokens I haue leaue: and if thou wilt pray againe, and weep, as now, and fast seuen dayes, thou shalt heare yet greater things then these.

14 ¶ Then I awaked, and a fearefulnesse went thorow all my body, and my minde was feeble and fainte.

15 But the Angel that was come to talke with me, held me, comforted mee, and set mee vpon my feet.

16 And in the second night, Shalathiel the Captaine of the people came vnto mee, saying, Where hast thou bene? and why is thy countenance so heavy?

17 Knowest thou not that Israel is committed to thee in the lande of their captiuitie?

18 Thy then eat, and forsake vs not, as the shepheard that leaueh his flock in the hands of the cruel wolues.

19 Then layd I vnto him, See thy wayes from me, and come not neere me: and when hee heard it, he went from me.

20 And I fasted seuen dayes, mourning, and weeping, as Ardel the Angel had commaunded mee.

21 And after seuen dayes the thoughts of mine heart were very grievous vnto mee againe.

22 And I had a desire to reason againe, and I beganne to talke with the most High againe.

23 And said, O Lord, Lord: of every forest of the earth, and of all the trees thereof thou hast chosen thee one onely vineyard.

24 And of all landes of the world thou hast chosen thee one pt, and of all the flowers of the ground thou hast chosen thee one lillie.

25 And of all the depthes of the sea thou hast filled thee one river, and of all builded cities, thou hast sanctified Sion vnto thy selfe.

26 And of all the foules that are created, thou hast named thee one dove, and of all the cattell that are made, thou hast appointed thee one sheepe.

27 And among all the multitude of people, thou hast gotten thee one people. and vnto this people whom thou loudest thou gauest a Lawe, that is proued of all.

28 And now, O Lord, why hast thou giuen this one people ouer vnto many? and vpon one root thou hast set others, and hast scattered thine onely people among many.

29 They reade them domine, which haue withstood thy promises, and beleeue not thy reuincions.

30 And if thou dost so much hate thy people, they should haue bene punished with thine owne hands.

31 ¶ How when I had spoken these words, the Angel that came vnto mee the night before, was sent vnto me, 32 And layd vnto me, Heare mee, and I will teach thee, and hearken that I may instruct thee further.

33 And I sayd, Speake on, my Lord. Then said he vnto mee, Thou art soze deper and troubled for Israels sake. Louest thou them better then he doeth that made them?

34 And I sayd, No, Lord: but of very sorow haue I spoken: for my reines paine mee euery houre, while I labour to comprehend the way of the most High, and to seek out part of his iudgment.

35 And hee layd vnto mee, Thou canst not. And I sayd, Wherefore? Lord, wherefore was I borne? or why was not my members wombe thm my grane? so had I not sente the trouble of Iakob, and the griffe of the stocke of Israel.

36 And he layd vnto mee, Number vnto mee the things that are not yet come, or gather mee the drops that are scattered, or make me the withered flowers greene againe.

37 Open mee the places that are closed, and bring me forth the winds that are shut vp therein: shew me the image of a voyce, and then will I declare thee the thing that thou askest, and labourerest to know.

38 And I said, O Lord, Lord, who can knowe these things, but hee that hath not his dwelling with men?

39 But I that am ignorant, how can I speake of these things, wherof thou askest mee?

40 Then said he vnto me, Like as thou canst doe none of these things that I haue spoken of, so canst thou not finde out my iudgement, nor the least benefite, that I haue promised vnto my people.

41 Then I sayd, Beholde, O Lord, the last things are present vnto thee, and what shall thy do that haue bene before me, or we that be now, or they that shall come after vs?

42 And hee layd vnto mee, I will compare my iudgement vnto a ring: as there is no blacknesse of the last, so is there no swiftnesse of the first.

43 Then I answered, and said, Countest thou not make at once, those that haue bene, those that are now, and those that shall come, that thou mightest shew thy iudgement the sooner?

44 Then answered hee mee, The creature, said he, cannot preuent the Creator, neither can the world hold them at once, that shall be created therein.

45 And I sayde, As thou hast taught thy seruant, that thou which giuest strength to all, hast giuen life at once to all the worke created by thee, and hast sustained it, so might it

now

now also contains all men at once.

46 And he said unto me, Like the womb of a woman, and lay unto her, Why must thou have time before thou bringest forth? require her to bring forth ten at once.

47 And I said, Surely she cannot, but by distance of time.

48 Then said hee unto mee, So haue I hindered the number of the earth by times when seeds is sown vpon it.

49 For as a young child begetteth not that that belongeth to the aged, so haue I ordained the time which I haue created.

50 I asked againe, and said, Seeing thou hast now shewed me the way, I will proceede to speake before thee: for our mother, whom thou hast told me to young, dwaueth yette neere vnto age?

51 He answered me, and said, Like a woman that travaileth, and she will tell thee.

52 Say vnto her, Wherefore are not they whom thou hast now brought forth, like those that were before thee, but less of stature?

53 And she shall answer thee, Some were borne in the house of youth, others were borne in the time of age, when the wombe faileth.

54 Consider now thy selfe, how that yee are less of stature then those that were before you.

55 And so are they that come after you, lesse then yee, as the creatures which now beginne to bee olde, and haue passed ouer the strength of youth.

56 Then say I, Lord, I beseech thee, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, shewe thy seruant, by whome dost thou gouerne thy workmanship?

CHAP. VI.

God hath reserved all things in his secret counsell, and is author thereof, and hath created them for his children.
25 The felicity of the age to come.

And hee sayd vnto mee, In the beginning when the round world was made, and before the borders of the world were set and before the windes blew one against another:

2 Before the noyle of thunder sounden, before the bright lightning did shine forth, before the foundations of paradise were laid:

3 Before the faire fountaines did appeare, before the moueable powers were established, before the innumerable armies of Angels were gathered:

4 Before the heights of the ayre were lifted vp, before the measures of the heauens were named, before the chymnies in Sion were bore:

5 Before the present yeres were sought out, and before the afflictions of them that now liue, were turned away, and they that haue layde by the treasure of faith, were sealed.

6 Then did I purpose these things, and they were made by mee alone, and by none other: by mee also they shall bee ended, and by none other.

7 Then answered I, and said, What shall bee the diuision of times? or when shall bee the end of the first, and the beginning of it that followeth?

8 And hee sayd vnto mee, From Abraham vnto Isaac, when Jacob and Esau were borne of him, Jacobs hand held fast the heele of Esau. Gen. 25. 26.

9 For Esau is the end of this world, and Jacob is the beginning of it that followeth.

10 The hand of man is betwixt the heele and the hand. Other thing, I pray, aske thou nor.

11 I answered then, and said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found fauour in thy sight, 12 I beseech thee, make an end to shewe thy seruant thy tokens, wherof thou shewedst mee part the last night.

13 So he answered mee, and said, Stand vp vpon thy feete, and heare a mighty sounding voyce.

14 There shall come as an earthquake, but the place where thou standest shall not bee moued.

15 And therefore when hee speaketh, bee not afraid: for of the end shall bee the word, and of the foundation of the earth shall it bee understood.

16 Therefore while one speaketh of them, it trembleth, and is moued: for it is knowen that it must be changed at the end.

17 And when I had heard it, I stood by vpon my feete, and hearkened, and beheld, there was a voyce that spake, and the sound of it was like the sound of many waters:

18 And it said, Behold, the dayes come that I will come and enquire of them that dwell vpon the earth.

19 And when I beginne to enquire of them, who by their vnichtynousnes haue hurt others, and when the affliction of Sion shall bee fulfilled.

20 And the world that shall vanish away, shall be sealed, then will I shew these signes: the books shalbe opened before the beaumen, and they shall see all it together.

21 And the children of a yere old shall speake with their voyces: the women with child shall bring forth vntimely children of three or foure moneths olde, and they shall liue that are called by.

22 Then suddenly shall the sower places appeare as the vnplowen, and the fall stowe houses shall suddenly be found empty.

23 And the trumpet shall sound, and all they that heare it, shall be suddenly afraid.

24 At that time shall friends fight with friends, as with enemies: and the earth shall feare with them: the springes of the waters shall stand still, and in three houses they shall not runne.

25 Whosoener remaineth from all these things that I haue told thee, shall bee saved and see my saluation, and the end of your world.

26 And the men that are reccited, shall see it: they that haue not talked dearch from their birth, and the heart of the inhabitants shall bee changed, and turned to another meaning.

27 For euill shalbe put out, and deceit shal be quenched.

28 But faith shall flourish: corruption shal be ouercome, and the truth which hath bin so long without fruit, shall come forth.

29 And

29 And when hee talked with me, behold, I looked a little upon him before whom I stood.

30 And these wordes said he vnto mee, I am come to thee when the time of the night is come.

31 If thou wilt pray againe, and fast seven dayes more, I will tell thee more things, & greater then these, which I haue heard in the day.

32 For thy voyce is heard before the Highest: surely the Mighty haue seene the righteous dealing: he hath seene also thy chastitie which thou hast kept since thy youth.

33 Therefore hath he sent me to shew thee all these things, and to say vnto thee, Be of good comfort, and feare not.

34 And haue not in the vaine consideration of the first times, nor make haile to the latter times.

35 And after this I wept againe, and fasted seven dayes in like manner, that I might fulfill the three weekes, which he had appointed me.

36 And in the eight night was mine heart bereft within me againe, and I began to speake before the most High.

37 For my spirit was greatly set on fire, and my soule was in distresse.

38 And I said, O Lord, thou spakest expressly in the first creation (even the first day) and commandedst that the heauen and the earth should be made, and the worke followed thy word.

39 And then was there the spirit, and the darkenesse was on euery side with silence: there was no mans voyce as yet created of thee.

40 Then commandedst thou a bright light to come forth out of thy treasures, that it might shew light to thy worke.

41 Upon the second day thou createdst the heauenly aere, and commandedst it, that going betwene it, it should make a diuision betwene the waters, that the one part might remaine above, and the other beneath.

42 Upon the third day thou commandedst, that the waters should be gathered together in the seventh part of the earth: fire parts diddest thou doe, & kept them, to the intent that of these there should be that should serue thee, being lowen of God and tilled.

43 As soone as thy word went forth, the worke was incontinently made.

44 For immediately great and innumerable fruit did spring up, and many diuers pleasures for the eate, and flowers of vchangeable colour, and odours of a most wonderfull smell, and these things were created the third day.

45 Upon the fourth day thou createdst the light of the Sunne, and of the Moone, and the order of the starres.

46 And gauest them a charge, to do seruice euen vnto man that was for to be made.

47 And vpon the fift day thou saydest vnto the seventh part: where the waters were gathered that it should bring forth beastes, as foales and fishes: and it was so.

48 For the dumb water, and without life, brought forth liuing things at the commandment of God, that the nations might praise thy wonderous workes.

49 Then diddest thou prepare two liuing things: the one thou calledst Behemoth, and the other thou calledst Lemnathan,

50 And didst separate the one from the other:

for the seventh part where the water was gathered could not hold them.

51 And Behemoth thou gauest one part, which was dried by the third day, that he should dwell in the same part, wherein are a thousand hills.

52 But vnto Lemnathan thou gauest the seventh part that is water, and hast prepared him to deuoure what thou wilt, and when thou wilt.

53 Upon the sixt day thou gauest commandment vnto the earth, that before thee it should bring forth beastes, cattell, and creeping things.

54 And besides this, Adam, whom thou madest lord ouer all the works which thou hast created, of him come wee all, and the people also, whom thou hast chosen.

55 All this haue I spoken before thee, O Lord, because thou hast created the world for our sakes.

56 As for the other people which also come of Adam, thou hast declared them that they are nothing before thee, but be like vnto spittle, and hast compared their riches vnto a drop that falleth from a vessel.

57 And now, O Lord, behold, these heathen which haue bene repured as nothing, haue begun to be lords ouer vs, and to deuoure vs.

58 And wee thy people (whom thou hast called the first borne, the onely begotten, and thy seruent fouer) are taken into their banes.

59 If the world then bee created for our sakes, why haue wee not the inheritance thereof in possession: or how long shall wee suffer these things?

CHAP VII.

5 Without tribulation none can come to felicitie. 12 God aduersiteth all in time. 28 The coming and death of Christ. 32 The resurrection and last iudgement. 43 After the which all corruption shall cease. 48 All fall in Adam. 59 The true life. 62 The mercies and goodness of God.

AND when I had made an ende of these wordes, there was sent vnto mee an Angel which had bene sent downe to mee the nightes afore.

2 And he said vnto me, Elphaz, and heare the words that I am come to tell thee.

3 And I sayd, Speake on, my God. Then said he to mee, The sea is set in a wide place, that it might be deepe and great.

4 But presuppose that the entrance thereof were narrow, and like the rivers,

5 Who could goe into the sea, to looke vpon it, and to rule it: if he went not thorow the narrow, how could he come into the broad?

6 There is also another thing: a city is builded and set vpon a broad field, and is full of all good things:

7 The entrance thereof is narrow, and in a dangerous place to fall, that there is fire at the right hand, and a deepe water at the left.

8 And there is but one path betwene them, euen betwixt the fire and the water, so that there could but one man goe there.

9 If this city were given vnto a may for an inheritance, if he neuer went thorow the perill before it, how could hee receive his inheritance?

|| Or, Emob.

10 And I said, It is to Lord. Then said he, So is the position of Israel.

11 Surely for their sakes have I made the world: and when Adam transgressed my Statutes, then came this thing to passe.

12 Then were the entrances of the world made narrow, full of sorrow and trouble: they are but few and cull, and full of perils, and very painful.

13 For the entrances of the four world were wide and large, and brought in many fruit.

14 If even they that are living, labour not to enter by these strait and little things, they can not attaine to those things that are hid.

15 Why then disquietest thou thy selfe, seeing thou art corruptible: and why art thou moored, seeing thou art mortal?

16 And why hast thou not considered in thy mind the things to come, rather then them that are present?

17 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, seeing thou hast ordeined in thy Law, that the righteous should inherit these things, and that the ungodly should perish, 18 Should the righteous suffer straitnesse in hoping for large things: yet they that have lived ungodly and suffered straitnesse, shall not see the large things.

19 Then he said unto me, There is no Judge more just then God, and there is none more will then the most High.

20 For many perish in this life, because they despise the Law of God that is appointed.

21 For God hath diligently admonished such as came to life as they came, what they should do to have life, and what they should observe to avoid punishment.

22 Nevertheless, they were not obedient unto him, but spake against him, and imagined vain things,

23 And deceived themselves by their wicked dress, and denied the power of the most High, and regarded not his waies.

24 But they despised his Law, and refused his promises: they have unfaithfully broken his ordinances, and have not performed his works.

25 And therefore, Elias, unto the empty are empty things, and to the full, full things.

26 Beholde, the time shall come, that these tokens which I have told thee, shall come to passe, and the haire shall appeare, and thee shall come forth, and be seene that now is under the earth.

27 And whosoever shall escape these evils, he shall see my wonders.

28 For my Sonne Iesus shall appeare with those that bee with him, and they that remaine, shall rejoyce within four hundred yeres.

29 After these same yeres shall my Sonne Christ die, and all men that have life.

30 And the world shall be turned into the old silence for seven daies, as in the four judgments, so that no man shall remaine.

31 But after seven daies, the world that is yet asleepe, shall be raised up: and that shall dye that is corrupt.

32 Then the earth shall restore those, that have slept in her, and so shall the dust those that dwell therein in silence, and the secret places shall deliver the soules that were committed unto them.

33 And the most High shall appeare upon the seat of judgement, and miseries shall banish away, and long suffering shall have an end.

34 Justice only shall continue: the truth shall remaine, and faith shall be strong.

35 The works shall follow, and the reward shall be given: the good deeds shall be of force, and righteousness shall have no more rule.

36 Then said I, Abraham prayed here for the Sodomites, and Moses for the fathers that lived in the wilderness:

37 And they that came after him, for Israel in the time of Achaz and Samueel,

38 And David for the destruction, and Solomon for them that came unto the Sanctuary, 39 And Elias for those that received raine, and for the dead that he might live.

40 And Ecclesias for the people in the time of Sennacherib, and divers others for many.

41 Even is now, seeing vice is increased, and wickednesse aboundeth, and the righteous have prayed for the ungodly, wherefore shall not the same effect follow also now?

42 Then he answered mee and said, This present life is not the end, oftentimes honour is retained in it: therefore have they prayed for the weak.

43 But the day of judgement shall be the end of this world, and the beginning of the immortality to come, wherein all corruption shall cease.

44 Intemperance shall passe away: incontinencie shall be cut off: righteousness shall grow up, and the verity shall spring up.

45 Then shall no man bee able to save him that is destroyed, nor oppresse him that hath gotten the victory.

46 I answered then, and said, This is my first and last saying, that it had bene better not to have given the earth unto Adam, or when it was given him, to have kept him that he should not have sinned.

47 For what profit is it for men in this present life to be in beauty, and after death to feare punishment?

48 O Adam, what hast thou done? for in that that thou hast sinned, thou art not fallen alone, but the fall also reboundeth unto us that come of thee.

49 For what profit is it unto us, if there be promised an immortal life, when wee doe the works that bring death?

50 And that an everlasting hope should bee promised us, seeing that wee be like our selves to deadly vanity?

51 And that there should bee appointed us dwellings of health and safety, if we have lived wickedly?

52 And that the gloire of the most High should be kept to defend them which have led a patient life, if wee have walked in the wicked waies?

53 And that an eternal Paradise should be shewed, whose fruit remaineth incorruptible, wherein is safety and health, if we will not enter into it.

54 (For we have bene conversant in unpleasant places.)

55 And that the faces of them, which have abstained, abstained, should shine more then starres, if our faces be blacker then darkness.

56 For while we lived, we did not remember when we did unrighteously, that we should suffer after death.

57 Then answered he me, and said, This is the manner of the barcel, which man that is borne in the earth, shall fight.

58 That if he be overcome, he should suffer as thou hast said, but if he get the victory, he should receive the thing that I said.

59 For this is the life whereof Moses spake unto the people, while he lived, saying, * Choose thee life that thou mayest live.

60 Neither helpe they beleaved him nor, neither the Prophets after him, nor me also which have said unto them,

61 That beauntesse should not so be to their destruction, as joy should come unto them, to whom saluacion is perswaded.

62 I answered then, and said, I know Lord, that the most high is called mercifull, in that he hath mercy vpon them, which are not yet come to that world.

67 For if he were not abundant in his mercies, the world could not continue, nor they that haue the possession thereof.

68 He pardoneth also: for if hee gaue not of his goodwilke, that they which haue done euill, might be refused from their wickednesse, the tenthousand part of men should not remaine alive.

69 And if he, being Iudge, forgave not those that he healed with his word, and rooke away the multitude of sinnes, 70 There should peraduenture be very few left in an innumerable multitude.

1 The number of the godly is but small. 6 The workes of God are excellent. 20 Esdras prayes for him and for his people. 39 The promise of saluation to the iust. 55 The destruction of the uniuers.

And he answered me, saying, The most high made this world for many, but the world to come for few.

2 I will tell thee a similitude, O Esdras. As when thou askest the earth, it shal say unto thee, that it giueth much earthly matter to make pots, but little dust that gods commeth of, so is it with the worke of this world.

Mat. 10. 16.

3 There be many created, but few shall be saved.

4 Then answered I, and said, Then swallow by the wit, O my soules, and diuoure vnderstanding.

5 For thou hast promised to heare, and thou wilt prophesie: for thou hast no longer space, but the life giuen thee.

6 O Lord, if thou suffer not thy seruant, that we may enterat thee, that thou mayest giue seed vnto our heart, and prepare our vnderstanding, that there may come fruit of it, whereby every one that is corrupt, may live, who can let himselfe for man?

7 For thou art alone, and we all are one workmanship of thy hands, as thou hast said.

8 For when the body is fashioned now in the wombe, and thou hast giuen it members, thy creature is preferred by fire and water, and the worke created by thee, doth suffer nine moneths the creature which is fashioned in it.

9 But the thing that conceiveth, and that which is conceived, shall both be preferred, and when time is come, the wombe being preferred, delivereth the things that grew in it.

10 For thou hast commanded the members, even the breasts to giue milke vnto the fruit appointed to the breasts, 11 That the thing which is created, may be nourished for a time, till thou disposest it to thy mercy.

12 Thou bringest it by with thy righteousness, nourrest it in thy Law, and reformest it with thy iudgement.

13 Thou shapest it as thy creature, and giwest it life as thy worke.

14 Seeing then that thou destroyest him, which with so great labors is fashioned, it is an easie thing to appoint by thy Commandement, that the thing also which is made, might be preferred.

15 Now therefore, O Lord, I will speak (as touching men in generall, thou shalt rather provide) but concerning thy people, for whose sake I am loyde,

16 And for thine inheritance, for whose cause I mourne: for Israel, for whom I am woofull, and for Jacob for whose sake I am grieved:

17 For them will I pray before thee, as well for my selfe as for them: for I see our faults that dwell in the land.

18 But I haue heard the hidden comming of the Iudge which is to come.

19 Therefore heare my voyce, and vnderstand my words which I will speake before thee. The beginning of the words of Esdras, before hee was taken by:

20 O Lord, that liuest for ever, which behest from aboue that which is aboue, and in the ayre,

21 Whose throne is inestimable, and his glorie incomprehensible: before whom the hoste of the Angels stand with trembling,

22 Whose keeping is turned in winde and fire, whose word is true, and sayings stedfast, whose Commandement is strong, and government terrible,

23 Whose looke dyeth by the depthes, and wrath maketh the mountains to melt away as the thing beareth witness,

24 Heare the prayer of thy seruant, and receive into thine eares the petition of thy creature.

25 For while I live, I will speake, and so long as I haue vnderstanding, I will answer.

26 Look not vpon the times of thy people, rather then thy faithfull seruants.

27 Haue not respect vnto the wicked deedes of men, rather then to them that haue thy testimonies in afflictions.

28 Thinke not vpon those that haue walked fainedly before thee, but remember them that reuerence thy will.

29 Let it not bee thy will to destroy them, which haue liued like beasts, but looke vpon them that haue clearly taught thy Law.

30 Take not displeasure with them, which appeare worse then beasts, but loue them, that alway put their trust in thy righteousness, and glory.

31 For wee and our fathers haue all the same sickness, but because of vs that are sinners, thou shalt be called mercifull.

32 If thou therefore wilt haue mercy vpon vs, thou shalt bee called mercifull towards vs which haue no works of righteousness.

33 For the righteous which haue layde by many good works, let them receiue the reward of their owne deeds.

34 But what is man, that thou shouldest take displeasure at him? or what is this mortall generation, that thou shouldest be so grieved towards it?

35 * For verely there is no man among them that be hoine, but he hath done wickedly, nor any that doth confesse thee, which hath not done amill.

36 For in this, O Lord, thy righteousness and thy goodness shall be praised, if thou be mercifull vnto them, which haue not the substance of good works.

37 Then answered he me, and said, Some things hast thou spoken aright, and according to thy words it shall be:

38 For I will not verely consider the workes of them before the death, before the iudgement, before destruction:

39 But * I will reioyce in the wayes of the righteous, and will remember the pilgrimage, the saluation, & the reward that they shall haue.

40 Like as I haue spoken now, so shall it come to passe.

41 For as the husbandman soweth much seed vpon the ground, and planteth many trees, and yet alway the thing that is sown, commeth not by in time, neither yet doeth all that is planted, take roote: so neither shall they all that are brought into the world, be saved.

42 I answered then, and said, If I haue found grace, let me speake.

43 Like as the husbandmans seed perissheth, if it come not by, and receiue not raine in due season, or if it be destroyed with too much raine:

44 So perissheth man that is created with thine hands, and thou art called his father, because hee is created to thine image, for whose sake thou hast made all things, and likened him vnto the husbandmans seed.

45 Bee not wroth with vs, O Lord, but spare thy people, and haue mercy vpon thine inheritance: for thou wilt be mercifull vnto thy creature.

46 Then answered hee mee, and said, The things present are for the present, and the things to come for such as be to come.

47 For thou art farre off, that thou shouldest loue my creature about me: but I haue oft times aduen meere vnto thee, and vnto it, but neuer to the vnrighteous.

48 In this also art thou maruillous before the highest,

49 In that thou hast humbled thy selfe, as it becommeth thee, and hast not indged thy selfe worthy to boast thy selfe great ly among the righteous.

50 For many miseries & calamities remaine for them, that shall liue in the latter time, because they shall walke in great pride.

51 But learne thou for thy selfe, and seeke out the glory for such as be like thee.

52 For vnto you is Paradise opened: the tree of life is planted: the time to come is prepared, plentyfullnesse made ready: the citie is builded: and rest is prepared, perfect goodness and absolute wisdom.

53 The root of euil is sealed up from you: the weaknesse and moth is destroyed from you, and into hell their corruption to be forgotten.

54 Sorowes are vanished away, and in the end is shewed the treasure of immortalitye.

55 Therefore aske thou no more questions concerning the multitude of them that perish:

56 For when they had libertie, they despised the most high, they continued his Law, and forsooke his wayes.

57 Moreover, they haue troden downe his righteous,

58 * Saying in their heart, that there was no God, though they knew that they should die.

59 For as the thing that I haue spoken of, is made ready for you: so is thist and paine prepared for them: for God would not that man should perish.

60 But they, after that they were created, haue defiled the name of him that made them, and are vnthankfull vnto him, which prepared life for them.

61 Therefore my iudgement is now at hand.

62 These things haue I not shewed vnto all men, but vnto thee, and to a few like thee: then I answered, and said, 63 Behold now, O Lord: thou hast shewed mee the many wonders, which thou art determined to doe in the last time, but in what time, thou hast not shewed mee.

CHAP. IX.

5 All things in this world haue a beginning and an end, 10 Torments for the wicked after this life, 15 The number of the wicked is more then of the good, 29 The leues ingratitude: 36 Therefore they perish, 38 The vision of a woman lamenting.

Then answered me then and said, Measure the time with it selfe, and when thou seest that one part of the tokens come to passe, which I haue told thee before,

2 Then shalt thou vnderstand, that it is the time wherein the most high will begin to visite the world which be made.

3 Therefore when there shall bee scene an earthquake in the world, and an appare of the people.

4 Then shalt thou vnderstand that the most high spake of those things, from the dayes that were before thee, euen from the beginning.

5 For as all that is made in the world, hath a beginning and an end, and the end is manifest:

6 So the times also of the most high haue plaine beginnings in wonders and signs, and end in effect and miracles.

7 And euery one that shall escape safe, and shall be deliuered by his workes, and by the faith wherein ye haue believed.

8 Shall be preserved from the late perils, and shall see my salvation in my land, and within my borders: for I have kept mee holy from the world.

9 Then shall they have pite of themselves, which now haue abused my wayes: and they that haue cast them out despitefully, shall dwell in paines.

10 For such as in their life haue received benefits, and haue not known me,

11 But haue abhorred my Law, while they were yet in libertie, and when they had yet lea- sure of amendment, and would not understand, but despised it,

12 They must bee taughte it after death by paine.

13 And therefore bee thou no more carefull to know how the vngodly shall be punished, but en- quire how the righteous shall be lauded, and whose the world is, and for whom it is, and when.

14 Then answered I, and said,

15 I haue afore said that which I say now, and will speake it hereafter, that there bee many moe of them which perish then of them that shall bee lauded.

16 As the flood is greater then a drop.

17 And he answered me, saying, As the field is, so is also the seed: as the flowers bee, soe are the colours also: such as the workeman is, such is the worke: and as the husbandman is, so is his husbandry: for it was the time of the world.

18 Surely when I prepared the world, which was not yet made for them to dwell in: that now thou, no man speake against me.

19 For then euery one obeyed, but now the maners of them that are created in this world, that is made, are corrupted by a perpetuall seed, and by a law, wherout they cannot rid them- selves.

20 So I considered the world, and beheld, there was perill, because of the deuices, that were sprung vp into it.

21 Per when I saw it, I spared it greatly, and haue kept me one grape of the cluster, and a plant out of a great people.

22 Let therefore the multitude perish, which are borne in vaine: and let my grape bee kept, and my plant which I haue desired with great labour.

23 Courtelesse, if thou wilt cease: seven dayes moe, (but thou shalt not fast in them,

24 But shalt goe into a faire field, where no house is builded, and shalt eat onely of the flow- ers of the field, and eat no flesh, nor drinke wine but the flowers onely,

25 And pray vnto the most High continu- ally: then will I come and talke with thee.

26 So I went my way, as he had comman- ded me, into the field, which is called Ardach, and there I late among the flowers, and did eat of the herbes of the field, and the meate of the same satisfied me.

27 And after seven dayes, as I late vpon the grasse, and mine heart was vexed within mee, as afore,

28 I opened my mouth, and began to talke before the most High, and to say,

29 O Lord, when thou wouldest shewe thy selfe vnto vs, * thou declaredst thy selfe vnto our fathers in the wilderness, in a place where no man dwilleth, in a barren place, when they came out of Egypt,

30 And graciously spakest vnto them, saying, Heare me, O Israel, and make my words, thou seed of Jacob.

31 For behold, I saw my Law in you, that it may bring forth fruit in you, and that ye may be honoured by it for ever.

32 But our fathers which received the Law, kept it not, neither obserued thine ordinances, neither did the fruit of the Law appeare, neither could it, for it was thine.

33 For they that received it, perished be- cause they kept not the thing that was sown in them.

Exod. 32, 11.

34 And loe, it is a custome when the ground receiveth seed, or the sea a ship, or a vessel meate and drinke, if that perish wherein a thing is sown, or wherein any thing is put,

35 Likewise the thing that is sown, or is put therein, and the things that are sown, must perish, so the things that are received, doe not remaine with vs: but in vs it cometh not to passe.

36 For we that haue received the Law, perish in sinne, and our heart also which receiued it:

37 But the Law perisheth not, but remaineth in his force.

38 And when I spake these things in mine heart, I looked about mee, and vpon the right side * I saw a woman, which mourned sore, and lamented with a lowd voyce, and was grieved in heart, and rent her clothes, and she had ashes vpon her head.

Cp. 10, 44

39 Then I left my thoughts, wherein I was occupied, and turned me vnto her,

40 And said vnto her, Wherfore wepest thou? why art thou so sorrow in minde?

41 And she said vnto mee, Sir, let me alone, that I may bewaile my selfe, & increase sorow, for I am sore vexed in my minde, and broughe very low.

42 Then I said vnto her, What aileth thee? tell mee.

43 And she said vnto mee, I thy seruant haue become barren: and haue had no child, hauing an husband thirtie yeres.

44 And euery haire, & euery day these thirtie yeres, I pray to the most High day and night.

45 And after thirtie yeres God heard mee thine handmayd, and looked vpon my miserie, considered my trouble, and gaue me a sonne, and I was glad of him: so was mine husband also, and all they of my country, and we gaue great honour vnto the Almighty.

46 And I nourished him with great trauell,

47 So when he grew vp, and came to take a wife, I made a feast.

But when my sonne went into his chamber, he fell downe and died.

2 Then we all ouerthrew the lightes, and all my neighbours rose vp to comfort me: so I rested vntill the second day at night.

field as thou hast,

4 And am not purposed to returne into the citie, but to remaine here, and neither to eat nor drinke, but continually to mourne and fast until I die.

5 Then I left my purpose wherein I was, and came to her anger, and said,

6 Thou foolish woman above all other, hast thou not our beaunitie, and what cometh unto us?

7 For thou our mother is all wofull, and is sore afflicted, and mourneth extremely.

8 Seeing wee be all now in heavinesse, and make our moane (for wee be all sorrowfull) art thou thus for one sonne?

9 Demaund the earth, and shee shall tell thee that it is the which ought to mourne for the fall of so many that grow upon her.

10 For from the beginning all men are boyme of her, and other shall come, and beholde, they walke almost all into destruction, and the multitude of them shall be destroyed.

11 Altho should she rather mourne, she that hath lost so great a multitude, or thou which art soire but for one?

12 But if thou wouldest say unto me, My mourning is not like the mourning of the earth (for I have lost the fruit of my wombe, which I brought forth with beaunitie, and bare with sorrowes, 13 But the earth is according to the manner of the earth, and the great multitude returneth into her as it came)

14 Then say I unto thee, As thou hast borne with travail, so the earth also from the beginning giueth her fruit unto man, even to him that laboureth her.

15 Now therefore withholde thy sorrow in thy selfe, and beare constantly that which cometh unto thee.

16 For if thou allowest Gods purpose, and secretest his counsell in time, thou shalt be commended therein.

17 Goe thy way then into the citie to thine husband,

18 ¶ Then she said unto mee, I will not, I will not goe into the citie, but here will I die.

19 So I continued to speake more with her, and said,

20 Doe not so, but hee counselled: for how many fallow hath thou? We of good comfort, because of the sorrow of Jerusalem.

21 For thou seest that our Sanctuary is laid waste: our altar is broken downe: our Temple is destroyed:

22 Our Palace is fainteth, and the long ceiling, and our steeple is banished away, and the light of our candlestick is quenched, and the Ark of our Covenant is taken away, and our holy things are defiled, and the same that is called upon ones us, is almost dishonoured, and our children are put to shame, and our Priests are burnt, and our Levites are carried into captivity, and our virgins are defiled, and our widows tauighed, and our righteous men spoiled, and our children destroyed, and our young men are brought in bondage, and our strong men are become weak:

23 And which is the greatest of all, thou the scale hath lost her worthip: for she is deliuered into the hands of them that hate vs.

24 And therefore shake off thy great beaunitie, and put away the multitude of sorrowes, that the Righteous may see mercifull unto thee, and that the most high may give thee rest and ease from thy labour.

25 And when I was talking with her, her face and beautie shined suddenly, and her countenance was bright, so that I was afraid of her, and mist what it might be.

26 And beholde, immediately shee cast out a great voice, very fearfull, so that the earth shooke at the noise of the woman.

27 And I looked, and beholde, the woman appeared unto mee no more: but there was a citie builded, & a place was shewed from the ground and foundation. Then was I afraid, and cryed with a loud voice, and said, 28 Where is Ariel the Angel * which came Chap. 4. 2. to me at the first: for he hath caused me to come into many and deepe considerations, and mine end is turned into corruption, and my prayer to rebuke.

29 And as I was speaking these words, beholde, he came unto me, and looked upon me.

30 And loe, I lay as one dead, and mine understanding was altered, and he took me by the right hand and comforted me, and set mee upon my feet, and said unto me,

31 What aileth thee? and why is thine understanding woe? and the understanding of thine heart? and wherefore art thou so?

32 And I sayd, Because thou hast forsaken mee, and I have done * according unto thy words: I went into the field, and there have I seene things, and see that I am not able to re- ppele.

33 Then said hee unto me, Stand up manly, and I will give thee exhortation.

34 Then said I, Speake unto me, my Lord, and forsake me not, till I die through sadness.

35 For I have sene that I know not, and heare that I doe not know.

36 O! is mine understanding deceived, or doeth my mind being haunie, erre?

37 Now therefore, I beseech thee that thou wilt shew thy lemant of this wonder.

38 Then he answered mee, and said, Heare me, and I will enforme thee, and tell thee wherefore thou art afraid: for the most high hath revealed many secrets things unto thee.

39 We hath seene thy good purpose, that thou art soire continually for thy people, and maketh great lamentation for thou.

40 This therefore is the understanding of the vision, which appeared unto thee a litle while agoe.

41 Thou sawest a woman mourning, and thou beganst to comforte her.

42 But now seest thou the likeness of the woman no more, but there appeared unto thee a city builded.

43 And whereas shee told thee of the death of her sonne, this is the solution.

44 This woman, whom thou sawest, shee is Zion: and whereas shee told thee (even she which thou seest now as a city builded.)

45 And as touching that shee said unto thee, that shee was barren thirty yeeres, this was concerning that, there was even thirty yeeres wherein there was no offering offered in her.

46 But after thirty yeeres, Salomon buildeth
A a 3 the

the cite, and offered offerings: then bare the barren a sonne.

47 And whereas the told thee, that the nourished him with labour, that was the inhabiting of Ierusalem.

48 But whereas the told thee that her sonne, as his chance was, dyed when she came into her chamber, that is the fall that is come to Ierusalem.

49 And when thou sawest her like one that mourned for her sonne, and because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, hee shewed thee the clearness of her glory, and the faireness of her beauty.

50 For now the most High seeth, that thou art sorie in thy mind, and because thou sufferest with all thine heart for her, hee shewed thee the clearness of her glory, and the faireness of her beauty.

51 And therefore I bade thee remaine in the field where no house was built.

52 For I know that the most High would shew thee things vnto thee.

53 Therefore I commanded thee to goe into the field where no foundation nor building is.

54 For the worke of mans building cannot stand in that place where the City of the most High should be shewed.

55 And therefore feare not, neither let thine heart be afraid, but goe in, and see the beauty and greatnesse of the building as much as thou art able to see with thine eyes.

56 And after this thou shalt heare as much as thine eares may comprehend.

57 For thou art blessed above many, and art called with the most High among the few.

58 But to morrow at night thou shalt remaine here.

59 And the most High shall shew the visions of high things, which the most High will doe vnto them that dwell vpon earth, in the last dayes. So I slept the same night and another, as he commanded me.

CHAP. XI.

1 This vision of an Eagle coming forth of the Sea, and of her feathers. 37 Of a Lyon coming out of the Forrest.

Then saw I a dream, and behold, there came vp from the sea an Eagle, which had twelue feathered wings, and three heads.

2 And I saw, and beholde, shee spread her wings ouer all the earth, and all the winde of the aire blew on her, and gathered themselues.

3 And I beheld, and out of her feathers grew out other contrary feathers, and they became little feathers and small.

4 But her heads remained still, and the head in the midst was greater then the other heads, yet rested it with them.

5 Moreover, I saw that the Eagle flew with his feathers, and reigned vpon earth, and ouer them that dwell therein.

6 And I saw that all things vnder heauen were subiect vnto her, and no man spake against her, nor one creature vpon earth.

7 I saw also that the Eagle stood vpon vpon her clawes, and spake to her feathers, saying,

8 I will not altogether forsake euery one in his owne place, and watch by course.

9 But let the heads be preferred for the last. 10 Furthermore, I saw that the voice came not out of her heads but from the midst of her body.

11 Then I numbered her contrary feathers, and behold, there were eight of them.

12 And I looked, and behold, vpon the right side there arose one feather, and reigned ouer all the earth.

13 And when it had reigned, the ende of it came, and the place thereof appeared no more. So the next stood vp, and reigned: it continued a long time.

14 And when it had reigned, the ende of it came also, and as the first, so it appeared no more.

15 Then there came a voice vnto it, and said,

16 Heare thou that hast kept the earth so long, this I say vnto thee, before thou beginnest to appeare no more.

17 There shall none after thee attaine vnto thy time, neither to the halfe thereof.

18 Then arose the third, and reigned as the other afore, and it appeared no more also.

19 So came it to all the others one after another, so that euery one reigned, and then appeared no more.

20 Then I looked, and behold, in proccesse of time the feathers that followed, stood vpon the right side, that they might rule also, and some of them ruled, but within a while they appeared no more.

21 For some of them were set by, but ruled not.

22 After this I looked, and behold, the twelue feathers appeared no more, nor the two wings.

23 And there was no more vpon the Eagles body, but two heads that rested, and sixe wings.

24 Then saw I also, that two wings diuided themselues from the sixe, and remained vnder the head that was vpon the right side: for the foure continued in their place.

25 So I looked, and behold, the undertwings thought to sit by themselues, and to haue the rule.

26 Then was there one set by, but shortly it appeared no more.

27 And the second were sooner gone then the first.

28 Then I beheld, and loe, the two that remained, thought also in themselves to reigne.

29 And when they so thought, behold, there awaked one of the heads that were at rest, which was in the midst: for that was greater then the two.

30 And then I saw that the two heads were loyned therewith.

31 And behold, the head was turned with them, that were with it, and did eat by the two undertwings that would haue reigned.

32 But this head put the whole earth in feare, and bare rule in it, ouer all those that dwelt vpon earth, with much labour, and it had the gouernance of the world, more then all the wings that had bene.

33 After this I looked, and behold, the head that was in the midst, suddenly appeared no more, as did the wings.

34 But the two heads remained, which also ruled likewise vpon earth, and ouer those that dwelt therein.

35 And I behelde, and loe, the head vpon the right right side denouered it that was vpon the left side.

36 ¶ Then I heard a voyce which said vnto mee, Looke vpon thee, and consider the thing that thou seest.

37 So I saw, and behold, as it were a lyon tharowert, running hastily out of the wood: and I saw that hee sent out a mans voyce vnto the eagle, and spake, and sayd,

38 Weare thou, I will walke with thee, and the most High shall lay vnto thee,

39 Art not thou that, that of the foure beasts remained, whome I made to reigne in my world, that by them the ende of times might come,

40 And the fourth is come, and hath overcome all the beasts that were past, and hath power ouer the world with great fearfulness, and ouer the whole compasse of the earth with most wicked oppression, and that dweller in long time in all the world with deceit?

41 For thou hast not iudged the world with truth.

42 Seeing thou hast troubled the meek, thou hast hurt the peaceable, and thou hast loured them, and destroyed the dwellings of them that brought forth fruit, and hast cast downe the walles of such as did thee no harme:

43 Therefore is thy wrongfull dealing come by vnto the most High, and thy pride vnto the Highest.

44 The most High also hath looked vpon the proud times, and behold, they are ended, and their abominations are fulfilled.

45 Therefore appeare no more, thou Eagle, nor thine horrible wings, nor thy wicked feathers, nor thy malicious beards, and thy wicked claws, nor all thy vaine body.

46 That all the earth may be refreshed, and come againe, as one deliuered from thy violence and that they may hope for the iudgement and mercie of him that made her.

CHAP. XII.

The declaration of the former vision.

¶ When the Lion spake these wordes to the Eagle, I saw,

2 And behold, the head that had the vpper hand appeare no more, neither did the foure wings appeare any more, that came to it, and set vp themselves to reigne, whose kingdome was small and full of vniuerses.

3 And I saw, and behold, they appeared no more, and the whole body of the Eagle was burnt, so that the earth was in great feare. When I awaked out of the trouble and trance of my minde, and from the great feare, and sayd vnto my spirit,

4 For, this hast thou done vnto mee in that thou searchest out the wayes of the most High.

5 For, yet am I weary in my mind, and very weak in my spirit, and little strength is there in me, for the great feare that I receiued this night.

6 Therefore now, will I helpe thee the most High that he will comfort me vnto the end.

7 And I said, O Lord, Lord, if I haue found grace before thy light, and if I am iustified with thee before many other, and if my prayer in deed be come up before thy face,

8 Comfort me, and shew me thy seruant the interpretation and difference of this horrible sight, that thou mayest perfectly comfort my soule,

9 Seeing thou hast iudged mee worthy to shew me the last times.

10 ¶ Then he said vnto mee, This the interpretation of this vision.

11 The Eagle whome thou sawest come by from the sea, is the kingdome which was seene Dan. 7. 7. in the vision of thy brother Daniel.

12 But it was not expounded vnto him: therefore now I declare it vnto thee.

13 Behold, the dayes come, that there shall rise vp a kingdome vpon the earth, and it shall be feared about all kingdomes that were before it.

14 In it shall twelue kings reigne one after another.

15 Aftere of the second shall begin to reigne, and shall haue more time then the twelue.

16 And this doe the twelue wings signifie, which thou sawest.

17 As for the voyce that thou heardest speake, and that thou sawest not go out from the head, but from the mids of the body thereof, this is the interpretation.

18 That after the time of that kingdome, there shall arise great strife, and it shall be in danger to fall, but it shall not then fall, but shall be restored againe to his beginning.

19 Concerning the eight vnder wings, which thou sawest hang vnder her wings, this is the interpretation, 20 In him shall arise eight kings, whose time shall be but small, and their power a little, and two of them shall perish.

21 But when the mid time cometh, there shall be foure kept a time, whiles his time beginneth to come, that it may be ended, but two shall be kept vnto the end.

22 And whereas thou sawest three heads rising, this is the interpretation,

23 In his last dayes shall the most High raise vp three kingdomes, and shall call againe many things into them, and they shall haue the domination of the earth,

24 And of those that dwell therein, with much griefe about all those that were before them: therefore are they called the heads of the Eagle:

25 For they shall accomplish his wickednes, and shall finish his last end.

26 And whereas thou sawest that the great head appeared no more, it signifieth that one of them shall die vpon his bed, and yet with paine.

27 For the two that remaine, the sword shall deuoure them.

28 For the sword of the one shall deuoure the other: but at the last shall he fall by the sword himselfe.

29 And whereas thou sawest two vnder wings, that went off toward the head, which was on the right side, this is the interpretation,

30 These are they whome the most High hath preferred for their end, whose kingdome is little, and full of trouble as thou sawest.

31 And the Lyon whome thou sawest rising by out of the wood, and roaring, and speaking vnto the Eagle, and rebuking her for her vniuersitiedness with all the wordes that thou hast heard,

32 This is the winds which the most High hath kept for them, and for their wickednesses unto the end, and he shall requite them, and call before them their doylees.

33 For he shall let them all in the judgement, and shall rebuke them and correct them.

34 For he will deliver the residue of my people by affliction, which are preferred upon my bowers, and hee shall make them joyfull, until the coming of the day of judgement, to which I have spoken unto thee from the beginning.

35 This is the dream that thou sawest, and these are the interpretations.

36 Thou only hast been meet to knowe this secret of the most high.

37 Therefore write all these things that thou hast seene, in a booke, and hide them.

38 And teach them the wile of the people, whose hearts thou knowest may comprehend and keepe these secrets.

39 But waite thou here yet seven dayes more, that it may bee shewed thee what manner it pleaseth the most high to declare unto thee: and with that he went his way.

40 And when all the people perceived, that the seven dayes were past, and I not come againe into the citie, they gathered themselves together, from the least unto the most, and came unto me, and spake unto mee, saying,

41 What have we offended thee? or what shall have we done against thee, that thou shouldst be so, and sittest in this place?

42 For of all the people thou only art left us as a grape of the vine, and as a candle in a dark place, and as an haven of ship preferred from the tempest.

43 Are not the evils which are come to us, sufficient?

44 If thou thinke for sake us, how much better had it been for us, that we had bee burnt also as Sion was burnt?

45 For we are no better then they that died there: and they wept with a loud voyce. Then answered I them, and said, 46 Be of good comfort, O Israel, and be not heavy thou house of Jacob.

47 For the most high hath you in remembrance, and the Almighty hath not forgotten you in temptation.

48 As for me I have not forsaken you, neither am I departed from you, but am come into this place to pray for the desolation of Sion, that I might seeke mercie for the lowe estate of your Sanctuary.

49 And now goe your way home every man, and after these dayes will I come unto you.

50 So the people went their way into the citie as I commanded them:

51 But I remained still in the field seven dayes, as hee had commanded mee, and did care onely of the flowers of the field, and had my meate of the herbes in those dayes.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The vision of a wode coming forth of the Sea, 3 Which became a man, 5 His property and power against his enemies, 21 The declaration of this vision.

After the seven dayes I dreamed a dream by night.

2 And behold there arose a winder from the Sea, and it mooved all the waues thereof.

3 And I looked, and beheld, there was a mighty man with the thousands of heaven: and when he turned his countenance to looke, all the things trembled that were seene under him.

4 And when the voyce went out of his mouth, all they burned that heard his voyce, as the earth failed when it felt the fire.

5 After these things I saw, and beheld, there was gathered together a multitude of men out of number, from the four windes of the heaven, to fight against the man that came out from the sea.

6 And I looked, and beheld, he graven himselfe a great mountain, and flew up upon it.

7 But I would have seene the country on place wherout the hill was graven, and I could not.

8 I saw after these things, and beheld, all they which came to fight against him were sore afraid, and yet they durst fight.

9 After this, when he saw the fiercenesse of the multitude that came, he lifted not up his hand: for he held no sword, nor any instrument of warre.

10 But only, as I saw, he sent out of his mouth, as it had been a blast of fire, and out of his lips the winde of the flame; and out of his tongue he cast out sparkes and flames.

11 And they were all mixt together, was this blast of fire, the winde of the flame, and the great flame, and fell with violence upon the multitude which was prepared to fight, and burnt them by all, so that of the innumerable multitude there was nothing stre, but only dust, and smell of smoke. When I saw this I was afraid.

12 Afterward came I the same man come downe from the mountain, and calling unto him another peaceable multitude.

13 And there came many unto him, some with joyfull countenance, and some with sad: some of them were bound, and some brought of them that were offered, and I saw howe they brought great feare, and awaked, and said, 14 Thou hast shewed thy servant these wonders from the beginning, and hast counted mee worthy to receiue my prayer.

15 Shew mee now the secret of the interpretation of this dream.

16 For thus I consider in mine understanding, Alas unto them that shall be left in these dayes, and much more woe unto them that are not left behind.

17 For they that were not left, were in destruction.

18 Nowe understand I the things that were sayd up in the seven dayes, which thou saidst unto them, and to those that are left behind.

19 Therefore are they come into great perill, and many necessities, as these dreames declare.

20 Peris it enim, that hee that is in danger should fall into thee, and therefore the things to come hereafter, then to passe away as a cloud out of the world.

21 Then answered he mee, and said, The interpretation of the vision will I shew thee, and I will open to thee the thing that thou hast required.

22 Wherefore thou hast spoken of them that are left behind, this is the interpretation.

23 For that that beate the danger in their time, hee shall keepe himselfe. They that bee fallen into danger, as such as your weapons and faith such toward the most mighty.

24 Know therefore, that they which bee left behind, are more blessed then they that be dead.

25 These are the meanings of the vision, whereas thou sawest a man coming up from the midst of the sea, 26 The same is he whom the most high hath kept a great season, who by his owne selfe shall deliver his creature, and he shall order them that are left behind.

27 And whereas thou sawest, that out of his mouth there came as a blacke toled fire and flame,

28 And that he neither held sword nor weapon, but that by his fiercenesse hee destroyed the whole multitude that came to fight against him, this is the interpretation.

29 Behold, the dayes come that the most high will begin to deliver them that are upon the earth:

30 And hee shall astonish the hearts of them that dwell upon the earth:

31 And some shall prepare to fight against another, cite against cite, and place against place, * and nation against nation, and realme against realme.

32 When this cometh to passe, then shall the troubles come, that I shewed thee before, and thou shalt say, * Some bee crucified, whom thou sawest goe up as a man.

33 And when all the people heare his voice, every man shall in their owne land leave the battell, and they shall come one against another.

34 And an innumerable multitude shall bee gathered as one, as they that be willing to come, and to fight against him.

35 But he shall stand upon the top of mount Zion.

36 And when that come, and shalbe shewed to all, being prepared and builded, as thou sawest the hill graven without any hands.

37 And this my * Some shall rebuke the wicked inventions of those nations, which say their wicked life are fallen into the tempest, 38 And into torment like to flame, whereby they shall be consumed: and without any labour will hee destroy them even by the flame, which is compared unto the fire.

39 And whereas thou sawest that hee gathered another peaceable people unto him,

40 Those are the ten tribes, which were carried away captives out of their owne land * in the time of Othas the king, whom Antiochus the king of the Syrians tooke captive, and carried them beyond the river: so they were brought into another land.

41 But they took their counsell to themselves, that they would leave the multitude of the heathen, and goe forth into a further country, where neuer man hand dwelt.

42 That they might there keepe their statutes, which they never kept in their owne land.

43 And they entered in at the narrowe passages of the river Euphrates.

44 For the most high then shewed them signes, * and stayed the springes of the flood till they were passed over.

45 For thou sawest the country there was a great country, even of a yere and a halfe, and the same region is called Illelareth.

46 Then dwelt they there untill the latter time: and when they came forth againe, 47 The most high shall hold all their springes of the river againe, that they may goe thow: therefore sawest thou the multitude peaceable.

48 But they that bee left behind of the people, are those that be found within my borders.

49 Now when hee destroyeth the multitude of the nations that are gathered together, hee shall defend the people that remaine.

50 And then shall be shew great wonders unto them.

51 Then said I, O Lord, Lord, shew me this, wherefore have I seene the man coming up from the midst of the sea?

52 And hee said unto mee, As thou canst neither seeke out, nor knowe these things that are in the deepe of the sea, so can no man upon earth see my sonne, or those that bee with him, but in the time of that day.

53 This is the interpretation of the dreame, which thou sawest, and whereby thou only art lightened.

54 For thou hast forsaken thine owne Lawe, and applied the diligence unto mine, and sought it.

55 Thy life hast thou ordered in wisdom, and hast called understanding thy mother.

56 Therefore have I shewed thee the rewards with the most high: and after that other dayes I will speake other things unto thee, and will declare unto thee great and wondrous things.

57 Then went I forth unto the field, glorifying and praising the most high for the wonders which hee did in time, 58 Which he governeth, and such things as come in their seasons: and there I sawe these dayes.

CHAP. XLIIII.

3 How God appeared to Moses in the bush. 10 All things decline to age. 15 The later times worsten the former. 29 The ingratitude of Israel. 35 Therefore shall come judgement.

V When the third day I sawe under an oke, and beheld, there came forth a voice unto mee out of the bush, and sayd, Elias, Elias.

2 And I said, Where am I, Lord, and stood by upon my feete.

3 Then said he unto mee, * In the bush I revealed my selfe, and spake unto Moses, when my people served in Egypt:

4 And I sent him, and led my people out of Egypt, and brought him upon the mount Sinai, and I held him with me a long season.

5 And I told him many wonders, and shewed him the secretes of the times and the end, and commanded him, saying,

6 These words shalt thou declare, and these shalt thou do.

7 And now I say unto thee, that thou lay up in thine heart the signes that I have shewed, and the dreames that thou hast seene, and the interpretations, which thou hast heard.

8 For thou shalt be taken away from all, and thou shalt remaine henceforth with my counsell, and with such as be like thee, untill the times be ended.

9 For the way to hard lost his youth, and the times, times begin to wax cold.

10 For the world is divided into twelve parts, and ten parts of it are gone already, and half of the tenth part.

11 And there remaineth that which is after the half of the tenth part.

12 Therefore set thine house in order, and reforme thy people, and comforte such of them as be in trouble, and now renounce the corruption.

13 Let goe from thee the moulte thoughts: cast away from thee the burdens of men, and put off now the wake nature.

14 And set aside thy most grievous thoughts, and haste thee to depart from these times.

15 For greater evils then these, which thou hast seene now, shall they commit.

16 For the weaker that the world is by reason of age, the more shall the evils bee increased upon them that dwell therein.

17 For the truth is fled farre away, and lies at hand: for now hasteth the vision to come, that thou hast seene.

18 ¶ Then answered I, and said before thee,

19 Behold, O Lord, I will goe as thou hast commanded me, and reforme the people, which are present: but they that shall bee boyne afterwards, who shall admonish them?

20 Thus the world is set in darkenesse, and they that dwell therein, are without light.

21 For thy Law is burnt, therefore no man knoweth the things that are done of thee, or the workes that shall be done.

22 But if I have found grace before thee, send the holy Ghost into me, and I will write all that hath been done in the world since the beginning, which was written in the Law, that men may finde the path, and that they which will live in the latter dayes, may live.

23 And he answered mee, saying, Goe and gather the people, and lay vnto them, that they seeke thee not for forty dayes.

24 But prepare thee many bore tables, and take with thee these five, Sarea, Dabia, Selema, Ecanus, and Aziel, which are ready to write swiftly.

25 And come hither, and I will light a candle of understanding in thine heart, which shall not be put out, till the things be performed which thou shalt begin to write.

26 And then shalt thou declare some things openly vnto the perfect men, and some things shalt thou shew secretly vnto the wise: to morrow this houre shalt thou begin to write.

27 Then went I forth, as hee commanded mee, and gathered all the people together, and said, 28 Heare these wordes, O Israel.

29 Our fathers at the beginning were strangers in Egypt, from whence they were deliuered.

Gen. 47.4.

Math. 7.53.

30 And receiued the Law of life, which they kept not, which ye also haue transgressed after them.

31 Then was the land, even the land of Sion parted among you by lot: but your fathers and ye also haue done unrighteously, and haue not kept the wayes, which the most High commaunded you.

32 And for so much as hee is a righteous Judge, hee took from you in time the thing that he had giuen you.

33 And now are ye here, and your brethren among you.

34 Therefore if so be that ye will subdune your owne vnderstanding, and reforme your heart, ye shall be kept alive, and after death shall ye obtaine merrie.

35 For after death shall the iudgement come, when wee shall live againe: and then shall the names of the righteous bee manifest, and the workes of the vngodly shall be declared.

36 Let no man therefore come now vnto mee, nor seeke me these forty dayes.

37 So I tooke the five men as hee commaunded mee, and we went into the field, and remained there.

38 The next day, behold, a voyce called mee, saying, Elias, open thy mouth, and drinke Esdr. 1.1 that I giue thee to drinke.

39 Then opened I my mouth, and behold, he reached me a full cup, which was full as it were with water: but the colour of it was like fire.

40 And I tooke it, and dranke, and when I had drunke it, mine heart had vnderstanding, and wisdom grew in my breast: for my spirit was strengthened in memory.

41 And my mouth was opened, and shut no more.

42 The most High gave vnderstanding vnto the five men, that they wrote the big things of the night, which they vnderstood not.

43 But in the night they did not read, but I spake by day, and held not my tongue by night.

44 In forty dayes, they wrote two hundred and foure booke.

45 And when the forty dayes were fulfilled, the most High spake, saying, The first that thou hast written, publish openly, that the worthy and vniworthy may reade it.

46 But keepe the seuenthy last, that thou mayest giue them to the wise among the people.

47 For in them is the beine of vnderstanding: and the fountaine of wisdom, and the riuier of knowledge: and I did so.

CHAPTER XV.

1 The prophesie of Esdras is certaine. 5 The evils that shall come on the world. 9 The Lord will avenge the innocent blood. 12 Egypt shall languish. 16 Sedition. 20 and punishment upon the kings of the earth. 24 Cursed are they that sinne. 9 Tremble and warres upon the whole earth: 53 God is the reuenger of his elect.

Behold, speake thou in the eares of my people the wordes of prophesie, which I will put in thy mouth saith the Lord:

2 And cause them to be written in a letter: for they are faithfull and true.

3 Fear not the imaginations against thee: let not the unfaithfulness of the speakers trouble thee, that spake against thee.

4 For every unfaithfull shall die in his unfaithfulness.

5 Behold, saith the Lord, I will bring plagues vpon all the world, the sword, famine, death and destruction:

6 Because that iniquity hath filled, polluted all the earth, & their wicked workes are fulfilled.

7 Therefore, saith the Lord, I will hold my tongue no more for their wickednesse, (they doe vngodly) neither will I suffer them in the things that they doe wickedly.

8 Behold,

24. 6. 10.
and 19. 3.

8 Behold, the innocent and righteous blood cryeth unto mee, and the soules of the iust cry continually.

9 I will surely avenge them, saith the Lord, and receive unto me all the innocent blood from among them.

10 Behold, my people is led as a flocke to the slaughter: I will not suffer them now to dwell in the land of Egypt.

11 But I will bring them out with a mighty hand, and a stretched out arme, and smite it with plagues as afore, and will destroy all the land thereof.

12 Egypt shall mourne, and the foundations thereof shall bee smitten with the plague and punishment, that God shall bring upon it.

13 The plowmen that till the ground, shall mourne: for their seeds shall faile through the blasting and haile: and by an horrible starre.

14 Allee to the world, and to them that dwell therein.

15 For the sword, and their destruction draweth nere, and one people shall stand up to fight against another with swoords in their hands.

16 For there shall be sedition among men, and one shall invade another: they shall not regarde their King, and the princes shall measure their doings by their power.

17 A man shall desire to goe into a city, and shall not be able.

18 Because of their pride the cities shall bee troubled, the houses shall be afraide, men shall feare.

19 A man shall have no pittie upon his neighbour, but shall destroy their houses with the sword, and their goods shall be spoiled for lacke of bread, and because of great trouble.

20 Behold, saith God, I call together all the Kings of the earth to ruuerence mee, which are from the East, and from the South, from the East, and from Libanus, to turne upon them, and to repay the things that they haue done to them.

21 As they doe yet this day unto my chosen, so will I doe also, and recompense them in their holme: thus saith the Lord God.

22 My right hand shall not spare the sinners, neither shall the sword cease from them, that they innocent blood upon earth.

23 The fire is gone out from his wrath, and hath consumed the foundations of the earth, and the sinners like the straw that is kindled.

24 Allee to them that sin, and keepe not my commandments, saith the Lord.

25 I will not spare them: depart, O children from the power: desile not my Sanctuary.

26 For the Lord knoweth all them that sinne against him, and therefore deliuereth bee them unto death and destruction.

27 For now are the plagues come vpon the world, and yet shall remaine in them: for God will not deliuer you, because yee haue sinned against him.

28 Behold, an horrible vision cometh from the East,

29 Where generations of dragons of Arabia shall come out with many charers, and the multitude of them shall be caried as the winde vpon the earth, that all they which heare them, may feare and tremble,

30 Euen the Carmanians raging in wrath shall goe forth as the boares of the forest, and shall come with great power, and stand against them in battell, and shall destroy a portion of the land of the Assyrians.

31 But after this shall the dragons haue the upper hand, and remember their nature, and shall turne about, and conspire to consume them with a great power.

32 Then these shall be troubled, and keepe silence by their power, and shall flee.

33 From the land of the Assyrians shall the enemy bessege them, and consume some of them, and in their house shall bee feare and dread, and strife among their kings.

34 Behold clouds from the East, and from the South vnto the South, and they are very horrible to looke vpon, full of wrath and storme.

35 They shall smite one vpon another: and they shall smite downe a great multitude of starres vpon the earth: euen their owne starre, and the blood shall bee from the swoyd vnto the belly.

36 And the dung of man vnto the Camels litter.

37 And there shall be great fearefulness and trembling vpon earth, and they that see the wrath, shall be afraide, and a trembling shall come vpon them.

38 And then there shall come great stormes from the South, and from the North, and part from the West.

39 And from the East shall winds arise, and shall open it with the cloud, which bee raised up in wrath, and the starre, raised to feare the East and West wind, shall be destroyed.

40 And the great and mighty cloudes shall be lift vp full of wrath, and the starre, that they may make all the earth afraide, and them that dwell therein, and that they may powre out ouer euery high place, and lift up an horrible constellation.

41 As fire and haile, and flying swords, and many waters, that all fields may bee full, and all riuers with the abundance of great waters.

42 And they shall breake downe the cities, and walles, and mountaines, and hilles, and the trees of the wood, and the grasse of the meadow, and their coyne.

43 And they shall goe with a straight course vnto Babylon, and make it afraide.

44 They shall come to her and bessege her, and shall powre forth the constellation, and all the wrath against her: then shall the dust and smoke goe vp vnto the heauen, and all they that be about her, shall bewaile her.

45 And they that remaine vnder her, shall doe seruice vnto them that haue yee her in feare.

46 O And thou Alia, that art partaker of the hope of Babylon, and the glory of her person, 47 Allee vnto thee, O wretch, because thou hast made thy selfe like vnto her, and hast deckt thy daughters in whooredome, that they might please and glorie in thy louers, which haue alway desired to commit whooredome with thee.

48 Thou hast followed her that is hated in all her workes and in her inventions: therefore saith God,

49 I will

49 I will send plagues upon thee, withowout, poverrie and famine, and the sword, and pestilence, to waite thine houses with destruction and death.

50 And the glory of thy power shall be dried up, as a flower when the heat riseth, that is sent upon thee.

51 Thou shalt be like as a poore wite that is plagued and beaten of women, so that the mighty-tie, the loursers shall nor be able to receive thee.

52 Would I thus hate thee, saith the Lord,

53 If thou hadst not alwayes kaine my chosen, raising the stroke of thine hands, and layd ouer their death, when thou wast humbled,

54 Yet for thy beauntie of thy countenance?

55 The reward of thy whoredome shall be in thy bosom: rather for shall thou receive a reward.

56 As thou hast done unto my chosen, saith the Lord, so will God doe unto thee, and will deliver thee unto the plague.

57 And thy children shall die of hunger, and thou shalt fall by the sword, and the cities shall be broken downe, and all thy men shall fall by the sword in the field.

58 And they that be in the mountaines, shall die of hunger, and eat their owne flesh, and drinke their owne blood for want of bread and course of water.

59 And thou, as unhappy, shalt come tharow
the sea, and receive plagues againe.

60 In the passages they shall cast downe the staine city, and shall roote out one part of thy land, and consume the portion of thy glory, and shall returne to her that was destroyed.

61 When thou shalt be cast downe, thou shalt be to them as stubble, and they shall bee to thee as fire.

62 And they shall destroy thee, and thy cities, thy land, and thy mountaines: al thy woods and all thy fruitfull trees shall they burne with fire.

63 Thy children shall they carry away captive, and shall spoile thy substance, and marre the beauntie of thy face.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Against Babylon, Asia, Egypt and Syria. 18. 38.
Of the ends that shall come upon the world, with admonition how to govern themselves in affliction. 54 To acknowledge their sinnes, and to commit themselves to the Lord, 55 whose mightie providence and iustice is to bee reuerenced.

Woe to thee Babylon, and Asia: woe to thee, Egypt, and Syria.

2 Gird your selues with sacke and haire-cloth, and moune your children, and bee sorrie:
for destruction is at hand.

3 A sword is sent vnto you, and who will turne it backe? a fire is sent among you, and who will quench it?

4 Plagues are sent vnto you, and who can driue them away?

5 Woe any man will away an hungry lion in the wood? or quench the fire in stubble when it hath once begunne to burne? may one turne against the arrow that is shot of a strong archer?

6 The mighty Lord sendeth the plagues, and who can driue them away? the fire is gone forth in his wrath, and who can quench it?

7 He shall cast lightnings, and who shall not feare? hee shall thunder, and who shall not be afraid?

8 The Lord shall threaten, and who shall not dreddly bee shoken in pieces at his puelence?
the earth quaketh, and the foundation thereof:
the sea riseth up with waues from the deepe:
and the waues thereof are troubled, and the shi-pes thereof, before the Lord and the glory of his power.

9 For strong is his right hand, that bendeth the bow: his arrows that he shooteth are sharpe, and shall not misse, when they begin to be shot into the ends of the world.

10 Behold, the plagues are sent, and shall not turne againe till they come vpon earth.

11 The fire is kindled, and shall not bee put out till it consume the foundations of the earth.

12 As an arrow which is shot of a mightie archer, returneth not backward, so the plagues that shall be sent vpon earth, shall not turne again.

13 Alas to mee, woe to me: who will deliuer me in those dayes?

14 The beginning of sorowes and great mourning: the beginning of famine, and great death: the beginning of wars, and the powers shall feare: the beginning of euils, and all shall tremble. What shall I doe in these things, when the plagues come?

15 Behold, famine and plague, and trouble and anguish are sent as scowages for amendment.

16 But for all these things they will not turne from their wickednesse, nor bee alway mindfull of the scourges.

17 Behold, victuals shall bee so good cheape vpon earth, that they shall thinke themselves to be in good case: but then shall the euils turde forth vpon earth, even the sword, the famine, and great confusion.

18 For many of them that dwell vpon earth, shall perishe with famine, and the order that escape the famine, shall the sword destroy.

19 And the dead shall bee cast out as dung, and there shall bee no man to comfort them: for the earth shall be wasted, and the cities shall bee cast downe.

20 There shall be no man left to till the earth, and to sow it: the trees shall giue fruit, but who shall gather them?

21 The grapes shall bee ripe, but who shall tread them? for all places shall be desolate, so that one man shall desire to see another, as to heare his voice.

22 For of one cite there shall be ten left, and two of the field which shall hide themselves in the thicke woods, and in the clefts of rocks.

23 As when there remaine thier of foure olives in a place where olives grow, or among other trees,

24 Or as when a vineyard is gathered, there are left some grapes of them that diligently soughe thoroow the vineyard:

25 So in those dayes there shall bee three or foure left by them that search their houses with the sword,

26 And the earth shall bee left waste, and the fields thereof shall weare old, and her wayes and all her pathes shall grow full of thornes, because no man shall traualle thertrough.

27 The

27 The virgines shall mourne, hauing no bridegromes: the women shall make lamentation, hauing no husbands: their daughters shall mourne, hauing no belvers.

28 In the warres shall their bridegromes be destroyed, and their husbands shall perish with famine.

29 But yet seruants of the Lord, heare these things, and marke them.

30 Behold, the word of the Lord, receiue it: hearken not the godes, of whom the Lord speaketh, behold, the plagues draw neere, and are not slacke.

31 As a trauailing woman which in the ninth moneth bringeth forth her sonne, when the houre of birth is come, two or three houres afore the paines come vpon her body, and when the child cometh to the birth, they tarry not a whit:

32 So shall not the plagues be slacke to come vpon the earth, and the world shall mourne, and toymes shall come vpon it on euery side.

33 O my people, heare my word: make you ready to the battell, and in the troubles bee such as strangers vpon earth.

34 We that killer, let him be as he that fleeth his way, and hee that buyeth, as one that will lose.

35 What so occupieth merchandise, as he that winneth not: and hee that buildeth, as hee that shall not dwell therein.

36 He that soweth, as one that shall not reape: hee that cutteth the vine, as hee that shall not gather the grapes.

37 They that marry, as they that shall get no children, and they that marry not, so as the widowes.

38 Therefore they that labour, labour in vaine.

39 For strangers shall reape their fruites, and spoyle their goods, and ouertrow their houses, and take their children captiue: for in captiuitie and famine, shall they get their children.

40 And they that occupie their merchandise with couetousnesse, the more they decke their cities, their houses, their possessions, and their owne persons, 41 So much more will I bee angry against them, for their sinnes, saith the Lord.

42 As a whose smelteth an honest and vertuous woman,

43 So shall righteousnes hate iniquity, when she decketh her selfe, and shall accuse her openly, when hee shall come that shall bidde the anchor of all sinne vpon the earth.

44 And therefore be ye not like therunto, nor to the workes thereof: for so euery bee long, iniquity shall be taken away out of the earth, and righteousness shall reigne among you.

45 Let not the sinners say, that he hath not sinned: for coales of fire shall burne vpon his head, which saith, I haue not sinned before the Lord God and his glory.

46 Behold, the Lord knoweth all the workes of men, their imaginations, their thoughts and their hearts.

47 For as soone as he sayd, Let the earth bee made, it was made: let the heauen bee made, and it was created.

48 By his word were the starres established, and he knoweth the number of them.

49 He searcheth the depth, and the treasures thereof: he hath measured the sea, and what it containeth.

50 He hath shut the sea in the middes of the waters, and with his word hath hee hanged the earth vpon the waters.

51 Hee spreadeth out the heauen like a vaul: vpon the waters hath hee founded it.

52 In the desert hath hee made springs of water, and pooles vpon the top of the mountains, to poure our floods from the high rockes to water the earth.

53 Hee made man, and put his heart in the reins of the body, and gaue him breath, life, and vnderstanding.

54 And the Spirit of the Almighty God, which made all things, and hath searched all the hid things in the secrets of the earth.

55 We knoweth your inuentions, and what ye imagine in your heart when ye sin and would hide your sinnes.

56 Therefore hath the Lord searched and sought out all your workes, and will put you all to shame.

57 And when your sinnes are brought forth before men, yet shall bee confounded, and your owne sinnes shall stand as your accusers in that day.

58 What will ye doe, or how will ye hide your sinnes before God and his Angels?

59 Behold, God himselfe is the Iudge, feare him: cast from your sinnes, and forget your iniquities, and muddle no more from henceforth with them: so shall God leade you forth, and deliuer you from all trouble.

60 For behold, the heate of a great multitude is kindled against you, and they shall rake away certaine of you, and shall slay you for meate so the dooles.

61 And they that consent vnto them shall be had in derision, and in reproch, and troden vnder foot.

62 For in euery place & cities that are neere, there shall bee great insurrection against those that feare the Lord.

63 They shall bee like mad men: they shall spare none: they shall spoyle, and waste such as yet feare the Lord.

64 For they then shall waste and spoyle their goods, and cast them out of their houses.

65 Then shall the triall of my chosen appeare, as the gold is tried by the fire.

66 Heare, O ye my beloued, saith the Lord, Behold, the dayes of trouble are at hand, but I will deliuer you from them: bee not yet afraid: doubt not, for God is your capitaine.

67 What so keepeth my commandements and precepts, saith the Lord God, let not your sinnes weigh you downe, and let not your iniquities lift themselves vp.

68 Alas vnto them that are bound with their sinnes, and couered with their iniquities, as a field is hedged in with bushes, & the parch thereof couered with thornes, whereby no man may trauell: it is shut up, and is appointed to be deuoured with fire.

Tobias was mercifull.

The booke of the wordes of To-bit, sonne of Tobiel, the sonne of Ananeel, the sonne of Abuel, the sonne of Sabacl, of the tribe of Aflach, and of the tribe of Asephthalim.

2 And in the time of || Enemessar king of the Assyrians was led away captiue out of the tribe, which is at the right hand of that cite, which is called properly Asephthalim, in Galile about Aser.

3 I Tobit haue walked all my life long in the way of truth and iustice, and I did many things liberally to the brethren, which were of my nation, and came with mee to Nineue into the land of the Assyrians.

4 And when I was in mine owne country in the land of Israel, being but young, all the tribe of Asephthalim my father sell from y house of Ierusalem, which was chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, that all the tribes should sacrifice there, where the Temple of the Tabernacle of the most high was consecrated, and built up for all ages.

5 Now all the tribes which fell from God, yea, and my father Asephthalims house offered to the heifer called Baal.

6 But I (as it was ordeined to all Israel by an everlasting decree) went alone often to Jerusalem, at the feastes, bringing the first fruites and the tenth of sheaves, with that which was first sheave, and offered them at the altar to the Priests the children of Aaron.

7 The first tenth part I gaue to the Priests the sonnes of Aaron, which ministered in Jerusalem: the other tenth part I sold, and came and bestowed it euery yere at Ierusalem.

8 The third tenth part I gaue vnto them to whom it was meete, as Deboia my fathers mother had commanded mee, for my father left me as a pupill.

9 Furthermore, when I was come to the age of a man, I married Anna of mine owne kinred, and of her I begate Tobias.

10 E But when I was led captiue to Nine-ue, all my brethren and those which were of my kinred, did eate of the bread of the Gentiles.

11 But I kept my selfe from eating, 12 Because I remembered God with all mine heart.

13 Therefore the most high gaue mee grace and fauour before Enemessar, so that I was his pucueyout.

14 And I went into Media, and I deliue-red ten talents of silver to Sabacl, the brother of Sabacl, in the land of Media.

15 But when Enemessar was dead, Sennacherib his sonne reigned in his stead: whose state because it was troubled, I could not goe into Media.

16 But in the time of || Enemessar, I gaue many almes to my brethren, and gaue my bread to them which were hungry.

17 And my clothes to the naked: and if I saw any of my kinned dead, or cast about the walles of Nineue, I buried him.

18 And if the king Sennacherib had slaine any, when hee was come and fled from Iudea, I buried them plentifully: for in his wrath he killed many: but the bodies were not found when they were sought for of the king.

19 Therefore when a certaine Nineuite had accused me to y king, because I did bury them, I hidde my selfe: and because I knew that I was sought to be slaine, I withdrew my selfe for fear.

20 Then all my goods were spoiled, neither was there any thing left mee besides my wife Anna, and my sonne Tobias.

21 Neuertheless within foure and fiftie daies two of his sonnes killed him, and they fled, into the mountaines of Aserach, and Sarchedonus his sonne reigned in his stead, who appointed ouer his fathers accounts, and ouer all his domestical affaires, Achlacharus my brother Anaels sonne.

22 And when Achlacharus had made a request for mee, I came againe to Nineue: now Achlacharus was cupbearer and keeper of the signet, and stood, and ouerlaw the accounts:
so Sarchedonus appointed him next vnto him, and he was my brothers sonne.

ueth the feast to bury the dead, 10 How he became blind

11 His weelaboweth for her lung, 14 She reproacheth him bitterly.

Now when I was come home againe, and my wife Anna was restored vnto mee, with my sonne Tobias, in the feast of Pentecost, which is the holy feast of the leuen weeks, there was a great dinner prepared me, in the which I sate downe.

2 And when I saw abundance of meate, I sayd to my sonne, Goe, and bring what poore man soeuer thou shalt find of our brethren which doeth remember God, and loe, I will tarry for thee.

3 But he came againe, and sayd, Father, one of our nation is strangled, and is cast out in the marker place.

4 Then before I had tasted any meate, I start up and brought him into my house vntill the going downe of the Sunne.

5 Then I returned and washed, and ate my meate in beauntesse.

6 Reminding that prophesie of Amos, which had sayd, Pour solemn feastes shall be turned into mourning and your ioyes into wailing.

7 Therefore I wept, and after the going downe of the Sunne, I went and made a graue and buried him.

8 But my neighbours mocked me, and sayd, Doeth hee not feare to die for this cause, who fled away, and yet loe, hee buryeth the dead againe.

9 The same night also when I returned from the buriall, and slept at the wall of mine house, because I was polluted, and hauing my face

11 And my wife Anna did take womens works to do.

12 And when they had sent them home to the owners, they payed the wages and gave a kid.

13 Which when it was at mine house, and began to bleate, I said unto her, from whence is this kid? is it not stolen? render it to the owners: for it is not lawfull to eat any thing that is stolen.

14 But she said, It was given for a gift more then the wages: but I did not believe, and bade her to render it to the owners, and I did blush because of her. For her mother thus said, Where are thine almes, and thy eight countenances? behold, they all now appear in thee.

CHAP. III.

3 The prayer of Tobit. 7 Sarra Raguels daughter and the things that came unto her. 12 Her prayer heard. 17 The Angel Raphael sent.

Then I being sorrowfull, did weep, and in my sorrow prayed, saying,

2 Lord, thou art iust, and all thy works and all thy ways are mercy and truth, and thou iudgeth truly and iustly for ever.

3 Remember mee, and looke on mee, neither punish me according to my finnes, or mine ignorances, or my fathers, which have sinned before thee.

4 For they have not obeyed thy commandments: wherefore thou hast delivred us* for a spoile, and unto captivity, and to death, and for a prouerbe of a reproch to all them among whom we are disperfed, and now I thou hast many and iust causes,

5 To doe with mee according to my finnes, and to my fathers, because we have not kept thy Commandments, neither have walked in truth before thee.

6 Now therefore deale with mee as seemeth best unto thee, and command my spirit to bee taken from me, that I may be dissolved, and become earth: for it is better for me to die then to live, because I have heard false reproches, and am very sorrowfull: command therefore that I may be dissolved out of this distresse, and go in to the everlasting place: turne not thy face away from me.

7 It came to passe the same day that in Erbatane a city of Media, Sarra the daughter of Raguel was also reproched by her fathers maids,

8 Because shee had bene married to seven husbands, whom Asmodeus the euill spirit had killed before that they had lien with her. Dost thou not know, saide they, that thou hast strangled thine husbands? thou hast had now seven husbands, neither wast thou named after any of them.

9 Wherefore dost thou? beate vs for them? if they bee dead, goe thy wayes hence to them, that we may neuer see of thee either some or daughter.

10 When shee heard these things, shee was very sorrowfull, so that she thought to have strangled her selfe. And she said I am the only daughter of my father, and if I doe this, I shall slander him, and shall bring his age to the graue with sorrow.

11 Then she prayed toward the window, and saide, Blessed art thou, O Lord my God, and thine holy and glorious Name is blessed, and honourable for ever: let all thy works praise thee for ever.

12 And now, O Lord, I let mine eyes and my face toward thee.

13 And say, Take me out of the earth, that I may heare no more any reproch.

14 Thou knowest, O Lord, that I am pure from all sinne with man,

15 And that I have neuer polluted my name, nor the name of my father in the land of my captivity: I am the owely daughter of my father, neither hath hee any man child to bee his heire, neither any increase: kinsmen or childe bozne of him, to whom I may keepe my selfe for a wife: my seven husbands are now dead, a why should I live? But if it please not thee that I may die, command to looke on me, and to pity me, that I doe no more heare reproch.

16 So the prayers of them both were heard before the maiestic of the great God.

17 And Raphael was sent to heale them both, that is, to take away the whitenesse of Tobits eyes, and to giue Sarra the daughter of Raguel a wife to Tobias the sonne of Tobit, and to bind Asmodeus the euill spirit, because hee belonged to Tobias by right. The selfe same time came Tobit home, and entered into his house, and Sarra the daughter of Raguel came down from her chamber.

CHAP. IIII.

Precepts and exhortations of Tobit to his sonne.

In that day Tobit remembered* the fillee which hee had delivred to Sabaal in Rages a cite of Media.

2 And said with himselfe, I have wished for death: wherefore doe I not call for my sonne Tobias, that I may admonish him before I die?

3 And when hee had called him, he said, My sonne, after that I am dead, bury me, and despite not thy mother, but honour her all the dayes of thy life, and doe that which shall please her, and anger her not.

4 Remember my sonne, how many dangers she sustained when thou wast in her wombe,

5 And when shee dieth, bury her by me in the same graue.

6 My sonne, let our Lord God alwayes beefore thine eyes, and let not thy will be set to sinne, or to transgresse the commandments of God. Doe vprightly all thy life long, and follow not the wayes of vnrightheousnesse: for if thou deale truly, thy doing shall prosperously succede to thee, and to all them which live iustly.

7 Giue almes of thy substance: and when thou giuest almes, let not thine eye be enuious, neither turne thy face from any poore, lest that God turne his face from thee.

8 Giue almes according to thy substance: if thou haue but a little, bee not afraid to giue a little almes.

9 For thou layest by a good store for thy selfe against the day of needfulltie.

10 * Because that almes doeth deliuer from death, and suffereth not to come into darknesse.

11 For almes is a good gift before the most High to all them which desire it.

12 Beware of all * whoresome, my sonne, and chiefly take a wife of the seede of thy fathers, and take not a strange woman to wife, which is not of thy fathers stocke: for we are the children of the Prophets: Abie, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob are our fathers from the beginning. Remember, my sonne, that they married wives of their owne kindred, and were blessed in their children, and their seede shall inherite the land.

13 Now therefore my sonne, loue thy brethren, and despise not in thine heart thy brethren, the sonnes and daughters of thy people, in not taking a wife of them: for in pride is destruction, and much trouble, and in fiercenesse is scarcitie, and great pouertie: for * fiercenesse is the mother of famine.

14 Let not the * wages of any man, which hath wrought for thee, tary with thee, but giue him it out of hand: for if thou serue God, he will also pay thee: be circumspect, my sonne, in all things that thou doest, and be well instructed in all thy conuersation.

15 * Doe that to no man which thou hatest drinke not wine to make thee drunken, neither let drunkennesse goe with thee in thy iourney.

16 * Gine of thy bread to the hungry, and of thy garments to them that are naked, and of all thine abundance giue almes, and let not thine eye be enuious, when thou giuest almes.

17 || Dowe out thy bread on the buriall of the iust, but giue nothing to the wicked.

18 Like counsell alway of the wise, and despise not any counsell that is profitable.

19 Blesse thy Lord God alway, and desire of him that thy waies may be made straight, & that all thy purposes and counsels may prosper: for e-uery nation hath not counsell: but the Lord giueth all good things, and he humbleth whom he will, as he will: now therefore, my sonne, remember my commandements: neither let them at any time be put out of thy minde.

20 * Furthermore, I signifie this to thee, that I deliuered ten talents to Gabael the sonne of Gabilas at Rages in Media:

21 And feare not my sonne so much as we are made poore: for thou hast many things, if thou feare God, and flee from all sinne, and doe that thing which is acceptable vnto him.

CHAP. V.

1 Tobias sent to Rages. 4 He meeteth with the Angel Raphael which did conduct him.

Tobias sent by his father to Rages seeketh a companion, and meeteeth with Raphael, whom he bringeth to his father.

Tobias then answered, and said, Father, I will do all things which thou hast commanded me.

2 But how can I receive the siluer, seeing I know him not?

3 Then he gaue him the hand writing, and said vnto him, Seeke thee a man: which may goe with thee, whilst I yet liue, and I will giue him wages, and goe and receive the money.

4 Therefore when hee was gone to seeke a man, he found Raphael the Angel.

5 But he knew not, and said vnto him, Say I goe with thee into the land of Media: and knowest thou those places well?

6 To whom the Angel said, I will goe with thee, for I haue remained with our dyer Sa-bar.

7 Then Tobias said to him, Tary for mee, tell I tell my father.

8 Then he said vnto him, Go, and tary not: so he went in, and said to his father, Behold, I haue found one, which will goe with me. Then he said, Call him vnto me, that I may know of what tribe he is, and whether hee be faithfull to goe with thee.

9 So he called him, and he came in, and they saluted one another.

10 Then Tobias said vnto him, Brother, shew me of what tribe and family thou art.

11 To whom he said, Dost thou seeke a stock of family, or an hired man to goe with thy sonne?
Then Tobias said vnto him, I would know brother, thy kindred and thy name.

12 Then hee said, I am of the kindred of Azarias and Ananias the great, and of thy brether.

13 Then Tobias said, || Thou art welcome, brother: be not now angry with mee, because I haue enquired to know thy kindred and thy family: for thou art my brother of an honest and good stocke: for I know Ananias and Jonathas, sonnes of that great Samalas: for we went together to Ierusalem to worship, and offered the first born, and the tenth of the fruits, and they were not deceived with the error of our brethren: my brother, thou art of a great stocke.

14 But tell me, what wages shal I giue thee?
wilt thou a great a day, and thy returne necessary, as to mine owne sonne?

15 Yea, moreover, if yet returne last, I will adde some thing to the wages.

16 So they agreed, Then said hee to Tobias, Prepare thy selfe for the iourney, and goe you on Gods name. And when his sonne had prepared all things for the iourney, his father layd, Goe thou with this man, and God which dwelleth in heauen, prosper your iourney, and the Angel of God keepe you company. So they went forth both, and departed, and the dogge of the young man with them.

17 But Anna his mother wept, and said to Tobias, Why hast thou lent away our sonne?
Is hee not the staffe of our hand to minis-ter vnto vs?

18 Would to God wee had not layd money vpon money, but that it had bene cast away in respect of our sonne.

19 For that which God hath giuen vs to liue with, doth suffice vs.

20 Then said Tobias, Bee not carefull, my sister: hee shall returne in safetie, and thine eyes shall see him.

21 For the good Angel doth keepe him company, and his iourney shall be prosperous, and he shall returne safe.

22 Then she made an end of weeping.

And as they went on their journey, they came at night to the flood Tigris, and there abode.

2 And when the yong man went to wash himselfe, a fish leaped out of the river, and woulde haue deuoured him.

3 Then the Angel said vnto him, Take the fish, and the yong man tooke the fish and dyed it to land.

4 To whom the Angel said, Eat the fish, and take the heart, and the liuer, and the gall, and put them by surely.

5 So the yong man did as the Angel commanded him: and when they had cosed the fish, they ate it: then they both went on their way till they came to Ecbatane.

6 Then the yong man said to the Angel, Brother Azarias, what auaileth the heart, and the liuer, and the gall of the fish?

7 And he said vnto him, Touching the heart and the liuer, if a deuill of an euill spirit crouble any, we must make a perfume of this before the man or the woman, and hee shall bee no more dered.

8 As for the gall, annoint a man that hath whitenesse in his eyes, and he shall be healed.

9 And when they were come neere to Raguel,

10 The Angel said to the yong man, Brother, to day we shall lodge with Raguel, who is thy cousin: hee also hath one onely daughter named Sarra: I will speake for her that shee may be giuen thee for a wife.

11 For to thee both the right of her pertaine, seeing thou alone art the remnant of her kindred, 12 And the maide is faire and wise: now therefore heare me, and I will speake to her father, that wee may make the marriage when wee are returned from Raguel: for I know that Raguel cannot marry her to another, according to the Law of Moses: else he should deserue death, because the right doth rather appertaine to thee then to any other man.

13 Then the yong man answered the Angel, I haue heard, brother Azarias, that this maide hath bene giuen to seuen men, who all died in the marriage chamber:

14 And I am the onely begotten sonne of my father, and I am afraid lest I goe in to her, and die as the other before: for a wicked spirit toucheth her, which hurteth no body, but those which come in to her: wherefore also I feare lest I die, and bring my fathers and my mothers life because of mee to the graue with sorrow: for they haue no other sonne to bury them.

15 Then the Angel said vnto him, Dost thou not remember the precepts which thy father gaue thee, that thou shouldst marrie a wife of thine owne kindred: wherefore heare me, O my brother: for she shall be thy wife, neither be thou carefull of the euill spirit: for this same night shall he be giuen thee in marriage.

16 And when thou shalt go into the marriage chamber, thou shalt take of the hote coales for perfumes, and make a perfume of the heart, and of the liuer of the fish.

17 Which if the spirit doe smell, hee will flee away, and neuer come againe any more: but when thou shalt come to her, rise vp both of you, and pray to God which is mercifull, who will haue pittie on you, and saue you: feare not for she is appoynted vnto thee from the beginning, and thou shalt keepe her, and shee shall goe with thee: moreover I suppose that the spall beate thee children: now when Tobias had heard these things, hee loued her, and his heart was effectually loyued to her.

CHAP. VII.

Tobias marrieth Sarra Raguels daughter.

And when they were come to Ecbatane, they came to the house of Raguel, & Sarra met them, and after they had saluted one another, she brought them into the house.

2 Then said Raguel to Edna his wife, How like is this yong man to Tobit my cousin?

3 And Raguel asked, whence are you, my birthmen: to whom they said, that they were of the tribe of Asephthalim, and of the captiues that dwelt at Nineue.

4 Then he said to them, Doe yee know Tobit our kinsleman? And they said, We know him. Then said he, Is he in good health?

5 And they said, he is both aliuie and in good health: and Tobias said, he is my father.

6 Then Raguel leaped, and kissed him, and wept,

7 And blessed him, and said vnto him, Thou art the sonne of an honest and good man: but when he had heard that Tobit was blinde, hee was sorrowfull, and wept.

8 And likewise Edna his wife, and Sarra his daughter wept. Wherefore, they receiued them with a ready mind, and after that they had killed a ramme of the flocke, they set much meat on the table. Then saide Tobias to Raphael, Brother Azarias, put forth those things whereof thou spakest in the way, that this businesse may be dispatched.

9 So he communicated the matter with Raguel, and Raguel said to Tobias, Eat, and drinke, and make merry.

10 For it is meete that thou shouldst marrie my daughter: neuertheless, I will declare vnto thee the truth.

11 I haue giuen my daughter in marriage to seuen men, who died that night which they came in vnto her, neuertheless, be thou of a good courage and merry. But Tobias said, I will eate nothing here, vntill yee bying her hither, and be troth her to me.

12 Raguel said then, Carry her then according to the custome: for thou art her cousin, and she is thine, God which is mercifull, make this prosperous to you in all good things.

13 Then he called his daughter Sarra, and shee came to her father, and he tooke her by the hand, and gaue her for wife to Tobias, saying, Behold, take her after the Law of Moyses, and leade her away to thy father: and he blessed them.

14 And called his wife Edna, and he tooke a booke, and wrote a contract, and sealed it.

15 Then they began to eate.

16 After, Raguel called his wife Edna, and said vnto her, Sister, prepare another chamber, and bring her in thither.

17 Which when she had done, as he had bid her, shee brought her thither: then Sarra wept, and her mother wiped away her daughters teares.

18 And said vnto her, Be of good comfort, my daughter: the Lord of heauen and earth

CHAP. VII.

Tobias' dreamt away the evil spirit. 4 He prayeth to God with his wife. 11 Raguel prepareth a grave for his son in law. 16 Raguel blest the Lord.

Tobias followed Raphael's counsel, as chap. 6. 7.

|| Or, suppose.

Tobias prayeth.

Gen. 2. 7. 18, 22.

Raguel thinking Tobias was dead, made a grave for him.

Raguel praised God for Tobias.

Raguel praised God for Tobias, that he should not depart before that the fourteenth dayes of the marriage were expired.

AND when they had supped, they brought Tobias in unto her.

2 And as he went, hee remembered the words of Raphael, and tooke coales for perfumes, and put the heat and stuer of the fish thereupon, and made a perfume.

3 The which smell when the euill spirit had smelled, he fled into the most parts of Egypt, whome the Angel bound.

4 And after that they were both shut in, Tobias arose out of the bed & said, Sister, arise and let vs pray, that God would haue pite on vs.

5 Then began Tobias to say, Blessed art thou, O God of our fathers, and blessed is thine holy and glorious Name for ever: let the heauens bless thee, and all thy creatures.

6 Thou madest Adam, and gauest him Eua his wife for an helpe, and say: of them came mankind: thou hast said, It is not good, that a man should be alone: let vs make vnto him an aide like vnto himselfe.

7 And now, O Lord, I take not this my sister for fornication, but vprightly: therfore grant me mercy, that we may become aged together.

8 And he said with him, Amen.

9 So they slept both that night, and Raguel

10 Saying, I is not he dead also?

11 But when Raguel was come into his house,

12 Hee said to his wife Anna, Send one of the maydes, and let them see whether hee be alive: if not, that I may bury him, and none know it.

13 So the maide opened the doore, and went in, and found them both asleep.

14 And came forth, and tolde them that hee was alive.

15 Then Raguel praised God, and said, O God, thou art worthy to be praised with all pure and holy praise: therfore let thy Saints praise thee with all thy creatures and let all thine Angels and thine elect praise thee for ever.

16 Thou art to be praised, O Lord: for thou hast made mee ioyfull, and that is not come to me which I suspected: but thou hast dealt with vs according to great mercy.

17 Thou art to be praised, because thou hast had mercy of two that were the onely begotten children of their fathers: grant them mercy, O Lord, and finish their life in health with ioy and mercy.

18 Then Raguel bad his seruants to fill the grave.

19 And hee kept the wedding feast fourteenth dayes.

20 For Raguel had said vnto him by an oth, that hee should not depart before that the fourteenth dayes of the marriage were expired.

21 And then hee should take the halfe of his goods, and retaine in safety to his father, and should haue the rest, when hee and his wife were dead.

CHAP. IX.

Raphael leadeth Gabael to Tobias marriage.

Then Tobias called Raphael, and sayd vnto him,

2 Brother Arias take with thee a seruant and two camels, and goe to Rages of the Medes to Gabael, and bring mee the money, and bring him to the wedding.

3 For Raguel hath sworn that I shall not depart.

4 But my father counteth the dayes: and if I tary long, he will be very ioy.

5 So Raphael went out, and came to Gabael, and gaue him the hand writing, who brought forth bags which were sealed by, and gaue them to him.

6 And in the morning they went forth both together, and came to the wedding, and Tobias began his wife with child.

CHAP. X.

Tobias and his wife thinke long for their sonne. 10 Raguel sendeth away Tobias and Sarra.

Now Tobias his father counted every day, And when the dayes of the iourney were expired, and they came not,

2 Tobias said, Are they not mocke of is not Gabael dead, and there is no man to giue him the money?

3 Therefore he was very ioy.

4 Then his wife said to him, My sonne is dead, seeing he tarrieth: and she beganne to weale him, and said,

5 How I care for nothing, my sonne, since I haue lost thee the light of mine eyes.

6 To whom Tobias said, Hold thy peace: hee not carefull, for he is safe.

7 But she said, Hold thy peace, and deceiue me not, my sonne is dead: and she went out every day, by the way which they went, neither did shee eate on the day time, and did continue whole night in bewailing her sonne Tobias, untill the fourteenth dayes of the wedding were expired, which Raguel had sworn, that hee should tary there. Then Tobias said to Raguel, Let me goe: for my father and my mother looks no more to see me.

8 But his father in law said vnto him, Tary with me, and I will send to thy father, & they shall declare him thine affaires.

9 But Tobias said, No, but let mee goe to my father.

10 Then Raguel arose, and gaue him Sarra his wife, and halfe his goods, as seruants, and with them cattell, and money.

11 And he blessed them, and sent them away saying, The God of heauen make you, my child, pite, rich, to prosper before I die.

12 And he said to his daughter, Honour thy father and thy mother in law, which are now thy parents: that I may heare good report of thee: and he kissed them. Anna also said to Tobias, The Lord of heauen restore thee my deere brother, and grant that I may see thy children, of my daughter Sarra, that I may reioyce before the Lord. Behold now, I commit to thee my daughter, as a pledge: doe not intertreat her still.

CHAP. XI.

The returne of Tobias to his father. 9 How hee was receiued. 10 His father hath his sight restored, and prayeth the Lord.

After

Tobias came for his son. The Angel goeth on Tobias's face.

The father and mother are in heaviness for Tobias's tarrying. Chap. 5. 17.

Raguel's report of her parents.

After these things Tobias went his way praising God that he had given him a prosperous journey, and blessed Raguel and Anna his wife, and went on his way till hee drew neere to Nineue.

2 Then Raphael sayde to Tobias, Thou knowest thy way, how thou diddest leaue thy father.

3 Let vs haue before thy wife, and prepare the house.

4 And take in thine hand the gill of the fish. So they went their way, and the dog followed them.

5 Now Anna late in the way looking for her sonne.

6 Whom when she saw comming, she said to his father, Beholde, thy sonne commeth, and the man that went with him.

7 Then said Raphael, I know, Tobias, that thy father shall receive his sight.

8 Therefore annoint his eyes with the gill, and being pickt therewith hee shall rubbe and make the whitenesse to fall away, and shall see thee.

9 Then Anna ranne forth, and fell on the necke of her sonne, and sayd vnto him, Seeing I haue seene thee, my sonne, from henceforth I am content to die, and they wept both.

10 Tobie also went forth toward the doore and stumbled, but his sonne ran vnto him.

11 And tooke hold of his father, and sprinkled of the gill on his fathers eyes, saying, Be of good hope, my father.

12 And when his eyes began to pickle, he rubbed them.

13 And the whitenesse pilled away from the corners of his eyes, and when he saw his sonne, he fell vpon his necke.

14 And hee wept, and sayd, Blessed art thou, O Lord, and blessed be thy Name for ever, and blessed be all thine holy Angels.

15 For thou hast scourged mee, and hast had pittie on me: for behold, I see my sonne Tobias: and his sonne, being glad, went in, and told his father the great things that had come to passe in Media.

16 Then Tobie went out to meet his daughter in Law, reioycing and praying God to the gate of Nineue: and they which saw him goe, marvelled, because he had received his sight.

17 But Tobie testified before them all, that God had had pittie on him. And when hee came neere to Sarra his daughter in law, hee blessed her: saying, Thou art welcome daughter: God be blessed which hath brought thee vnto vs, and blessed be thy father: and there was great ioy among all his brethren which were at Nineue.

18 And Achicarus and Salbas his brothers sonne came.

19 And Tobias marriage was kept seuen dayes with great ioy.

CHAP. XII.

1 Tobias declared to his father the pleasures that Raphael had done him. 2 The which he would recompense. 11. 15 Raphael declareth that hee is an Angel sent of God.

Then Tobie called his sonne Tobias, and sayd vnto him, Provide my sonne, wages for the man, which went with thee, and thou must giue him more.

2 And hee said vnto him, O Father, it shall not grieve mee to giue him halfe of those things which I haue brought.

3 For he hath brought me againe to thee in safetie, and hath made whole my wife, and hath brought me the money, and hath likewise healed thee.

4 Then the olde man sayd, It is due vnto him.

5 So he called the Angel, and said vnto him, Take halfe of all that yett haue brought, and go away in safetie.

6 But hee tooke them both apart, and sayd vnto them, Praise God, and confesse him, and giue him the glory, and praise him for the things which he hath done vnto you before all them that liue. It is good to praise God, and to exalt his Name, and to shew forth his ruden workes with honour: therefore be not weary to confesse him.

7 It is good to keepe close the secrets of a King, but it is honourable to reueale the workes of God: do that which is good, and no euill shall touch you.

8 Prayer is good with fasting, and almes and righteousnesse. A little with righteousnesse is better then much with unrighteousnesse: it is better to giue almes, then to lay by gold.

9 For almes doeth deliuer from death, and doth purge all sinne. Those which exercise almes and righteousnesse, shall be filled with life.

10 But they that sinne, are enemies to their owne life.

11 Surely I will keepe close nothing from you: neuertheless, I said it was good to keepe close the secret of a King, but that it was honorable to reueale the workes of God.

12 Now therefore when thou dost pray, and Sarra, thy daughter in Law, I did bring to memory your prayer before the Holy One: And when thou didst bury the dead, I was with thee likewise.

13 And when thou wast not grieved to rise vp, and leaue thy dinner to bury the dead, thy good deede was not hid from mee: but I was with thee.

14 And now God hath sent mee to heale thee, and Sarra thy daughter in law.

15 I am Raphael, one of the seven holy Angels, which present the prayers of the Saints, and which goe forth before his holy Name.

16 Then they were both troubled, and fell vpon their face: for they feared.

17 But hee said vnto them, Feare not, for it shall goe well with you: praye God therefore.

18 For I came not of mine owne pleasure, but by the good will of your God: wherefore praise him in all ages.

19 All these dayes I did appeare vnto you, but I did neither eate nor drinke, but you saw it in vision.

20 Now therefore giue God thanks: for I goe vp to him that sent me: but write all things which are done in a booke.

21 And when they rose they saw him no more.

22 Then they confessed the great and wonderfull workes of God, and how the Angel of the Lord had appeared to them.

The Angels counsell to Tobias.

He that will be acceptable to God, must be provoked with temptation.

13 Reioyce, and be glad for the children of the iust: for they shall be gathered, and shall be the Lord of the iust.

CHAP. XIII.

3 Lessons of Tobit to his sonne. 4 Hee prophesieth the destruction of Ninus, 7 and the restoring of Ierusalem and the Temple. 13 The death of Tobit, and his wife, 14 Tobias age and death.

So Tobit made an end of praying God.

2 And hee was eighte and sixtie yere olde, when hee lost his sight, which was restored to him after eight yere, and hee gaue almes, and he continued to feare the Lord God, and to praye him.

3 And when he was very aged, hee called his sonne, and sixe of his sonnes sonnes, and sayd to him, My sonne, take thy children (for behold, I am aged, and am ready to depart out of this life.)

4 Soe into Media my sonne: for I surely beleene those things which Ionas the Prophet spake of Nineue, that it shall bee destroyed, and for a time peace shall rather bee in Media, and that our bretheren shall be scattered in the earth from that good land, and Ierusalem shall bee desolate, and the house of God in it shall bee burned and shall be desolate for a time.

5 Yet againe God * will haue pittie on them and bring them againe into the land where they shall build a Temple, but not like to the first, vntill the times of that age be fulfilled, which being finished, they shall returne from euery place out of captiuitie, & build vp Ierusalem gloriously, and the house of God shall be built in it for euer with a glorious building, as the Prophets haue spoken thereof.

6 And all nations shall turne, and feare the Lord God truly, and shall bury their doles.

7 So shall all nations praye the Lord, and his people shall confesse God, and the Lord shall exalt his people, & all those which loue the Lord in truth and iustice, shall reioyce, and those also which shew mercy to our bretheren.

8 And now my sonne depart out of Nineue, because that those things which he Prophet Ionas spake shall surely come to passe.

9 But keepe thou the Lawe, and the Commandements, and shew thy selfe mercifull and iust, that it may goe well with thee.

10 And bury mee honestly, and thy mother with mee: but tary no longer at Nineue, Remember, my sonne, how Aman handled Achabarus that brought him vp, how out of sight hee brought him into darknesse, and how hee rewarded him againe: yet Achabarus was saued, but the other had his reward: for hee went downe into darknesse, & Banalles gaue almes, and escaped the snare of death, which they had set for him, but Aman fell into the snare and perished.

11 Therefore now, my sonne consider what almes doeth, and how righteousness doeth deliver. When hee had said these things, || hee gaue vp the Ghost in the bed, being an hundred and eight and fifty yere olde, and hee buried him dolourably.

12 And when Anna was dead, hee buried her with his father: but Tobias went with his wife and children to Ecbatane to Ra-

|| Or, hee had said these things, || hee gaue vp the Ghost in the bed, being an hundred and eight and fifty yere olde, and hee buried him do-guel his father in law.

13 Where he became old with honour, and hee buried his father and mother in law honourably, and hee inherited their substance and Tobias his father.

14 And hee died at Ecbatane in Persia, being an hundred and seven and thowente yere olde.

15 But before hee died, he heard of the destruction of Sineus, which was taken by Nabuchodonosor and Sineus, and before his death hee rejoyced for Sineus.

Iudeth.

CHAP. I.

1 The building of Ecbatane. 5 Nabuchodonosor made wars against Arphaxad, and overcame him, 12 Hee threateth them that would not helpe him.

In the twelfth yere of the reigne of Nabuchodonosor, who reigned in Sineus the great city (in the dayes of Arphaxad, which reigned ouer the Medes in Ecbatane,

2 And built in Ecbatane, the walles round about of beaten stone, three cubites broad, and six cubites long, and made the brighte of the wall seuentie cubites, and the breadth thereof fiftie cubites,

3 And made the towres thereof in the gates of it an hundred cubites, and the breadth thereof in the foundation threescore cubites,

4 And made the gates thereof euen gates that were lifted up on high, seuentie cubites, and the breadth of them fourtie cubites, for the going forth of his mighty armies, and for the setting in aray of his footmen.)

5 Euen in those dayes, King Nabuchodonosor made warre with King Arphaxad in the great field, which is the field in the coastes of Ragau.

6 Then came vnto him all they that dwelt in the mountaines, and all that dwelt by Euphrates, and Tygris, and Hydaspes, and the country of Arloch the King of the Elymeans, and very many nations assembled themselves to the battell of the sonnes of Chelob.

7 And Nabuchodonosor King of the Assyrians sent vnto all that dwelt in Persia, and to all that dwelt in the Elkes, and to those that dwelt in Elkesia, and Damascus, and Libanus, and Antilibanus, and to all that dwelt vpon the Sea coast,

8 And to the people that are in Carmel, and Galaad, and the higher Galile, and the great field of Chozelam,

9 And to all that were in Samaria, and the cities thereof, and beyond Jordan vnto Fenulien, and Betane, and Chellins, and Cades, and the river of Egypt, and Eapynes, and Ramelle, and all the land of Selen.

10 Until one come to Camis, and Memphis, and to all the inhabitants of Egypt, and till one come to the mountaines of Ethiopia.

11 But all the inhabitants of this country did not passe for the commandement of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, neither would they come with him to the battell: for they did not feare him: yea, hee was before them as one man: therefore they sent away his Ambassadors from them without effect, and with dishonour.

12 Therefore Nabuchodonosor was very angry with all this countrey, and sware by his thron and kingdom, that he would surely be avenge vpon all those coastes of Elkesia and Damascus, and Syria, and that he would slay with the sword all the inhabitants of the land of Ragau, and the children of Ammon, and all India, and all that were in Egypt, till one come to the borders of the two seas.

13 Then he marched in battell aray with his power against King Arphaxad in the sixteenth yere, and hee perished in his battell: for hee overthrew all the power of Arphaxad, and all his hostemen, and all his charres.

14 And hee wanne his cities, and came vnto Ecbatane, and tooke the towres, and spoiled the streets thereof, and turned the beaute thereof into shame.

15 Hee tooke also Arphaxad in the mountaines of Ragau, and smote him thowto with his darts, and destroyed him utterly that day.

16 So hee returned afterward to Sineus, both hee and all his company with a very great multitude of men of warre, and there hee passed the time, and banquetted, both he and his army, an hundred and twenty dayes.

CHAP. II.

5 Nabuchodonosor commanded presumptuously that all people should be brought into subjection, 6 and to destroy those that disobeyed him, 15 The preparation of Olofer's armie. 23 The conquest of his enemies.

And in the eighteenth yere, the two and twentieth day of the first moneth, there was talke in the house of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians, that he should avenge himselfe on all the earth, as he had spoken.

2 So hee called vnto him all his officers and all his nobles, and communicated with them his secret counsell, and let before them with his own mouth all the malice of the earth.

3 Then they decreed to destroy all flesh, that had not obeyed the commandement of his mouth.

4 And when hee had ended his counsell, Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians called Olofernes his chiefe captaine, and which was next vnto him, and said vnto him,

5 Thus saith the great King, the lord of the whole earth, Behold, thou shalt goe forth from my presence, and take with thee men that trust in their owne strength, of footmen, an hundred and twenty thousand, and the number of horses with their riders, twelue thousand,

6 And thou shalt goe against all the Elkes countrey, because they disobeyed my commandement.

7 And thou shalt declare unto them that they prepare for me the land and the water: for I will goe forth in my wrath against them: and will cover the whole face of the earth with the feet of mine army, and I will give them as a spoile unto them.

8 So that their wounded shall fill their valleys, and their rivers, and the flood shall overflow, being filled with their dead.

9 And I will bring their captivitie to the utmost parts of all the earth.

10 Thou therefore shalt depart hence, and take up for mee all their country: & if they yield unto thee, thou shalt rescue them for mee untill the day that I rebuke them.

11 But concerning them that rebell, let not thine eye spare them, but put them to death, and spoyle them wheresoever thou goest.

12 For as I live, and the power of my kingdom, whatsoever I have spoken, that will I doe by mine hand.

13 And take thou heed that thou transgresse not any of the commandments of thy Lord, but accomplish them fully, as I have commanded thee, and desire not to doe them.

14 ¶ Then Dositheus went forth from the presence of his lord, and called all the governors, and captains, and officers of the army of Assur.

15 And hee mustered the chosen men for the battell, as his lord had commanded him, unto an hundred and twenty thousand, & twelve thousand archers on horsebacke.

16 And hee set them in aray according to the manner of setting a great army in aray.

17 And hee tooke camels and asses for their burdens, a very great number, and sheepe, and oxen, and goates without number for their provision.

18 And victuals for every man of the army, and very much gold & silver out of the kings house.

19 Then he went forth and all his power, to goe before in the voyage of king Nabuchodonosor, and to cover all the face of the earth Westward, with their charrets and horsemen, and chosen footmen.

20 A great multitude also of sundry sorts came with them like grasshoppers, and like the gravel of the earth: for the multitude was without number.

21 And they went forth of Nineve three daies journey toward the country of Bectileth, and pitched round Bectileth neere the mountaine which is on the left hand of the upper Ellicia.

22 Then hee tooke all his armie, his footmen and horsemen, and charrets, and went from thence into the mountaines.

23 And hee despoiled Ibbud and Lud, and spoiled all the children of Kales, & the children of Ismael, which were toward the wilderness at the South of the Chelians.

24 Then he went over Euphrates, and went thorow Mesopotamia, and destroyed all the high cities that were upon the river of Ardonai, untill one come to the Sea.

25 And hee tooke the borders of Ellicia, and destroyed all that resisted him, and came to the borders of Japheth, which were toward the South, and over against Arabia.

26 He compassed also all the children of Arabian, and burnt up their tabernacles, and spoiled their lodges.

27 Then he went downe into the country of Damascus, in the time of wheate harvest, and burnt up all their fields, & destroyed their flocks and the herds: hee robbed their cities, and spoiled their country, and smote all their young men with the edge of the sword.

28 Therefore feare and trembling fell upon all the inhabitants of the Sea coast which were by Sidon and Tyris, and them that dwelt in Sur and Dctina, & all that dwelt in Termana: and they that dwelt in Azotus and Alcalon, feared him greatly.

CHAP. III.

The people subject to Dositheus, 8 Hee destroyed their gods: that Nabuchodonosor might only bee worshipped.

So they sent ambassadors to him with messages of peace, saying,

2 Behold, we are the servants of Nabuchodonosor the great King: wee lie downe before thee: be vs as shall be good in thy sight.

3 Behold, our houses and all our places, and all our fields of wheate, and our flocks and our herds, and all our lodges and tabernacles lie before thy face: be them as it pleaseth thee.

4 Behold, even our cities & the inhabitants thereof are thy servants: come, and take them, as seemeth good to thee.

5 ¶ So the men came to Dositheus, and delivered unto them after this manner.

6 Then came he down toward the sea coast, both he and his army, and set garrisons in the cities, and tooke out of them chosen men for the warre.

7 So they and all the country round about received them with crowns, and dances, and with timbrels.

8 Per he brake downe all their borders, and cut downe their woods, for it was enioyned him to destroy all the gods of the land, that all nations should worship Nabuchodonosor only, and that all tongues and tribes should call upon him as God.

9 Also he came against Ecbatlon, neere unto Iuden, over against the great strait of Iuden.

10 And hee pitched betwene Geba, and a cite of the Scythians, and there hee caried a moneth, that hee might assemble all the baggage of his army.

CHAP. IIII.

The Israelites were afraid, and defended their country. 6 To whom the Priest writeth to Bethulia, that they should forsake themselves. 9 They cryed to his Lord, and humbled themselves before him.

Now the children of Israel that dwelt in Iuden, heard all that Dositheus the chiefe captaine of Nabuchodonosor king of the Assyrians had done to the nations, and how hee had spoiled all their temples, and brought them to nought.

2 Therefore they feared greatly his presence, and were troubled for Jerusalem, and for the Temple of the Lord their God.

3 For they were newly returned from the captivitie, and of late all the people was assembled sembled in Judea, and the vessels and the Altar of the house had bene sanctified because of the pollution.

4 Therefore they sent into all the coastes of Samaria, and the villages, and to Berboza, and Belmen, and Jericho, and to Goba, and Efora, and to the valley of Salem.

5 And tooke all the tops of the high mountaines, and walled the villages that were in them, and put in vitalles for the provision of warre: for their fields were of late reaped.

6 Also Joacin the big Priest which was in those dayes in Jerusalem, wrote to them that dwelt in Berbusa and Betomestham, which is ouer against Efora, toward the open countrey nere to Dorthalm.

7 Exhorting them to keepe the passages of the mountaines: for by them there was an entry into Judea, and it was calde to let them that would come up, because the passage was strait for two men at the most.

8 And the children of Israel did as Joacin the big Priest had commanded them with the ancienes of all the people of Israel which dwelt at Jerusalem.

9 Then cryd every man of Israel to God with great fervency, and their soules with great affection.

10 Both they and their wives, and their children, and their cattell, and every stranger, and hireling, and their boughte servants put sackcloth upon their loynes.

11 Thus every man and woman and the children, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell before the Temple, and sprinkled ashes upon their heads, and spread out their sackcloth before the face of the Lord: also they put sackcloth about the altar,

12 And cryed to the God of Israel, all with one consent most earnestly, that hee would not give their children for a pray, and their wives for a spoile, and the cities of their inheritance to destruction, and the Sanctuary to pollution and reproch, and unto derision to the heathen.

13 So God heard their prayes, and looked upon their affliction: for the people fasted many dayes in all Judea and Jerusalem before the Sanctuary of the Lord Almighty.

14 And Joacin the big Priest, and all the Priests that stood before the Lord, and ministred unto the Lord, had their loynes girt with sackcloth, and offered the continuall burnt offering, with prayes, and the free gifts of the people.

15 And had ashes on their miters, and cryed unto the Lord with all their power for grace, and that hee would looke upon all the house of Israel.

CHAP. V.

Achiz the Ammonite doeth declare to Olofernes of the manner of the Israelites.

Then was it declared to Olofernes the chiefe captaine of the army of Assur, that the children of Israel had prepared for warre, & had shut the passages of the mountaines, and had walled all the tops of the high hills, and had layd impediments in the champaign countrey.

2 Wherewith hee was very angry, and called all the Princes of Moab, and the captaines of Ammon, and all the gouernours of the Sea coast.

3 And hee sayd unto them, Behold mee, O ye sonnes of Chanaan, who is this people that dwelleth in the mountaines: and what are the cities that they inhabit? and what is the multitude of their army? and wherein is their strength and their power? and what King or captaine is raised among them ouer their armie?

4 And why haue they determined not to come to meete me, more then all the inhabitants of the world?

5 ¶ Then said Achiz the captaine of all the sonnes of Ammon, Let my lord heare the word of the mouth of his seruant, and I will declare unto thee the truth concerning this people that dwell in these mountaines, nere where thou remainest: and there shall no lie come out of the mouth of thy seruant. Chap. 11. 7. 9.

6 This people come of the stocke of the Chaldeans.

7 And they dwell before in Mesopotamia, because they would not follow the gods of their fathers which were in the land of Chaldaea. Gen. 11. 31.

8 But they went out of the way of their ancestors, and worshipped the God of heauen, the God whom they knew: so they cast them out from the face of their gods, and they fledde into Mesopotamia, and sojourned there many dayes.

9 Then their God commanded them to depart from the place where they sojourned, and to goe into the land of Chanaan, where they dwell and were increased with gold, and silver and with very much cattell. Gen. 12. 1.

10 But when a famine couered all the land of Chanaan, they went downe into Egypt, and dwelt there till they returned, and became there a great multitude, so that one could not number their linage.

11 ¶ Therefore the King of Egypt rose up against them, and vied deceit against them, and brought them lowe with labouring in bricke, and made them slaues. Exod. 1. 8.

12 Then they cryed unto their God, and hee smote all the land of Egypt with incurable plagues: so the Egyptians call them out of their sight. Exod. 12. 31.

13 And God dyed the red sea in their presence. Exod. 14. 31.

14 And he brought them into mount Sina and Tades Barni, and cast forth all that dwell in the wilderness.

15 So they dwell in the land of the Amorites, and they destroyed by their strength all them of Elebon and passing ouer Iordane, they inherited all the mountaines.

16 And they cast forth before them the Chanaanites, and the Hetherites, and the Jebusites and them of Sichem, and all the Gergesites, and they dwell in that countrey many dayes. Exod. 19. 1.

17 And whiles they sinned not before their God, they prospered, because the God that hated iniquitie was with them.

18 But when they departed from the way which hee appointed them, they were destroyed in many battels after a wonderfull sort, and were ledde captiues into a land that was not theirs: and the Temple of their God was Ios. 1. 2. 8. Iudg. 3. 18. and 3. 8. 2. Reg. 25. 1, 11.

was cast to the ground, and their cities were taken by the enemies.

19 But now they are turned to their God, and are come up from the scattering wherein they were scattered, and have possessed Hierusalem, where their Temple is, and dwell in the mountaines which were desolate.

20 Now therefore, my Lord and Souerour if there bee any fault in this people, so that they haue sinned against their God, let vs consider that this shall be their ruine, and let vs goe by, and we shall overcome them.

21 But if there be none iniquitie in this people, let my Lord passe by, lest their Lord defend them, and their God be for them, and we become a reproch before all the world.

22 And when Achioz had finished these sayings, all the people, standing round about the tent, murmured: and the chiefe men of Dioresnes, and all that dwelt by the sea side, and in Goab, spake that he should kill him.

23 For, say they, wee feare not to meete the children of Israel: for loe, it is a people that haue no strength nor power against a mighty armie.

24 Let vs therefore goe by, O Lord, Dioresnes, and they shall be meate for thy whole armie.

CHAP. VI.

Olofernes blasphemeth God whom Achior confessed. 14 Achior is deliuered into the hands of them of Bethulia, 18 The Bethulians cry vnto the Lord.

AND when the tumult of the men that were about the counsell was ceased, Dioresnes the chiefe captaine of the armie of Assur, said vnto Achioz before all the people of the strangers, and before all the children of Goab, and of them that were hired of Ephyram.

Chap. 5. 5. 21

2 Because thou hast prophesied among vs to day, and hast said that the people of Hierusalem is able to fight, because their God will defend them: and who is god but Nabuchodonosor?

3 We will send his power, and will destroy them from the face of the earth, and their God shall not deliuer them: but we his seruants will destroy them as one man: for they are not able to susteine the power of our hostes.

4 For we will tread them under feete with them, and their mountaines shall bee drunken with their blood, and their fields shall bee filled with their dead bodies, and their footsteps shall not be able to stand before vs: but they shall verily perish.

5 The king Nabuchodonosor lord of all the earth hath said, euen he hath sayd, None of my words shall be in vaine.

6 And thou Achioz an hireling of Ammon, because thou hast spoken these words, in the day of thine iniquitie, thou shalt see my face no more from this day, vntill I take vengeance of that people that is come out of Egypt.

7 And then shall the yon of mine armie, and the multitude of them that serue mee passe thorow thy sides, and thou shalt fall among their flaine, when I shall put them to flight.

8 And my seruants shall cary thee into the mountaines, and they shall leave thee at one of the hye cities: but thou shalt not perish, till thou be destroyed with them.

9 And if thou perswade thy selfe in thy mind that they shall not bee taken, let not thy countenance fall: I haue spoken it, and none of my words shall be in vaine.

10 Then commanded Dioresnes them concerning Achioz, that they should bring him to Bethulia, and deliuer him into the hands of the children of Israel.

11 So his seruants tooke him, and brought him out of the campe into the plaine: and they went out from the middes of the plaine into the mountaines, and came vnto the fountaines that were vnder Bethulia.

12 And when the men of the cite saw them from the top of the mountaine, they tooke their armour and went forth of the cite vnto the top of the mountaine, euen all the rebowes with slings, and kept them from coming by by casting stones against them.

13 But they went quietly vnder the hill, and bound Achioz, and left him lying at the foote of the hill, and returned to their lord.

14 Then the Israelites came downe from their cite, and stood about him, and looked him and brought him into Bethulia, and presented him to the gouernours of their cite.

15 Which were in those dayes Ozias the sonne of Bicha, of the tribe of Simeon, and Chabys the sonne of Gorthoniel, and Charnis sonne of Belchiel.

16 And they called together all the ancients of the cite, and all their youth ran together, and their women to the assembly: and they set Achioz in the mids of all their people. Then Ozias asked him of that which was done.

17 And he answered and declared vnto them the words of the counsell of Dioresnes, and all the wordes that hee had spoken in the middes of the princes of Assur, and whatsoeuer Dioresnes had spoken proudly against the house of Israel.

18 Then the people fell downe and worshipped God, and cryd vnto God, saying,

19 O Lord God of heauen, behold their pride and haue mercie on the basenes of our people, and behold this day the face of those that are sanctified vnto thee.

20 Then they comforted Achioz, and prayed him greatly.

21 And Ozias tooke him out of the assembly into his house, and made a feast to the Elders, and they called on the God of Israel, all that night for helpe.

CHAP. VII.

3 Olofernes doeth besiege Bethulia. 8 The Counsell of the Iudaeans and others against the Israelites. 23 The Bethulians murmur against their Gouernours for lacke of water.

THE next day Dioresnes commanded all his armie and all his people, which were come to take his part, that they should remove their campes against Bethulia, and that they should take all the streets of the hill, and to make warre against the children of Israel.

2 Then their strong men remooued their campes in that day, and the armie of the men of warre was an hundred thousand and seventy footmen, and twelue thousand horsemen, beside the baggage and other men that were were afoote among them, a very great multitude.

3 And they camped in the plaine nere unto Berthulia, by the fountaine, and they spread a-broad toward Dothaim unto Belbain, and in length from Berthulia unto Giamon, which is our againſt Edſarlon.

4 Now the children of Iſrael, when they ſaw the multitude, were greatly troubled, and ſaid every one to his neighbour, How will they ſtand up all the whole earth: for neither the hie mountaines, nor the valleyes, nor the hils are able to a-bide their burthen.

5 Then every one tooke his weapons of war, and burning fires in their towres, they remained and watchea all that night.

6 But in the ſecond day Olofernes brought forth all his hoſtmen in the ſight of the children of Iſrael, which were in Berthulia.

7 And diſtured the paſſages up to their citie, and came to the fountaines of their waters, and tooke them, and let gardions of men of warre our them, and remooved toward his people.

8 Then came unto him all the chiefe of the children of Eſau, and all the gouernours of the people of Doak, and all the capitaines of the ſea coast, and ſaid,

9 Let our capitaine now heare a word, leſt an inconuenience come in thine army.

10 For this people of the children of Iſrael doe not truſt in their ſpeares, but in the height of the mountaines wherein they dwell, becauſe it is not eaſie to come up to the toppes of their mountaines.

11 Now therefore my lord, fight not againſt them in battell aray, and there ſhall not ſo much as one man of thy people periſh.

12 Remain in thy campe, and keepe all the men of thine armie, and let thy men keepe ſtill the water of the countrey that cometh forth at the foote of the mountaine.

13 For all the inhabitants of Berthulia haue their water thereof: ſo ſhall theſt kill them, and they ſhall giue up their citie: and wee and our people will goe up to the toppes of the mountaines that are nere, and will campe vpon them, and watch that none goe out of the citie.

14 So they and their wiues, and their children ſhall bee conſumed with famine, and beſore the ſword come againſt them, they ſhall bee ouerthrowen in the ſtreetes where they dwell.

15 Thus ſhalt thou render them an euill reward, becauſe they rebelled and obeyed not thy perſon peaceably.

16 And their words pleaſed Olofernes and all his ſouldiers, and he appointed to doe as they had ſpoken.

17 So the campe of the children of Ammon departed, and with them ſine thouſand of the Aſſyrians, and they pitched in the valley, and tooke the waters, and the fountaines of the waters of the children of Iſrael.

18 Then the children of Eſau went up with the children of Ammon, and camped in the mountaines ouer againſt Dothaim, and they ſent ſome of themſelues toward the South, and toward the Eaſt, ouer againſt Rebel, which is nere unto Chulſ, that is vpon the river Dochemur: and the reſt of the armie of the Aſſyrians camped in the field, and covered the whole land: for their tents and their baggage were pitched in a wonderfull great place.

19 Then the children of Iſrael cried unto the Lord their God, becauſe their heart ſayde for all their enemies had compaſſed them about, and there was no way to eſcape out from among them.

20 Thus all the company of Aſſur remained about them, both their footmen, and chariots, and horſemen, foure and thirty dayes: ſo that euen all the places of their waters failed all the inhabitants of Berthulia.

21 And the ciſternes were emptye, and they had not water enough to drinke for one day: for they gaue them to drinke by meaſure.

22 Therefore their children ſmooned, and their wiues and young men failed for thirſt, and fell downe in the ſtreets of the citie, and by the paſſages of the gates, and there was no ſtrength in them.

23 Then all the people aſſembled to Oſias, and to the chiefe of the citie, both yong men, and women and children, and cried with a lowde voyce, and ſaid beſore all the Elders, 24 The Lord iudge betwene vs and you: for you haue done vs great iniury, in that yee haue not required peace of the children of Aſſur.

25 For now wee haue no helpe: but God hath ſold vs into their hands, that we ſhould be throwen downe beſore them with thirſt & great deſtruction.

26 Now therefore call them together, and deliuer the whole city for a ſpoyle to the people of Olofernes, and to all his armie.

27 For it is better for vs to be made a ſpoyle unto them, then to die for thirſt: for we will be his ſeruaunts, that wee may liue, and not ſee the deard of our infants beſore our eyes, nor our wiues, nor our children to die.

28 We take to ourſelues againſt you, the heauen and the earth, and our God, and Lord of our fathers, which puniſheth vs according to our finnes, and the finnes of our fathers, that hee lay not theſe things to our charge.

29 Then there was a great crye of all wiſh one conſent in the middes of the aſſembly, and they cried unto the Lord God with a lowde voyce.

30 Then ſaid Oſias to them, Brethren, be of good courage: let vs waite yet ſine dayes, in the which ſpace the Lord our God may turne his mercy toward vs: for hee will not forſake vs in the end.

31 And if theſe dayes paſſe, and there come not helpe unto vs, I will doe according to your word.

32 So he ſeparated the people, every one vnto their charge, and they went unto the waſſes and towres of their citie, and ſent their wiues and their children into their houſes, and they were very low brought in the citie.

CHAP. VIII.

The parentage, life, and conuerſation of Iſdrab, 1
Shee rebuketh the ſantoſſe of the Gouernours, 12
Shee ſheweth that they ſhould not tempt God, but waite vpon him for ſuccour. 33 Her ſuſcepriſe againſt the enemies.

Now

NOW at that time Judeth heard thereof, which was the daughter of Merari, the sonne of Dr., the sonne of Joseph, the sonne of Dziel, the sonne of Elcia, the sonne of Ananias, the sonne of Sedon, the sonne of Rappahim, the sonne of Actos, the sonne of Eliu, the sonne of Eliab, the sonne of Nabhanai, the sonne of Samael, the sonne of Salafabad, the sonne of Israel.

2 And Hananias was her husband, of her stocke and kindred, who dyed in the barley harvest.

3 For as hee was diligent over them that bound sheaves in the field, the beate came upon his head, and hee fell upon his bed, and dyed in the cite of Bethulia, and they buried him with his fathers in the field betweene Dothai and Balamo.

4 So Judeth was in her house a widow three yeeres, and foure monthes.

5 And shee made her a rent upon her house, and put on sackcloth on her loynes, and ware her widowes apparell.

6 And shee fasted all the dayes of her widowhood, save the day before the Sabbath, and the Sabbaths, and the day before the new moones, and in the feastes and solenne dayes of the house of Israel.

7 She was also of a goodly countenance, and very beautifull to behold: and her husband Hananias had left her gold and silver, and men servants, and made servants, and cattell, and possessions where she remained.

8 And there was none that could bring an evil report of her: for she feared God greatly.

9 Now when shee heard the evil wordes of the people against the gouernour, because they fainted for lacke of waters (for Judeth had heard all the wordes that Ozias had spoken vnto them, and that hee had ^{two}woyne vnto them to deliuer the cite vnto the Assyrians within five dayes.)

10 Then she sent her maide that had the gouernement of all things that shee had, to call Ozias and Chabris and Charmis the ancientes of the cite,

11 And they came vnto her, and shee sayd vnto them, Heare mee, O yee gouernours of the inhabitants of Bethulia: for your wordes that yee haue spoken before the people this day, are not right, touching this orbe which hee made and pronounced betwene God and you; and haue promised to deliuer the cite to the enemies, whilste within these dayes the Lord turne to helpe you.

12 And now who are you that haue tempted God this day, and set your selues in the place of God among the children of men?

13 So now yee seeke the Lord Almighty, but you shall neuer know any thing.

14 For you cannot finde out the depth of the heart of man, neither can yee perceine the things that hee thinketh: then how can you searce out God that hath made all these things, and know his minde, or comprehend his purpose? Nay my brethren, prouoke not the Lord our God to anger.

15 For if hee will not helpe vs within these five dayes, hee hath power to defend vs, when he will, euen euery day, or to destroy vs before our enemies.

16 Doe not you therefore blinde the counsels of the Lord our God: for God is not as man that hee may be threatened, neither as the sonne of man to be brought to iudgement.

17 Therefore let vs waite for saluation of him, and call upon him to helpe vs, and hee will heare our voyce if it please him.

18 For there appeareth none in our age, neither is there any now in these dayes, neither tribe, nor familie, nor people, nor cite among vs, which worship the gods made with hands, as hath bene aforesaid.

19 For the which cause our fathers were given to the sword, and for a people, & had a great fall before our enemies. Jud. 2. 11. and 4. 1. and 6. 1.

20 But wee know none of her Gods: therefore we trust that he will not despise vs, nor any of our linage.

21 Neither when wee shall be taken, shall Iudea bee so famous: for our Sanctuary shall be spoiled, and hee will require the propination thereof at our mouth.

22 And the feare of our brethren, and the captiuitie of the country, and the desolation of our inheritance will be turne upon our heads among the Gentiles, whereof we shall be in bondage, and wee shall bee an offence and a reproch to all them that possesse vs.

23 For our seruitude shall not bee directed by fauour, but the Lord our God shall turne it to dishonour.

24 Now therefore, O brethren, let vs shew an example to our brethren, because their hearts depend upon vs, and the Sanctuary, and the House, and the Altar rest upon vs.

25 Wherefore, let vs giue thanks to the Lord our God, which trieth vs as hee did our fathers.

26 Remember what things hee did to Abraham, and how hee tried Isaac, and all that hee did to Jacob in Mesopotamia of Syria when hee kept the sheepe of Laban his mothers brother. Gen. 12. 1. Gen. 22. 7.

27 For hee hath not tried vs as hee did them to the examination of their hearts, neither doeth hee take vengeance on vs, but the Lord punisheth for instruction them that come neere to him.

28 Then said Ozias to her, All that thou hast spoken, hast thou spoken with a good heart, and there is none that is able to resist thy wordes.

29 For it is not to day that thy wisdom is knowne, but from the beginning of thy life all the people haue knowne thy wisdom: for the deuice of thine heart is good.

30 But the people were very thirsty, & compelled vs to doe vnto them as wee haue spoken, and haue brought vs to an orbe, which wee may not transgresse.

31 Therefore now pray for vs, because thou art an holy woman, that the Lord may send vs raine to fill our cisternes, and that wee may faint no more.

32 Then sayde Judeth vnto them, Heare me, and I will doe a thing which shall be declared in all generations, to the children of our nation.

33 You shall stand this night in the gate, and I will goe forth with mine handmaide: and within the dayes that yee haue promised to deliver the cite to our enemies, the Lord will visit Israel by mine hand.

34 But enquire not you of mine acts: for I will not declare it unto you, till the things be finished that I do.

35 Then said Othias and the princes unto her God in peace, and the Lord God be before thee, to take vengeance on our enemies.

36 So they returned from the tent, and went to their wards.

CHAP. IX.

1 Judeth humblesh her self before the Lord, and maketh her prayers for the deliverance of her people, 7 Againt the pride of the Assyrians. 11 God is the helpe of the humble.

When Judeth fell upon her face, and put ashes upon her head, & put off the sackcloth wherewith she was clothed. And about the time that the incense of the evening was offered in Jerusalem in the house of the Lord, Judeth cried with a loud voyce, and said,

2 O Lord God of my father * Simeon, to whom thou gapest a way to take vengeance of the strangers which opened the wombe of the maid and defiled her, and discovered the thigh with shame, and polluted the wombe to reproch (for thou hadst commanded that it should not so be,

3 Per they did things for the which thou gapest their princes to the slaughter, for they were decreed and washed their becs with blood) and hast stricken the servants with the gournours, and the gournours upon their thrones,

4 And hast given their wives for a pray, and their daughters to bee captives, and all their spoiles for a bootie to the children that thou lowdest: which were mooued with thy zeale, and abhorred the pollution of their blood, and called upon thee for ayde, O God, O my God heare me also a widow.

5 For thou hast wrought the things afore, and these, and the things that shall bee after, and thou considerest the things that are present, and the things that are to come.

6 For the things which thou doest purpose, are present and say, Behold, we are here: for all thy wayes are ready, and thy iudgements are foreknown.

7 Behold, the Assyrians are multiplied by their power: they have exalted themselves with bowes and bowemen: they glory in the strength of their footmen, they trust in shield, spear, and bow, and sling, and do not know that thou art the Lord that breakest the battels: the Lord is thy Name.

8 Break thou their strength by thy power, and break their force by thy wrath: for they have purposed to defile thy Sanctuary, and to pollute the Tabernacle where thy glorious Name resteth, and to cast downe with weapons the houses of the altar?

9 Behold their pride, and send thy wrath upon their heads: give unto mine hand which am a widow, the strength that I have conceived.

10 * Smite by the becc of my lips, the servant with the prince, and the prince with the servant: abate their height by the hand of a woman.

11 For thy power standeth not in the multitude, nor thy might in strong men: but thou, O Lord, art the helpe of the humble and little ones, the defender of the weak, and the protector of them that are forsaken, and the Saviour of them that are without hope.

12 Surely, surely, thou art the God of my father and the God of the inheritance of Israel, the Lord of heauen and earth, the creator of the waters, the king of all creatures: heare thou my prayer,

13 And grant mee wordes and craft, and a wound, and a stroke against them that enterpise cruell things against thy covenant, and against thine holy Vowle, and against the top of Sion, and against the house of the possession of thy children.

14 Shew evidently among all thy people, and all the tribes, that they may know that thou art the God of all power and strength, and that there is none other that defendeth the people of Israel but thou.

CHAP. X.

1 Judeth decketh her self, and goeth forth of the cite, 11 She is taken of the watch of the Assyrians, and brought to Olofernes.

Now after she had ceased to cry unto the God of Israel, and had made an end of all these wordes,

2 She rose where she had fallen downe, and called her maide, and went downe into the house in the which she abode in the Sabbath dayes, and in the feast dayes,

3 And putting away the sackcloth wherewith she was clad, and putting off the garments of her widowhood, she washed her body with water, and anoynted it with much oymment, and decked the haire of her head, and put attire upon it, and put on her garments of gladness, wherewith she was clad, during the life of Hannias her husband.

4 And she put slippers on her feete, and put on bracelets, and sterues, and rings, and earrings, and all her ornaments: and she decked herselfe bravely, to allure the eyes of all men that should see her.

5 Then she gaue her maide a bottle of wine, and a pot of oyle, and filled a scrip with flowre, and with dyse figges, and with fine bread, so she lapped up all these things together, and layd them upon her.

6 Thus they went forth to the Gate of the cite of Bethulia, and found standing there Othias: and the ancientes of the cite, Chabris and Charimis.

7 And when they saw her, that her face was changed, and that her garment was changed, they marvelled greatly at her wonderfull beaurie, and said unto her,

8 The God, the God of our fathers giue thee fauour, and accomplish thine enterpises to the glory of the children of Israel, and to the exaltation of Jerusalem. Then they worshipped God.

9 And she layd vnto them, Commande the gates of the cite to be opened vnto mee, that I may goe forth to accomplish the things which you haue spoken to mee. So they commanded the young men to open vnto her, as shee had spoken.

10 And when they had done so, Iudeth went out, and her maid with her, and the men of the city looked after her, until she was gone downe the mountain, and till she had passed the valley, and could see her no more.

11 Then they went straight forth in the valley, and the first watch of the Assyrians met her.

12 And tooke her, and asked her, Of what people art thou? and whence comest thou? and whither goest thou? And she said, I am a woman of the Iudethes, and am fledde from them: for they shall bee giuen pon to bee consumed.

13 And I come before Olofernes the chiefe captaine of your armie, to declare him true things, and I will shew before him the way whereby hee shall goe and winne all the mountaines, without loosing the body or life of any of his men.

14 Now when the men heard her words, and beheld her countenance, they wondered greatly at her beauty, and said vnto her,

15 Thou hast saved thy life, in that thou hast halted to come downe to the presence of our lord, now therefore come to his tent, and some of vs shall conduct thee vntill they haue deliuered thee into his hands.

16 And when thou standest before him, bee not afraid in thine heart, but shew vnto him according as thou hast to say, and hee will entreat thee well.

17 Then they chose out of them an hundred men, and prepared a chariot for her and her maids, and brought her to the tent of Olofernes.

18 Then there was a running to and fro throughout the campe: for her coming was hied among the tents: and they came and stood round about her: for shee stood without the tent of Olofernes, vntill they had declared vnto him concerning her.

19 And they marvelled at her beautie, and wondered at the children of Israel, because of her, and every one said vnto his neighbour, Who would despise this people, that haue among them such women? surely it is not good that one man of them be left: for if they should remaine, they might deuide the whole earth.

20 Then Olofernes guard went out, and all his seruants, and they brought her into the tent.

21 Now Olofernes rested vpon his bed vnder a canopie, which was woven with purple and golde, and Emeraudes, and precious stones.

22 So they shewed him of her, and hee came forth vnto the entry of his tent, and they carried lampes of silver before him.

23 And when Iudeth was come before him and his seruants, they all marvelled at the beautie of her countenance, and shee fell downe vpon her face, and did reuerence vnto him, and his seruants tooke her vp.

CHAP. XL

1 Olofernes comforteth Iudeth, 3 and asketh the cause of her coming, 5 shee deceiveth him by her false words.

Then said Olofernes vnto her, Woman be of good comfort: feare not in thine heart: for

I neuer hurt any that would serue Nabuchodonosor the king of all the earth.

2 Now therefore if thy people that dwell in the mountaines, had not deiled me, I would not haue lifted vp my speare against them: but they haue procured these things to themselves.

3 But now tell mee wherefore thou art fled from them: and come vnto vs: for thou art come for safegarde of good comfort, thou shalt liue from this night, and hereafter.

4 For none shall hurt thee, but intreat thee well, as they doe the seruants of king Nabuchodonosor my lord.

5 Then Iudeth said vnto him, Recelne the words of thy seruant, and suffer thine handmaid to speake in thy presence, and I will declare no lye to my lord this night.

6 And if thou wilt follow the words of thine handmaid, God will bring the thing perfectly to passe by thee, and my lord shall not faile of his purpose.

7 As Nabuchodonosor king of all the earth liueth, and as his power is of force, who hath sent thee to reforme all persons, not onely men shall bee made subiect to him by thee, but also the beastes of the fieldes, and the cattell, and the foules of the heauen shall liue by thy power vnder Nabuchodonosor and all his house.

8 For wee haue heard of thy wisdom and of thy prudent spirit, and it is declared through the whole earth, that thou onely art excellent in all the kingdome, and of a wonderful knowledge, and in feates of warre marvellous.

9 Now as concerning the matter which Achior did speake in thy counsell, wee haue heard his wordes: for the men of Babilonia did take him, and hee declared vnto them all that hee had spoken vnto thee.

10 Therefore, O lord and gouernour, respect not his words, but let it in thine heart, for it is true: for there is no punishment against our people, neither can the sword preuaile against them, except they sinne against their God.

11 Now therefore lest my lord should bee frustrated, and void of his purpose, and that death may fall vpon them, and that they may be taken in their sinne whiles they prouoke their God to anger, which is to oft times as they doe that which is not becoming.

12 For because their bitailes fatte, and all their water is wasted, they haue determined to take their cattell, and haue purposed to consume all things that God had forbidden them to eate by his Lawes:

13 Yea, they haue purposed to consume the first fruits of the wheate, and the tithes of the wine, and of the oyle which they had reserved and sanctified for the priests that serue in Ierusalem before the face of our God: the which things is not lawfull for any of the people to touch with their hands.

14 Wherefore, they haue sent to Ierusalem, because they also that dwell there, haue done the like, such as should bring them silence from the Senate.

15 Now when they shall bring them word, they will doe it, and they shall be giuen thee to be be destroyed the same day.

16 Therefore I thine handmaide, knowing all this, am fled from their presence, and God hath sent me to worke a thing with thee, whereof all the earth shall wonder, and whosoever shall heare it.

17 For thy servant feareth God, and worshippeth the God of heauen day and night, and now let mee remaine with thee, my lord, and let thy servant goe out in the night into the valley, and I will pray vnto God, that hee may reucale vnto me when they shall commit their sinnes.

18 And I will come and shew it vnto thee: then thou shalt goe forth with all thine armie, and there shall bee none of them that shall resist thee.

19 And I will leade thee through the mids of Iuda, vntill thou come before Ierusalem, and I will let thy thorne in the middes thereof, and thou shalt vaine them as sheepe that haue no shepheard, and a dogge shall not barker with his mouth against thee: for these things haue bene spoken vnto mee, and declared vnto me according to my foreknowledge, and I am sent to shew thee.

20 ¶ Then her words pleased Olofernes, and all his seruants, and they marvelled at her wisdom, and said,

21 There is not such a woman in all the world, both for beauty of face, and wisdom of words.

22 Likewise Olofernes said vnto her, God hath done this, to send thee before the people, that strength might bee in our hands, and destruction vpon them that despise my lord.

23 And now thou art both beautifull in thy countenance, and wittie in thy words: surely if thou doe as thou hast spoken, thy God shall bee my God, and thou shalt dwell in the house of Nabuchodonosor, & shalt be renowned throughout the whole earth.

CHAP. XII.

2 Iudeth would not pollute her selfe with the meate of the Gentiles. 5 Shee maketh her request that shee might goe out by night to pray. 11 Olofernes canfesseth her to come to the banquet.

¶ When hee commanded to bring her in where his treasures were layd, and bade that they should prepare for her of his owne meates, and that she should drinke of his owne wine.

2 But Iudeth sayd, * I may not eate of them, lest there should be an offence, but I can suffice my selfe with the things that I haue brought.

3 Then Olofernes sayd vnto her, If the things that thou hast, should faile, how should we giue thee the like? for there is none with vs of thy nation.

4 Then sayd Iudeth vnto him, As thy soule liueth, my lord, thine handmaide shall not spend those things that I haue, before the Lord worke by mine hand the things that hee hath determined.

5 Then the seruants of Olofernes brought her into the tent, and shee slept vntill midnight, and arose at the morning watch.

6 And sent to Olofernes, saying, Let my lord command that thy handmaide may goe forth vnto prayer.

7 ¶ Then Olofernes commaunded his guard that they should not stay her: thus shee abode in the campe three dayes, and went out in the night vnto the valley of Bethulia, and washed her selfe in a fountain, euen in the water by the campe.

8 And when shee came out, shee prayed vnto the Lord God of Israel, that hee would direct her way to the exaltation of the children of her people.

9 So shee returned, and remained pure in the tent, vntill she ate her meate at euening.

10 ¶ And in the fourth day Olofernes made a feast to his owne seruants onely, and called none of them to the banquet, that had the affaires in hand.

11 Then said hee to Bagoas the eunuch who had charge ouer all that hee had, Goe and perswade this Iudean woman which is with thee, that shee come vnto vs, and eate and drinke with vs.

12 For it were a shame for vs, if we should let such a woman alone, and not talke with her, and if we doe not allure her, shee will mocke vs.

13 Then went Bagoas from the presence of Olofernes, and came to her, and said, Let not this false maike make difficultie to goe in to my lord, and to bee honoured in his presence, and to drinke wine with vs ioyfully, and to bee intreated as one of the daughters of the children of Assur, which remaine in the house of Nabuchodonosor.

14 Then said Iudeth vnto him, Who am I now, that I should game away my lord? Surely whatsoeuer please him, I will doe presently, and it shall be my joy vnto the day of my death.

15 So shee arose and trimmed her with garments, and with all the ornaments of women, and her maids went, and spread forth her skinner on the ground ouer against Olofernes, which shee had receiued of Bagoas for her dayly use, that she might sit and eate vpon them.

16 Now when Iudeth came and sat downe, Olofernes heart was ransied with her, and his spirit was moued, and hee desired greatly her company: for hee had waited for the time to deceiue her from the day that hee had seene her.

17 Then said Olofernes vnto her, Drinke now and be merrie with vs.

18 So Iudeth sayd, I drinke now, my lord, because my state is exalted this day more then euer it was since I was boyne.

19 Then sheeooke and ate, and dranke before him the things that hee maide had prepared.

20 And Olofernes reioyced because of her, and dranke much more wine then hee had drunken at any time in one day since he was boyne.

CHAP. XIII.

4 Iudeth prayeth for strength. 8 Shee fasteth off Olofernes necke. 10 Shee returneth to Bethulia, and reioyceth her people.

¶ Now when the euening was come, his seruants made haste to depart, and Bagoas shut his tent without, and dismissed those that were present, from the presence of his lord, and they went to their beds: for they were all weary because the feast had bene long.

2 And Iudeth was left alone in the tent, and Olofernes was stretched along upon his bed: for he was filled with wine.

3 And now Iudeth had commanded her maide to stand without her chamber, and to waite for her coming forth: as she did daily: for she sayd, she would goe forth to her prayers, and she spake to Bagoas according to the same purpose.

4 So all went forth in her presence, and none was left in the chamber neither little nor great: then Iudeth standing by his bed, said in her heart, O Lord God of all power, behold at this present the workes of mine hands for the exaltation of Ierusalem.

5 For now is the time to helpe thine inheritance, and to execute mine enterprises, to the destruction of the enemies which are risen against vs.

6 Then she came to the post of the bed, which was at Olofernes head, and tooke downe his fauchin from thence.

7 And approached to the bed, and tooke hold of the haire of his head, and sayd, Strengthen me, O Lord God of Israel, this day.

8 And shee smote twice vpon his necke with all her might, and shee tooke away his head from him.

9 And rolled his body downe from the bed, and pulled downe the canopye from the pillars, and anon after shee went forth, and gaue Olofernes head to her maide.

10 And shee put it in her scrip of meate: so they twaine went together according to their custome vnto prayer, and praesling through the tents, went about by that valley, and went vnto the mountaine of Bethulia, and came to the gates thereof.

11 Then said Iudeth asar off to the watchmen at the gates, Open now the gate: God, euen our God is with vs, to shew his power yet in Ierusalem, and his force against his enemies, as he hath euen done this day.

12 Now when the men of her citie heard her voyce, they made haste to goe downe to the gate of their citie, and they called the Elders of the citie.

13 And they ran all together both small and great: for it was about their expectation, that shee should come. So they opened the gate and receiued her, and made a fire for a light, and stood round about their twaine.

14 Then shee said to them with a loud voyce, Praise God, praise God: for hee hath not taken away his mercy from the house of Israel, but hath destroyed our enemies by mine hands this night.

15 So shee tooke the head out of the scrip, and shewed it. And sayd vnto them, Beholde the head of Olofernes, the chiefe Captaine of the arme of Assur, and beholde the canopye, wherein hee did lie in his dunkenesse, and the Lord hath smitten him by the hand of a woman.

16 As the Lord Iudith, who hath kept me in my way that I went, my countenance hath deceiued him to his destruction, and hee hath not committed sinne with me by any pollution or villenie.

17 Then all the people were wonderfully astonished, and bowed themselves, and worshipped

God, and sayd with one accord, Blessed bee thou, O our God, which hast this day brought to nought the enemies of thy people.

18 Then sayd Othias vnto her, O daughter, blessed art thou of the most high God about all the women of the earth, and blessed be the Lord God which hath created the heauens and the earth, which hath directed thee to the cutting off of the head of the chiefe of our enemies.

19 Surely this thine hope shall neuer depart out of the hearts of men: for they shall remember the power of God for euer.

20 And God turne these things to thee for a perpetuall prayse, and visite thee with good things, because thou hast not spared the life, because of the affliction of our nation, but thou hast holpen our ruine, walking a straight way before our God. And all the people sayd, So bee it, so bee it.

C A H P. XIII.

1 Iudeth causeth to hang up the head of Olofernes.
10 Achior sayeth himselfe to the people of God. 11 The Syrians rise agaynst the Assyrians.

Then sayd Iudeth vnto them, Heare me also my brethren, and take this head, and hang it vpon the highest place of your walles.

2 And so soone as the morning shall appeare, and the Sunne shall come forth vpon the earth, take you euery one his weapons, and goe forth euery valiant man out of the citie, and let you a Captaine ouer them, as though you would goe downe into the felde, toward the watch of the Assyrians, but goe not downe.

3 Then they shall take their armour, and shall goe into their campe, and raise vp the captaines of the arme of Assur, and they shall run to the tent of Olofernes, but shall not finde him: then feare shall fall vpon them, and they shall flee before your face.

4 So you and all that inhabite the coosts of Israel shall pursue them, and overthrow them as they goe.

5 But before you doe these things, call mee Achior the Ammonite that he may see, and know him that despised the house of Israel, and that sent him to vs as to death.

6 Then they called Achior out of the house of Othias, and when hee was come, and saw the head of Olofernes in a certaine mans hand in the assembly of the people, hee fell downe on his face, and his spirit failed.

7 But when they had taken him vp, hee fell at Iudeths fete, and reuerenced her, and sayd, Blessed art thou in all the Tabernacle of Iuda, and in all nations, which bearing thy name, shall be astonished.

8 Now therefore tell mee all the things, that thou hast done in these dayes. Then Iudeth declared vnto him in the midst of the people, all that shee had done from the day that shee went forth, vntill that houre shee spake vnto them.

9 And when shee had left off speaking, the people reioyced with a great voyce, and made a noyse of gladnesse through their citie.

10 And Achior seeing all things that God had done for Israel, beleueed in God vnto the medly, and circumcised the foreskin of his flesh, and was layned vnto the house of Israel vnto this day.

11 As soone as the morning arose, they hangd the head of Olofernes out at the wall, and every man tooke his weapons, and they went forth by bands vnto the straits of y^e mountaine.

12 But when the assyrians saw them, they sent to their captaynes, which went to the gouernours and chiefe captaynes, and to all their rulers.

13 So they came to Olofernes tent, and said to him that had the charge of all his things, taken our lord: for the slaues haue bene bold so come downe against vs to battell, that they may be destroyed for euer.

14 Then went in Bagoas, and knocked at the doore of the tent: for he thought that he had kept with Iudeth.

15 But because none answered, hee opened it, and went into the chamber, and found him cast vpon the floore, and his head was taken from him.

16 Therefore he cried with a loud voyce, with weeping and mourning, and a mighty cry, and sent his garments.

17 After, hee went into the tent of Iudeth, where shee vied to remain, and found her not: then hee leaped out to the people and cried,

18 These slaues haue committed wickednes: one woman of the Iudees hath brought shame vpon the house of king Nabuchodonosor: for behold, Olofernes lieth vpon the ground without an head.

19 When the captaynes of the Assyrians arme heard these words, they rent their coats, and their heart was wonderfully troubled: and there was a cry and a very great noyse throughout the campe.

CHAP. XV.

* 1 The Assyrians are afraid and flee. 3 The Israelites pursue them. 8 Ioachim the high Priest cometh to Bethulia to see Iudeth and to praise God for her.

And when they that were in the tents heard, they were astonished at the thing that was done.

2 And feare and trembling fell vpon them, so that there was no man that durst abide in the sight of his neighbour: but altogether amazed, they fled by every way of the plaine and of the mountaines.

3 They also that had camped in the mountaines round about Bethulia, were put to flight, then the children of Israel, every one that was a warrior among them, rushed out vpon them.

4 Then sent Othas to Bethoniah them, and to Irbat, and Chobab, and Chobai, and to all the coasts of Israel, such as should declare vnto them the things that were done, & that all should rush forth vpon their enemies to destroy them.

5 Now when the children of Israel heard it, they all fell vpon them together vnto Chobab, likewise also they came to Ierusalem, and from all the mountaines: for men had told them what things were done in the campe of their enemies, and they that were of Galaad, and in Galleer, chased them with a great slaughter, vntill they came to Damascus, and to the coasts thereof.

6 And the residue that dwelt at Bethulia, fell vpon the campe of Asur, and spoyled them, and were greatly enriched.

7 And the children of Israel that returned from the slaughter had the rest: and the villages and the cities that were in the mountaines and in the plaine, had a great bootie, for the abundance was very great.

8 Then Ioachim the high Priest, and the ancienes of the children of Israel that dwell in Ierusalem, came to confirme the benefits that God had shewed to Israel, and to see Iudeth, and to salute her.

9 And when they came vnto her, they blessed her with one accord, and said vnto her, Thou art the exaltation of Ierusalem: thou art the great glory of Israel: thou art the great reioycing of our nation.

10 Thou hast done all these things by thine hand: thou hast done much good to Israel, and God is pleased therewith, blessed be thou of the Almighty Lord for evermore: and all the people sayd, So be it.

11 And the people spoyled the campe the space of thirty dayes, and they gaue vnto Iudeth Olofernes tent, and all his siluer and beds, and basins, and all his stuffe, and shee tooke it, and layd it on her mules, and made ready her charrets and layd them thereon.

12 Then all the women of Israel came together to see her, and blessed her, and made a dance among them for her, and shee tooke branches in her hand, and gaue also to the women that were with her.

13 They also crowned her with oliues, & her char was with her, and shee went before the people in the dance, leading all the women: and all the men of Israel followed in their armour with crownes, and with songs in their mouthes.

CHAP. XVI.

Iudeth prayeth God with a song. 19 Shee affirmeth to the Lord Olofernes suffice. 23 Her continuance, life and death. 25 All Israel lamenteth her.

Then Iudeth began this confession in all Israel, and all the people sang this song with a loude voyce.

2 And Iudeth sayd, Begin vnto my God with tymbrels: sing to my Lord with cymbals: tune vnto him a Psalm: exalt his people, and call vpon his Name.

3 For God breaketh the battels, and picketh his campe in the mids of his people, and deliuered me out of the hand of the persecuters.

4 Asur came from the mountaines foorth of the North: hee came with thousands in his arme, * whose multitude heh was by the rivers, and their horsemen haue covered the valleyes.

5 Wee sayd that hee would burne vpon my borders, and kill my yong men with the sword, and dash the sucking children against the ground, and make mine infants as a praye, and my virgins a people.

6 But the Almightye Lord hath brought them to nought by the hand of a woman.

7 For the night he did not fall by the yong men, neither did the souldiers of Asur smite him, nor the high Chanaan made him, but Iudeth Judeth the daughter of Meract did discomfite him by the beauty of her countenance.

8 For she put off the garment of her widowhood, for the exaltation of those that were oppressed in Israel, and anointed her face with ointment, and bound up her haire in a coiffe, and tooke a linnen garment to deceive him.

9 Her slippers raiſed his eyes: her beauty tooke his mind prisoner, and the ſauchin pulled chozow his neck.

10 The Perſians were aſtonied at her boldneſſe, and the Medes were troubled with her hardneſſe.

11 But mine afflicted reioyced, and my feeble ones ſhouted: then they feared, they liſted by their voyce, and turned backe.

12 The children of maidens pierced them, and wounded them as they fled away like children: they perished by the battell of the Lord.

13 I will ſing unto the Lord a new long and praife, O Lord, thou art great and glorious, marvellous and inuincible in power.

14 Let all thy creatures ſerne thee: for thou haſt ſpoken, and they were made: thou haſt ſent thy ſpirit, and hee made them vp, and there is none that can reſiſt thy voyce.

15 For the mountaines leape vp from their foundations with the waters, the rocks melt at thy preſence like waſe: yet thou art mercifull to them that feare thee.

16 For all ſacrifice is too little for a ſweet ſavour, and all the fat is too little for thy burnt offering: but he that feareth the Lord, is great at all times.

17 Cloe to the nations that riſe vp againſt my kined: the Lord Almighty will take vengeance of them in the day of iudgement, in ſending fire and waſmes upon their fleſh, and they ſhall ſeele them and wepe for euer.

18 After, when they went vnto Ieruſalem, they worſhipped the Lord, and alſoone as the people were purified, they offered their burnt offerings, and their free offerings, and their gifts.

19 Judeth alſo offered all the ſuffe of Doſetnes, which the people had giuen her, and gaue the canopie which ſhee had taken off his bed, for an oblation to the Lord.

20 So the people reioyced in Ieruſalem by the Sanctuary for the ſpace of three moneths, and Judeth remained with them.

21 After this time euery one returned to his own inheritance, and Judeth went to Bethſulia, and remained in her owne poſſeſſion, and was for her time honourable in all the country.

22 And many deſired her, but none had her, company all the dayes of her life, after that Manaſſes her husband was dead, and was gathered to his people.

23 But ſhe increaſed more and more in honour, and waſed olde in her husbands houſe, being an hundred and ſixty yeere old, and made her maide free: ſo ſhe died in Bethſulia, and they buried her in the graue of her husband Manafſes.

24 And the houſe of Iſrael lamented her ſeuē dayes, and beſore ſhe died, ſhe did diſtribute her goods to all them that were neceſſe of kined to Manafſes her husband, and to them that were the neceſſe of her kined.

25 And there was none that made the children of Iſrael any more afraid in the dayes of Judeth, nor a long time after her death.

8 And the people are they that are aſſembled to deſtroy the name of the Jewes.

9 And my people is Iſrael, which cryed to God, and are ſaued: for the Lord hath ſaued his people, and the Lord hath deliuered vs from all theſe cuils, and God hath wrought ſignes and great wonders, which haue not bene done among the Gentiles.

10 Therefore hath he made two lots, one for the people of God, & another for all the Gentiles.

11 And theſe two lots came beſore God for all nations, at the houre and time appointed, and in the day of iudgement.

12 So God remembered his owne people, and ſuſtified his inheritance.

from Jerusalem with Jeronias.

5 And this was his dream, behold a noise of a tempest with thunders & earthquakes, and byrre in the land.

6 Beholde two great Dragons came forth ready to fight one against another.

7 Their cry was great, whereby all the heathen were ready to fight against the righteous people.

8 And the same day was full of darkness and obscuritie, and trouble, and anguish: yea, aduersitie, and great affliction was vpon the earth.

9 For then the righteous fearing the afflictions, were amazed: and being ready to die, cryed vnto God.

10 And while they were crying, the little well grew into a great river, and flowed ouer with great waters.

11 The light, & the sunne rose vp, and the lowly were exalted, and deuoured the glorious.

12 Now when Harbocheus had scene this dream, he awoke and rose vp, and thought in his heart: untill night, what God would doe, and so he desired to know all the matter.

CHAP. XII.

At the same time dwelt Harbocheus in the Kings Court with Bagathas and Thera the kings eunuchs and keepers of the palace.

2 But when he heard their purpose, & their imaginations, he perceived that they went about to lay their hands vpon the king Artaxerxes, and so he certified the king thereof.

3 Then caused the king to examine the two eunuchs with torment, & when they had confessed it, they were put to death.

4 This the king caused to be put in the Chronicles: Harbocheus also wrote the same thing.

5 So the king commanded that Harbocheus should remaine in the Court, and for the aduersitment he gaue him a reward.

6 But Aman the sonne of Amadathus the Agagite, which was in great honour and reputation with the king, went about to hurt Harbocheus and his people, because of the two eunuchs of the king that were put to death.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The copie of the letters of Artaxerxes against the Leues. 2 The prayer of Harbocheus.

The copie of the letters was this. The great king Artaxerxes wist these things to the Princes & gouernours that are vnder him from India vnto Ethiopia in an hundred and seuen and twenty prouinces.

2 When I was made lord ouer many people, and had subdued the whole earth vnto my dominion, I would not exalt my selfe by the reason of my power, but purposed with equitie alway and gentleness, to gouerne my subiects and wholly to set them in a peaceable life, and thereby to bring my kingdome vnto tranquillitie, that men might safely goe thapow on euery side, and to renew peace againe, which all men desire.

3 Now when I asked my counsellors how these things might be brought to passe, one that was conuersant with vs, of excellent wisdom, and constant in good will, and setved himselfe to be of sure aduise, which had the second place in the kingdome, euen Aman,

4 Declared vnto vs, that in all nations there was scattered abroad a rebellious people, that had lawes contrary to all people, and haue alway despised the commandments of Kings, and so that this generall Emper, that wee haue begunne, cannot be gouerned without offence.

5 Seeing now we perceiue that this people alone are altogether contrary vnto every man, vying strange and other manner of lawes, and hauing an euill opinion of our doings, and yet about to finish wicked matters, that our kingdome should not come to good estate.

6 Therefore haue wee commanded that all they that are appointed in writing vnto you by Aman (which is ordeined ouer the affaires, and is as our second father) shall all with their wiues and children be destroyed and rooted out with the sword of their enemies without all mercy, and that none be spared the fourteenth day of the twelfth moneth Abar of this yeere,

7 That they which of old, and now also haue euer bene rebellious, may in one day with violence be thrust downe into the hell, to the intent that after this time our affaires may be without troubles and well gouerned in all points.

8 Then Harbocheus thought vpon all the wordes of the Lord, and made his prayer vnto him,

9 Saying, O Lord, Lord, the king Almighty (for all things are in thy power) and if thou hast appointed to save Israel, there is no man that can withstand thee.

10 For thou hast made heauen and earth, and all the wondrous things vnder the heauen.

11 Thou art Lord of all things, and there is no man that can resist thee, which art the Lord.

12 Thou knowest all things, and thou knowest, Lord, that it was neither of malice, nor presumption, nor for any desire of glory, that I did this, and not bowe downe to proud Aman.

13 For I would haue bene content with good will for the saluation of Israel, to haue killed the sole of his feet.

14 But I did it, because I would not preferre the honour of a man aboue the glory of God, and would not worship any but onely thee, my Lord, and this haue I not done of mine.

15 And therefore, O Lord God and king, haue mercy vpon thy people: for they imagine howe they may bring vs to nought, yea, they would destroy the inheritance, that hath bene thine from the beginning.

16 Despisest not the portion which thou hast deliuered out of Egypt for thine owne selfe.

17 Heare my prayer, and be mercifull vnto thy portion: turne our sorrowe into joy, that wee may say, O Lord, and praise thy name: that not the murdres of them that praise thee.

18 All Israel in like manner cryed most earnestly vnto the Lord, because that death was before their eyes.

CHAP. XIII.

The prayer of Esther for the deliverance of her, and her people.

Q When Esther also being in danger of death, returned unto the Lord,

2 And layd away her glorious apparell, and put on the garments of sighing, and mourning. In the head of precious ornament, she scattered ashes and dung upon her head: and she humbled her body greatly with fasting, and all the places of her body filled she with the haire that shee plucked off.

3 And she prayed unto the Lord God of Israel, saying, O my Lord, thou only art our King: helpe me desolate woman, which haue no helper but thee.

4 For my danger is at hand.

5 From my youth by I haue heard in the kindred of my father, that thou, O Lord, chookest Israel from among all people, and our fathers from their wickedness: for a perpetuall inheritance, and thou hast performed that which thou diddest promise them.

6 Now Lord, wee haue sinned before thee: therefore hast thou giuen vs into the hands of our enemies.

7 Because wee worshipped their gods: O Lord, thou art righteous.

8 Furthermore, it satisfieth them not, that we are in bitter captiuitie: but they haue stricken hands with their foes.

9 That they wil abolish the thing that thou with thy mouth hast ordained, and destroy thine inheritance, to shut vp the mouth of them that praise thee, and to quench the glory of thy Temple, and of thine Altar,

10 And to open the mouthes of the heathen, that they may praise the power of the heales, and to magnifie a fleshly king for euer.

11 O Lord, giue not thy scepter vnto them: that bee nothing, lest they laugh at to scorne in our miserie: but turne their deuill vpon themselves, and make him an example, that hath begun the same against vs.

12 Thinke vpon vs, O Lord, and shewe thy selfe vnto vs in the time of our distresse, and strengthen me, O King of gods, and Lord of all power.

13 Giue me an eloquent speech in my mouth before the Lyon: turne his heart to hate our enemy, to destroy him, and all such as conspire vnto him.

14 But deliuer vs with thine hand, and helpe me that am solitary, which haue no defence but onely thee.

15 Thou knowest all things, O Lord: thou knowest that I hate the glory of the vniuersities, and that I abhorre the deed of the vncircumcised, and of all the heathen.

16 Thou knowest my necessity: for I hate this token of my preeminence, which I beare vpon mine head, what time as I must shew my selfe, & that I abhorre it as a menstruous cloth, and that I weare it not when I am alone by my selfe.

17 And that I thine handmaid haue not eaten at Amans table, and that I haue had no pleasure in the Kings feast, nor drunke the wine of the vniuersal offerings.

18 And that I thine handmaid haue no sorrow since the day that I was brought thither vntill this day, but in thee, O Lord God of Abraham.

19 O thou mightie God above all, heare the voyce of them that haue none other hope, and deliuer vs out of the hand of the wicked, and deliuer me out of my feare.

CHAP. XV.

1 Mordechaus mooueth Esther to goe into the King and make intercession for her people, 2 And Jace performeth his request.

Mordechus also badeth Esther to goe in vnto the king, and pray for her people, and for her country.

2 Remember, saith he, the dayes of thy low estate, how thou wast nourished vnder mine hand: for Aman which is next vnto the king, hath giuen sentence of death against vs.

3 Call thou therefore vpon the Lord, & speake for vs vnto the king, and deliuer vs from death.

4 And vpon the third day when shee had ended her prayer, she layd away the mourning garments, and put on her glorious apparell.

5 And decked her selfe goodly, after that shee had called vpon God, which is the beholder and Saviour of all things, and tooke two hand-maids with her.

6 Vpon the one shee leane her selfe, as one that was tender.

7 And the other followed her, and bare the traine of her dressure.

8 The shine of her beauty made her face rose coloured: and her face was cheerefull & amiable, but her heart was sorrowfull for great feare.

9 Then shee went in through all the doores, and stood before the King, and the King layd vpon his royal throne, & was clothed in his goodly array, all glittering with gold & precious stones, and he was very terrible.

10 Then hee lift vp his face that shone with maiestie, and looked fixtly vpon her: therefore the Queene fell downe, and was pale and faint, and leane her selfe vpon the head of the wayde, that went with her.

11 Furthermore, God turned the kings mind that hee was gentle, who being carefull, leaped out of his throne, and took her in his armes, till she came to her selfe againe: and comforted her with loving words, and said, 12 Esther, what is the matter? I am thy brother, be of good cheere.

13 Thou shalt not die: for our commandment toucheth the commons, & not thee. Come neere:

14 And so he held vp his golden scepter, and layd it vpon her necke.

15 And kissed her, and said, Talle with me. 16 Then said shee, I shew thee, O lord, as an Angel of God, and mine heart was troubled for feare of thy maiestie.

17 For wonderfull art thou, O lord, and thy face is full of grace.

18 And as he was thus speaking vnto him, she fell downe againe for faintnesse.

19 Then the King was troubled, and all his seruants comforted her.

CHAP. XVI.

It is copie of the letters of Artaxerxes, whereby hee maketh those which he first sent forth.

THE

1. Eph. 4.
11. ap. 6.

The great King Artaxerxes, which reigneth from India unto Ethiopia, once an hundred and seven and twenty thousand; sendeth unto the Princes and rulers that have the charge of our affairs, Salutation.

2 There be many that through the goodness of Princes, and honour given unto them, become very proud.

3 And endeavour not onely to hurt our subjects, but not content to live in wealth, doe also imagine destruction against those that doe them good.

4 And take not only all thanks fullness away from men, but in pride and presumption, as they that be unkindfull of benefits, they thinke to escape the vengeance of God, that doeth all things, and is contrary to euill.

5 And often times many which bee set in office, and vnto whom their friends causes are committed, by vaine incitements doe missege them in calamities, that cannot bee remedied: for they make them partakers of innocent blood.

6 And deceitfully abuse the simplicitie and gentlenesse of Princes with lying tales.

7 This may bee proued not onely by olde histories, but also by those things that are before our eyes, and are wickedly committed of such preferments as are not worthy to beare rule.

8 Therefore wee must take heede hereafter that we may make the kingdom peaceable for all men, what change sooner shall come.

9 And discern the things that are before our eyes, to withstand them with gentleness.

10 For Amant a Macedonian, the sonne of Amadathus, being indeed a stranger from the Persians blood, and farre from our goodwill, was reueled of vs.

11 And hath promised the friendship that wee beare toward all nations, so that he was called our Father, and was honoured of euery man, as the next person vnto the King.

12 But hee could not vse himselfe soberly in this great dignitie, but went about to deuide vs of the kingdom, and our life.

13 Altho manifold deceit also hath he desired to destroy Warthens our prefect, which hath done vs good in all things, and innocent either the partakers of our kingdom, with all her nation.

14 For his minde was (when hee had taken them out of the way) to lay wait for vs, and by this means to translate the kingdom of the Persians vnto them of Macedonia.

15 But wee finde that the Jewes (which were accused of this most wicked man that they might bee destroyed) are no euill doers, but vile most in all lawes.

16 And that they be the children of the most High and Almighty and eternall God, by whom the kingdom hath bene preserved vnto vs, and our progenitors, in very good order.

17 Therefore ye shall do well, if ye do not put in execution their letters that Aman the son of Amadathus did write vnto you.

18 For hee that inuened them, hangeth at Galle before the gates withall his familie, and God (which hath all things in his power) hath presently rewarded him after his deserving.

19 Therefore ye shall publish the copy of this letter in all places, that the Jewes may freely liue after their owne lawes.

20 And ye shall ayde them, that vpon the thirtenth day of the twelth moneth Adar, they may bee auenged of them, which in the time of their trouble would haue oppressed them.

21 For Almighty God hath turned to ioy the day, wherein the cholen people should haue perished.

22 Whereouer, among other solemne dayes, ye shall keepe this day with all gladnesse.

23 That both now and in time to come, this day may bee a remembrance of deliuerance for vs: all such as loue the prosperities of the Persians, but a remembrance of destruction to those that be seditious vnto vs.

24 Therefore all cities and countreies that doe not this, shall horribly bee destroyed with sword and fire, and shall not onely no thee in habited of men, but bee abhorred also of the wilde beasts and fowles for euill.

The wisdom of Salomon.

CHAP. I.

1 How wee might se, search, and enquire after God.

2 Who bee those that finde him. 3 The holy Ghost.

4 Who enquire to flee from backbiting and murmuring.

5 Whoseof deare cometh. 6 Righteousness and righteoussnes.

7 Due righteousness, yet that bee

Judges of the earth: thinke reuerently of the Lord, and seeke him in simplicitie of heart.

8 For he will be found of them that craue him not, and appeareth vnto such as be not unfaithfull vnto him.

9 For wicked thoughts separate from God: and his power when it is tried, reprobeth the twisse.

10 Because wisdom cannot enter into a wicked heart, nor dwell in the body that is subject vnto sinne.

5 For the holy Spirit of discipline fleeth from deceit, and withholdeth himselfe from the thoughts that are without vnderstanding, and is reuiled when wickednesse commeth.

6 For the Spirit of wisdom is louing, and will not abhorre him, that blasphemeth with his lips: for God is a witness of his reines, and a true beholder of his heart, and a beaver of the tongue.

7 For the Spirit of the Lord uttereth all the words: & hee that maintaineth all things hath knowledge of the voyce.

8 Therefore hee that speaketh brighteous things, cannot bee hid: neither shall hee iudgement of reprobeth himselfe.

9 For inquisition shall bee made for the thoughts of the body, and the sound of his words shall come vnto God for the correction of his iniquities.

10 For the east of Islands heareth all things, and the noise of the graving shall not be hid.

11 Therefore beware of murmuring, which moveth nothing, and refrain your tongue from slander: for there is no word so secret, that shall not be brought, and the mouth that speaketh lies, layeth the snare.

12 Seek not death in the error of your life, * destroy not your selves through the works of your own hands.

Exek. 18. 23. and 33. 11. 13 * For God hath not made death, neither hath he pleasure in the destruction of the living.

14 For he created all things, that they might have their being: & the generations of the world are perfected, and there is no portion of destruction in them, and the Kingdom of hell is not upon earth.

15 For righteousness is immortal, but unrighteousness is ingendered death.

16 And the ungodly call it into them both with hands and words: and while they think to have a friend of it, they come to nought: for they are confederate with it: they hope are they worthy to be partakers thereof.

CHAP. II.

The imaginations and desires of the wicked, and their counsel against the faithful.

Job 7. 1. and 14. 1. matth. 22. 17 2. cor. 13. 3. 2. For the ungodly say, as they falsely imagine with themselves, * Our life is short and rebellious: and in the death of a man there is no recovery, neither was any known that hath returned from the grave.

3 For we are borne at all adventure, and we shall be hereafter, as though we had never borne: for the heart is a smoke in our nostrils, and the words as a spark raised out of our heart.

4 Which being extinguished, the body is turned into ashes, and the spirit vanishes as the soft ayre.

5 Our life shall passe away as the trace of a cloud, and come to nought as the mist that is driven away with the beames of the Sonne, and call downe with the heat thereof. Our name also shall be forgotten in time: and no man shall have our works in remembrance.

6 * For our time is as a shadow that passeth away, and after our end there is no returning: for it is fast sealed, so that no man cometh againe.

7 * Come therefore, and let us enjoy the pleasures that are present, and let us cheerfully bite the creatures as in youth.

8 Let us fill our selves with costly wine, and symricks, and let not the flower of life passe by us.

9 Let us crowne our selves with robes of sorrow, for they be to be worn.

10 Let us all be partakers of our wantonnes: let us leave some token of our pleasure in every place: for that is our portion, and this is our lot.

11 Let us oppress the poor that is righteous: let us not spare the widow, nor succurre the white haire of the aged, that have lived many yeeres.

12 Let our strength bee the lawe of unrighteousness: for that thing that is visible, is supposed as impossible.

13 Therefore let us demand the righteous, for he is not for our profit, and he is contrary to our doing: he checketh us for offending against the Law, and blameth us as transgressors of discipline.

14 We make his boast to have the knowledge of God: and he called himselfe the Sonne of the Lord.

15 He is made to * reproove our thoughts, 1 John 7. 7. 16 He grieveth us also to looke * upon him: for his life is not like other mens: his wayes are of another fashion. Ephe. 5. 13. 1/4. 33. 3.

17 He counteth us as bastards, and he bewitcheth himselfe from our waies as from filthines: he commendeth greatly the latter end of the law, and teacheth that God is his Father.

18 Let us see then if his words be true: let us knowe to what end he shall have.

19 For if the righteous man be the * Sonne of God, he will helpe him, and deliver him from the hands of his enemies. Psal. 113. 17. mar. 17. 43.

20 Let us examine him with rebukes and comments, that we may know his meeknes, and knowe his patience. Rom. 11. 19.

21 Let us condemne him unto a shameful death: for he shall be questioned as he himselfe saith.

22 Such things doe they imagine, and goe astray, for their own wickednes hath blinded them.

23 And they doe not understand the mysteries of God, neither hope for the reward of righteousness: nay can discern the honour of the sonnes that are faultlesse.

24 For God created man without corruption, and made him after the * image of his owne likeness. Gen. 1. 26. and 2. 7. and 1. 1. col. 17. 16 Gen. 3. 13.

CHAP. III.

1 The conversation and assurance of the righteous, 2 The reward of the faithful. 3. Who are miserable.

1 At the * soules of the righteous are in the hand of God, and no torment shall touche them. Dan. 12. 13.

2 * In the sight of the unwise they appeared foolish, and their end was thought grievous.

3 And their departing from us, destruction, but they are in peace.

4 And though they suffer paine before men, yet is * their hopefull of immortalitye.

5 They are punished but in few things, yet in many things shall they be well rewarded: * For God powereth them, and stroweth them meet for himselfe. Rom. 8. 28. 2. cor. 11. 16. 2. tim. 1. 12. dan. 3. 1.

6 We trieth them as the gold in the furnace, and receiveth them as a perfect fruit offering.

7 * And in the time of their vision they shall shine, and shine as the sparks among the stubble.

8 They shall judge the nations, and have dominion over the people, and their Lord shall reigne for ever. Mat. 19. 28. 1. cor. 6. 2.

9 They that trust in him shall understand the truth, and the faithful shall remaine with him in love: for grace and mercy is among his saints, and he regardeth his elect.

10 * But the ungodly shall be punished according to their imaginations: for they have desired.

Joh. 8. 9. P. fol.
2. 4 & 143;
4. pro 10. 35
6. 11. 7. 100.
8. 10. 11.

13. Even so we, although as we were boys we began to learn of our end, and have thence no token of virtue, but are consumed in our own wickedness.

14. For the hope of the ungodly is like the mist that is blown away with the wind, and like a thistle some that is scattered abroad with the storm, and as the smoke which is dispersed with the wind, and as the remembrance of him passed, that careth but for a day.

15. But the righteous shall live for ever: their reward also is with the Lord, and he most high hath care of them.

16. Therefore shall they receive a glorious kingdom, and a beautiful crown of the Lord's hand: for with his right hand shall he cover them, and with his arm shall he defend them.

17. We shall take his sentence for armour, and shall arm the creatures to be revenged of the enemies.

18. We shall put on righteousness for a breastplate, and take true judgement in stead of an helmet.

19. We will take holiness for an invincible shield.

20. We will sharpen his fierce wrath for a sword, and the word shall fight with him against the devil.

21. Then shall the thunder bales go straight out of the lightning, and shall flee to the mark as out of the bow of the clouds, and out of his anger that throweth stones, shall thicke hail be cast, and the water of the sea shall be wrath against them, and the floods shall mightily overflow.

22. And a mighty wind shall stand by against them, and like a storm shall scatter them abroad. Thus iniquity shall bring all the earth to a wilderness, and wickedness shall overthrow the thrones of the mighty.

CHAP. VI.

The calling of Kings, Princes, and Judges, which are also authorized to search wisdom.

Hear therefore, O ye kings, and understand: learn ye that be Judges of the ends of the earth.

2. Give ear, ye that rule the multitudes, and glory in the multitude of people.

3. For the rule is given you of the Lord, and power by the most high, which will try your works, and search out your imaginations.

4. Because that ye being officers of his kingdom, have not begun aright, nor keep the Law, nor walked after the will of God:

5. Forthly and suddenly will he appear unto you: for an hard judgement shall they have that bear rule.

6. For he that is most low, is worthy mercy, but the mighty shall be mightily tormented.

7. For he that is lord over all, will spare no person, neither shall he spare any greatness: for hee hath made the small and great, and careth for all alike.

8. But for the mighty abideth the longer trial. 9. Unto you therefore O tyrants, do I speak, that ye may learn wisdom, and not goe amiss.

10. For they that keepe holiness holily, shall be holy, and they that are learned there, shall finde a defence.

11. Therefore let your delight upon my words, and desire them, and ye shall be instructed.

12. Wisdom is simple, and more lovely a way, and is easily seen of them that love her, and found of such as seek her.

13. She presenteth them that desire her, that she may first show her selfe unto them.

14. All who is drawn unto her desires, shall have no great travail: for she shall find her sitting at his doors.

15. To think upon her then is perfect understanding: and to love to watch for her, shall be loome without care.

16. For shee goeth about, seeking such as are meete for her, and sheweth herselfe cheerfully unto them in the wayes, and meeteth them in every thought.

17. For the most true desire of discipline is her beginning: and the care of discipline is love.

18. And love is the keeping of her lawes, and the keeping of the lawes is the assurance of immortalitye:

19. And immortalitye maketh vs neere unto God.

20. Therefore the desire of wisdom leadeth to the kingdom.

21. If your delight be then in thrones, and scepters, O kings of the people, honour wisdom, that ye may reigne for ever.

22. Now I will tell you what wisdom is, and whence it cometh, and will not hide the mysteries from you, but will seek her out from the beginning of her nativite, and bring the knowledge of her into light, and will not keepe backe the truth.

23. Neither will I have to doe with consuming envy: for such a man shall not be partaker of wisdom.

24. But the multitude of the wise is the preservation of the world, and a wise King is the stay of the people.

25. Be therefore instructed by my words, and ye shall have profit.

CHAP. VII.

Wisdom ought to be preferred above all things.

I My selfe am also mortall, and a man like all other, I am come of him that was first made of the earth.

2. And in my mother's wombe was I fashioned to flesh in ten moneths: I was brought together into blood of the seed of man, and by the pleasure that cometh with sleepe.

3. And when I was borne, I received the common ayre, and fell upon the earth, which is of the nature, crying and weeping at the first as all other doe.

4. I was nourished in swaddling clothes, and with cares.

5. For there is no king that had any other beginning of birth.

6. All men then have one entrance unto life, and a like going out.

7. Wherefore I prayed, and understanding was given mee: I called, and the spirit of wisdom came unto me.

8. I preferred her to scepters and thrones, and counted riches nothing in comparison of her.

9. For shee is better than I compare precious stones unto her: for all golde is but a little gravel in respect of her, and silver shall be counted but stay before her.

10 I loved her above health and beauty, and suspected to take her for my light: for her light cannot be quenched.

11 All good things therefore came to me together with her, and innumerable riches shew her hands.

12 So I was glad in all: for wisdom was the author thereof, and I knew not that she was the mother of these things.

13 And I learned unfeignedly, and communicated without guile, and I do not hide her riches.

14 For she is an infinite treasure unto men, which who is able, become partakers of the love of God, and are accepted for the gifts of knowledge.

15 God hath granted me to speak according to my mind, and to judge worthily of the things that are given me: for he is the leader unto wisdom, and the director of the will.

16 For in his hands are both we and our words, and all wisdom, and the knowledge of the works.

17 For he hath given me the true knowledge of the things that are, so that I know how the world was made, and the powers of the elements.

18 The beginning, and the end, and the mids of the times: how the times alter, & the change of the seasons.

19 The course of the years, the situation of the stars,

20 The nature of living things, and the fierceness of beasts, the power of the winds, and the imaginations of men, the diversities of plants, and the virtues of roots.

21 And all things both secret and known do I know: for wisdom is the worker of all things, hath taught me it.

22 For in her is the spirit of understanding, which is holy, the only begotten, manifold, subtil, unsearchable, clear, undivided, evident, not purblind, loving the good, sharpe, which cannot be letted, having good.

23 Courteous, stable, sure, without care, having all power, circumspect in all things, and passing through all intellects, pure, and subtil spirits.

24 For wisdom is nobler then all noble things: she goeth shew and attaineth to all things, because of her pureness.

25 For she is the heart of the power of God, and a pure influence that floweth from the glory of the Almighty: therefore can no desired thing come unto her.

26 For she is the brightness of the everlasting light, the undivided mirror of the Majesty of God, and the image of his goodness.

27 And being one, she can do all things, and remaining in her selfe, reneweth all, and according to the ages she entereth into the holy souls, and maketh them the friends of God and Prophets.

28 For God loveth none, if he dwell not with wisdom.

29 For she is more beautiful then the Sun, and is above all the order of the stars, and the light is not to be compared unto her.

30 For might cometh upon it, but wickedness cannot overcome wisdom.

CHAP. VIII.

The office of Wisdom.

She also teacheth from one end to another mightily, and cometh forth by order all things.

1 I have loved her, and sought her from my youth: I desired to marry her, such love had I unto her beauty.

2 In that she is conuerfant with God, he commenderh her nobility: yea, the Lord of all things loveth her.

3 For she is the Schoolmistresse of the knowledge of God, and the chiefe out of his works.

4 If riches bee a possession to bee desired in this life, what is richer then wisdom, that worketh all things?

5 For if prudence worketh, what is it among all things that worketh better then she?

6 If a man loue righteousness, her labours are veruious: for she teacheth sobriety and prudence, righteousness and strength, which are the most profitable things that men can haue in this life.

7 If a man desire great experience, she can tell the things that are past, and discern things to come: she knoweth the subtilties of words, and the solutions of dark sentences: she foreseeth the signes and wonders, as ever they come to passe, and the successe of seasons and times.

8 Therefore I purposed to take her unto my company, knowing that she would counsel mee good things, and comfort mee in cares and grieues.

9 For her sake that I haue glory among the multitude, & honour among the Elders, though I be yong.

10 I shall bee sound of sharpe iudgement, so that I shall bee marvellous in the sight of great men.

11 When I hold my tongue, they shall abster my leasure: when I speake, they shall heare diligently, and if I talke much, they shall lay their hands upon their mouth.

12 Moreover, by her I shall obtaine immortalitye, and leaue an euertlasting memorie among them that come after me.

13 I shall gouerne the people, and the nations shall be subdued unto me.

14 For the tyrants shall be afraid when they heare mee: among the multitude I shall be counted good, and mighty in battell.

15 When I come home, I shall rest with her: for her company hath no bitterness, and her fellowship hath no tediousnesse, but mery and loy.

16 Now when I considered these things by my selfe, and pondered them in mine heart, how that to be loyed unto wisdom is immortalitie.

17 And great pleasure is in her friendship, and that in the works of her hands are infinite riches, and that in the exercise of talking with her is prudence, and glory by communing with her, I went about, seeking how I might take her unto me.

18 For I was a little child, and was of a good spirit.

19 For rather being good, I came to an undivided body.

20 Therefore, when I perceived that I could could not enjoy her, except God gave her (and that was a point of wisdom also, to know whose gift it was) I went unto the Lord, and belonged him, and with my whole heart I said,

CHAP. IX.

A prayer of Salomon to obtain wisdom.

O God of fathers, and Lord of mercy, which hast made all things with thy word,

2 And ordered man through thy wisdom, that he should have dominion over the creatures which thou hast made,

Gen. 1. 28.

3 And governe the world according to equity and righteousness, and execute judgement with an upright heart:

1. King. 3. 9.

4 Give me that wisdom, which stretcheth by thy throne, and put me not out from among thy children.

Psalm. 116. 16.

5 For I thy servant, and some of thine handmaide, am a feeble person, and of a short time, and yet lesse in the understanding of judgement and the lawes.

6 And though a man bee never so perfect among the children of men, yet if thy wisdom be not with him, he shall be nothing regarded.

1. Chron. 28. 5.

2. Chron. 1. 9.

7 Thou hast chosen me to be a King of thy people, and the iudge of thy sonnes and daughters.

8 Thou hast commanded me to build a Temple upon thine holy mount, and an altar in the cite wherein thou dwellest, a likeness of thine holy Tabernacle, which thou hast prepared from the beginning.

9 And thy wisdom with thee, which knoweth thy works, which also was when thou madest the world, and which knew what was acceptable in thy sight, and right in thy commandments.

10 Send her out of thine holy heavens, and send her from the throne of thy iudgement, that shee may bee with mee, and labour, that I may know what is acceptable in thy sight.

11 For shee knoweth and understandeth all things, and shee shall leade mee soberly in my works, and preserve mee by her glory.

12 So shall my works be acceptable, and then shall I governe thy people righteously, and be merite for my fathers throne.

Isa. 40. 13.

Psalm. 113. 4.

1. Cor. 2. 16.

13 For what man is hee that can know the counsell of God, or who can thinke what the will of God is?

14 For the thoughtes of mostall men are feeble, and our foreteares are uncertaine.

15 Because a corruptible body is heavy unto the soule, and the earthly mansion keepeth down the mind that is full of cares:

16 And hardly can wee discern the things that are upon earth, and with great labour finde we out the things which are before vs: who can then seeke out the things that are in heaven?

17 Who can know thy counsell, except thou give him wisdom, and send thine holy Spirit from above?

18 For so the wayes of them which are upon earth are reformed, and men are taught the things that are pleasant unto thee, and are preserved through wisdom.

CHAP. X.

The deliverance of the righteous, and the destruction of the wicked, according to theough wisdom.

He persecuted the first father of the world, that was formed, and kept him when he was created alone, and brought him out of his silence,

2 And gave him power to rule all things.

3 But the unrighteous in his wrath departed from her, and perished by killing his brother in his turne.

4 For whose cause the earth was overflowed, but wisdom preferred it againe, governing the just man by a little wood.

Gen. 11. 1.

and 12. 1.

5 Wherefore, when the nations were loyned in the malicious confederacies, shee knew the righteous, and preferred him faultlesse unto God, and kept him sure, because she loved him tenderly as a sonne.

6 Shee preferred the righteous, when the ungodly perished, when he fled from the face that fell downe upon the due cities.

Gen. 11. 1.

and 12. 1.

7 Of whose wickednesse the waste land that smoketh, yet giueth testimonie, and the trees that beare fruit that neuer commeth to ripenesse: and for a remembrance of the unfaithfull soule, there standeth a pillar of salt.

Gen. 11. 1.

and 12. 1.

8 For all such as regarded not wisdom, had not only this hurt, that they knewe not the things which were good, but also left behinde them unto men a memoriall of their foolishnesse, so that in the things wherein they sinned, they cannot lie hid.

9 But wisdom delivered them, & served her.

Gen. 11. 1.

and 12. 1.

10 When the righteous fled because of his brothers wrath, she led him the right way, she wised him the kingdom of God, gave him knowledge of holy things, made him rich in his labours, and made his palmes profitable.

11 Against the couerousnes of such as defrauded him, she stood by him and made him rich.

12 She saved him from the enemies, and defended him from them that lay in waye, and shee gave him the victorie in a mighty battell, that hee might know that the feare of God is stronger then all things.

Gen. 11. 1.

and 12. 1.

13 When the righteous was sold, shee forooke him not, but delivered him from sinne: shee went downe with him into the dungeon.

Gen. 11. 1.

and 12. 1.

14 And failed him not in the hands, till shee had brought him the scepter of the Realme, and power against those that oppressed him: a them that had accused him, shee declared to be liars, and gave him perpetual glory.

and 12. 1.

15 Shee delivered the righteous people and faultlesse seede from the nations that oppressed them.

Gen. 11. 1.

16 Shee entered into the soule of the servant of the Lord, and stood by him in wonders and signes against the terrible kings.

Gen. 11. 1.

17 Shee gave the Saints the reward of their labours, and led them forth a marvellous way: on the day time shee was a shadowe unto them, and a light of starres in the night.

18 Shee brought them through the red Sea, and carried them through the great water.

20 So the righteous tooke the spoiles of the ungodly, and praised thine holy Name, O Lord, and magnified thy victorious hand, with one accord.

and 12. 1.

21 For wisdom openeth the mouth of the dumb, & maketh the tongues of babes eloquent.

Gen. 11. 1.

and 12. 1.

CHAP. XI.

1 The miracles done for Israel. 13 The vengeance of 14 The great power and mercy of God.

2 They proved their works in the hands of 3 The holy Prophet.

4 They went down to the wilderness that was not inhabited, and pitched their tents in places where there lay no way.

5 They stood against their enemies, and were avenged of their adversaries.

6 When they were thirsty, they called upon thee, and water was given them out of the high rock, and their thirst was quenched out of the hard stone.

7 For by the things whereby their enemies were punished, by the same were the Israelites helped in their needs.

8 For in stead of a fountain of running water, the enemies were troubled at the corrupt blood, which was to rebuke the commandment of the killing of the children, but thou gaucst unto them their own abundance of water unlooked for.

9 Declaring by the thirst that was at that time, how thou hadst punished thine adversaries.

10 For when they were tried and chastised with mercie, they knew how the ungodly were judged and punished in wrath.

11 For thou hadst thou exhorted as a father, and proved them: but thou hadst condemned the wicke as a righteous King, when thou didst examine them.

12 Whether they were absent or present, their punishment was alike: for their griefe was double both mourning, and the remembrance of things past.

13 For when they perceived that through their torments good came unto them, they left the Lord.

14 And seeing the things that came to passe, at the last they wounded at him, whom afore they had call our, denied and derided: for they had another thirst then the last.

15 Because of the foolish devices of their wikedness wherewith they were deceived, and worshipped serpents, that had not the use of reason, and vile beasts, thou sendest a multitude of unreasonable beasts upon them for a vengeance, that they might know, that wherewith a man sinneth, by the same also shall he be punished.

16 For unto thine Almighty hand, that made the world of nought, it was not impossible to send among them a multitude of Beares or fierce Lions.

17 Furious beasts newly created and unknown, which should breathe out blades of fire, and call out smoke as a tempest, or shooe horrible sparkes like lightnings out of their eyes.

18 Which might not onely destroy them with burning, but also kill them with their horrible sight.

19 Yea, without these might they have been cast downe with one winde, being persecu-ted by thy vengeance, and scattered abroad through the power of thy Spirit: but thou hast ordered all things in measure, number, and weight.

20 For thou hast had ever great strength and might, and who can withstand the power of thine arm?

21 For as the small thing that the balance weigheth, so is the world before thee, and as a drop of the morning dew, that falleth downe upon the earth.

22 But thou hast mercie upon all: for thou hast power of all things, and makest as thou wilt, and thou knowest the sinners of men, because they should amend.

23 For thou knowest all the things that are, and hast none of them whom thou hast made: for thou wouldest have created nothing that thou hadst hated.

24 And how might any thing endure, if it were not thy will: or how could anything bee preserved, except it were called of thee?

25 But thou sparest all, for they are thine, O
 Lord, which are the soules of men.

CHAP. XII.

1 The merits of God towards sinners. 12 The works of God are unrepentable. 13 God giveth leisure to repent.

1 For thine incorruptible Spirit is in all things.
 2 Therefore thou chastenest them measurably that goe wrong, and warnest them by putting them in remembrance of the things wherein they have offended, that leaving wickedness, they may believe in thee, O Lord.

3 As for those olde inhabitants of the holy land, thou dost hate them.

4 For they committed abominable works, as sorceries and wicked sacrifices.

5 And slaying of their owne children without mercie, and eating of the bowels of mans flesh in banquetting, where the raging piety sheweth abominable blood.

6 And the fathers were the chief murderers of the soules, destitute of all helpe, whom thou wouldest destroy by the hands of our fathers.

7 That the land which thou lovest above all other, might be a meet dwelling for the children of God.

8 Renewed, thou sparedst them also as men, and sendest the foxyness of thine holie, even hornets to destroy them by little and little.

9 Not that thou wast unable to subdue the ungodly unto the righteous in battell, or with cruell beasts, or with one rough word to destroy them together.

10 But in punishing them by little and little, thou gaucst them space to repent, knowing well that it was an unrighteous nation, and wicked of nature, and that their thought could never be altered.

11 For it was a cursed seed from the beginning: yet hast thou not spared them when they sinned, because thou fearest any man.

12 For who dare say, What hast thou done O who dare stand against thy judgement? or who dare accuse thee for the nations that perish, whom thou hast made? or who dare stand against thee to blaspheme thy name and men?

13 For there is none that can say, that I have care for all sinners, and that I have decreed how that they should sin, and how they should be punished.

15 For so much then as thou art righteous thy selfe, thou orderest all things righteously, 16 10.3. thinking it not agreeable to thy power to condemne him, that hath not deserved to be punished.

16 For thy power is the beginning of righteoulines, and because thou art Lord of all things, it caugeth thee to spare all things.

17 Althow men thinke thee not to be of a perfit power, thou declarest thy power, and reproouest the boldnesse of the wise.

18 But thou ruling the power, iudgeth with equite, and gouernest vs with great fauour: for thou mayest shew thy power when thou wilt.

19 By such workes now hast thou taughte thy people, that a man should be dust and louing, and hast made thy children to be of a good hope: for thou giuest repentance to sinners.

20 For it thou hast punished the enemies of thy children that had deserved death, with so great consideration, and requesting vnto them, giuing them time and place that they might change from their wickednesse.

21 Althow how great circumspection wilt thou punish thine owne children, vnto whose fathers thou hast swayne and made covenants of good promises.

22 So when thou dost chasten vs, thou punishest our enemies a thousand times more, to the intent that when wee iudge, we should diligently consider thy goodnesse, and when we are iudged, we should hope for merite.

23 Wherefore thou hast tormented the wicked that haue liued a dissolute life by their owne imaginations.

rom. 1. 23.*

24 * For they went astray very farre in the wayes of errour, and esteemed the beasts, which their enemies despised, for gods, being abused after the manner of children, that haue none vnderstanding.

25 Therefore hast thou sent this punishment, that they should be in derision as children without reason.

26 But they that will not be reformed by those scornfull rebukes, shall feele the worst punishment of God.

27 For in those things when they suffered, they disdained: but in these whom they conued godly, when they saw themselves punished by them, they all acknowledged the true God, whom afore they had denied to know: therefore came extreme damnation vpon them.

CHAP. XIII.

a All things he waine, except the knowledge of God, 10 Idolaters and idoles are mocked.

Rom. 1. 19

Surely all men are base by nature, and are ignorant of God: * and could not know him that is, by the good things that are seene, neither consider by the workes, the workemaster.

*Deut. 4. 19
and 17. 3*

2 But they thought the fire: or the winde, or the swift ayre, or the course of the starres, or the raging water, or the lightes of heauen to be gouernors of the world and gods.

3 Though they had such pleasure in these beautie, that they thought them gods, yet should they haue knowne how much more excellent hee is that made them: for the first author of beautie hath created these things.

4 Or if they marvelled at the power, and operation of them, yet should they haue perceiued thereby, how much hee that made these things, is mightier.

5 For by the greatnesse of their beauty, and of the creatures, the Creator being compared with them, may be considered.

6 But yet the blame is lesse in these, that seeke God and would finde him, and yet peradventure doe erre.

7 For they * goe about by his workes to seeke him, and are perswaded by the sight, because the things are beautifull that are seene. Rom. 1. 21

8 Howbeit they are not to be excused.

9 For if they can know so much, that they can discern the world, why doe they not rather finde out the Lord thereof?

10 But miserable are they, and among the dead is their hope, that call them gods, which are the workes of mens hands, gold, and siluer, and the thing that is inuented by arte, and the similitude of beasts, or any base stone that hath been made by the hand of antiquitie.

11 * As when a carpenter cutteth downe a tree meeke for the worke, and parcth off all the barke thereof cunningly, and by arte maketh a vessel profitable for the use of life. *12 44. 13
12. 10. 3*

12 And the things, that are cutt off from his worke, hee bestoweth to dyette his meat to fill himselfe.

13 And that which is left of these things, which is profitable for nothing (for it is a crooked piece of wood, and full of knobs) he carueth it diligently at his leisure, and according as hee is expert in cunning, hee giueth it a proportion, and fashioneth it after the similitude of a man.

14 Or maketh it like some vile beast, and straketh it ouer with reed, and painteth it, and couereth euery spot that is in it.

15 And when hee hath made a convenient tabernacle for it, he setteth it in a wall and maketh it fast with yron.

16 Brouding so for it, lest it fall: for hee knoweth that it cannot helpe it selfe, because it is an image, which hath neede of helpe.

17 Then he prayeth for his goods, and for his marriage, and for children: he is not ashamed to speake vnto it that hath no life.

18 Hee calleth on him that is weake, for health: hee prayeth vnto him that is dead, for life: hee requirerth him of helpe, that hath no repentance at all.

19 And for his iourney, him that is not able to goe: and for gaine, and worke, and successe of his affaires, hee requirerth furtherance of him that hath no manner of power.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The detection and abomination of images. 8 A curse of them, and of him that maketh them. 14 Whereof idolatry procedeth. 23 What evils come of idolatry.

A Gaine, another man purposing to saile, and intending to passe choyned the raging waues, callerth vpon a stocke more rotten then the ship that carierth him.

2 For, as for it, couetousnesse of avarice hath found it out, and the craftiman made it by by cunning.

3 But thy providence, O Father, governeth
 Gen. 14. 22. 11: For thou hast made a way, men in the Sea, and a sure path among the waves.

4 Declining thereto that thou hast power to help in all things, yea, though a man went to the sea without means.

5 Nevertheless, thou wouldest not that the works of thy wisdom should be vaine, and therefore doe men commit their lives to a small piece of wood, and passe over the stormie sea in a ship, and are saved.

Gen. 6. 4.
 and 7. 10.

6 For in the old time also when the proude giants perished, the hope of the world went into a ship which was governed by thine hand, and so left seed of generation unto the world.

7 For blessed is the tree whereby righteous men commeth.

2 Pet. 1. 15. 8.
 James 4. 3.

8 But that is cursed that is made with hands, both it, and he that made it: bee, because he made it, & it being a corruptible thing, because it was called god.

2 Pet. 1. 5.

9 For the vngodly and his vngodliness are by the like hated of God: so reward the worke and he that made it shall be punished together.

1 Pet. 2. 8.
 Luke 2. 17.

10 Therefore shall there bee a visitation for the idoles of the nations: for of the creatures of God they are become abomination, and stumbling blockes unto the soules of men, and a snare for the free of the will.

11 For the inventing of idoles was the beginning of wickedness, and the finding of them is the corruption of life.

12 For they were not from the beginning, neither shall they continue for ever.

13 The vaine glory of men brought them into the world: therefore shall they come shortly to an end.

14 When a father mourned grievously for his sonne that was taken away suddenly, he made an image for him that was once dead, whom now he worshipped as a god, and ordained to his servants ceremonies and sacrifices.

15 Thus by procelle of time this wicked custom prevailed, and was kept as a law, and idoles were worshipped by the commandment of tyrants.

16 As for those that were so farre off, that men might not worship them presently, they did counterfeit the visage that was farre off, and made a gorgeous image of a king, whom they would honour, that they might by all means flatter him that was absent, as though hee had bene present.

17 Again, the ambition of the craftsman thrust forward the ignorant to increase the superstition.

18 For hee peradventure willing to please a noble man, laboured with all his cunning to make the image of the best fashion.

19 And so through the beauty of the worke the multitude was assured, and so took him now for a god, which a little afore was but honoured as a man.

20 And this was the deceiving of mans life, when men, being in servitude through calamity and tyranny, ascribed unto stones and stockes the name, which ought not to be communicate unto any.

21 Therefore, this was not enough for them that they erred in the knowledge of God: but whereas they lived in great wars of ignorance, those so great plagues called they peace.

22 For either they knew their owne children in sacrifice, or used secret ceremonies, or raging dissoluteness by strange rites.

Dist. 18. 10.
 19. 4.
 19. 4.

23 And so kept neither life nor marriage cleane: but either one slew another by treason, or else vexed him by adultery.

24 So were all mixed together, blood and slaughter, theft, and deceit, corruption, unfaith-fulness, rapine, perjury.

25 Disquieting of good men, unthankfulness, defiling of houses, changing of birth, disorder in marriage, adultery and uncleanness.

26 For the worshipping of idoles, that ought not to be named, is the beginning and the cause and the end of all euill.

27 For either they be mad when they be mercy, or prophesie lies, or live vngodly, or else lightly to treat themselves.

28 For inasmuch as their trust is in the idoles which have no life, though they sweare falsely yet they thinke to have no hurt.

29 Therefore for two causes shall they justly be punished: because they have an evil opinion of God, ascribing themselves unto idoles, and because they sweare untruthfully to idoles, and despise holiness.

30 For it is not the power of them by whom they sweare, but the vengeance of them that sinne, which punisheth alwayes the offence of the vngodly.

CHAP. XV.

The voyces of the just fall praising the mercy of God, by whose grace they were not idoles.

Bless thou, O our God, art gracious and true, long suffering, and governest all things by mercy.

2 Though we sinne, yet are we thine: for we know thy power: but wee sinne not, knowing that we are counted thine.

3 For to know thee, is perfect righteousness, and to know thy power, is the root of immortality.

4 For neither hath the wicked intention of men deceived vs, nor the vngodly labour of the painters, nor an image spotted with divers colours.

5 Whose sight strereth by the desire of the ignorant: so that he courteth the forme that hath no life, of a dead image.

6 They that love such wicked things, are worthy to have such things to trust to, and they that make them, and they that desire them, and they that worship them.

7 The potter also tempereth soft earth, and fashioneth every vessel with labour to our use:
 but of the same clay he maketh both the vessels that serve to cleane uses, and the contrary likewise: but whereas every vessel serveth, the potter is the iudge.

Rom. 9. 22.

8 So by his wicked labour he maketh a vaine god of the same clay: even he, which a life afore was made of earth himselfe, and within a little while after getteth hiser againe whence he was taken, when he shall make account for the losse of his life.

Luke 12. 36.

9 Notwithstanding he careth not for the labour.

hour hee taketh, not that his life is short, but he is crucified with the godfornishes, and blasphemies, and committed the coppernitches, and taketh it for an honour to make veritable things.

10 His heart is ashes, and his hope is more bitter then earth, and his life is lesse worthy of honour then clay.

11 For he knoweth not his owne maker, that gaue him his soule, that had power and heareth in him the breath of life.

12 But they count our life to be but a pastime and our conuersation as a market, where there is gaine: for they say wee ought to be getting on every side, though it be by euill means.

13 Now hee that of earth maketh fraille vessels and images, knoweth himselfe to offend above all other.

14 All the enemies of thy people, that holde them in subjection, are most vniuersall, and more miserable then the very fooles.

15 For they iudge all the fooles of the nations to be gods, which neither haue eye sight to see, nor noles to smell, nor eares to heare, nor fingers of hands to gripe, and their feet are slow to goe.

16 For man made them, and he that hath but a borrowed spirit, fashioned them: but no man can make a god like vnto himselfe.

17 For seeing he is but mortall himselfe, it is but mortall that hee maketh with vnsighteous hands: he himselfe is better then they whom he worshippeth: for he liues, but they neuer liue.

18 Yea, they worshipped beasts also, which are their most enemies, and which are the worst if they be compared vnto others, because they haue none vnderstanding.

19 Neither haue they any beauty to bee desired in respect of other beasts, for they are delitute of Gods praise, and of his blessing.

Numb. 21. 9.

Therefore by such things they are worthily punished and * comforted by the multitude of beasts.

2 In stead of the which punishment thou hast bene fauourable to thy people, and to facilitate their appetite, hast prepared a meate of a strange taste, euen * quails.

3 To the intent that they that desired meate, by the things which were shewed, & sent among them, might turne away their necessary desire, and that they which had suffered penury for a space, should also feele a new taste.

4 For it was requisite that they which vsed tyanny, should fall into extreme poverty, and that to these only it should be shewed, how their enemies were comforted.

5 * For when the cruell fiercenesse of the beasts came vpon them, and they were hurt with the stings of cruell serpents,

6 By which endured not perpetually, but they were troubled for a little season, that they might be reformed, having a * signe of saluation to remember the commaundment of thy Law.

7 For he that turned toward it, was not bea-led by the thing that he saw, but by thee. O Remembrance of all.

8 So in this thou shewest our enemies, that it is thou, which deliverest from all euill.

For the biting of grasshoppers and flies killed them, and there was no remedy found for their life: for they were worthy to bee punished by such. Exod. 8. 14. and 10. 4. roud. 9. 7.

10 But the teeth of the venomous dragons could not overcome the children: for thy mercy came to helpe them, and healed them.

11 For they were pricked, because they should remember thy words, and were speedily healed, lest they should fall into so deepe forgetfulness, that they could not be called backe by thy benediction.

12 For neither herbe nor plaister healed them, but thy word, O Lord, which healed all things.

13 For thou hast the power of life and death, * and leadest downe vnto the gates of hell, and bringest vp againe. Deut. 32. 39. 1. 1. 1. 4. Job. 1. 1. 2.

14 A man indeed by his wickednesse may slay another: but when the spirit is gone forth, it turneth not againe, neither can hee call againe the soule that is taken away.

15 But it is not possible to escape thine hand.

16 * For the vngodly that would not know thee, were punished by the strength of thine arme, with strange raine and with halle, and were punished with tempest, that they could not aniole, and were consumed with fire. Exod. 9. 31.

17 For it was a wonderous thing, that fire might doe more then water, which quencherh all things: but thy word is the auenger of the righteous.

18 For sometime was the fire so came, that the beasts, which were sent against the vngodly, burnt not: and that, because they should see, and know, that they were persecuted with the punishment of God.

19 And sometime burnt the fire in the midst of the water, above the power of fire, that it might destroy the generation of the vniuersall land.

20 * In the stead whereof thou hast fed thine owne people with Angels food, and sent them bread ready from heauen without their labour, which had abundance of all pleasures in it, and was meete for all tastes. Exod. 16. 14. numb. 11. 7. psal. 78. 35. 101. 6. 31.

21 For thy sustenance declared thy sweetnes vnto the children, which stirred to the appetite of him that tooke it, and was meete to that that every man would.

22 Moreover, the * snow & ice abode the fire and melted not, that they might know, that the fire burning in the halle, and sparkling in the raine, destroyed the fruit of the enemies. Exod. 9. 31.

23 Again, it forgate his owne strength, that the righteous might be nourished:

24 For the creature that serueth thee which art the maker, is fierer in punishing the vngodly: but it is easie to doe good vnto such as put their trust in thee.

25 Therefore was it changed at the same time into all fashions to serue thy grace, which noweth all things, according to the desire of them that had neede thereof.

26 What thy children whom thou lovest, O Lord, had thy children, * that it is not the increase of fruites that feedeth men, but that it is thy word. Deut. 8. 3. mat. 4. 4.

word, which persecuted them that trust in thee.
 27 For that which could not bee destroyed with the fire, being onely warmed a little with the flame brames, melted.
 28 That it might be knowne that wee ought to present the flame rising to give thanks unto thee, and to salute thee before the day spring.
 29 For the hope of the unthankfull shall melt as the winter yce, and flow away as impossible to waite.

CHAP. XVII.

The iudgements of God against the wicked.

For thy iudgements are great, and cannot bee expiated: therefore men doe erre, that will not to be reformed.

2 For when the unrighteous thought to haue thine holy people in subiection, they were bound with the bands of darkness, and long night, and being thus vnder the roote did lie there to escape the everlasting poudrour.

3 And while they thought to be hid in their darke sinnes, they were scattered abroad in the darke courting of forgetfulness, fearing horribly and troubled with visions.

4 For the denie that hid them, kept them not from feare: but the sounds that were about them troubled them and terrible visions and sorowfull sights did appeare.

5 No power of the fire might giue light, neither might the cleare flames of the starres lighten the horrible night.

6 For there appeared vnto them onely a sub-den fire, very deeadfull: so that being afraid of this vision, which then they could not see, they thought the things which they saw to be worse.

7 And the illusions of the Magickal artes were brought downe, and it was a most shame-full reproch for the boasting of their knowledge.

8 For they that promised to giue away feare and trouble from the sicke person, were sicke for feare, and worthy to be laughed at.

9 And though no fearefull thing did feare them, yet were they afraid at the beastes which passed by them, and at the hissing of the serpents: so that they dyed for feare, and sayd they saw not the ayle, which by no meanes can bee a-uoyded.

10 For it is a fearefull thing when malice is condemned by her owne testimony: and a conscience that is conuicted, doeth euer foretell cruell things.

11 For feare is nothing else, but a betraying of the inuious, which reason offereth.

12 And the lesse that the hope is within, the more doeth bee extreme the ignorance of the thing that tormenteth him, great.

13 But they that did endure the night, that was insufferable, and that came out of the dungeon of hell, which is insupportable, slept the same sleep.

14 And sometimes were troubled with monstrous visions, and sometime they swooned, as though their owne soules should betray them:
 for a sudden feare not looked for, came vpon
 them.

15 And thus whosoever fell downe, hee was kept, and shut in prison, but without chaimes.

16 For whether hee was an husbandman, or a shepheard, or one that was set to worke alone, if hee were taken, hee must suffer this necessity,

 that hee could not auoid:

17 For with one chain of darkness, were they all bound, whether it were an husling wind or a sweete song of the birds among the thicke branches of the trees, or the vehemencie of hault running water.

18 As a great noise of the falling downe of stones, or the running of shipping beates, that could not bee seene, or the noise of cruell beastes, that roared, or the sound that answered again in the hollow mountaines: these fearful things made them to swoone.

19 For all the world shined with cleare light, and no man was hindered in his labour.

20 Durly vpon them there fell an heauy night, an image of that darkness that was to come vpon them: yea, they were vnto themselves more greivous then darkness.

CHAP. XVIII.

3 The fiery pillar that the Israelites had in Egypt.
 8 The deliueraunce of the faithful. 10 The Lord spake to the Egyptians. 20 The fowls of the people in the wildernesse. 22 Aa-ron stood betweene the liuing and the dead with biscause.

At thy saints had a very great light, whole voyce because they heard, and saw not the figure of them, they thought them blessed, because they also had not tasted the like.

3 And because they did not hurt them, which did hurt them afore, they thanked them, and asked pardon for their enmitie.

3 Therefore thou gauest them a burning pillar of fire to lead them in the vnknewen way, and madest the same that it hurted not them in their honourable iourney.

4 But they were worthy to bee deprived of the light, and to bee kept in darkness, which had kept thy children shut vp, by whom the un-corrupt light of the law should be giuen to the world.

5 Whereas they thought to slay the babes of the Saints, by one child that was cast out, and persecuted to reprooue them, thou hast taken away the multitude of their children, and destroyed them altogether in the mighty water.

6 Of that night were our Fathers crucified afore, that they, knowing vnto what oathes they had giuen cretice, might be of good cheere.

7 Thus thy people received the health of the righteous, but the enemies were destroyed.

8 For as thou hast punished the enemies, so hast thou glorified us whom thou hast called.

9 For the righteous children of the good man offered secretly, and made a law of righteousness by one consent, that the Saints should receive good and euill in like manner, and that the fathers should first sing praises.

10 But a disagreeing cry was heard of the enemies, and there was a lamentable noise for the children that were bewailed.

11 For the master and the servant were punnished with like punishment, and the common people suffered alike with the King.

12 So they altogether had innumerable that died with one kinde of death: neither were the liuing sufficient to bury them: for in the twinkling of an eye the noblest offspring of them was destroyed.

13 So that they could discern nothing, because of the enchantments confessed this people to be the children of God, in the destruction of the first house.

14 For while all things were in quiet silence, and the night was in the midst of her silent council,

15 Thine Almightie word leaped down from heaven out of thy costly thrones, as a fierce man of warre in the midsts of the land that was destroyed,

16 And brought thine unfained commandement, as a sharpe sword, and stood up, and killed all things with death, and being come downe to the earth, it reached unto the heavens.

17 When the light of the fearfull dreames begeth them suddenly, and fearfulfull came upon them unawares.

18 Whenther there one heere, another there halfe dead, and they were the cause of his death.

19 For the billions that wered euen, they were these things afoze: is that they were not ignorant whereto they perished.

20 How creation of death touched the righteous also, and among the multitude in the wilderness there was a plague, but the waye ended not long.

21 For the blamelesse man made haste, and defended them, and took the weapons of his militatation, such as prayer, and the reconciliation by the perfume, and hee pynished against the waye, and so brought the miserie to an end, declaring that he was thy servant.

22 For hee overcame not the multitude, with bodily power, nor with force of weapons, but with the word hee subdued him that punished, althoughe the other was covenant made unto the fathers.

23 For when the dead were fallen downe by heapes one upon another, he stood in the middes, and cut off the waye, and parted it from coming to the living.

24 For in the long garment was all the ornament, and in the four rowes of the honours was the glory of the fathers grauen with thy maiestie in the diademe of his head.

25 Unto these the destroyer came place, and was afraid of them, for it was sufficient, that they had tasted the waye.

CHAP XIX.

1 The death of the Egyptians, and the great joy of the Hebrews. 11 The meate that was given at the desire of the people. 17 All the elements singe to the will of God.

As for the ungodly, the waye came upon them without mery into the ende: for hee knew what should come unto them,

2 That they (when they had consented to let them go, and had sent them out with diligence) would repent and pursue them.

3 For while yet narrow was before them, and they lamented by the graues of the dead, they desired another foolishnesse, so that they persecuted them in their fleeing, whom they had cast out afoze with prayer.

4 For the destitute, wherof they were worthy, brought them to this ende, and caused them to forget the things that had come to passe, that they might accomplish the punishment, which remained, by commandment.

5 Wherof that the people might rise a marvelous passage, & that they might finde a strange death.

6 For every creature in his kinde was fashioned of new, and ordered in their own offices employed them, that they might see kept without hurt.

7 For the cloude overshadowed their reneye, and the day appeared, where afoze was water: so that in the red sea there was a way without impediment, and the great depe became a greene field.

8 Through the which all the people went that were defended with thy hand, seeing the wondrous maruelles.

9 For they needed like the hoxes, and leaped like lambs, prailing thy, O Lord, which had directed them.

10 For they were yet mindfull of those things which were done in the land where they dwelt, how the ground brought forth thy in stead of carrell, and how the river was filled with the multitude of frogs in stead of fishes.

11 But at the last they saw a new generation of birdes, when they were enticed with lust, and desired delicate meates.

12 For the quales came forth of the sea unto them for comfort, but punishments came upon the sinners not without signes that were given by great thundings: for they suffered worthily according to their wickednesse, because they shewed a cruell hatred toward strangers.

13 For the one lost would not receive them when they were present, because they knew them not: the other lost brought the strangers into bondage that had done them good.

14 Beside all these things some would not wiser, that any regard should be had of them, for they handled the strangers despitefully.

15 Others that had received them with great banqueting, and admitted them to bee partakers of the same lawes, did afflict them with great labours.

16 Therefore they were stricken with blindness, as in old time certaine were at the doores of the righteous, so that every one being compassed with darkness, sought the entrance of his doore.

17 Thus the elements agreed among themselves in this change, as when one time is changed upon an instrument of musicke, and the melody still remaineth, which may easily be perceived by the sight of the things that are come to passe.

18 For the things of the earth were changed into things of the water and the things that did swimme, went upon the ground.

19 The fire had power in the water contrary unto his own vertue, and the water forgaue his own kinde to quench.

20 Again, the flames did not burne the flesk of the corruptible beastes that walked therein, neither melted they that which seemed to be yee, and was of a nature that would melt, and yet was an immortal meate.

21 For in all things, O Lord, thou hast magnified and glorified thy people, and hast not despised to assist them in every time and place.

¶ The wisdom of Iesus the sonne of Sirach, called Ecclesiasticus.

¶ This Argument was found in a certaine Greeke copie.

This Iesus was the Sonne of Sirach, and Sirach father was also called Iesus, and he lived in the latter times after the people had bene led away captive, and brought home againe, and almost after all the Prophets. Now his grandfather, as he himselfe witnesseth, was a man of great diligence, and with dome among the Hierewes, who did not onely gather the graue sentences of wisemen that had bene before him, but he himselfe also spake many full of great knowledge and wisdom. So this first Iesus died, and left this which he had gathered, and Sirach afterward left it to Iesus his sonne, who tooke it and put it in order in a booke, and called it Wisdom, intituling it both by his owne name, his fathers name, and his grandfathers: thinking by this title of Wisdom, to allure the Reader to read this booke with more great desire, and to consider it more diligently. Therefore this booke containeth wise sayings, and darke sentences, and similitudes, with certaine diuine histories which are notable and ancient, such of men that were approved of God, and certaine prayers and songs of the author himselfe: moreover, what benefits the Lord had bestowed vpon his people, and what plagues he had heaped vpon their enemies. This Iesus did imitate Salomon, and was no lesse laborious in wisdom and doctrine, who was therefore called a man of great knowledge, as he was indeed.

The Prologue of the wisdome of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

Wheras many and great things haue bene giuen by the Lawe and the Prophets, and by others, that haue followed them, (for the which things, I haue ought to be commended) by the reason of doctrine and wisdom, whereby the readers ought not onely to become learned therein, but also may be able by the diligent study thereof to be profitable unto strangers weekly speaking and writing; after that my grandfather Iulius had giuen himselfe to the reading of the Lawe and the Prophets, and other bookes of our fathers, and had gotten therein sufficient iudgement, he purposed also to write something pertaining to learning and wisdom, to the intent that they which were desirous to learne and would giue themselves to these things, might profit much more in living according to the Lawe. Therefore, I exhorted him to recit it longely, and to read it with diligence, and to take it in good worth, though it were some in some things not able to attaine to the interpretation of such words as are heard to be expounded: for y^e things that are spoken in the Hebrew tongue, haue another force in themselves when they are translated into another tongue: and not onely these things, but other things also, as the Lawe it selfe, and the Prophets, in other bookes haue no small difference when they are spoken in their owne language. Therefore in the eight and thirtieth year, when I came into Egypt vnder king Cæsars, and continued there I found a copie full of great learning, and I thought it necessary to bestow my diligence and travail to interpret this booke. So for a certaine time with great watching and study I gaue my selfe to the finishing of this booke, that it might be published, that they which remaine in banishment, and are desirous to learne, might apply themselves vnto good manners, and liue according to the Lawe.

3. Who can finde the wisedome [of God which hath bene before all things?]
4. Wisedome hath bene created before all things, and the understanding of prudence from everlasting.

berne declared : or who hath knowen her wise counseils :

his throne.

9 He is the Lord that hath created her [throw the holy Ghost:] he hath scene her, numbered her, [and measured her.]

10 Hee hath powred her out vpon all his workes, and vpon all flesh, according to his gift, and giueth her abundantly vnto them that loue
him.

11 The feare of the Lord is glory, and glad-nesse, and reioycing, and a ioyfull crowne.

12 The feare of the Lord maketh a steele heart, and giveth gladnelle, and ioy, a long life.

13 Who feareth the Lord, it shall goe well with him at the last, and he shall finde fauour in the day of his death.

14. [The loue of God is honourable wife-dom, and unto whom it appeareth in a vision,

15 The fear of the Lord is the beginning of wisdom, and was made with the fathfull in the wombe: [He goeth with the chaste women, and is known with the righteous & fathfull]

16 The feare of the Lord is an holy know-

18 Who so feareth the Lord shall prosper, and in the day of his end he shall be blessed.]

19 They hath built an everlasting foundations wch men, and is given to be wch their seed.

20 To feare God is the fruites of wisdom, and fillen men wch her fruites.

21 Shee filleth their whole house with [all] things desirable, & the garners with the things that the bringeth forth, and both remaine are gifts of God.

22 The feare of the Lord is the crowne of wisdom, and giveth peace and perfect health: he hath seene her and numbred her.

|| Or, wisdom,

23 || Shee raineth downe knowledge, and understanding of wisdom, and hath brought vnto honour them that professed her.

24 The feare of the Lord is the roote of wisdom, and her branches are long life.

25 [In the treasures of wisdom is understanding, and holy knowledge, but wisdom is abhorred of sinners.]

26 The feare of the Lord driueth out sin, and when she is present, she driueth away anger.

27 ¶ For wicked anger cannot be iustified: for his raiynesse in his anger shall be his destruction.

28 A patient man will suffer for a time, and then shall he haue the reward of ioy.

29 Wee will hide his words for a time, and many mens lips shall speake of his wisdom.

30 In the treasures of wisdom are the secrets of knowledge, but the sinner hath boieth the wisdom of God.

31 If thou desire wisdom, keepe the Commandments, and the Lord shall giue her vnto thee [and will fill her treasures.]

32 For the feare of the Lord is wisdom and discipline: hee hath pleasure in faith and meeknesse.

33 Be not disobedient to the feare of the Lord, and come not vnto him with a double heart.

34 ¶ Bee not an hypocrite that men should speake of thee, but take heed what thou speakest.

35 Graue not thy selfe, lest thou fall, and bring thy soule to dishonour, and so God discouer thy secrets, and cast thee downe in the midst of the congregation, because thou wouldest not receiue the true feare of God, and thine heart is full of deceit.

CHAP. II.

1 He exhorteth the seruants of God to righteousness, love, understanding, and patience. 11 To trust in the Lord. 13 A curse vpon them that are faint hearted and impatient.

MY sonne if thou wilt come into the seruice of God [stand fast in righteousness and feare and] prepare thy soule to contention.

2 Be still thine heart, and be patient: [boly down thine eare, and receiue the words of understanding] and shunke not away when thou art assailed, [but wait vpon God patiently.]

3 Joyne thy selfe vnto him, and depart not away, that thou maist be increased at thy last end.

8 ¶ Bee that feare the Lord, beleeue him, and your reward shall not faile.

9 ¶ Bee that feare the Lord, trust in good things, and in the everlasting ioy and merite.

CHAP. III.

3 To our father and mother ought we to giue double honour. 10 Of the blessing and curse of the father and mother. 23 No man ought our curiosity to search out the secrets of God.

The children of wisdom are the Church of the righteous, and their obliuing is obedience and loue.]

2 Heare your fathers iudgement, O children, and doe therewith, that ye may be safe.

3 For the Lord will haue the father honoured of the children, and hath confirmed the authority of the mother ouer the children.

4 Who so honoureth his father, his sinnes shall be forgiven him, [and he shall abstaine from them, and shall haue his daily desires.]

5 And he that honoureth his mother, is like one that gathereth treasure.

6 Who so honoureth his father, shall haue ioy of his owne children, and when hee maketh his prayer, he shall be heard.

7 ¶ Bee that honoureth his father, shall haue long long life, and hee that is obedient vnto the Lord, shall comfort his mother.

8 Hee that feareth the Lord, honoureth his parents, and doeth service vnto his parents, as vnto him.

9 Honour thy father and mother in deed and in word, [and in all patience,] that thou mayest haue Gods blessing, [and that his blessing may abide with thee in the end.]

10 For the blessing of the father establisheth the houses of the children, and the mothers curse rooteth out the foundations.

11 Reioyce not at the dishonour of thy father: for it is not honour vnto thee, but shame.

12 Seeing that mans glory cometh by his fathers honour, and the reproch of the mother is dishonour to the children.

13 Ope sonne, respect thy father in his age, and geiue him not as long as he liueth.

14 And if his vnderstanding faile, haue patience with him, and despise him not when thou art in thy full strength.

15 For the good extremitie of thy father shall not be forgotten, but it shall be a foirelle for thee against sinnes, [and for thy mothers offence thou shalt be recompensed with good, and it shall be founden for thee in righteousness.]

16 And in the day of trouble thou shalt be remembered: thy sinnes also shall melt away as the ice in the faire weather.

17 He that forsaketh his father, shall come to shame, and be that angreth his mother, is cursed of God.

18 O Ope sonne, perfoyme thy doings with mekenesse, so shalt thou be beloued of them that are appoyued.

19 The greater thou art, the more humble thy selfe [in all things,] and thou shalt finde fauour before the Lord.

20 Many are excellent and of renoume: but the secrets are reuealed vnto the mecke.

21 For the power of the Lord is great, and he is renowned of the lowly.

22 Seeke not out the things that are too hard for thee, neither search the things rashly which are too mighty for thee.

23 [But] what [God] hath commanded thee, thinke vpon that with reuerence, [and be not curious in many of his works:] for it is not needfull for thee to see with thine eyes the things that are secret.

24 Be not curious in superfluous things: for many things are shewed vnto thee aboue the capacite of men.

25 The meddling with such hath beguiled many, and an euill opinion hath deceiued thes indgement.

26 Thou canst not see without eyes: profess not the knowledge thereofe that thou halt not.

27 A double heart shall face euill at the last: and be that lowerth her, shall perishe therein.

28 An heart that goeth two wayes, shall not prosper: and hee that is froward of heart, shall stumble therein.

29 An obstinate heart shall be laden with sowres: and the wicked man shall heape sinne vpon sinne.

30 The pectuation of the proud is without remedie, and his steps shall be plucked vp: for the plant of sinne hath taken root in him, [and hee shall not be esteemed.]

31 The heart of him that hath neither thing, shall seeke secret things, and matters: this east is the desire of a wise man.

32 [An heart that is wise and vnderstanding, will abstaine from sinne, and shall prosper in the works of righteousness.]

33 Ollace quencheth burning fire, * and almes taketh away sinnes.

34 And hee that remembereth good doers, will remember it afterward, and in the time of the fall, he shall stand a day.

CHAP. II II.

1 Almes must be done with gentleness, 2 The studie of wisdomes and her fruits, 30 An exhortation to seuerall euill, and do good.

M P soune, defraud not the * poore of his liuing, and make not the meek eyes to waite long.

2 Make not an hungry soule sorrowfull, neither deere a man in his necessite.

3 Trouble not the heart that is grieved, and deere not the gift of the needy.

4 Refuse not the prayer of one that is in trouble: * turne not away thy face from the poore.

5 Turne not thine eyes aside [in anger] from thee poore, and giue him none occasion to speake euill of thee.

6 For if he curse thee in the bitterness of his soule, his prayer shall be heard of him that made him.

7 Be courteous vnto the company [of poore, and humble thy soule vnto the Elder] and bowe downe thine head to a man of worship.

8 Let it not grieve thee to bowe downe thine care vnto the poore, [but pay thy debt] and giue him a friendly answer.

9 Deliuere him that suffereth wrong, from the hand of the oppressour, and be not faime hearted [when thou iudgest].

10 Be as a father vnto the fatherlesse, and as an husband vnto the mother: so shalt thou bee as the sonne of the most High: and he shall loue thee more then thy mother doeth.

11 Wickednesse scattereth her children, and retrieth them that seeke her, [and will goe before them in the way of righteousness.]

12 See that lowerth her, lowerth life, and they that seeke life in the morning, shall haue great joy.

13 He that keepeth her, shall inherite glory: for vnto whom shee entreteth, him the Lord will blesse.

14 They that honour her, shall be the seruants of the Holy one, and them that loue her, the Lord doth loue.

15 Who so giureth care vnto her, shall iudge the nations, and hee that goeth vnto her, shall dwell safely.

16 Wee that is faithfull vnto her, shall haue her in possession, and his generation shall possesse her.

17 For first shee will walke with him by crooked wayes, and bring him vnto steare and deead, and torment him with her discipline untill shee haue tryed her soule, and haue proued him by her iudgements.

18 Then will shee reurne the straight way vnto him, and comfort him, and shew him her secrets, [and heape vpon him the treasures of know-

19 But if he goe wrong, he will forsake him, and give him over into the hands of his destruction.

20 [¶ By sonne,] make much of time, and chew the thing that is enill.

21 And be not ashamed [to say the truth] for thy life: for there is a shame that bringeth sin, and a shame that bringeth worship and favour.

22 Accept no person against thine owne conscience, that thou bee not confounded to thine owne decay, [and forbear not thy neighbour in his fault.]

23 And keepe not backe counsell when it may doe good, neither hide thy wisdom when it may be famous.

24 For by the talke is wisdom knowne, and learning by the wordes of the tongue, [and counsell, wisdom and learning by the talking of the wise, and steadfastnesse in the wordes of righteousness.]

25 In no wise speake against the word of truth, but be ashamed of the lies of thine owne ignorance.

26 Be not ashamed to confesse thy finnes, and resist not the course of the sinner.

27 Submit not thy selfe unto a foolish man, neither accept the person of the mighty.

28 Strive for the truth unto death, [and defend iustice for thy life,] and the Lord God shall fight for thee [against thine enemies.]

29 Be not bawle in thy tongue, neither slacke and negligent in thy works.

30 Be not as a Lyon in thine owne house, neither beate thy servants for thy fantasie, nor oppress them that are under thee.]

31 Let not thine hand be stretched out to receive, and thus when thou shouldest give.

CHAP. V.

1 In righteousness was not put any confidence, 7 The vengeance of God ought to be feared, and repentance may not be deferred.

Trust not unto thy riches, and say not, I have enough for my life: [for it shal not help in the time of vengeance and indignation.]

2 Follow not thine owne minde and thy strength to walke in the wayes of thine heart:

3 Neither say thou, [Howe have I had strength?] or who will bring me vnder for my works? For God the avenger will reuenge the wrong done by thee.

4 And say not, I haue sinned, and what euill hath come vnto me? for the Almighty is a patient rewarder, but hee will not leaue thee unpunished.

5 Because thy sinne is forgiven, be not with out feare, to beape sinne vpon sinne.

6 And say not, The mercy of God is great: hee will forgive my manifold finnes: for mercy and wrath come from him, and his indignation cometh downe vpon sinners.

7 Make no taryng to turne vnto the Lord, and put not off from day to day: for suddenly shall the wrath of the Lord beake forth, and in thy secretie thou shalt be destroyed, and thou shalt perish in time of vengeance.

8 Trust not in wicked riches: for they shall not helpe thee in the day of punishment [and vengeance.]

9 Be not caried about with every winde, and goe not into every way: for is doeth the sinne that hath a double tongue.

10 Stand fast in thy lare understanding [and in the way of knowledge of the Lord:] and haue but one maner of word, [and follow the word of peace and righteousness.]

11 Be humble to heare the word of God, that thou mayest understand it, and make a true answer with wisdom.

12 Be swift to heare good things, and let thy life be pure, and give a patient answer.

13 If thou hast understanding, answer thy neighbour, if not, lay thine hand vpon thy mouth, [lest thou bee trapped in an vndiscere word, and so be blamed.]

14 Honour and shame is in the talke, and the tongue of a man causeth him to fall.

15 Be not counted a talebearer, and lie not in wait with thy tongue: for shame [and repentance] follow the thiefe, and an euill condemnation is ouer him that is double tongued: [but he that is a backbiter, shalbe hated, enuied and confounded.]

16 Doe not rashly, neither in small things nor in great.

CHAP. VI.

1 It is the property of a sinner to bee enill tongued, 6 Of friendship. 33 Desire to be taught.

Be not of a friend [thy neighbours] enemy: for such shall haue an euill name, shame and reproch, and he shall be in infamie as the wicked that hath a double tongue.

2 Be not proude in the denie of thine owne minde, lest thy soule rent thee as a bull,

3 And eate by thy leaves, and destroy thy fruit, and thou bee left as a dry tree [in the wilderness.]

4 For a wicked soule destroyeth him that hath it, and maketh him to bee laughed to scorn of his enemies, [and bringeth him to the portion of the vngodly.]

5 A sweet talke multiplieth the friends [and pacifieth them that be at variance,] and a sweet tongue increaseth much good talke.

6 Hold friendship with many, neuertheless, haue but one counsellor of a thondan.

7 If thou gettest a friend, proue him first, and be not hasty to credit him.

8 For some man is a friend for his owne occasion, and will not abide in the day of thy trouble.

9 And there is some friend that turneth to enmitie, and taketh part against thee, and in contention he will declare thy shame.

10 Again, some friend is but a companion at the table, and in the day of thine affliction hee continueth not.

11 But in thy prosperitie he will be as thou thy selfe, and will be libertie ouer thy seruants.

12 If thou be bought low, he will be against thee, and will hide himselfe from thy face.

13 Depart from thine enemies, and be ware of thy friends.

14 A faithful friend is a strong defence, and he that slandereth such a one, slandereth a treasure.

15 A faithful friend ought not to be changed for any thing, and the weight of gold and silver is not to be compared to the goodnesse [of his faith.]

Chap. 37. 5.

16 A faithful friend is the medicine of life [and immortality], & they that feare the Lord, shall finde him.

17 Who so feareth the Lord, shall direct his friends by right, and as his owne selfe, so shall his friend be.

18 O My sonne, receiue doctrine from thy youth up: so shalt thou finde wisdom [which shall endure till thine old age].

19 Go to her as one that plooweth and soweth, and wait for her good fruits: for thou shalt haue but little labour in her worke: but thou shalt eat of her fruits right soone.

20 How exceeding sharpe is shee to the vnlearned? he that is without iudgement, will not remaine with her.

21 Unto such one she is as a fine touchstone, and be catherd her from him without delay.

22 For they haue the name of wisdom, but there be but few that haue the knowledge of her.

23 [For with them that know her, shee abideth vnto the appearing of God.]

24 Give care my sonne: receiue my doctrine, and refuse not my counsell.

25 And put thy feete into the links, and thy necke into her chaine.

26 Bow downe thy shoulder vnto her, and beare her, and be not weary of her bands.

27 Come vnto her with thy whole heart, and keepe her wayes with all thy power.

28 Seeke after her, and search her, and shee shall be shewed thee: and when thou hast gotten her, forsaake her not.

29 For at the last thou shalt finde rest in her, and that shall be turned to thy joy.

30 When shall her fetters bee a strong defence for thee, [and a fure foundation] and her chaines a glorious raiment.

31 For there is a golden ornament in her, and her hands are the laces of purple colour.

32 Thou shalt put her on as a robe of honour, and shalt put her vpon thee as a crowne of glory.

33 O My sonne, if thou wilt, thou shalt bee taught, and if thou wilt apply thy minde, thou shalt be wittie.

34 If thou loue to heare, thou shalt receiue [doctrine,] and if thou delight in hearing, thou shalt be wise.

35 Stand with the multitude of the elders, which are wise, and loyue with him that is wise.

36 Desire to heare all godly talke, and let not the graue sentences of knowledge escape thee.

37 And if thou seeest a man of vnderstanding, get thee soone vnto him, and let thy foote tread the steps of his dooires.

38 Let thy minde bee vpon the ordinances of the Lord, and be continually occupied in his commandements: so shall bee established thine heart: and giue thee wisdom as thine owne desire.

CHAP. VII.

1 Woe must forsaake euill, and yet not in hisse our sinnes,

2 The behauiour of his wife toward his wife, his friend, his children, his seruants, his father and mother.

Doe no euill: so shall no harme come vnto thee.

2 Depart from the thing that is wicked, and sinne shall turne away from thee.

3 O My sonne, loo not vpon the furrowes of harighebulnesse, lest that thou rappe them (sinn) sold.

4 Take not of the Lord preeminence, neither of the king the seat of honour.

5 Justice not thy selfe before the Lord: [for he knoweth thine heart,] and heall not thy wisdom in the presence of the king.

6 Seeke not to be made a Iudge, lest thou bee not able to take away iniquitie, and lest thou, fearing the person of the mighty, shouldest commit an offence against thine uprightnesse.

7 Offend not against the multitude of a citie, and cast not thy selfe among the people.

8 Bind not two sinnes together: for in one sinne shalt thou not be unpunished.

9 Say not, God will looke vpon the multitude of mine oblations, and when I offer to the most high God, he will accept it.

10 Be not faint hearted, when thou makest thy prayer, neither slacke in giuing of almes.

11 Laugh no man to scoone in the beautiesse of his soule: for God which seeth all things is hee that can hying downe, and let by againe.

12 Doe not a lie against thy brother, neither doe the same against thy friend.

13 Use not to make any manner of lie: for the custome thereof is not good.

14 Make not many wordes when thou art among the elders, neither repeat a thing in thy prayer.

15 Hate not laborious worke, neither the husbandry which the most high hath created.

16 Number not thy selfe in the multitude of the wicked, but remember that vengeance will not slacke.

17 Humble thy minde greatly: for the vengeance of the wicked is fire and woynes.

18 Sine not ouer thy friend for any good, nor thy true brother for the gold of Ididit.

19 Depart not from a wife and good woman, [that is fallen vnto thee for thy portion in the feare of the Lord:] for her grace is at ouer gold.

20 As thy seruant worketh truly, intreate him not euill, nor the hireling that bestoweth himselfe wholly for thee.

21 Let thy soule loue a good seruant, and destande him not of libertie, [neither leaue him a poore man.]

22 If thou haue cattrell, looke well to them and if they bee for thy profit, keepe them with care.

23 If thou haue sonnes, instruct them, and hold their necke from their yough.

24 If thou haue daughters, keepe their bodie, and shew not thy face cheerefull toward them.

25 Marry thy daughter, & so shalt thou perfoyme a weighty matter: but giue her to a man of vnderstanding.

26 If thou haue a wife after thy minde, forsake her not, but commit not thy selfe to the harlot.

27 Honour thy father from thy whole heart, and forget not the forowes of thy mother.

CHAP. X.

Of Kings and Judges. 7. Pride and covetousness are to be abhorred. 28 Labour is praised.

A wise Judge will instruct his people, and direct them in the governance of a prudent man is well ordered.

2 As the Judge of the people is himself, so are his Officers, and what manner of man the ruler of the City is, such are all they that dwell therein.

3 An unwise King destroyed his people, but where they that be in authority are men of understanding, there the city prospereth.

4 The government of the earth is in the hand of the Lord, [and all iniquity of the nations is to be abhorred,] and when time is, he will set up a profitable Ruler over it.

5 In the hand of God is the prosperity of men, and upon the Scythians will he lay his hands.

6 Be not angry for any wrong with thy neighbour, nor be troubling by injurious practices.

7 Pride is hateful before God and man, and by both hath our common iniquity.

8 Because of unrighteous dealing, and wings, and riches gotten by deceit, the kingdoms is transferred from one people to another.

9 There is nothing worse than a covetous man: [why art thou proud, O earth, and after-cher is not a more wicked thing, than to love money:] for such one would turn till his soule, and for his sake every one is compelled to pull out his owne bowels.

10 [All tyranny is of small endurance, and the difference that is hard to beale, is grievous to the Physician.]

11 The Physician cureth off the sope disease, and he that is to be a king to morrow is dead.

12 Why in earth and ashes proud, seeing that when a man dyeth, hee is the prey of Serpents, beasts, and worms?

13 The beginning of mans pride, is to fall away from God, and to turn away his heart from his God.

14 For pride is the original of sin, and he that hath it, shall prove an abomination, till at last he be overthrown, and the Lord bringeth the punishments [of the wicked] to dishonour, and destroyed them in their end.

15 Let the Lord have [and do away the riches of the [proud] princes, and let by the mecke in their stead.]

16 The Lord plucketh up the roots of the [proud] nations, and planteth the lowly with glory among them.

17 The Lord overthroweth the towers of the heaven, and destroyed them, and the foundations of the earth: he causeth them to wither away, he destroyeth them, and maketh their inhabitants to cease out of the earth.

18 God destroyed the monument of the proud, and smothered the foundations of the humble.

19 But he was not created in men, neither was he in the generation of women.

20 There is a seed of man, which is an honourable seed: the honourable seed are they that fear the Lord: there is a seed of man which is without honour: the seed without honour, are they that trust in the commendations of the Lord: it is a seed that committeth, which feared the Lord: and a faire plant that loose him: but they are a shame to his house, that despise the Law, and a decemable seed that break the commandments.

21 He that is the chief among brethren, is honourable: as they that fear the Lord in his light.

22 The fear of the Lord causeth that the kingdoms fall not, but the kingdom is lost by cruelty and pride.

23 The fear of the Lord is the glory as well of the rich and the poor, as of the poor.

24 It is not meet to despise the poor man that hath understanding, neither is it commendable to magnifie rich that is a wicked man.

25 The great man and the Judge, and the man of authority, are honourable, yet is there none of them greater then he that feared the Lord.

26 Who the servant that is wise, shall say that are free, do remember: he that hath knowlidge will not grudge when he is refused, [and the ignorant shall not come to honour.]

27 Seek not excuses when thou shouldst do the works, neither be ashamed thereof through pride in the time of adversity.

28 Better is he that laboureth, and hath plenteousness of all things, then he that is covetous, and wanted of need.

29 By shame, get thy life waste by meanness, and esteem thy life as thou deservest.

30 Who will count him self that sinneeth against himselfe: or honour him that dishonoureth his owne soule?

31 The poor [shonoured] for his knowlidge saith his grace, [but the rich is had in suspicion] because of his goods.

32 Wee that is honourable in poverty, how much more shall he be when he is rich: and hee that is dishonest being rich, how much more will he be so when he is in poverty?

CHAP. XI.

1 The praise of humilitie, 2 After the outward appearances ought we not to judge. 7 Of rash judgement.
14 All things come of God. 29 All men are to be loved as their soules.

Wisdome is lifted up by the dead of him that is lowly, and maketh him to sit among great men.

2 Commend not man for his beauty, neither despise a man in his outward appearance.

3 The Bee is but small among the fowles:
yet doth her stinge make us beware.

4 Be not proud of thy power, or of thy riches, and exalt not thyselfe above thy brethren:
for the works of the Lord are wonderful: [and glorious] deeds, [and unknown] are his ways.

5 Many tyrants have sit downe upon the earth, and the iustly hath waine the crowne.
6 Many mighty men have bene brought to dishonour: and the honourable have bene delivred into other mens hands.
7 C' Blame us (man) because thou hast enquired the matter: understand first, and then seeke the remedy.
8 Give no sentence before thou hast heard the cause, neither interrupte men in the midst of their tales.
9 Strive not for a matter that thou hast not to doe with, and sit not in the judgement of sinners.
10 O my soune, meyle not tuld many matters: for if thou knowe much, thou shalt not be blamelesse, and if thou follow after it, yet shalt thou not attaine it, neither shalt thou escape, though thou flee from it.
11 There is some man that labourerth and taketh paine, and the more he busseth, the more he wanteth.
12 Again there is some that is slothfull, and hath neede of helpe: for he wanteth strenght, and hath great poverty, yet the eye of the Lord looketh upon him to good, and setteth him up from his low estate.
13 And he lifteth up his head: so that many men marvaile at him, [and give honour unto God.]
14 Prosperity and adversity, life and death, poverty and riches come of the Lord.
15 Callidome and knowlege, and understanding of the Law are of the Lord: lone and good works come of him.
16 Error and darkenesse are appointed for sinners, and they that exalt themselves in euill, warr o be in euill.
17 The gift of the Lord remaineth for the goodly, and his good will giueth prosperity for euer.
18 If some man is rich by his care and nigardish, and this is the portion of his wages.
19 In that he saith, "I haue gotten rest, and now will I ease continually of my goods, yet hee considered not that the thorn draweth neerer, that he must leave all these things to other men, and die himselfe.
20 Stand thou in thy state, and errelesse thy selfe therein, and remaine in thy works unto thine age.
21 Warrulle not at the works of sinners, but trust in the Lord, and abide in thy labour: for it is an easie thing in the sight of the Lord, suddenly to make a poore man rich.
22 The blessing of the Lord is in the wages of the vngodly, and he maketh his prosperitie done to flourish.
23 Say not, Let that profit and pleasure that I haue and what good things shall I haue hereafter?
24 Again, say not, I haue enough, and possess many things, and what euill can come to me hereafter?
25 And thou good state remember adversity, and in adversity forget not prosperity.
26 For it is an easie thing unto the Lord in the day of death to reward a man according to his wayes.
27 The adversity of an house maketh one to forget pleasure: and in a moment he forgetteth sorrow.

28 Judge not wicked before hee die: for a man shall be known by his children.
29 Being not euerie man into their house for the beneficall have many enemies, [and are like stomacks that belch stinkingly.]
30 As a barbedge is taken in the snare, [and the fowle is taken in the snare, so is the heart of the proud man, which like a spie watcheth for thy fall.
31 For he lieth in wait, and turneth good into euill, and in things watchy malis he will find to be fault.
32 If one little spark is made a great fire, [cannot one wise man in blood be careful:] for a foolish man layeth wait for blood.
33 Beware of a wicked man: for hee magnifyeth wicked things to bring thee into a perpetual shame.
34 Loose a stranger and he will destroy thee with quietnesse, and drive thee from thine house.
C H A P. XII.
3 Veto whom we ought to do good. 10 Enemies ought not to be trusted.
When thou wilt doe good, know to whom thou doest it, so shalt thou be thanked for thy benefites.
2 Doe good unto the righteous, and thou shalt find [great] reward, though not of him, yet of the most High.
3 Hee cannot haue good that continueth in euill, and giueth no almes: [for the most High hateth the sinners, and hath mercy upon them that repent.]
4 Giue unto such as feare God, and receiue not a sinner.
5 Doe well unto him that is lowly, but giue not to the vngodly: hold backe thy bread, and giue it not unto him, lest he overcome thee thereby: for thou shalt receiue euill as much euill for all the good that thou doest unto him.
6 For the most High hateth the wicked, and will repay vengeance unto the vngodly, & keepeth them against the day of horrible vengeance.
7 Giue unto the good, and receiue not the sinner.
8 A friend cometh to be known in prosperity, neither can an enemy be unknowne in adversity.
9 When a man is in wealth, he grudgeth his enemies, but in want hee seeketh to trouble a mans very friend will depart from him.
10 Trust neuer thine enemies: for like as an yron tuffeth, so doeth his wickednesse.
11 And though he make much crouching and kneeling, yet aduileth thy selfe, and beware of him, and thou shalt be to him, as he that weepeth a glass, and thou shalt knowe that all his euill hath not bene well wiped away.
12 Set him not by thee, lest hee betray thee, and stand in thy place.
13 Let ther see him at thy sight hand, least hee seeke thy roome, and thou at the last remember thy woones, and bee pished with thy sayings.
14 Binde not two sinnes together for thee: [Chap. 7. 8] shall not one be punished.
15 Woe to him that

14. Who will have place on the charger, that he sit upon of the serpent: of all such as come near the serpent: so is it with him that keepeth company with a wicked man, and wrapperh himself in his sinnes.

16. For a frowne will be like with thee: but if thou humble, he carterh not.

17. An enemie is sweeter in his lippen: he can make many good words, and speake many good things: yea, he can weep with his eyes, but in his heart hee imagineth how to throw thee into the pit: and if he may finde opportunitie, he will not be farrilled with blood.

18. If an enemie come upon thee, thou shalt finde him there first, and though he pretend to helpe thee, yet shall he undermine thee: hee will shake his head, and clasp his hands, & will make many words, and disfigure his countenance.

CHAP. XIII.

1. The company of the proud and of the rich are to be shewred. 15. The love of God. 17. Let us see company with their like.

He that toucheth pitch, shall be defiled with it: and hee that is familiar with the proud, shall be like unto him.

2. Burthen not thy selfe above thy power, wisdom thou liest, and company not with one that is mightier, and richer then thy selfe: for how agree the kettle and the carthen pot together: for if the one be smitten against the other, it shall be broken.

3. The rich dealeth unrighteously, & threateneth withall: but the poore being oppressed must intreat: if the rich have done wrong, hee must yet be intreated: but if the poore have done it, he shall straigbtwayes be threatened.

4. If thou be for his profit, be with thee: but if thou have nothing, he will forsake thee.

5. If thou haue any thing, hee will live with thee: yea, he will make thee a bare man, and will not care for it.

6. If hee haue need of thee, hee will defraude thee, and will laugh at thee, and put thee in hope, and give thee all good words, and say, I shall wante thee.

7. Thou shalt be shame thee in his meate, until hee hath lye thee cleane up with of thine, and at the last he will laugh thee to scorne: afterward when hee seeth thee, he will forsake thee, and shake his head at thee.

8. Submit thy selfe unto God, and waite upon his hand.

9. Whome thou hast not deceived in thine owne conceit, and though hee be down by thy simple witte: [hee not so humble as thy wisdom.]

10. If thou be called of a mighty man, absent thy selfe: so shall hee call thee the more oft.

11. Dure not thou vnder him, that thou be not thou out, but go not thou farre off, lest hee forget thee.

12. Let thy words not be like from his speech, but bring not his many words: for with much communication will hee range thee, and laughingly will hee greepe thee.

13. He is unwarlike, and heeperd not promise: he will not spare to doe thee hurt, and so put thee in prison.

14. Beware and take good heed, for thou shalt be in perill of thine owne foolishnes: when thou honest this, awake in the sleep.

15. Love the Lord all thy life, and call upon him for thy salvation.

16. Every beast loveth his like, and every man loveth his neighbour.

17. All flesh will resist to their like, and every man will keepe company with such as he is himselfe.

18. How can the wolfe agree with the lambe: no more can the ungodly with the righteous.

19. What fellowship hath byren with a dog? and what peace is betwixt the rich and the poore.

20. As the wilde ass is the Lyons prey in the wilderness, so are poore men the meate of the rich.

21. As the proud hate humility, so doeth the rich abhorre the poore.

22. If a rich man fall, his friends set him up againe: but when the poore falleth, his friends decline him away.

23. If a rich man offend, hee hath many helpers: hee speaketh proud words, & yet men iustifie him: but if a poore man fall, they rebuke him, though hee speake wisely, yet can it have no place.

24. When the rich man speaketh, every man holdeth his tongue: and looke what hee sayeth, they praye it unto the cloudes: but if the poore man speake, they say, What fellow is this: and if hee bee amitt, they will destroy him.

25. Riches are good unto him that hath no kinne [in his conscience], & powerie is euill in the mouth of the ungodly.

26. The heart of a man changeth his countenance, whether he be in good or euill.

27. A cheerful countenance is a token of a good heart: for it is an hard thing to knowe the secrets of the thought.

CHAP. XIII.

1. The offence of the tongue. 17. Man is but a vaine thing. 21. Happy is he that continueth in wisdom.

Blessed is the man, * that hath not fallen by [the word of] his mouth, and is not condemned with the sorrow of sinne.

2. Blessed is hee that is not condemned in his conscience, and is not fallen from his hope in the Lord.

3. Riches are not comely for a niggard, and what should an envious man doe with money?

4. He that gathereth together from his owne soule, heapech together for others, that will make good cheer with his goods.

5. He that is wicked unto himselfe, to whom will hee be good? for such one can haue no pleasure of his goods.

6. There is nothing worse, then when one enuie himselfe: and this is a reward of his wickednesse.

7. And if hee doe any good, hee dieth it not knowing thereof, and against his will, and at the last hee declareth his wickednesse.

8. Hee remisse man hath a wicked look: he turneth away his face, and despiseth men.

9. A contentious man is not strong enough of a passion, and his wickednesse is dispersed by his owne soule.

10. A wicked man is not strong enough to be in conversation with his cable.

11 Thy soune, be good to thy selfe of that thou hast, and give the Lord his due offerings.

12 Remember that death caryeth not, and that the command of the graue is not shrouded unto thee.

13 Do good unto thy friend before thou die, and according to thine ability stretch out thine hand, and giue him.

14 Desist not thy selfe of the good day, and let not the portion of the good desires ouer passe thee.

15 Shalt thou not leaue thy troubles unto another, and thy labours for the diuiding of thy heritage?

16 Giue and take, and sanctifie thy soule: [worke thou righteousness before thy death:] for in the hell there is no meat to finde.

17 All flesh weareth old as a garment, and this is the condition of all times, Thou shalt die the death.

18 As the greene leaues on a thicke tree, some fall, and some grow, so is the generation of flesh and blood: one cometh to an end, and another is borne.

19 All corruptible things shall faile, and the worker thereof shall goe withall.

20 [Every excellent worker shall be iustified, and he that worketh le, shall haue honour thereof.]

21 Blessed is the man that doeth meditate honest things by wisdom, [and exerciseth himselfe in iustice,] and hee that reasoneth of holy things by his vnderstanding.

22 Which considereth in his heart her waters, and vnderstandeth her secrets, 23 Goe thou after her as one that seeketh her out, and life in water in her wayes.

24 Wee shall looke in at her windowes, and hearken at her doores.

25 We shall abide beside her house, and fasten a stake in her walles: her shall pitch his tent beside her.

26 And hee shall remaine in the lodging of good men, and shall see his children vnder her covering, and shall dwell vnder her branches.

27 By her he shall be couered from the heate, and in her glory shall he dwell.

CHAP. XV.

1 The goodness that filleth him which feareth God.
2 God visiteth and casteth off the sinners, 12 God is not the author of euill.

He that feareth the Lord, will doe good: and he that hath the knowledge of the Law, will keep it sure.

2 As an [honourable] mother shall she meet him, and she, as his wife married of a virgin, will receive him.

3 With the bread [of life] and vnderstanding shall she feed him, and giue him the water of [wholesome] wisdom to drinke.

4 He shall assure himselfe in her, and shall not be moued, and shall hold himselfe fast by her, and shall not be confounded.

5 She shall exalt him above his neighbours, and in the midst of the congregation shall he open his mouth, [with the spirit of wisdom] and vnderstanding shall she fill him, and clothe him with the garment of glory.]

6 She shall call him to imperie top, and the reward of gladnesse, and an enclaving name.

7 But foolishly wroughtest thou that holdest upon her: [but such as haue vnderstanding, will loose her:] the dinner shall not be her.

8 For she is faine from paine [and death,] [in] which that life, cannot remember her: [but] [the] [virtue] of truth shall haue her, and shall prosper euen vnto the bredding of God.]

9 Wisdom is not science in the mouth of the sinner: [but] [she] [is] [not] [the] [sine] [of] [the] [Lord].

10 But if prayer come of wisdom, [and] [be] [plentiful] in a faithfull mouth, [then] [the] [Lord] [will] [prophete] [it].

11 Say not thou, It is through the Lord that I turne backe: for thou oughtest not to doe the things that he hateth.

12 Say not thou, We haue caused me to erre: for he hath no need of our sinfull man.

13 The Lord hateth all abomination [of] [error], and they that feare God, loue it not.

14 He made man from the beginning, and left him in the hand of his counsell: [and] [he] [gaue] [him] [his] [commandments] [and] [precepts].

15 If thou wilt, thou shalt observe the commandments, and rectifie thy good will.

16 Wee hath set water and fire before thee: stretch out thine hand vnto which thou wilt.

17 Before man is life and death, [good] [and] [euill]: what him liker shall be giuen him.

18 For the wisdom of the Lord is great, and he is mighty in power, and he holdeth all things continually.]

19 And the eyes [of] [the] [Lord] [are] [upon] [them] [that] [feare] [him], [and] [he] [knoweth] [all] [the] [wayes] [of] [man].

20 Wee hath commanded no man to doe vngodly, neither hath he giuen any man licence to sinne: [for] [he] [delivered] [us] [from] [a] [multitude] [of] [in] [bels] [and] [vnp] [profitable] [things].

CHAP. XVI.

1 Of vngodly and wicked children, 19 No man can hide himselfe from God, 24 An exhortation to the reuocing of unprofitable.

Neither has the multitude of vngodly children, neither delight in vngodly children: though they be many, reioyce not in them, except the feare of the Lord be with them.

2 Trust not thou to their life, neither rest vpon their multitude.

3 For one that is iust, is better then a thousand such, and better it is to die without children, then to leaue behinde him vngodly children.

4 For by one that hath vnderstanding, shall the citie be inhabited: but the Roche of the wicked shall be broken downe continually.

5 Whom such things haue I seene with mine eyes, and mine eare hath heard greater things then these.

6 In the congregation of the vngodly shall a free be kindred, and among vnfaithfull people shall the iust be for sale.

7 He feared not the old giants which were rebellious, standing to their owne strength.

8 Neither shaued hee his heades for woe, those whom hee adored for their piety.

9 He had no play for the people that were detested, and pointed out in their sinnes.

25. Know the righteousness and iudgements of God: and in the portion that is set forth for thee, and in the prayer of the most high God, and in the parts of the holy world with such as be loving and constant to God.

26. Who can praise the most high in the hel, as doe all they that flourish and confesse him?

27. (Abide not thou in the error of the ungodly, but praise the Lord before such.)

28. Thankfulness perserveth from the dead, as though he were not: but the living, and hee that is found of heart praise the Lord, (and rejoyce in his mercy.)

HE that lieth for ever, made all things together, the Lord who onely is just, and there is none other but he, (and he remaineth a victorious King for ever.)

2. We understand the world with the power of his hand, and all things obey his will: for he governeth all things by his power, and divideth the holy things from the profane.

3. To whom hath he given power to expelle his workers? who will take out the ground of his noble acts?

4. Who shall declare the power of his greatness? or who will take upon him to tell out his mercy?

5. As for the wonderful workers of the Lord, there may nothing be taken from them, neither can any thing bee put unto them, neither may the ground of them bee found out.

6. Was when a man hath done his best, hee must begin againe, and when hee thinketh to come to an end, hee must goe againe to his labour.

7. What is to man? whereto striveth hee? what good or evil can hee doe?

8. If the number of a mans dayes be an hundred yere, it is much: and no man hath certayne knowledge of his death.

9. As ships of cedar are into the sea, and as a great house is in the foundation of the stone, so are the thousand yeres to the dayes of a mans life.

10. Therefore is [God] patient with them, and poureth out his mercy upon them.

11. Wee know and perceive, that [the arrogance of their heart, and their ruine was evil]: therefore heaped hee up his mercy upon them; and sheweth them the way of righteousness.]

12. The mercy that a man hath, reacheth to his neighbour: but the mercy of the Lord is upon all flesh: hee chasteneth, and nurtureth, and teacheth, and bringeth backe, as a shepherd his flocke.

13. Wee hath mercy of them that receive discipline, and that diligently seeke after his iudgements.

14. O my sonne, when thou dost good, rejoyce not: and whatsoever thou shalt, see no discomfortable words.

15. Shall not the death alluenge the deere? so is a word better then a gift.

16. No, is not a word better then a good gift? but a gracious man sheweth them both.

17. A fool will reach charitably, and a gift of the cunning will reach to the eyes.

18. [Get thee righteousness before thou come to iudgement:] learne before thou speake, and be swift to answer when thou art sicke.

19. Examine thyself before thou be iudged, and in the day of the visitation thou shalt finde mercy.

20. Humble thy self before thou be sicke, and willest thou mayest yet stand, shew thy contrition.

21. Let nothing let thee to pay thy vow in time, and deferre not unto death to bee redeemed: [for the reward of God endureth for ever.]

22. Before thou prayest, prepare thy self, and be not as one that tempteth the Lord.

23. Think upon the watch that shall bee at the end, and the house of bondage, when hee shall turn away his face.

24. When thou hast enough, remember the time of hunger: and when thou art rich, thinke upon poverty and need.

25. From the morning untill the evening, the time is changed: and all such things are done before the Lord.

26. A wise man feareth in all things, and in the dayes of transgression hee keepeth himselfe from sinne: but the fool doeth not observe the time.

27. A country will man knoweth wisdom, and knowledge, and payeth him that loveth her.

28. They that have understanding, deale wisely in words: they understand the truth and righteousness, and poureth out wisdom and grace sent downe from above.

29. The chiefe authority of speaking is of the Lord alone: for a mortal man hath but a dead heart.

30. Follow not thy lusts, but turne thee from thine iniquities.

CHAP. XIX.

1. Wine and whoredoms bring men to ruin. 2. In thy words is thy defence. 3. The defence of the fame of God and man. 4. Whosoever shall keep what is in man.

A Laboring man that is given to drunkenness, shall not be rich: and he that converseth in small things, shall fall by little and little.

2. *Wine and women trade wise men out of the way, and put them of understanding to re-

3. And he that companyeth adulterers, shall become impudent, corruptible, and woman's shall have him to heritage, and he that is too bold, shall be taken away, and he make a publique reproach.

4. *He that is hasty to give credit, is light minded, and he that errith, sinneth against his own soul.

5. *Who to recoverth in wickedness, shall be punished: for he that hathed to be reformed, his life shall be shortened, and he that abhorreth babbling of women, quencheth wickedness: but he that suffereth pleasures, crowneeth his own soul.

6. *He that restraineth his tongue, may thus win a noble companion, and he that bawly talking, shall have little evil.

7. *Rebuke not to another that which is told unto thee: so thou shalt not be hindered.

8. Declare not other mens manners, neither to friend nor foe: and if the same appertaine not unto thee, reveale it not.

9. For he will becomen unto thee, and make hate thee.

10. *If thou hast heard a word against thy neighbour, let it be told with thee, and be sure it will not hurt thee.

thing, as a woman that is about to bring forth a

13. *Reproove a friend, lest he doe evil, and if he have done it, that he doe it no more.

14. Reproove a friend, that he may keepe his

15. Tell thy friend his fault: for oft times a hath.

16. A man talked with his tongue, but not with his will: and who is he that hath not assented in his tongue?

17. Reprove thy neighbour before thou shew-en him, and being without anger, give place unto the Law of the most High.

18. The fear of the Lord is the first degree to be received of him, with wisdom obedient his love.

19. The knowledge of the commandments of the Lord is the doctrine of life, and they that obey him, shall receive the fruits of immortalitye.

20. The fear of the Lord is all wisdom, and the performing of the Law is perfect wisdom, and the knowledge of his commandments.

21. If a servant say unto his master, I will not do as he pleased thee, though afterward he do thee, shall not please him: that man loveth him.

22. The knowledge of wickedness is not with-dome, neither is there prudence whereas the counsel of wisdom is a tree: it is then excellent smaller: and the fool is hope of wisdom.

23. He that hath small understanding, and feareth God, is better then one that hath much wisdom, and transgresseth the Law of the most High.

24. There is a certain subtiltie that is fine but it is unprofitable: and there is that which the open and manifest know: yet there is that is wise and judiciously profitable.

25. There is some that being about wicked purposes, doth bow down themselves, and are sad, whose inward parts burne altogether with desire: he looketh downe with his face, and flieth himselfe dead: yet he feareth thou perceiving, he will be upon thee to hurt thee.

26. And though he be to be taken, that he can not chuse to time, yet when he may find opportunity, he will do it still.

27. A man may be known by his look, and one that hath understanding, may be precised by the marking of his countenance.

28. A mans garment, his excellence, his face, and going, declare what person he is.

CHAP. XX.

1. *Of correction and repentance. 2. To speak and keep silence in time. 3. The fall of the wicked. 4. Offence.
5. The thief and the murderer. 6. Gifts made the gift of the will.*

There is some to be taken that is not comely: again, some man holdeth his tongue, and he is wise.

2. It is much better to receive, then to beate evil will, and he that acknowledgeth his fault, hath preferred from hurt.

3. As when a soldier man through lust would drinke a measure, he beeth thereby violence in judgement.

4. How good a thing is it, when thou art reprooved to show repentance: for to that thou escapest with full harme.

5. Some men keepeth silence, and is fowly will, and some by much babbling becomeeth bawfull.

6. Some men holdeth his tongue, because he dare not answer, and some keepeth silence, waiting a convenient time.

7. A wise man will hold his tongue, till he see opportunity: but a trifler and a fool will regard no time.

8. He that speaketh many words, shall be a babbler, and he that talketh not wisely to himselfe, shall be hated.

9. Some man hath oft times propheticke in wicked things, and sometimes a thing that is found, being yet hidden.

10. There is some gift that is not profitable for thee, and there is some gift, whose returne is double.

CHAP. XXII.

1 Of the fluggard. 12 Not to shake much to a foole.
16 A good conscience feareth not.

a b That is, like as the idle stone gathereth melle and filth, so doth the fluggard both sickness of body and enuysion of minde. And as every man doth aswyme the flammes of iung, and burneth it off: so doth he in the company of idle persons, like he become like unto them.

A foolish man is like a filthy stone, which every man mocketh at for his shame.

2 A foolish man is to bee compared to the dung of oxen, and every one that taketh it up, will shake it out of his hand.

3 An euill nourished sonne, is the dishonour of the father: and the daughter is least to be distressed.

4 A wife daughter is an heritage vnto her husband: but she that liueth dishonourably, is her fathers beaustie.

5 Wherhat is bold, dishonoureth both her father and her husband, (and is not inferiour to the vngodly, but he that liueth in hise her.)

6 A tale out of thine is as musick in mourning: but wisdom is holier than the seasons of correction and doctrine.

7 Who to teacheth a foole, is as one that glaweth a porward together, and as hee that waketh one that sleepe, from a sound sleepe.

8 If children liue honestly, and haue wherewith, they shall put away the shame of their parents.

9 But if children be proud, with haughtinesse and foolishnesse they defile the nobility of their kiured.

10 Who to releeue a foole of wisdom, is as a man which speaketh to one that is asleepe: when he hath told his tale, he saith, What is the matter?

Chap. xvi. 16.

11 Weepe for the dead, for hee hath lost the light: (or weepe for the foole, for hee wanteth vnderstanding: make small weeping for the dead, for he is at rest: but the life of a foole is worse then the dead.)

12 Seven dayes do men mourne for him that is dead: but the lamentation for the foole and vngodly [should endure] all the dayes of their life.

Chap. xii. 12.

13 Talk not much with a foole, and goe not to him that hath no vnderstanding, for beware of him lest it turne thee to paine, and lest thou be distressed when he shaketh himselfe. Depart from him, and thou shalt find rest, and shalt not receive sorow by his foolishnesse.

Chap. xij. 3.

14 What to haunter open trade? and what other man should a foole haue?

15 A hand and side, and a tongue of iron is easier to beare, then an vnwill, foolish and vngodly man.

16 As a frame of wood ioyned together in a building cannot be looke with shaking, so the heart that is established by aduised counsell, shall faile at no time.

17 The heart that is consumed by discrete wisdom, is as a faire plaiter on a plaine wall.

18 As reedes that are set vp on high, cannot abide the winde, so the heart that heareth words without imagination can endure no fear.

19 What hurteth the eye but fingered footeth beares, and he that hurteth the heart, bringeth forth the affliction.

20 Who to casteth a stone at the birds, frayeth them away: and he that vpholdeth his friend, breaketh friendship.

21 Though thou diuelt a sword at thy friend, yet despise not: for there may be a turning to fauour.

22 If thou hast opened thy mouth against thy friend, feare not: for there may be a reconciliation, so that vpholding, or not, as disclosing of secrets, or a traitorous wound doe not let: for by these things, every friend will depart.

23 Be faithfull vnto thy friend in his power, that thou mayest reioyce in his prosperitie. Abide steadfast vnto him in the time of his trouble, that thou mayest bee better with him in his heritage: for power is not alwayes to be contemned, nor the rich that is foolish, to be had in admiration.

24 As the vapour and smoke out of the chimney goeth before the fire, so euil words [redne] and threatenings goe before bloodshedding.

25 I will not be ashamed to defend a friend: neither will I hide my selfe from him, though he should doe me harme: whosoener heareth it, shall beware of him.

26 Who shall set a watch before my mouth, and a seale of wisdom vpon my lips, that I fall not suddenly by them, and that my tongue destroy me not?

CHAP. XXIII.

1 A prayer of the author. 13 Of other, blasphemie and vnwise communication. 16 Of other, kindes of sinnes. 23 Many sinnes proceede of adultery. 27 Of the feare of God.

O Lord, father and gouernour of all my whole life, I beseeche not to their counsell, and let me not fall by // them.

Or, my lips.

2 Who will correct my thought, and put the doctrine of wisdom in mine heart, that they may not haue me in mine ignorance, neither let // their faulces passe?

That is, of the tongue and lips.

3 Let mine ignorance encrease, and my sinnes abound to my destruction, and let I fall before mine aduersary, and mine enemies reioyce ouer mee, whose hope is false from thy mercie.

4 O Lord, father and God of my life, I beseech me not in their imagination [neither] giue mee a proud looke, but turne away from thy sinners a stout minde.

5 Take from mee bauble hope, and conceit, and retain him in obedience, that he reuereth continually to thee, O Lord.

6 Let not the greedinesse of the belly, nor lust of the flesh hold me, and giue not me the seruage ouer into an impudent minde.

7 O Lord, O Lord, the instruction of a mouth that shall speake truth: who so keepeth it, shall not perishe through his lips, [nor] be hurt by wicked workers.

8 The sinners shall be taken by his owne lips: for the small speake and the proud doe offend by them.

Exod. 20. 7.

one: [for thou shalt not be unpunished for such things.]

10 For as a servant which is oft punished, cannot be without some fault, so he that sweareth, and nameth God continually, shall not be faultlesse.

11 A man that useth much swearing, shall be filled with wickedness, and the plague shall neuer go from his house: when he shall offend, his fault shall be upon him, and if he knowledg not his sinne, he maketh a double offence: and if hee sweare in vaine, hee shall not be innocent, but his house shall be full of plagues.

12 There is a word which is clothed with death: God grant that it be not found in the heritage of Jacob: but they that feare God, eschew all such and are not wrapped in sinne.

13 Ke not thy mouth to ignorance rashnes: for therein is the occasion of sinne.

14 Remember thy father and thy mother when thou art set among great men, lest thou be forgotten in thy sight, and so through thy custom become a foole, and with that thou hadst not been hoine, and curse the day of thy natiuitie.

15 A man that is accustomed to opprobrious wordes, will neuer be reformed all the dayes of his life.

16 There are two sorts [of men] that abound in sinne, and the third bringeth warch [and destruction]: a minde hot as fire that cannot be quenched, till it be consumed: an adulterous man that queth his body no rest, till he haue kindled a fire.

17 All bread is sweete to a whoremonger: he will not leave off till he perish.

1/a. 19. 15.

18 A man that breaketh wedlocke, and thinketh thus in his heart, "Who seeth mee? I am compassed about with darkness: the walles couer me: no body seeth mee: whom need I to feare?" the most high will not remember my sinnes.

19 Such a man only feareth the eyes of men, and knoweth not that the eyes of the Lord are ten thousand times brighter then the sunne, beholding all the wayes of men, [and the ground of the deepe,] and conuidereth the most secret parts.

20 Hee knoweth all things: neuer they were made, and after they be brought to passe also, hee looketh vpon them all.

22 And thus shall it goe also with every wife that leaueth her husband, and getteth inheritance by another.

Ezra. 10. 14.

23 For first hee hath disobeyed the Law of the most high, and secondly hee hath trespassed against her owne husband, and thirdly, hee hath played the whore in adultery, and gotten her children by another man.

24 Shee shall be brought out into the Congregation, and examination shall be made of her children.

25 Her children shall not take roote, and her branches shall bring forth no fruit.

26 A shamefull report shall shee leaue, and her reproch shall not be put out.

27 And they that remaine, shall know that there is nothing better then y^e feare of the Lord, and that there is nothing sweeter then to take heed vnto the commandmentes of the Lord.

28 It is great glory to follow the Lord, and to be receiued of him is long life.

CHAP. XXIIII.

1 A prayer of wisdomes proceeding forth of the mouth of God, & of her wises and places where shee resteth, 20 She is giuen to the children of God.

W Isteome shall praise her selfe, [and be honoured in God,] and exioyce in the midst of her people.

2 In the congregation of the most high shall shee open her mouth, and triumph before his power.

3 [In the midst of her people shall shee be exalted, and wondered at in the holy assembly.]

4 In the multitude of the chosen shee shall be commended, and among such as be blessed, shee shall be prayed, and shall say,

5 I am come out of the mouth of the most high, [first borne before all creatures.]

6 I caused the light that faileth not, to arise in the heauen, [and couered the earth as a cloude.]

7 My dwelling is above in the height, and my throne is in the pillar of the cloude.

8 I alone haue gone round about the compass of heauen, and haue walked in the bottome of the deepe.

9 I possessed the manes of the sea, and all the earth, and all people, and nations [and with my power haue I troden downe the hearts of all, both high and lowe.]

10 In all these things I sought rest, and a dwelling in some inheritance.

11 So the Creator of all things gaue mee a commandment, and he that made mee appointed me a tabernacle, and sayd, Let thy dwelling be in Jacob, and take thine inheritance in Israel, and roote thy selfe among my chosen.

12 Hee created me from the beginning, and before the world, and I shall neuer faile: In the holy habitation haue I trusted before him, and so was I stablished in Zion.

13 In the welbeloued citie gaue hee me rest, and in Ierusalem was my power.

14 I tooke roote in an honourable people, euen in the portion of the Lords inheritance.

15 I amler by on his like as cedar in Libanus, and as a Cypres tree vpon the mountaines of Hermon.

16 I am exalted like a palme tree [about the banks, and as a rose plant in Iericho], as a faire olive tree in a pleasant field, and am exalted as a plane tree by the water.

17 I smelled as the cinamom, and as a bag of spices: I gaue a sweete odour as the best myrrhe, as Galbanum, and onir, and sweete storax, and perfume of incense in an house.

18 As the Cerebinth, haue I streched out my branches, and my branches are the branches of honour and grace.

19 As the vine haue I brought forth [fruit] of sweete labour, and my flowers are the fruit of honour and riches.

20 I am the mother of beautifull loue, and

1 Of three things which please God, and of three which hee hateth. 7 Of nine things that bee nys to be suffered. 14 Of the malice of a woman.

Three things please me, and by them am I bramished before God and men: * the wisdom of children, the loue of neighbours, a man and wife that agree together.

Gen. 13. 3. 5.
rem. 13. 10.

2 [Three sort of men my soule hateth, and I bitterly abhorre the life of them: a poore man that is proud, a rich man that is a lyar, and an old adulterer that doeth.

3 [If thou hast gathered nothing in thy youth, what canst thou finde in thine age?

4 [Oh how please me a thing: is it when gray headed men minister iudgement, and when the Elders can giue good counsell.]

5 Oh, how comely a thing is wisdom vnto aged men, and vnderstanding and prudence to men of honour!

6 The crowne of olde men, is to haue much experience, and the feare of God is their glorie.

7 [There be nine things, which I haue iudged in mine heart to be happy, and the tenth will I pronounce with my tongue: a man that while hee liueth, hath loy of his children, and feareth the fall of his enemies.]

that speaketh in the eares of them I will heare.

11 The feare of the Lord passeth all things in cleauesse.

12 [Blessed is th man vnto whom it is granted to haue the feare of God.] Vnto whom shall he be likened that hath attained it?

13 The feare of the Lord is the beginning of his loue, and faith is the beginning to be ioynd fult of the heart, and the greatest malice is the of the heart, and any malice, saue the malice of a woman:

hate, or any vengeance, saue the vengeance of the enemie.

17 There is not a more wicked head then the CHAP. XXVI.

1 The praise of a good woman. 5 Of the fears of thine things, and of the fourth. 6 Of the jealous and drunken woman. 2. 9 Of two things that cause sorrow, and of the third which rejoiceth with.

Blessed is the man that hath a virtuous wife:
For the number of his yeeres shall be double.

2 An honest woman rejoyceth her husband, and she shall fill the yeeres of his life with peace.

3 A virtuous woman is a good portion, which shall be given for a gift unto such as feare
the Lord.

4 Whether a man be rich or poore, hee hath a good heart to ward the Lord, and they shall at all times have a cheerful countenance.

5 There bee three things that mine heart feareth, and my face is afraid of the fourth: reason in a city, the assembly of the people, and false accusation: all these are heavier then death.

6 But the sorrow and griefe of the heart is a woman that is jealous over another: and shee that commureth with all is a scourge of the tongue.

7 A newell wife is as an yoke of oren that draweth divers wayes: he that hath her, is as though he held a scorpion.

8 A drunken woman, and such as cannot be tamed, is a great plague: for shee cannot cover her owne shame.

9 The whoredome of a woman may be knowen in the pride of her eyes, and eyelids.

Chap. 42. 11.

10 If thy daughter be not shamefast, hold her straitly, lest she abuse her selfe through over-much liberty.

11 Take heed of her that hath an unshame-fast eye: and marvaile not if she trespass against thee.

12 As one that goeth by the way, and is chis-tic, so shall she open her mouth, and drinke of eu-ery next water: by every hedge shall she sit downe, and open her quiver against every arrow.

13 The grace of a wife rejoyceth her husband, and feedeth his bones with her understanding.

14 The peaceable woman, and of a good heart, is a gift of the Lord, & there is nothing so much worth as a woman well instructed.

15 A shamefast and faithfull woman is a double grace, and there is no waight to be compared unto her continent mind.

16 As the sunne when it ariseth in the high places of the Lord, so is the beautie of a good wife the ornament of her house.

17 As the cleare light is upon the holy candleske, so is the beautie of the face in a ripe age.

18 As the golden pillars are upon the sockets of silver: so are faire feet with a constant minde.

19 [Perpetuall are the foundations that be laid upon a strong rock: so are the commandements of GOD in the heart of an holy woman.]

20 By kinde, keepe the strenght of thine age stable, and give not thy strenght to strangers.

21 When thou hast gotten a fruitfull possession: thou to all the fields, low it with thine own seed, trusting in thy nobilitie.

22 So thy stocke that shall live after thee, shall growe, trusting in the great liberalitie of their nobilitie.

23 An harlot is compared to a towre: but the wife that is married, is counted as a towre against death to her husband.

24 A wicked woman is given as a reward to a wicked man: but a goodly woman is given to him that feareth the Lord.

25 A shamelesse woman contemneth shame:
but a shamefast woman will reuerence her husband.

26 A shamelesse woman is compared to a dogge: but she that is shamefast, reuerenceth the Lord.

27 A woman that honoureth her husband, shall be indged wife of all: but she that despiseth him, shall be blazed for her pride.

28 A loud crying woman is a babler, let her be sought out to drive away the enemies: the minde of every man that lieth with such, shall be commuted among the troubles of warre.

29 There bee two things that grieve mine heart, and the third maketh mee angry: a man of warre that suffereth ponertie: and men of understanding that are not set by: and when one departeth from righteousness into sinne: the Lord appointeth such to the wood.

30 [There bee two things which mee thinke to be hard and perillous.] a merchant cannot lightly keepe him from wrong, and a bitaller is not without sinne.

CHAP. XXVII.

1 Of the poore that would be rich. 5 The probation of the man that feareth God. 13 The unconstantie of a soule. 16 The secrets of friends are not so best veiled 26 The wicked imagineth evils which turneth upon himselfe.

Because of ponertie haue many sinned: and because that seeketh to be rich, turneth his eyes aside.

Pran. 23. 4.
1. sim. 6. 4.

2 As a nails in the wal sticke fast betweene the topes of the stones, so doth sinne sticke betweene the selling and the buying.

3 If bee hold him not diligently in the feare of the Lord, his house shall soone bee overthrowen.

4 As when one sleepe, the sleeplesse remaineth in the feare, so the sleep of man remaineth in his thought.

5 The fornicer prooveth the porters' befall:
so doth [temptation] eris mens thoughts.

Pran. 27. 11.
Math. 5. 17.

6 The fruit declareth if the tree haue bene trimmed: so the word [declareth] what man hath in his heart.

7 Braile no man except thou haue heard his talk: for this is the trial of men.

8 ¶ If thou followest righteousness, thou shalt get her, and put her on as a faire garment, [and shall dwell with her, and shee shall defend thee for ever: and in the day of knowledge thou shalt find steadfastness.]

9 ¶ He bids rejoyce unto their like: so doeth the truth turne vnto them that are practised in Romber.

10 As the lion waiteth for the beast, so doeth sinne vpon them that doe euill.

11 ¶ The talking of him that feareth God, is all wisdom: as for a foole, hee changeth as the Moone.

12 If thou be among the indiscreet, obserue the time, but haunt still the assembly of them that are wile.

13 ¶ The talking of foolies is grievous, and their way is to the pleasure of sinne.

14 ¶ The talke of him that sweareth much, maketh the haire to stand vp: and so sinne with such, toppeth the eares. Chap. 11, 9.

15 ¶ The strike of the proud is bloodshedding, and their soundings are grievous to heare.

16 ¶ Who so discovereth secrets, looseth his credit, and findeth no friend after his will. Chap. 19, 10.

17 Love thy friend, and be faithful vnto him: but if thou betrayest his secrets, thou shalt not get him againe.

18 For as a man destroyeth his enemy, so doeth hee destroy the friendship of thy neighbour.

19 As one that letereth a blade goe out of his hand, so if thou giue ouer thy friend, thou canst not get him againe.

20 Follow after him no more, for hee is too farr off: he is as a roe escaped out of the snare: [for his soule is wounded.]

21 As for wounds they may be bound up againe: and an euill word may be reconciled, but who so betrayeth the secrets of a friend, hath lost all his credit.

22 ¶ Hee that winketh with the eyes, imagineth euill: and hee that knoweth him, will let him alone. Pro. 10, 10.

23 When thou art present, hee will speake sweetly, and praise thy words: but at the last he will turne his talke, and slander thy saying.

24 Many things haue I hated, but nothing so euill as such a one: for the Lord also hateth him.

25 Who so casteth a stone on high, casteth it vpon his owne head: and hee that smiteth with guile, maketh a great wound.

26 Who so diggeth a pit, shall fall therein, [and hee that layeth a stone in his neighbours way shall stumble thereon.] and hee that layeth a snare for another, shall be taken in it himselfe. Ps. 115, 17.

27 He that winketh euill, shall be wrapped in euill, and shal not know from whence they come vnto him. Ps. 115, 17.

28 Mockerie and reproch follow the proude, and vengeance lurketh for them as a lion.

29 They that reioyce at the fall of the righteous shalbe taken in the snare, and anguish shall consume them before they die.

30 Despise and anger are abominable things, and the sinfull man is subiect to them both. Ps. 115, 17.

CHAP. XXVIII.

¶ We ought not to desire vengeance, but to forgive the offender. ¶ Of the vices of the tongue, and of the dangers thereof.

H ¶ That seeketh vengeance, shall find vengeance of the Lord, and he will surely keepe his finnes. Deut. 32, 35.

2 ¶ Forgine thy neighbour the hurt that hee hath done to thee, so shalt thy finnes be forgiven thee also when thou prayest. Rom. 12, 19.

3 ¶ Should a man hate hatred against man, and desire forgiveness of the Lord?

4 ¶ Wee will shew no mercy to a man, which is like himselfe: and will bee like forgiveness of his owne finnes. Man ought not to seek vengeance.

5 ¶ If hee that is but flesh, nourish hatred, [can alke pardon of God,] who will intreat for his finnes?

6 Remember the end, and let minisies passe: imagine not death and destruction to another through anger, but perseuer in the commandments.

7 Remember the commandments: so shalt thou not bee rigorous against thy neighbour: [consider diligently] the Couenant of the most high, and forgine his ignorance.

8 ¶ Beware of strife, and thou shalt make thy finnes fewer: for an angry man kindleth strife. Chap. 3, 1.

9 And the sinfull man disquieteth friends, and hungereth in false accusations among them that be at peace.

10 ¶ As the matter of the fire is, so it burneth, and mans anger is according to his power: and according to his riches his anger increaseth, and the more vehement the anger is, the more is hee inflamed. Prov. 26, 27.

11 An halfe handling kindleth a fire, and an halfe fighting sheddeth blood: [a tongue that beareth false witness, bringeth death.]

12 If thou blow the spark, it shall burne: if thou spit vpon it, it shall be quenched, and both these come out of the mouth. † The tongue, Chap. 31, 28.

13 ¶ I abhorre the slanderer and double tongued: for hee hath destroyed many that were at peace.

14 The noble tongue hath disquieted many, & driven them from nation to nation: strong cities hath it broken downe, & overthrowen the house of great men: [the strength of the people hath it brought downe, and bene the decay of mighty nations.]

15 The double tongue hath cast out many vertuous women, and robbed them of their labours.

16 Who so hearkeneth vnto it, shall neuer finde rest, and neuer dwell quietly.

17 The stroke of the rod maketh markes in the flesh, but the stroke of the tongue breaketh the bones.

18 There be many that haue perished by the edge of the sword, but not so many as haue fallen by the tongue.

19 Well is him that is kept from an euill tongue, and cometh not in the anger thereof, which hath not dwelt in that pike, neither hath bene bound in the bands thereof.

20 For the yoke thereof is a yoke of yron, and the bands of it are bands of brass.

21 The death thereof is an euill death: hell were better then such one.

22 It shal not haue rule ouer them that feare God, neither shal they be burnt with the flames thereof.

23 Such as forsake the Lord, shal forsake him: ¶

a That is, the tongue which laich, and vnfaith, or speakech one thing, and thinketh another. Or, the tongue which keepeth neither out of the new or old Testament, but of their own braine.

and it shall burne them, and no man shall be able to quench it: it shall fall upon them as a lion, and deuoure them as a leopard.

24 Hedge thy possession with thornes, and make doores and barres for thy mouth.

25 Binde up thy silver and gold, and weigh thy words in a Balance, and make a doore and a barre, [and a sure handle] for thy mouth.

26 Beware that thou slide not by it, and so fall before him that lieth in wait, [and thy fall be incurable, even vnto death.]

CHAP. XXIX.

1 Doe lend money, and doe almes, 15 Of a faithfull man answering for his friend, 25 The poore mans life.

† Of well-doing, Dem. 15, 7, 8. mat. 5, 42. Luke 6, 35.

H E that will shew mercie, † lendeth to his neighbour: and hee that hath power ouer himselfe, keepeth the commandments.

2 Lend to thy neighbour in time of his need, and pay thou thy neighbour againe in due season.

3 Keepe thy word, and deale faithfully with him, and thou shalt find the thing that is necessary for thee.

4 Many when a thing was lent them, reckoned it to be found, and grieved them that had helped them.

5 Till they receive, they kisse his hands, and for their neighbours good they humble their voice: but when they should pay againe, they prolong the terme, and giue a carelesse answer, and make excuses by reason of the time.

6 And though he be able, yet giueth he scarce the halfe againe, and reckoneth the other as a thing found: els he becometh him of his money, and maketh him an enemy without cause: hee payeth him with curling and rebuke, and giueth him euill words for his good deede.

7 There be many which refuse to lend because of this inconuenience, fearing to bee defrauded without cause.

8 Per haue thou patience with him that humbleth himselfe, and deferre not mercy from him.

9 Helpe the poore for the commandments sake, and turne him not away, because of his poverty.

10 Lose thy money for thy brothers and neighbours sake, and let it not rest vnder a stone to thy destruction.

11 Bestow the treasure after the commandment of the most high, and it shall bring thee more profit then gold.

12 Lay up thine almes in thy secret chambers, and it shall keepe thee from all affliction.

13 A mans almes is as a purle with him, and shall keepe a mans fauour as the apple of the eye, and afterward shall it arise, and pay ruerly man his reward vpon his head.

14 It shall fight for thee against thine enemies, better then the shield of a strong man, or speare of the mightie.

15 An honest man is † suretie for his neighbour: but he that is impudent, forsaketh him.

16 Forget not the friendship of thy suretie: for he hath laid his life for thee.

17 The wicked despiseth the good deede of his suretie.

18 The wicked will not become suretie: and hee that is of an vnthankfull minde, forsaketh him that hath deliuered him.

19 Some man promised for his neighbour: and when he hath lost his honestie, he will forsake him.

20 Suretieship hath destroyed many a rich man, and remooued them as the waves of the sea: mighty men hath it diuen away from their houses, and caused them to wander among strange nations.

21 A wicked man transgressing the commandments of the Lord, shall fall into suretieship: and he that medleth much with other mens businesse, is intangled in controuersies.

22 Helpe thy neighbour according to thy power, and beware that thou thy selfe fall not.

23 The chiefe thing of life is water, and bread, and lodging: to couer thy shame.

24 The poore mans life in his owne lodge, is better then delicate fare in another mans.

25 Be it little or much, hold thee contented, that the house speake not euill of thee.

26 For it is a miserable life to goe from house to house: where thou art a stranger, thou darst not open thy mouth.

27 Thou shalt lodge and feed vnthankfull men, and after shalt haue bitter words for the same, saying,

28 Come, thou stranger, and prepare the table, and feed me of that thou hast ready.

29 Give place, thou stranger, to an honourable man: my brother cometh to be lodged, and I haue need of mine house.

30 These things are heauy to a man that hath vnderstanding, the vpholding of the house, and the reproch of the lender.

CHAP. XXX.

1 Of the correction of children, 14 Of the commoditie of health, 17 Death is better then a sorrowfull life, 22 Of the ioy and sorrow of the heart.

H E that loveth his soune, causeth him oft to feele the rod, that he may haue ioy of him in the ende.

2 He that chastiseth his soune, shall haue ioy in him, and shall reioyce of him among his acquaintance.

3 Hee that teacheth his soune, grievedeth the enemy, and before his friends hee shall reioyce of him.

4 Though his father die, yet is he as though he were not dead: for he hath left one to helpe him that is like him.

5 In his life he saw him, and had toy in him, and was not sorry in his death, [neither was hee ashamed before his enemies.]

6 He left behind him an auenger against his enemies, and one that should shew fauour vnto his friends.

7 He that flattered his sonne, bindeth by his wounds, and his heart is grieved at euery cry.

8 An vntrained boye will be stubborne, and a wanton child will be willfull.

9 If thou bring up thy soune delicately, hee shall make thee afraide: and if thou play with him, he will bring thee to shame.

10 Laugh not with him, least thou be soyle with him, and lest thou gaine thy reer in the ende.

CHAP. XXXIII.

Of dreames. 13 The praise of them that feare God.
18 The offerings of the wicked. 23 The bread of the meane. 27 God doth not allow the works of an vnfaithfull man.

The hope of a foolish man is vaine and false, and dreames make fooles to haue wings.

2 Altho so regardeth dreames, is like him that will take hold of a shadow, and follow after the wile.

3 Euen so is it with y^e appearings of dreames, as the likenesse of a face to before another face.

4 Altho can bee cleansed by the vncleane: or what trust can be spoken of a spar?

5 Good playings, with craft, and dreaming, is but vaine, and a mind that is occupied with fantasies, is as a woman that traualleth.

6 Althas such visions come not of the most high to try thee, let not thine heart vpon them.

7 For dreames haue deceived many, and they haue failed: that put their trust therein.

8 Behold shalbe fulfilled without lies, and wisdom is sufficient to a faithful mouth: what knowledg hath hee that is not tryed?

9 A man that is instructed, vnderstandeth much, and hee that hath good experience, can talke of wisdom.

10 He that hath no experience, knoweth litle, and hee that receiveth is full of craft.

11 Altho I wandred to and fro, I saw many things, and mine vnderstanding is greater then I can expresse.

12 I was oft times in danger of death, yet I was deliuered by these things.

13 If the spirit of holie that feare the Lord, shall live: for this hope is in him that can helpe them.

14 Altho so I feareth the Lord, feareth no man, neither is afraid of he is his hope.

15 Blessed is the soule of him that feareth the Lord: in whom putteth he his trust: who is his strength?

16 For the eyes of the Lord haue respect vnto them that loue him: he is their mighty protection, and strong ground, a defence from the heare, and a shadow for the noone day, a succour from stumbling, and an helpe from falling.

17 He feareth vpon the soule, and lighteneth the eyes: he giveth health, life, and blessing.

18 He that giveth an offering of vniuersal trous goods, offereth a mocking sacrifice, and the gifts of the vniuersal please not him.

19 But the Lord is rich in mercy, that patiently abide him in the way of rectitude and righteousness.

20 The most high doth not allow the offerings of the wicked, neither is he pacified for sinne by the multitude of sacrifice.

21 Altho so bringeth an offering of the goods of the poore, both as one that sacrificeth the sonne before the fathers eyes.

22 He depend of the needfull to the life of the poore: hee that defraudeth him thereof, is a murderer.

23 He that taketh away his neighbours living, slayeth him, and hee that defraudeth the labourer of his hire, is a bloodshedder.

24 Altho one buildeth y^e another by craft downe, what profit haue they then but labour?

25 Altho one prayeth, and another curseth, whose voyce will the Lord heare?

26 Hee that washeth himselfe because of a dead body, and toucheth it againe, what smaller his washing?

27 So is it with a man that fasteth for his sinnes, and committeth them againe, who will heare his prayer: for what doeth his fasting helpe him?

CHAP. XXXV.

Of true sacrifices. 14 The prayer of the fatherlesse, and of the widow, and how that humblyeth himselfe.

Who so keepeth y^e Law, bringeth offerings know: hee that holdeth fast the commandments, offereth an offering of salvation.

2 Hee that is thankfull to them that haue well deserved, offereth fine flower: and hee that giveth almes, sacrificeth praise.

3 To depart from euill, is a thankfull thing to the Lord, and to forsake vniuersal conduct, is a reconciling vnto him.

4 Thou shalt not appeare empty before the Lord.

5 For all these things are done because of the commandment.

6 The offering of the righteous maketh the altar fat, and the smell thereof is sweet before the most high.

7 The sacrifice of the righteous is acceptable, and the remembrance thereof shall neuer bee forgotten.

8 Since the Lord his honor with a good and liberall eye, and diminisheth not the first fruits of thine hands.

9 In all thy gifts shew a thankful countenance, and dedicate thy riches with gladnesse.

10 Be vnto the most high, according as hee hath enriched thee, and looke what thine hand is able, giue with a cheerful eye.

11 For the Lord recompenseth, and will giue thee ten times as much.

12 Diminish mocking of thine offering: for hee will not receive it, and abstaine from vniuersal sacrifices for the Lord is the Judge and regardeth no mans person.

13 Wee accepteth not the person of the poore, but he heareth the prayer of the oppressed.

14 Wee despise not the desire of the meanelesse nor the widow, when she prayeth, and her prayer.

15 Dost not the earres eume downe the wi-dowes cheekes and her cheere is against him that 16 Whiche feareth the Lord shalbe accepted with fauour, and his prayer shall reach vnto the clouds.

17 The prayer of him that humbleth himselfe, goeth throum the cloudes, and ceaseth not till it come meete, & will not depart till the most high haue respect thereunto to iudge righteously, and to execute iudgement.

18 And the Lord will not be slacke, nor the Almighty will tary long from them, till he hath smiten in funder the loynes of the vnnmercifull, and aungier, himselfe of the heathen, till he haue taken away the multitude of the cruell, & broken the scepter of the mightie ones, till he giue euery man after his workes, and reward them after their desires, till he haue iudged the cause of his people, and comforted them with his mercy.

19 Whom faire a thing is mercy in the time of angrie and trouble! It is like a cloud of raine that cometh in the time of drought.

20 A froward heart bringeth griefe, but a man of experience will resist it.

21 A woman is apt to receiue euery man: yet is one daughter better then another.

22 The beauty of a woman cheereth the face, and a man loueth nothing better.

23 If there be in her tongue gentlenesse, meekenesse, and wholesome talke, then is not her husband like other men.

man, hath begun to get a possession: there is an helpe like vnto himselfe, and a pillar to rest vpon.

25 Where no hedge is, there the possession is spoiled: and he that hath no wife, wandereth to and fro mourning.

26 Who will sell a chiefe that is alway ready, and wandereth from towne to towne: and likewise him that hath no rest, and lodgeth wherever the night taketh him.

CHAP. XXXVII.

1 How a man should know friends and counsellors. 13
To keepe his company that flourisheth God.

Every friend saith, † I am a friend vnto him [also]: but there is some friend, which is only a friend in name.

† Of friendship.

2 Remaينeth not there beauntes vnto death, when a companion and friend is turned to an e-nemie?

3 O wicked presumption, from whence art thou sprung up to couer the earth with deceit?

4 There is some companion which in wonesprie reioyeth with himselfe: but in the time of trouble he is against him.

1 Sam. 1. 14.

5 There is some companion that helpeth his friend for the bellies sake, and saileth vp the backe against the enemy.

6 For get not thy friend in thy mind, and thinke vpon him in thy riches.

7 Seeke † no counsellor of him of whom thou art suspected, and discusst not thy counsell vnto such as hate thee.

† Of whom we should take counsell [Chap. 3. 17
and 9. 16]

8 Every counsellor passeth his owne counsell: but there is some that counselleth for himselfe.

9 Beware of the counsellor, and he aduised atope! whereto thou wilt use him: for he will counsell for himselfe, lest he call the los vpon thee.

10 And say vnto thee, Thy way is good, and afterward he stand against thee, and looke what shall become of thee.

† Of what we should be beware

11 [Is he no counsellor for religion of him that is without religion, nor of iudice, of him that hath no iudice, nor of a woman touching her

her of whom thee is feious, nor of a coward in matters of warre, nor of a merchant concerning exchanging, nor of a buyer for the sale, nor of an envious man touching thankfulness, nor of the unmercifull touching kindness, [nor of an dishonest man of honestie] nor of the flourishfull for any labour, nor of an hireling for the finishing of a worke, nor of an idle servant for much basinesse: hearken not vnto these in any matter of counsell.

12 But bee continuall with a godly man whom thou knowest to keepe the commandments of the Lord, whose minde is according to thy minde, and is sayre for thee when thou stumblis.

13 Take counsell of thine owne heart: for there is no man more saydfull vnto thee, then it.

14 For a mans minde is sometime more accustomed to heare more then seuen watchmen that sit aboue in an high towre.

15 And adoue all this pray to the most high: that he will direct thy way in truth.

16 Let reason goe before euery enterpryse, and counsell before encircacion.

17 ¶ The changinge of the countenance is a signe of the changinge of the heart: foure things appeare, good and euill, life and death, but the tongue hath enuoyre the gouernement ouer them.

18 ¶ Some man is witlike, and hath instructed many, and yet is vnprofitable vnto himselfe.

19 Some man will be wise in words, and is hated, yea, he is destitute of all good.

20 Becausc grace is not giuen him of the Lord: for he is destitute of all well-doing.

21 Another is wise for himselfe, and the fruits of vnderstandinge are saydfull in his mouth.

22 A wise man instructeth his people, and the fruites of his wisdoms faile not.

23 A wise man shall bee plenteously blessed, and all they that see him, shall thinke him blessed.

24 The life of man standeth in the number of dayes: but the dayes of Israel are innumerable.

25 A wise man shall obtaine credite among his people, and his name shall be perpetual.

26 By some, pouer thy soule in thy life, and see what is euill for it, and permit it not to doe it.

27 For all things are not profitable for all men, neither hath euery soule pleasure in euery thing.

28 Bee not greedy in all delights, and bee not too hasty vpon all maces.

29 ¶ For excess of meates bringeth sickness, and gluttony commeth into cholericke diseases.

30 By surfeit haue many perished: but he that dieteth himselfe, prolongeth his life.

CHAP. XXXVIII.

1 A Physician is commendable, 16 To bury the dead, 24 The wisdoms of him that is learned.

Honour the Physician with that hono: that is due vnto him, because of necessitie: for the Lord hath created him.

2 For of the most high commeth healing, and he shall receiue gifts of the king.

3 The knowledge of the Physician listeth by his head, and in the sight of great men hee shall bee in admiration.

4 The Lord hath created medicines of the earth, and hee that is wise, will not abhorre them.

5 Was not the water made sweete with wood, that men might knowe the vertue thereof?

6 So he hath giuen men knowledge, that he might bee glorified in his wonderful workes.

7 Such such doth hee heale men, and salet away their paines.

8 Of such doth the Apothecary make a correction, & yet hee cannot finish his owne wayes: for of the Lord commeth prosperitie and wealth ouer all the earth.

9 By some, saile not in thy sickness, but pray vnto the Lord, and he will make thee whole.

10 Waite off from sinne, & order thine hands, and cleanse thine heart from all wickednes.

11 Offer sweete incense, and fine flour for a remembrance: make the offering fat, for thou art not the first giuer.

12 Then giue place to the Physician: for the Lord hath created him: let him not goe from thee, for thou hast need of him.

13 The better may come, that their enterprises may haue good successe.

14 For they also shall pray vnto the Lord, that hee would prosper that, which is giuen for ease, and their supplics for the prolonging of life.

15 Bee that smiteth before his maker, let him fall into the hands of the Physician.

16 By some, pouer fourth teares ouer the dead, & begin to mourne, as if thou haddest suffered great harme thy selfe, and then couer his body according to his appointment, and neglect not his buriall.

17 Make a grievous lamentation, & bee earnest in mourning, and be lamentation, as hee is worthy, and that a day or two, least thou be euill spoken of, and then comfort thy selfe for thine heavinesse.

18 ¶ For of beautinesse commeth death, & the beautinesse of the heart breaketh the strenght.

19 Of the affection of the heart commeth sorrow, and the life of him that is afflicted, is according to his heart.

20 Take no heavinesse to heart: dyne it away and remember the last end.

21 Forget it not: for there is no turning againe: thou shalt doe him no good but hurt thy selfe.

22 Remember his iudgement: that also shall be likewise, vnto our yesterday, and vnto this day.

23 ¶ Seeing the dead is at rest, let his remembrance rest, and comfort thy selfe againe for him, when his spirit is departed from him.

24 ¶ The wisdoms of a selected man commeth by viling well his vacante time: and hee that ceaseth from his owne matters and labours, may come by wisdoms.

25 How can hee get wisdoms that holdeth the plough, and hee that hath pleasure in the good, and in playinge often, and is occupied in their labours, how talketh hee of the byrde of bullockes?

26 He sturth his minde to make suerobes, and is diligent to gine the kine fodder.

27 So is it of eury carpenter, and worke-maister that labourerh night and day: and they that cut and graue scales, and make sundry diuersities, and giue themselves to conuocitee inuagrie, and watch to performe the worke.

28 The Smith in like mane: abdoeth by his anuill and doth his diligence to labour the yron: the vapour of the fire drieth his flesh, and he must fight with the heate of the foynace: the noise of the hammer is euer in his eares, & his eyes looke still vpon the thing that hee maketh: hee sercher his minde to make vp his workes: therefore he watcheth to polish it perfectly.

29 So doth the potter sit by his worke: hee turneth the wheele about with his feete: hee is carefull alway at his worke, and maketh his worke by number.

30 He fashioneth the clay with his arme, and with his feete he conuertyth the hardnesse thereof: his heart imagineth how two cover it with leade, and his diligence is to cleanse the urn.

31 All these hope in their bandes, and eury one bestoweth his wilddome in his worke.

32 Without these cannot the cities be maintained, nor in habited nor occupied.

33 And yet they are not asked their iudgement in the counsell of the people, neither are they hit in the congregation, neither sit they vpon the iudgement seates, nor vnderstand the order of iustice: they cannot declare matters according to the forme of the Law, and they are not wete for hard matters.

34 But they maintain the state of the world, and their desire is concerning their workes and occupation.

CHAP. XXXIX.

1 A wise man, 16 The workes of God, 24 Vnto the good, good things profite, but vnto the euill, euill things are euill.

How only that applyeth his minde to the Law of the most High, and is occupied in the meditation thereof, seeketh out the || wilddome of all the ancient, and exerciseth himselfe in the prophesies.

2 Hee keepeth the sayings of famous men, and carerth in also to the lectures of darke sentences.

3 He seeketh out the mysterie of graue sentences, and exerciseth himselfe in darke parables.

4 He shall seene among great men, and appeare before the prince: he shall trauaile through strange countreies: for hee hath tryed the good and the euill among men.

5 He will giue his heart to resort early vnto the Lord that made him, and to pray before the most High, and will open his mouth in prayer, and pray for his finnes.

6 When the great Lord will, he shall be filled with the Spirit of vnderstanding, that hee may proue out wise sentences, and giue thanks vnto the Lord in his prayer.

7 || Hee shall direct his counsell and knowledge: so shall he meditate in his secrets.

8 Hee shall stude forth his science and learning, and enjoyce in the Law and couenant of the Lord.

9 Many shall commend his vnderstanding, and his minde shall neuer be put out, nor depart away: but his name shall continue from generation to generation.

10 The congregation shall declare his wisdom, and shew it. chap. 44. 11

11 Though he be dead, hee shall leaue a greater fame then a thowland: and if hee liue still, hee shall get the fame.

12 Yet will I speake of most things: for I am full as the moone.

13 Hearken vnto mee, ye holy children, and bring forth fruite as the rose that is planted by the brookes of the filds,

14 And giue ye a sweet smell as || incense, and bring forth flowers as the lillie: giue a smell, and sing a song of praise: bleste be the Lord in all his workes. || Or, Liban.

15 Giue honour vnto his name, and shew forth his praise with the songs of your lippes, and with harpes, and pee shall say after this manner.

16 All the workes of the Lord are exceeding good, and all his commandements are done in due season. Gra. 1. 34. mar. 7. 37.

17 And none may say, What is this, wherefore is that: for at thine conuenient, they shall all bee fought out: at his commandement the water stood as an heape, and at the word of his mouth the waters gathered themselves.

18 His whole fauour appeared by his commandement, and none can diminish that which hee will saue.

19 The workes of all flesh are before him, and nothing can be hid from his eyes.

20 Perfecte from euertasting to euertasting, and there is nothing wonderfull vnto him.

21 A man neede not say, What is this: wherefore is that: for hee hath made all things for their owne vle.

22 His blessing shall run ouer as the streame, and mooueth the earth like a flood.

23 As hee hath turned the waters into salt-nesse, so shall the heathen feele his wrath.

24 As his wayes are plaine and right vnto the last, so are they stumbling blocks to the wicked.

25 For ther good are good things created from the beginning, and euill things for the sinners.

26 The principall things for the whole bit of mans life is water, fire, and yron, and salt, and meale, wheate and hony, and milke, the blood of the grape, and oyle, and clothing. chap. 43. 10.

27 All these things are for good to the body: but to the sinners they are turned vnto euill.

28 There be spirits that are created for vengeance, which in their rigour lay on sure strokes: in the time of destruction they shew forth their power, and accomplish the wrath of him that made them.

29 Fire, and haffe, and famine, and death: all these are created for vengeance. chap. 44. 10.

30 The creeth of wilde beastes, & the scorpions, and the serpents, and the thowd execute vengeance for the destruction of the wicked.

31 They shall be glad to doe his commandements: and when need is, they shall be ready vpon earth: and when their houre is come, they shall not ouer passe the commandement.

CHAP. XL.

1 Many miseries in mans life. 14 Of the blessing of the righteous, and prerogative of the fears of God.

1 Hear I travell is created for all men, and an heavie yoke upon the shoulders of Adam from the day that they go out of their mothers wombs till the day that they returne to the mother of all things.

2 Namely, their thoughtes, & fears of the heart, and their imagination of the things they waite for, and the day of death.

3 From him that lieth upon the glorious throne, unto him that is breath in the earth and ashes:

4 From him that is clothed in blue silke, and weareth a crowne, even unto him that is clothed in simple linen.

5 Wrath and enmity, trouble and bitterness, and fears of death, and rigour and strife, and in the time of rest, the sleepe in the night upon his bed, change his knowledge.

6 A little or nothing is his rest, and afterward in sleeping he is as in a watchtowe in the day: he is troubled with the visions of his heart, as one that runneth out of a battell.

7 And when all is safe, he awaketh, and mar-velleth that the fear was nothing.

8 Such things come unto all flesh, both man and beast, but given sold to the begidly.

9 Moreover, death, and blood, and strife, and sword, oppression, famine, destruction, and punishment.

10 These things are all created for the wicked, and for their lakes came the flood also.

11 All things that are of the earth, shall turne to earth againe: and they that are of the waters, shall returne into the sea.

12 All bybes and unrighteousnesse shall be put away: but faithfulness shall endure for ever.

13 The substance of the begidly shall be dypped up like a reuer, and they shall make a sound like a great thunder in the raine.

14 When he openeth his hand, he rejoyceth:
but all the transgressours shall come to nought.

15 The children of the begidly shall not obtaine many branches: for the uncleane roots are as upon the high rocks.

16 Their tender stalks by what water soever it be or water banke, it shall be pulled up before all other herbes.

17 If friendliness be as a most plentiful garden of pleasure, and mercie endureth for ever.

18 To labour and bee content with that a man hath, is a sweet life: but hee that findeth a treasure is above them both.

19 Children, and the building of the city maker, a perpetual name: but an honest woman is counted above them both.

20 Wine and musick reioyce the heart: but the love of wisdom is above them both.

21 The pipe and the plecterion make a sweet noise: but a pleasant tongue is above them both.

22 The eye desireth honour and beauty: but a serene serde time rather then them both.

23 A friend and companion come together at opportunitie: but about them both is a wife with her husband.

24 Friends and helpe are good in the time of trouble: but almes shall define more then them both.

25 Gold and silver fasten the feet: but counsell is esteemed above them both.

26 Riches and strength lift up the mind: but the feare of the Lord is above them both: there is no want in the feare of the Lord, and it needeth no helpe.

27 The feare of the Lord is a pleasant garden of blessing, and there is nothing so beautifull as it is.

28 If some leade not a beggars life: for better it were to die then to begge.

29 The life of him that is pendeth on another mans table, is not to be counted for a life:
for hee commendeth himselfe after other mens meate: but a wise man and well nurtured will beware thereof.

30 Begging is sweet in the mouth of the unshamefast, and in his belly there burneth a fire.

CHAP. XLI.

1 Of the remembrance of death. 3 Death is not to be feared. 8 Advice upon them that forsake the Law of God. 12 Good name and fame. 14 An exhortation to give heed unto wisdom. 17 Of what things a man ought to be ashamed.

1 Death how bitter is the remembrance of thee to a man that lieth at rest in his possessions, unto the man that hath nothing to receive him, and that hath prosperitie in all things: yet, unto him that yet is able to receive meat.

2 Death, how acceptable is the remembrance unto the meek, and unto him whose strength faileth, and that is now in the last age, and is buried with all things, and to him that desper-eth, and hath lost patience.

3 Feare not the iudgement of death, remember them that have bene before thee, and that come after: this is the ordinance of the Lord over all flesh.

4 And why wouldest thou bee against the pleasure of the most High: whether he be ten, or an hundred, or a thousand yeeres, there is no defence for life against the grave.

5 The children of the begidly are abominable children, and so are they that keepe company with the begidly.

6 The inheritance of begidly children shall perish, and their posterity shall have a perpetual shame.

7 The children complaine of an begidly father, because they are reproched for his sake.

8 Alas bee unto you, O ye begidly, which have forsaken the Law of the most High God:
for though you increase, yet shall you perish.

9 If ye be hoine, ye shall be hoine to coming:
if ye be the curse, shall be your portion.

10 All that are of the earth shall turne to earth against.

† Of death.

again: so the ungodly goe from the curse to destruction.

11 Though men mourne for their body, yet the wicked name of the ungodly shall be put out.

12 Have regard to thy name: for that shall continue with thee above a thousand treasures of gold.

13 A good life hath the dayes numbered: but a good name endureth for ever.

14 My children, keepe wisdom in peace: for wisdom that is hid, and a treasure that is not scene, what profit is in them both?

15 A man that hideth his foolishness, is better then a man that hideth his wisdom.

16 Therefore beare reverence unto my words: for it is not good in all things to be ashamed: neither are all things allowed as faithfull in all men.

17 Bee ashamed of whoredome before father and mother, be ashamed of lies before the prince and men of authority:

18 Of sinne before the iudge and ruler: of offence before the congregation and people: of vngiftedness before a companion and friend.

19 And of thirst before the place where thou dwellest, and before the church of God and his Covenant, and to leane with thine elbows upon the // bread, or to be reproved for giuing or taking,

20 And of silence unto them that salute thee, and to looke upon an harlot.

21 And to turne away thy face from the kinsman: or to take away a portion of a gift, or to bee euill minded toward another mans wife.

22 Do not sollicite any mans maid, or to stand by her bedde, or to reproch thy friends with words.

23 Do to thy husband when thou giuest any thing, or to report a matter that thou hast heard, or to reueale secret words.

24 Thus mayest thou well be shamefast, and shalt finde fauour with all men.

CHAP. XLII.

3 The Law of God must bee taught, 9 A daughter, 14 A woman, 18 God knoweth all things, yet, euen the secrets of thine heart.

† In what things we ought not to be ashamed,

Of these things be not thou ashamed, neither haue regard to offend for any person:

2 Of the Law of the most high and his Covenant, and of iudgement to iustifie the godly:

3 Of the cause of thy companion, & of strangers, or of distributing the heritage among friends:

4 To be diligent to keepe true balance, and weight, whether thou haue much or little:

5 To sell merchandise at an indifferent price, and to correct thy children diligently, and to beate an euill seruant to the blood:

6 To set a good locke where an euill wife is, and to locke where many hands are,

7 If thou giue any thing by number, and weight, to put all in waiting, both that that is giuen out, and that that is receiued againe:

8 To reach the vnderlearned, and the vniuersal, and the aged, that contend against the young: thus shalt thou be well instructed, and appoynted of all men living.

9 The daughter // maketh the father to watch secretly, and the carefulness that hee

† Or, is a secret watch to the father, hath hee, taketh away his sleep in the night, lest she should passe the flower of her age: and when she hath an husband, lest she should be hated.

10 In her virginity, lest she should be defiled, or gotten with childe in her fathers house, and, when she is with her husband, lest she misbehave her selfe: and when she is married, lest she continue unfruitfull.

11 If thy daughter bee vnshamefast, keepe her strictly, lest she cause thine enemies to laugh thee to scorn, and make thee a common talker in the cite, and defame thee among the people, and bring thee to publike shame.

12 Behold not euery bodys beantie, and company not among women.

13 For as the moth cometh out of garments: so heeth wickedness of the woman.

14 The wickedness of a man is better then the good treatise of a woman, to wit, of a woman that is in shame and reproch.

15 I will remember the workes of the Lord, and declare the thing that I haue seen: by the word of the Lord are his workes.

16 The Sonne that shineth, looketh upon all things, and all the worke thereof is full of the glory of the Lord.

17 Hath not the Lord appointed that his saints should declare all his wondrous workes, which the Almighty Lord hath established to confirme all things by in his Omnipotence?

18 Hee seeketh out the deep, and the heart, and hee knoweth their practices: for the Lord knoweth all science, and he beholdeth the signes of the world.

19 He declareth the things that are past, and for to come, and discloseth the paths of things that are secret.

20 So thought he may escape him, neither may any woe be hid from him.

21 He hath garnished the excellent workes of his wisdom, and hee is from euerslacking to euerslacking, and for ever: vnto him may nothing be added, neither can hee be diminished: hee hath no neede of any counsellor.

22 Oh, how defecate are all his workes, and to be considered euen vnto the sparkes of fire!

23 They lue all and endure for ever: and whensoever need is, they are all obedient.

24 They are all double one against another: he hath made nothing that hath any fault.

25 The one // commendeth the goodness of the other, and who can bee satisfied with beholding Gods glory?

CHAP. XLIII.

The summe of the creation of the workes of God.

His high ornament // the cleare firmament, the beauty of the heauen so glorious to behold,

2 The Sonne also, a marvellous instrument when it appeareth, declareth at his going out the worke of the most high.

3 At noone it burneth the countrey, and who may abide for the beate thereof?

4 The Sonne burneth the mountaines three times more then hee that keepeth a furnace with continuall beate: rather doth the fiery vapours, and with the shining beames blinde the eyes.

5 Great is the Lord that make it, and by his commandement hee causeth it to runne hastily.

28. * What power have wee to praise him: for he is above all his workes.

29. * The Lord is terrible, and very great, and marvellous in his power.

30. * Praise the Lord, and magnifie him as much as ye can, yet dooth he farre exceed: exalt him with all your power, and be not weary, yet can ye not attaine unto it.

CHAP. XLIIII.

The praise of certaine holy men, Enock, Noe, Abraham, Isaac and Jacob.

1. * Et he now commend the famous men, and our fathers, of whom we are begotten.

2. * The Lord hath gotten great glory by them, and that through his great power from the beginning.

3. * They haue borne rule in their kingdomes, and were renowned for their power, and were wise in counsell, and declared propheties.

4. * They governed the people by counsell, and by the knowledge of framing meeke for the people, in whose doctrine were wise sentences. Ezek. 18, 25.

5. * They inuented the melodie of musike, and expounded the verses that were written.

6. * They were rich and mighty in power, and liued quietly at home.

7. * All these were honourable men in their generations, and were well reported of in their times.

8. * There are of them that haue left a name behinde them, so that their praise shall bee spoken of.

9. * There are some also which haue no memoriall, and are perished as though they had neuer bene, and are become as though they had neuer bene begun, and their children after them. Gen. 7, 22.

10. * But the former were merciful men, whose righteousness hath not bene forgotten.

11. * For whole posterity a good inheritance is reserved, and their seed is contained in the covenant.

12. * Their stocke is contained in the covenant, and their posterity after them.

13. * Their seed shall remaine for ever, and their praise shall neuer be taken away.

14. * Their bodies are buried in peace, but their name liueth for euermore.

15. * The people speake of their wisdom, and the congregation talke of their praise. Chap. 39, 10.

16. * Enock pleased the Lord God: therefore was he translated for an example of repentance to the generations. Enoch. Gen. 5, 24.

17. * Noe was found perfect, and in the time of wrath hee had a reward: therefore was he left as a remnant unto the earth, when the flood came. Isa. 54, 17.

18. * An euermlasting covenant was made with him, that all flesh should perishe no more by the flood. Gen. 9, 11.

19. * Abraham was a great father of many people: in glory was there none like unto him. Isa. 51, 2.

20. * He kept the Law of the most High, and was in covenant with him, and he set the covenant in his flesh, and in testation he was found faithful. Gen. 22, 4.

21. * Therefore he assured him by an oath, that hee would blesse the nations in his seed, and that hee would multiply him as the dust. Gen. 22, 16.

3 By his words he caused the wonders to cease, and he made him glorious in the sight of Kings, and gave him commandments to his people, and showed him his glory.

4 * We sanctified him with thankfulness, and meekness, and chose him out of all men.

Exod. 19. 7.

5 We caused him to hear his voyce, and brought him into the dark cloud, and there he gave him the commandments before his face, even the law of life and knowledg, that he might teach Jacob the covenant, and Israel his judgements.

Exod. 4. 28.

6 We parted † Aaron an holy man like unto him, even his * brother of the tribe of Levi.

7 An everlasting covenant made hee with him, and gave him the Priesthood among the people, and made him blessed through his comely ornament, and clothed him with the garment of honour.

8 We put perfect loy upon him, and girded him with ornaments of strength, as with breeches, and a tunic, and an ephod.

Exod. 28. 35.

9 We compassed him about with bells of gold, and with many bells round about, * that when he went in, the sound might be heard, and might make a noise in the Sanctuary, for a remembrance to the children of Israel his people.

13 Before him were there no such faire ornaments: there might no stranger put them on but onely his children, and his childrens children perpetually.

14 Their sacrifices were holily consumed, every day thus continually.

15 Moyses filled * his hands, and anoynted him with holy oyle: this was appointed unto him by an everlasting covenant, and to his seede

16 Before all men lining the Lord chose him that he should present offerings before him, and a sweet savour for a remembrance to make reconciliation for his people.

17 * We gave him also his commandments and authority according to the Lawes appoynted, that hee should teach Jacob the testimonies, and give light unto Israel by his Law.

Drut. 17. 14.

18 * Strangers stood up against him, and enuied him in the wilderness, such the men that tookc Darham and Abirams part, and the company of Coze in fury and rage.

Numb. 16. 3.

19 * His the Lord Law, and it displeased him, and in his wrathful indignation were they consumed: hee did wonders upon them and consumed them with the fiery flame.

Numb. 17. 1.

21 For the Priests did eate of the sacrifices of the Lord, which hee gave unto him, & to his seed.

22 * Els had hee none heritage in the land of his people, neither had he any portion among the people: for the Lord is the portion of his inheritance.

Drut. 10. 12.

25 And according to the covenant made with David, that the inheritance of the kingdom should remaine to his sonne of the tribe of Iuda: so the heritage of Aaron should be to the onely sonne of his sonne, and to his seede. God gave vs wisdom in our heart to iudge his people in righteousness, that the good things that they haue, be not abolished, and that their glory may endure for their posteritie.

CHAP. XLVIII.

The praise of Elias, Elizabeth, Exekias and Ysaie.

Then stood up † Elias the Prophet as a tree, † Elias.
and his words burnt like a lamp. 1-King-17

2 He brought a famine upon them, and by his zeale he diminished them: [for they might not away with the commandements of the Lord.]

3 By the word of the Lord he shut the heauen, and three times brought hee the fire from heauen.

4 O Elias, how honourable art thou by thy wondrous deeds! who may make his boall to be like thee!

5 Which hath raised by the dead from death, and by the word of the most high out of the graues:

6 Which hath brought kings vnto destruction, and the honourable from their seate:

7 Which hearded the rebuke of the Lord in Sina, and in word the iudgement of the vengeance:

8 Which diddest anoint kings, that they might recompense, and Prophets to be thy succellors:

9 Which wast taken vp in a whirlewind of fire, and in a chariot of fiery horses:

10 Which wast appointed * to reppose in due season, & to pacifie the wrath of the Lords iudgement before it kindled, and to turne the hearts of the fathers vnto the children, and to set vp the tribes of Jacob.

11 Blessed were they that saw thee, and slept in loue: for * we shall line.

12 When Elias was covered with a storme, † Elishus was filled with his spirit: while he liued, he was not mooued for any Prince, neither could any thing him into subiection.

13 Nothing could ouercome him, * and after his death his body prophesied.

14 He did wonders in his life, and in death were his workes marvellous.

15 For all this the people repented not, neither departed they from their sinnes, * till they were caried away prisoners out of their land, and were scattered through all the earth, so that there remained but a very few people with the prince vnto the house of Dauid.

16 Howbeit some of them did right, and some heaped vp sinnes.

17 † Ezekias made his citie strong, and conueyed water into the mids thereof: hee digged through the rocke with yron, and made fountains for waters.

18 In his time came Sennacherib vp, and sent Rabfaces, and sett vp by his hand against Sion, and boasted proudly.

19 Then trembled their hearts and hands, so that they sorrowed like a woman in traueil.

20 But they called vpon the Lord, which is mercifull, and lift vp their hands vnto him, and immediately the holy One heard them out of heauen.

21 [Hee thought no more vpon their sinnes, nor gaue them ouer to their enemies,] but deliuered them by the hand of Esai.

22 He smote the hoste of the Assyrians, and his Angel destroyed them.

23 For Ezekias had done the thing that pleased the Lord, and remained fast faithfully in the wordes of David his father, as † Esai the great Prophet and faithfull in his vision had commanded him.

24 In his time the Sonne went backward, and he lengthened the Kings life.

25 He saw by an excellent spirit what should come to passe at the last, and he comforted them that were sorrowfull in Sion.

26 Hee shewed what should come to passe for euill, and secret things of euill: they came to passe.

CHAP. XLIX.

Of Iosiah, Heczekiah, Dauid, Jeremias, Ezekiel, Zerobabel, Iesay, Nehemias, Enoch, Ieseph, Sem and Seth.

The remembrance of † Iosias is like the composition of the perfume that is made by the arte of the Apothecary: it is sweete as honie in all mouthes, and as musike at a banquet of wine.

2 He bearded himselfe vprightly in the reformation of the people, and tooke away all abominations of iniquitie.

3 He directed his heart vnto the Lord, & in the time of the vngodly he established religion.

4 All, except Dauid, and Ezekias, and Iosias, committed wickednes: for euen the kings of Iuda forsooke the Law of the most high, and failed.

5 Therefore he gaue their // home vnto others, and their honour to a strange nation.

6 He burnt the cleer citie of the Sanctuary, and destroyed the streets thereof according to the // prophellie of Ieremias.

7 For they intreated him euill, which neuertheless was a Prophet, sanctified from his mothers wombe, that he might root out, and afflict, and destroy, that he might also build vp and plant.

8 † Ezekiel saw the glorious vision, which was shewed him vpon the chariot of the Cherubims.

9 For he made mention of the enemies vnder the figure of the raine, and directed them that went right.

10 * And let the bones of the twelue Prophets flourish out of their place, and let their memory bee blessed: for they comforted Jacob, and deliuered them by assured hope.

11 How shal we praise † Zerobabel, which was a ring on the right hand!

12 So was † Iesus also the sonne of Iosedech: these men in their time builded the house, and set vp the Sanctuary of the Lord againe, which was prepared for an euertasting worship.

13 * And among the elect was † Nehemias whose renowne is great, which set vp for vs the wallies that were fallen, and set vp the gates and the bars, and laid the foundations of our houses.

14 But vpon the earth was no man created like † Enoch: for he was taken vp from the earth.

15 Neither was there a like man vnto † Ioseph the gouernour of his brethren, and the hypodoler of his people, whose bones were kept.

19 † Sem and † Seth were in great honour among men: and so was † Adam about euery thing in the creation.

3 In his dayes the places to receiue water, that were decayed, were reared, and the brasse was about in measure as the Sea.

a Which Salomon made, making 7.33.

4 Hee took care for his people, that they should not faile, and fortified the citie against the siege.

5 How honorable was his conuersation among the people, and when hee came out of the house conuered with the bair!

6 He was as the morning starre in the mins of a cloud, and as the Moone when it is full,

7 And as the Sunne shining vpon the Temple of the most High, and as the rainebow that is bright in the faire clouds,

8 And as the flower of the roses in the spring of the pere, and as lillies by the springes of waters, and as the branches of the frankincense tree in the time of Summer,

9 As a fire and incense in the censer, and as a befill of maske gold set with all manner of precious stones,

10 And as a faire olive tree that is fruitfull, and as a cypresse tree, which groweth by the clouds,

11 When hee put on the garment of honour, and was clothed with all beauty, hee went by to the holy Altar, and made the garment of holines honorable.

12 When hee tooke the portions out of the Priestes hands, he himselfe stood by the heaht of the altar, compassed with his brethren round about, as the branches doe the cedar tree in Libanus, and they compassed him as the branches of the palme trees.

13 So were all the sonnes of Aaron in their glory, & the oblations of the Lord in their hands before all the congregation of Israel.

14 And that hee might accomplish his ministration vpon the altar, and garnish the offering of the most High and Almighty, 15 He stretched out his hand to the vintke of fering, & powdered of the blood of the grape, and hee powdered at the foot of the altar a perfume of good saunour vnto the most High king of all.

16 Then shouted the sonnes of Aaron, and blowed with brazen trumpets, and made a great noise to be heard, for a remembrance before the most High.

17 Then all the people together hastied, and fell downe to the earth vpon their faces to worship their Lord God Almighty and most High.

18 The singers also sang with their voices, so that the sound was great, and the melody sweet.

19 And the people prayed vnto the Lord most High, with prayer before him that is mercifull, till the honour of the Lord were performed, and they had accomplished his seruice.

20 Then went hee downe, and stretched out his hands ouer the whole Congregation of the childe of Israel, that they should giue praise with their lips vnto the Lord, and reioyce in his Name.

21 He began againe to worship, that he might receiue the blessing of the most High.

22 Now therefore giue praise alwey vnto God, that worketh great things euery where, which hath increased our dayes from the wombe, and dealt with vs according to his merite,

23 That he would giue vs ioyfulness of heart, and peace in our dayes in Israel, as in old time, 24 That he would confirme his mercy with vs, and deliuer vs at his time.

25 ¶ There be two manner of people that my heart abhorreth, and the Lord is no people:

26 They that sit vpon the mountain of Sarmaria, the Idolitians, and the foolish people that dwell in Jerusalem.

For Sarmaria.

27 ¶ Iesus the sonne of Sirach, the sonne of Eleazarus of Ierusalem, hath written the doctrine of understanding, and knowledg in this booke, and hath powred out the wisdom of his heart.

28 Blessed is hee that exerciseth himselfe therein, and be that layeth by these in his heart shall be wise.

29 For if hee do these things, hee shall be strong in all things: for hee setteth his steps in the light of the Lord, which giueth wisdom to the godly. The Lord be praised for euermore. So be it to be it.

C H A P. I I.

A prayer of Iesus the sonne of Sirach.

I will confesse thee, O Lord and King, and praise thee, O God my Saviour: I will giue thanks vnto thy Name.

2 For thou art my defender and helper, and hast preserved my body from destruction, & from the snare of the slanderous tongue, & from the lips that are occupied with lies: thou hast holpen me against mine aduersaries,

3 And hast deliuered mee according to the multitude of thy mercy, & for thy Names sake, from the roaring of them that were ready to deuoure me, and out of the hands of such as sought after my life, and from the manifold afflictions which I had.

4 And from the fire that choked me round about, and from the midst of the fire that I burned not.

5 And from the bottome of the belly of hell, from an vnclene tongue, from lying wordes, from false accusation to the king, and from the slander of an vnrighteous tongue.

6 [By some shall praye the Lord vnto death:] for my soule drew nere vnto death: my life was nere to the hell beneath.

7 They compassed me on euery side, & there was no man to helpe mee: I looked for the succour of men, but there was none.

8 Then thought I vpon thy mercy, O Lord, and vpon thine acts of olde, how thou deliuerest such as wait for thee, and sauest them out of the hands of the enemies.

For nations.

9 Then lifted I up my prayer from the earth, and prayed for deliurance from death.

10 I called vpon the Lord, the Father of my Lord, that he would not leaue me in the day of my trouble, and in the time of the poud, without helpe.

11 I will praise thy Name continually, and will sing prayse with thanksgiving: and my prayer was heard.

12 Thou sauest me from destruction, and deliueredst me from the euill times: hee saith I will giue thanks, and praise thee, and blisse the name of the Lord.

13 When I was yet young, or euer I went abroad, abroad, I desired wisdom openly in my prayer.

14 I prayed for her before the Temple, and sought after her unto farre countries, & she was as a grape that waxeth ripe out of the flower.

15 Mine heart rejoyced in her: my foot walked in the right way, & from my youth by sought I after her.

16 I bowen some what downe mine eare, and received her, and gave me much wisdom.

17 And I profited by her: therefore will I ascribe the glory unto him, that giueth me wisdom.

18 For I am ashamed to doe thereafter: I will bee zealous of that that is good: so shall I not be confounded.

19 My soule hath wrestled with her, and I haue examined my workes: I lifted up mine hands on high, and considered the ignorances thereof.

20 I directed my soule unto her, and I found her in purenesse: I haue had mine heart ioyned with her from the beginning: therefore shall I not be forsaken.

21 My bowels are troubled in seeking her: therefore haue I gotten a good possession.

22 The Lord hath giuen me a conque for my reward, wherewith I will praise him.

23 I was nere unto mee, yet vncertaine, and dwell in the house of learning.

24 Wherefore are yet slowe? and what say you of these things: seeing your soules are very chaste?

25 I opened my mouth and said, * Buy her 1/4. 5. 1.

for you without money.

Baruch.

CHAP. I.

1 Baruch wrote a booke during the captivity of Babylon, which he read before Iechonias and all the people. 10 The Jews sent the booke with money vnto Ierusalem to their other brethren, to the intent that they should pray for them.

|| Or, Sedon.

And these are the words of the booke, which Baruch the son of Niasias, the son of Niasias the son of Gedecias, the sonne of Niasias, the sonne of Niasias wrote in at Babylon.

2 In the first yeere, and in the fourth day of the moneth, what time as the Chaldeans took Ierusalem, and burnt it with fire.

3 And Baruch did reade the words of this booke, that Iechonias the sonne of Iosacin king of Iuda might heare, and all the people that were come to heare the booke.

4 And in the audience of the gouernour, and of the kings sonnes, and before the Elders, and before the whole people, from the lowest vnto the highest, before all them that dwell at Babylon by the river || Euphrat.

|| Or, Seda.

5 Which when they heard it, wept, fasted, and made prayers before the Lord.

6 They made a collection also of money, according to euerie mans power.

7 And sent it to Ierusalem vnto Iosacin the sonne of Niasias the sonne of Gedecias, and vnto the other princes, & to all the people, which were with him at Ierusalem.

8 When he had receiued the vessels of the Temple of the Lord, that were taken away out of the Temple, to bring them againe into the land of Iuda, the tenth day of the moneth || Elul, to wit, fluer vessels, which Gedecias the sonne of Niasias king of Iuda had made.

|| Or, Seda.

9 After that Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon had ledde away Iechonias from Ierusalem, and his Princes and his Nobles, prisoners, and the people, and caried them to Babylon.

10 And they said, Behold, we haue sent you money, wherewith ye shall buy burnt offerings for sin, and incense, & prepare a || meate offering, and offer vpon the altar of the Lord our God.

|| Or, Meate for Meate which was the eating and offering sacrifice.

11 And pray for the life of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and for the life of Baltasar his sonne, that their dayes may be vpon earth, as the dayes of heauen.

12 And that God would giue them strength and lighten our eyes, that wee may liue vnder the shadow of Nabuchodonosor king of Babylon, and vnder the shadow of Baltasar his son, that we may long doe them seruice, and find fauour in their sight.

13 Thus say we also vnto the Lord our God, for we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and vnto this day the fury of the Lord, and his wrath is not turned from vs.

14 And reade this booke (which wee haue sent to you to be rehearsed in the Temple of the Lord) vpon the feast dayes, and at time convenient.

15 Thus shall ye say, * To the Lord our God Chap. 1. 4.

belongeth righteousness, but vnto vs the confusion of our faces, as it is come to passe this day vnto them of Iuda, and to the inhabitants of Ierusalem,

16 And to our Kings and to our princes, and to our priests, and to our prophets, and to our fathers, our God.

17 Because we haue * sinned before the Lord Dem. 3. 1.

18 And haue not obeyed him, neither hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, to walke in the commandements that hee gaue vs openly.

19 From the day that the Lord brought our fathers out of the land of Egypt, euen vnto this day, we haue bin disobedient vnto the Lord our God, and wee haue deeme negligent to heare his voyce.

20 * Wherefore these plagues are come upon vs, and the curse which the Lord appointed by Moyses his servant at the time that hee brought our Fathers out of the land of Egypt, to giue vs a land that floweth with milke and honey, as appeareth this day.

21 Heere the lesse, we haue not hearkened vnto the voyce of the Lord our God, according to all the words of the Prophets, whom hee sent vnto vs.

22 But every one of vs followed the wicked imagination of his own heart, to serue strange gods, and to doe euill in the sight of the Lord our God.

CHAP. II.

1 The Jews confesse that they suffer iustly for their sinnes. The true confession of the Christians. 11 The Jews desire to haue the wrath of God turned from them. 32 His promise that he will call againe the people from captiuitie, and giue them a new and euertlasting Testament.

Therefore the Lord our God hath performed his word, which he pronounced against vs, and against our Iudges that governed Israel, and against our Kings, and against our Rulers, and against the men of Israel and Iuda,

2 To bring vpon vs great plagues, such as neuer came to passe vnder the whole heauen, as they that were done in Ierusalem, according to things, that were written in the law of Moyses,

3 That some among vs should eat the flesh of his owne sonne, and some the flesh of his owne daughter.

4 Moreover, he hath deliuered them to be in subjection to all the kingdomes that are round about vs, to be as a reioyce & desolation among all the people round about where the Lord hath scattered them.

5 Thus they are brought beneath, and not aboue, because we haue sinned against the Lord our God, and haue not heard his voyce.

6 * To the Lord our God apperteineth righteousness, but vnto vs and to our Fathers open shame, as appeareth this day.

7 For all these plagues are come vpon vs, which the Lord hath pronounced against vs.

8 Yet haue we not prayed before the Lord, that we might turne euery one from the imaginations of his owne wicked heart.

9 So the Lord hath watched ouer the plagues, and the Lord hath brought them vpon vs: for the Lord is righteous in all his workes, which he hath commanded vs.

10 Yet we haue not hearkened vnto his voyce, to walke in the Commandements of the Lord, that hee hathauen vnto vs.

11 * And now, O Lord God of Israel, that hath brought thy people out of the land of Egypt with a mighty hand, and an he arme, and with signes, and with wonders, and with great power, and hast gotten thy selfe a Name, as appeareth this day, 12 O Lord our God, we haue sinned, we haue done wickedly: we haue offended in all thing of disobedience.

13 Let thy wrath turne from vs: for we are but a few left among the heathen, where thou hast scattered vs.

14 Heare our prayers, O Lord, and our petitions, and deliuer vs for thine owne sake, and giue vs labour in the sight of them, which haue led vs away, 15 That all the earth may know that thou art the Lord our God, & that thy Name is called vpon Israel, and vpon their posteritie.

16 Therefore looke downe from thine holy Temple, and thinke vpon vs: incline thine eare O Lord, and heare vs.

17 * Open thine eyes, & behold: for the deafe, that are in the graues, and whose soules are out of their bodies, * giue vnto the Lord, neither praise nor righteousness.

18 But the soule that is vexed for the great nest of sinne, and hee that goeth crookedly, and wracks, and the eyes that faile, and the hungry soule will giue thee praise and righteousness, O Lord.

19 For we doe not require mercy in thy sight, O Lord our God, for the righteousness of our fathers, or of our Kings,

20 But because thou hast sent out thy wrath and indignation vpon vs, as thou hast spoken by thy seruants the Prophets, saying,

21 * Thus saith the Lord, Both downe your shoulders, glorie the King of Babylon: so shall ye remaine in the land, that I gaue vnto your Fathers.

22 But if ye will not heare the voyce of the Lord, to serue the King of Babylon, 23 I will come to craile in the cities of Iuda, and in Ierusalem, I will come to craile the voyce of mirth, and the voyce of ioy, and the voyce of the bird ofrome. and the voyce of the wilde, and the land shall bee desolate of inhabitants.

24 But wee would not hearken vnto thy voyce, to serue the King of Babylon: therefore hast thou performed the wordes that thou spakest by thy seruants the Prophets, namely, that the bones of our Kings, and the bones of our Fathers should be caried out of their places.

25 And loe, they are cast out to the head of the day, and to the cold of the night, and are dead in great miserie with famine, and with the sword, and in banishment.

26 And the Temple wherein thy Name was called vpon, thou hast brought to the state, as appeareth this day, for the wickednesse of the house of Israel, and the house of Iuda.

27 O Lord our God, thou hast intreated vs according to cquitie, and according to all thy great mercy.

28 As thou spakest by thy seruant Moyses, in the day, when thou diddest command him to write thy Law before the children of Israel, saying,

29 * If ye will not obey my voyce, then shall this great swarme and multitude be turned into a very few among the nations where I will scatter them.

30 For I know that they will not heare me: for it is a stiffnecked people: but in the land of their captiuitie they shall remember themselves.

31 And know that I am the Lord their God: then will I giue them an heart to vnderstand, and eares.

32 And they shall heare, and praise mee in the land of their captiuitie, and thinke vpon

23 Then shall they turne them from their hard backs, and fro in their euill workes: for they shall remember the way of their Fathers, which sinned before the Lord.

24 And I will bring them againe into the Land, which I promised with an oath vnto their Fathers, Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and they shall bee lords of her: and I will increase them, and they shall not be diminished.

25 And I will make an everlasting covenant with them, that I will be their God, and they shall be my people: and I will no more curse my people of Israel out of the land that I haue giuen them.

CHAP. III.

1 The people continueth in their prayer beguine for their deliurance. 2 He praeseth wisdom vnto the people, shewing that so great aduersities came vnto them for the despising thereof. 36 Only God was the fader of wisdom, 37 Of the incarnation of Christ.

O Lord Almighty, O God of Israel, the soule that is in trouble, and the spirit that is vexed, crieth vnto thee.

2 Hear, O Lord, and haue mercy: for thou art merciful, and haue pittie vpon vs, because we haue sinned before thee.

3 For thou endurest for ever, and we bitterly perish.

4 O Lord Almighty, the God of Israel, heare now the prayer of the dead Israelites, and of their children, which haue sinned before thee, and not hearkened vnto the voyce of thee their God, wherefore these plagues hang vpon vs.

5 Remember not the wickednesse of our fathers, but think vpon thy power, and thy Name at this time.

6 For thou art the Lord our God, and thre O Lord, will we praise.

7 And for this cause hast thou put thy feare in our hearts, that wee should call vpon thy Name, and praisthee in our captiuitie: for wee haue considered in our minds all the wickednes of our Fathers, that sinned before thee.

8 Behold, we are yet this day in our captiuitie, where thou hast scattered vs, to be a reproch and a curse, and subiect to payments, according to all the iniquities of our Fathers, which are departed from the Lord their God.

9 O Israel, heare the commandements of Mse: hearken vnto them, that thou mayest learne wisdom.

10 What is the cause, O Israel, that thou art in thine enemies land, and art war: n old in a strange country, 11 And art distressed with the dead, and art counted with them, that got downe to the graues?

12 Thou hast forsaken the fountaine of wisdom:

13 For if thou haddest walked in the way of God, thou shouldst haue remained safe for ever.

14 Learne where is wisdom, where is strength, where is vnderstanding, that thou mayest knowe also from whence cometh long continuance, and life, and where the light of the eyes and place is.

15 Who hath found out her place? or who hath come into her treasures?

16 Where are the princes of the heathen, and such as ruled the beasts vpon the earth?

17 They that had their pasture with the fowles of the heauen, thit boarded vpon silver and gold, wherein men trust, and made none end of their gathering?

18 For thou that coyn'st silver, and were so careful of their workes, and whole inuention had none end,

19 Are come to nought, and gone downe to hell, and other men are come vp in their steads,

20 When they were yong, they saw the light, and dwelt vpon the earth: but they vnderstood not the way of knowledge, 21 Neither perceived the paths thereof, neither haue their children received it: but they were farre off from that way.

22 It hath not bene heard of in the land of Chanaan, neither hath it bene seene in the man.

23 Nor the Agartines that sought after wisdom vpon the earth, nor the merchants of Hecran, and of Cheman, nor the respondents of fables, nor the teachers out of wisdom haue knowne the way of wisdom, neither doe they thinke vpon the pathes thereof.

24 O Israel, how great is the house of God! and how large is the place of his possession?

25 It is great and hath none end, it is high, and vnm measurable.

26 There were the giants, famous from the beginning: that were of great stature, and is expect in waere.

27 Those did not the Lord chuse, neither gaue he the way of knowledge vnto them.

28 But they were destroyed, because they had no wisdom, and perished through their owne foolishnesse.

29 Who hath gone vp into heauen, to take her, and brought her downe from the cloudes?

30 Who hath gone ouer the sea to finde her, and hath brought her rather then fine gold?

31 No man knoweth her wayes, neither cometh she by her pathes.

32 But he that knoweth all things, knoweth her, and hee hath found her out with his vnderstanding: this same is hee which hath prepared the earth for euenness, and hath filled it with foure footed beasts.

33 When hee sendeth out the light, it goeth: and when hee calleth it againe, it obeyeth him with feare.

34 And the starres shine in their watch, and reioyce. When hee calleth them, they say, Here we be: and so with cheerefulness they shew light vnto him that made them.

35 This is our God, and there shall none other be compared vnto him.

36 Hee hath found out all the way of knowledge, and hath giuen it vnto Jacob his seruant, and to Israel his beloved.

37 Afterward he was seene vpon earth, and dwelt among men.

CHAP. IIII.

1 The reward of them that keepe the Law, and the punishment of them that despise it. 12 A comforting of the people living in captivitie. 19 A complaint of Ierusalem, and under the figure thereof the Church. 25 A consolation and comforting of the same.

This is the booke of the commandements of God, and the Law that endureth for ever: all they that keepe it, shall come to life: but such as forsake it, shall die.

2 Turne thee, O Jacob, and take holde of it: walke by this brightness before the light thereof.

3 Give not thine honour to another, nor the things that are profitable unto thee, to a strange nation.

4 O Israel, wee are blessed: for the things that are acceptable unto God, are declared unto us.

5 Bee of good comfort, O my people, which are the memoriall of Israel.

6 We are sold to the nations, not for your destruction: but because ye provoked God to wrath: ye were delivered unto the enemies.

7 For ye have displeased him that made you, offering unto devils, and not to God.

8 We have forgotten him that created you, even the everlasting God, and ye have grieved Jerusalem, that nourished you.

9 When they saw the wrath comming upon you from God, he said, Weaken, ye: that dwell about Sion, for God hath brought mee into great heaviness.

10 I see the captivitie of my sonnes & daughters, which the everlasting will bring upon them.

11 With joy did I nourish them, but I must leave them with weeping and mourning.

12 Let no man clope over me in a thicket, and forsaken of many, which for the sinnes of my children am desolate, because they departed from the Law of God.

13 They would not know his righteousnes, nor walk in the ways of his commandments: neither did they enter into the paths of discipline, through his righteousness.

14 Come, ye that dwell about Sion, and call to remembrance the captivitie of my sonnes and daughters, which the everlasting hath brought upon them.

15 For her hath brought upon them a nation from farre, an invadent nation, & of a strange language.

16 Called neither remember the aged, nor pitie the young: these have carried away the deare beloved of the widowes, leaving me alone, and desolate of my daughters.

17 But what can I doe you?

18 Surely he that hath brought the plagues upon you, can deliver you from the hands of your enemies.

19 See your way, O children, see your way, for I am left desolate.

20 I have put off the clothing of peace, and put upon me the sackcloth of prayer, and so long as I live, I will call upon the everlasting.

21 Be of good comfort, O children: cry unto God, and hee will be thine you from the power and hand of the enemies.

22 For I have hope of your salvation through the everlastig, and hee will be thine you from the power and hand of the enemies.

23 For I sent you away with weeping, and mourning: but with joy and perpetual gladnesse will God bring you againe unto me.

24 Like as now the neighbours of Sion saw your captivitie, so shall they alle see shortly your salvation from God, which shall come upon you with great glory and brightness from the everlastig.

25 O ye children, suffer patiently the wrath that is come upon you from God: for thine enemy hath persecuted thee, but shortly thou shalt see his destruction, and shalt tread upon his necke.

26 O darlings have gone by rough waies, and were led away as a flocke that is scattered by the enemies.

27 Be of good comfort, my children, and cry unto God: for hee that led you away, hath you in remembrance.

28 And as he came into your minde to goe away from your God: so endeavour your selves ten times more, to turne againe and to seeke him.

29 For hee that hath brought these plagues upon you, will bring you everlasting joy againe, with your salvation.

30 Take a good heart, O Jerusalem: for he which gave thee that name, will comfort thee.

31 They are miserable that afflict thee, and such as rejoyce at thy fall.

32 The cities are miserable whom thy children see: miserable is hee that hath taken thy sonnes.

33 For as the rejoycer at thy decay, and was glad of thy fall, so shall hee be sorry for her owne desolation.

34 For I will take away the rejoycing of her great multitude, and her joy shall be turned into mourning.

35 For a fire shall come upon her from the everlasting, long to endure, and she shall be inhabited of devils for a great season.

36 O Jerusalem, looke toward the East, and behold the joy that cometh unto thee from thy God.

27 Let thy sonnes, (whom thou hast let goe) come gathered together from the East, unto the West: rejoycing in the word of the holy One unto the honour of God.

CHAP. V.

1 Jerusalem is recompensed with gladnesse for the returne of her people, and under the figure thereof the Church.

Put off thy mourning clothes O Jerusalem, and thine affliction, and decke thee with the worship and honour that cometh unto thee from God for evermore.

2 Due on the garment of righteousness, that cometh from God, and set a crowne upon thine head of the glory of the everlasting.

3 For God will declare thy brightness to every countrey under the heaven.

4 And God will name thee by this name for ever, The peace of righteousness, and the glory of the worship of God.

5 Grief, O Jerusalem, and stand up on his, and look about thee toward the East, and behold thy children gathered from the East unto thee: Alas by the word of the holy One, rejoycing in the remembrance of God.

6 For they departed from thee on foot, and were led away of their enemies: but God will bring them again unto thee, called in glory, as children of the kingdom.

7 For God hath determined to bring down every high mountain, and the long enduring rocks, and to fill the valleys, to make the ground plain, that Israel may walk safely unto the honour of God.

8 The woods and all sweet smelling trees shall overshadow Israel at the commandment of God.

9 For God shall bring Israel with joy in the light of his wisdom, with the mercy and righteousness that cometh of him.

CHAP. VI.

A COPIE OF THE EPISTLE THAT JEREMIAS SENT UNTO THEM THAT WERE LED AWAY CAPTIVES INTO BABYLON BY THE KING OF THE BABYLONIANS, TO CERTIFY THEM OF THE THING THAT WAS COMMANDED HIM OF GOD.

Because of the sinnes that ye have committed against God, ye shall be led away captives unto Babylon, by Nabuchodonosor, King of the Babylonians,

2 So when ye be come into Babylon, ye shall remaine there many yeres, and a long season, even seven generations, and after that will I bring you away peaceably from thence.

3 Now shall ye see in Babylon gods of silver, and of gold, and of wood, borne upon mens shoulders, to cause the people to feare:

4 Beware therefore that ye in no wise be like the strangers, neither be ye afraid of them, when ye see the multitude before them and behinde them worshipping them.

5 But say ye in your hearts, O Lord, we must worship thee.

6 For mine Angell shall be with you, and shall care for your soules.

7 As for their tongue, it is polished by the carpenter, and they themselves are gilded, and laid over with silver: yet are they but lyes and cannot speake.

8 And as they take golde for a maid that loveth to be deckt:

9 So make they crownes for the heads of their gods: sometimes also the Priests themselves conney away the golde and silver from their gods, and bestow it upon themselves.

10 Psa. they give of the same unto their barbers, that are in their houses: againe they decke these gods of silver, and gods of golde, and of wood, with garments like men,

11 Yet cannot they be preserved from rust and wormes,

12 Though they have covered them with clothing of purple, and wipe their faces because of the dust of the Temple, wherof there is much upon them.

13 One holdeth a scepter, as though he were a certaine Judge of the country: yet can hee not lay such an offend him.

14 Another hath a dagger or a axe in his right hand, yet is he not able to defend himselfe from battell, nor from them: so then it is evident that they be no gods.

15 Therefore feare them not: for as a vessel that a man useth, is nothing woorth when it is broken.

16 Such are their gods: when they be set up in their temples, their eyes be full of dust by reason of the feet of those that come in.

17 And as the Maggots are that in round about upon him that hath offended the King: so as one that should be led to be put to death, so the Priests keepe their temples with doores, and with locks, and with barres, lest their gods should be spoiled by robbers.

18 They light up candles before them: yea, more then for themselves, wherof they cannot see one: for they are but as one of the poles of the temple.

19 They confesse, that even their hearts are gnawen upon: but when the things that creepe out of the earth, eat them and their clothes, they feele it not.

20 Their faces are black through the smoke that is in the temple.

21 The owles, swallowes and birds flye upon their bodies, and upon their heads, yea, and the cats also.

22 By this yee may be sure that they are not gods: therefore feare them not.

23 Now standing the gold, that is about them to make them beautiful, except one wipe off the rust, they cannot shine: neither when they were molten, did they feele it.

24 The things wherewith no breath, are bought for a most high price.

25 They are borne upon mens shoulders, because they have no feet, wherby they declare unto men, that they be nothing woorth, yea, and they that worship them are ashamed.

26 For if they fall to the ground at any time, they cannot rise up againe of themselves: neither if one set them upright, can they move of themselves, neither if they be bowed downe can they make themselves straight: but they let gifts befoze them as unto dead men.

27 As for the things that are offered unto them, their Priests sell them and abuse them: likewise also the women say by the same: but unto the poore and sicke they give nothing.

28 The menstruous women, and they that are in childbed touch their sacrifices: by these things yee may knowe that they are no gods: feare them not.

29 From whence cometh it then, that they are called gods: because the women bring gifts to the gods of silver, and gold, and wood.

30 And the Priests sit in their Temples, having their clothes rent, whose heads and beards are shaven, and being bare bearded,

31 They toze and cry befoze their gods, as men doe at the feast of one that is dead.

32 The Priests also take away of their garments, and clothe their wives and children.

33 Whether it bee until that one doerth unto them of good, they are not able to recompense it: they can neither set up a King, nor put him downe.

34 In like manner they can neither give riches nor money: though a man make a vow unto them, and swepe it not, they will not require it.

In this chapter are the makers and maintainers of images mightily confuted, a That is, seventie yeeres.

Wyl. 13. 10.

35 They can doe no man from death, neither deliver the soules from the living.

36 They cannot rescue a blinde man to sight, nor helpe any man at his need.

37 They can shew no mercy to the widowe, nor doe good to the fatherlesse.

38 Their gods of wood, golde, and silver, are as stones that bee hewen out of the mountaine, and they that worship them, shall be confounded.

39 How should a man then thinke of thy, that they are gods?

40 Whosoever, the Chaldeans themselves dishonour them: for when they see a dumbe man, that cannot speake, they present him to Bel, 41 And desire that hee would make him to speake, as though hee had any feeling: yet they cannot understand these things cannot leane them: for they have all no sense.

42 Furthermore, the women, girded with coards, sit in the streets, and burne // straw.

43 And if one of them be watned away, and lie with any such as come by, her casted her neighbour in the teeth, because there was not so worthily repayed, nor her coard broken.

44 Whosoever is done among them, is they: how may it then be thought of gods, that they are gods?

45 Carpenters and goldsmiths make them, neither bee they any other thing, but even what the workman will make them.

46 Psa, they that make them, are of no long continuance: how should then the things that are made of them, be gods?

47 Therefore they leavelles, and shame for their posteritie.

48 For when there cometh any warre, or plague upon them, the Devils imagine with themselves, where they may hide themselves with them.

49 How then can men not perceiue, that they be no gods, which can neither defend themselves from warre, nor from plagues?

50 For seeing they be but of wood, and of silver and of golde, men shall know hereafter that they are but lies, and it shall be manifest to all nations and kings, that they be no gods, but the workes of mens hands, and that there is no worke of God in them.

51 Wherby it may bee knowen that they are no gods.

52 They can set up no king in the land, nor giue raine unto men.

53 They can giue no sentence of a matter, neither preserue from iniquity: they haue no power, but are as crowes betwixt the heauen and the earth.

54 When there falleth a liue upon the house of their gods of wood, and of silver, and of golde, the Devils will escape and save themselves, but they burne as the others do.

55 They cannot withstand any king or emperour: how can it then be thought of gods, that they be gods?

56 Moreover, their gods of wood, of golde, and of silver can neither defend themselves from thieves nor robbers.

57 For they that are strongest, take away their gold and silver, and apparell, wherewith they be clothed: and when they haue it, they get them away: yet can they not helpe themselves.

58 Wherfore it is better to be a king, and so to haue his power, or else a profitable person in an house, wherby hee that oweth it, might haue profit, then such false gods: or to be a doore in an house, to keepe such things safe as bee therein, then such false gods: or a pillar of wood in a palace, then such false gods.

59 For the Sunne, and the Moone, and the starres that shine, when they are sent downe for necessary uses, obey.

60 Likewise also the lightning, when it shineth, it is euident: and the wind bloweth in euery countrey.

61 And when God commandeth the cloudes to goe about the whole world, they doe as they are bid.

62 When the fire is sent downe from aboue to destroy hills and woods, it doth that which is commanded: but these are not like any of these things, neither in nature nor power.

63 Wherfore men should not thinke, nor say that they be gods: seeing they can neither giue sentence in judgement, nor doe men good.

64 Forasmuch now as ye are liue, that they be no gods, feare them not.

65 For they can neither curse, nor blesse kings.

66 Neither can they shew signes in the heauen among the heathen, neither shine as the Moone.

67 The beasts are better then they: for they can get them vnder a couert, and doe themselves good.

68 So ye may be certified that by no manner of means they are gods: therefore feare them not.

69 For as a scarroty in a garden of cucumbers, keepeth nothing, so are their gods of wood and of silver and of golde:

70 And likewise of their gods of wood, and golde, and silver, are like to a whitethorne in an orchard, that euery bird stretch upon, and as a dead body that is cast in the barke.

71 By the purple also and brightness which shadeth upon them, ye may understand, that they be no gods: yea, they themselves shall be consumed at the last, and they shall bee a shame to the countrey.

72 Better therefore is the iust man: that hath none idoles: for hee shall be farre from reproofe.

The song of the three holy children, which followeth in the third Chapter of Daniel, after this place, They fell downe bound into the mids of the hore fiery forname.

48 The flame descendeth the Chaldea. 49 The Angel of the Lord was in the forname. 51 The three children praise the Lord, and praye all creatures to the same.

24 And they walked in the middes of the flame praising God, and magnified the Lord.
25 Then Azarias stood up, and prayed on this manner, and opening his mouth in the middes of the fire, said, 26 Blessed bee thou, O Lord God of our fathers: thy Name to worship to be praised and honoured for ever more.

27 For thou art righteous in all the things, that thou hast done unto vs, and all thy works are true, and thy wayes are right, and all thy iudgements certain.

28 In all the things that thou hast brought vpon vs, and vpon Ierusalem, the holy Citie of our fathers, thou hast executed true iudgements: for by right and equitie hast thou brought all these things vpon vs because of our sinnes.

29 For we haue sinned and done wickedly, departing from thee: in all things haue we trespassed,

30 And not obeyed thy commandements, nor kept them, neither done as thou hadst commanded vs, that we might prosper.

31 Therefore in all that thou hast brought vpon vs, and in euery thing that thou hast done to vs, thou hast done them in true iudgement:

32 As in deliuering vs into the hands of our wicked enemies, and most hartfull reatours, and to an vnrightheous king, and the most wicked in all the world.

33 And now we may not open our mouthes: we are become a shame and reproofe vnto thy seruants, and to them that worship thee.

34 Yet for thy Names sake we beseech thee, giue vs not vp for ever, neither breake thy Covenant,

35 Neither take away thy mercy from vs, for thy beuowed Abrahams sake, and for thy seruants Iacobs sake, and for thine holy Israels sake.

36 O to whom thou hast spoken and promised, that thou wouldest multiply thine seed as the stars of heauen, and as the sand, that is vpon the sea shore.

37 For we, O Lord, are become little then any nation, and bee kept vnder this day in all the world, because of our sinnes:

38 So that now we haue neither prince, nor power, nor gouernour, nor dignite offering, nor sacrifice, nor oblation, nor incense, nor place to offer the first fruits before thee, that we might find mercy.

39 Wherefore, in a contrite heart, and an humble spirit let vs be received.

40 As in the burnt offering of rammes and bullockes, and as in ten thousand of fat lambs, to let our offering be in thy sight this day, that it may please thee: for there is no confusion vnto them, that put their trust in thee.

41 And now we follow thee with all our heart, and feare thee, and seeke thy face.

42 But vs not to shame, but deale with vs after thy loving kindnesse, and according to the multitude of thy mercies.

43 Deliuer vs also by thy miracles, and giue thy Name the glory, O Lord.

44 That all they that doe thy seruants euill, may be confounded: euen let them be confounded by thy great force and power, and let their strength be broken,

45 That they may know, that thou only art the Lord God, & glorious ouer the whole world.

46 How the kings seruants that had cast them in, ceased not to make the oven hote with waphra, and with pitch, and with towne, and with sagots, 47 So that the flame went out of the forname, fourtie and nine cubites.

48 And it brake forth, and burnt those Chaldeaes, that it found by the forname.

49 And the Angel of the Lord went downe into the forname with them that were with Azarias, and smore the flame of the fire out of the forname,

50 And made in the mids of the forname like a moist hissing wind, so that the fire touched them not at all, neither grieved nor troubled them.

51 Then these three (as out of one mouth) praised, and glorified, and blessed God in the forname, saying,

52 Blessed be thou, O Lord God of our fathers, and praised and exalted about all things for ever, and blessed bee thy glorious and holy Name, and praised about all things, and magnified for ever.

53 Blessed be thou in the Temple of thine holy glory, and praised about all things, and exalted for ever.

54 Blessed be thou that beholdest the depths, and liest vpon the Cherubims, and praised about all things, and exalted for ever.

55 Blessed be thou in the glorious throne of thy kingdome, and praised about all things, and exalted for ever.

56 Blessed be thou in the firmament of heauen, and praised about all things, and glorified for ever.

57 All ye workers of the Lord, bleste ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for ever.

58 O heauens, bleste ye the Lord: praise him, and exalt him about all things for ever.

59 O Angels of the Lord, bleste ye the Lord, praise him, & exalt him about all things for ever.

60 All ye waters that be about the heauen, bleste ye the Lord, praise him, and exalt him about all things for ever.

¶ The hiftorie of ¶ Suſanna, which ſome ioyne to the ende of Daniel, and make. in the thirteenth Chapter,

1 Theſe two governours are taken with the lawe of Suſanna, 19 They take her alone in the garden. 20 They ſollicite her to wickedneſſe. 21 Shee chuſeth rather to obey God, though it be the danger of her liſe. 22 Shee is accuſed. 23 Daniel doth deliver her. 24 The governours are put to death.

¶ There dwelt a man in Babylon called Iſaiah.

2 And he tooke a wiſe, whoſe name was Suſanna, the daughter of Helcias, a very faire woman, and one that feared God.

3 Her father and her mother alſo were godly people, and taught their daughter according to the Law of Moſes.

4 Now Iſaiah was a great rich man, and had a faire garden loyning unto his houſe, and to him reſorted the Jewes, becauſe he was more honourable then all others.

5 The ſame yeere were appointed two of the ancients of the people to be Judges, ſuch as the Lord ſpeaketh of, that the iniquity came from Babylon, and from the ancient Judges, which ſeemed to rule the people.

6 Theſe hanted Iſaiahs houſe, and all ſuch as had any thing to doe in the Law, came thither unto them.

7 Now when the people departed away at noone, Suſanna went into her husbands garden to walke.

8 And the two Elders ſaw her that ſhe went in dayly and waſhed, ſo that their luſt was inflamed toward her.

9 Therefore they turned away their minds, and caſt downe their eyes, that they ſhould from God, not ſee heaven, nor remember juſt judgement.

10 And albeit they were both wounded with her her loue, yett weill not out thy handes. His griefe.

11 For they were ashamed to declare their lust, that they desired to haue to doe with her.

12 Yet they watched diligently from day to day to her.

13 And the one said to the other, Let vs goe now home, for it is winter time.

14 So they went their way, and departed one from another: yet they returned againe, and came into the same place, and after that they had asked one another the cause, they acknowledged their lust: then appointed they a time both together when they might find her alone.

15 Now when they had spied out a convenient time, that shee went in; as her manner was, with two maides onely, and thought to watch her selfe in the garden, (for it was an hore season.)

16 And there was no body there, save the two Elders that had hid themselves, and watched for her:

17 Shee said to her maydes, Bring me oyle and sope, and shut the garden doores, that I may wash me.

18 And they did as shee bade them, and shut the garden doores, and went out themselves at a backe doore, to set the thing that shee had commanded them: but they saw not the Elders, because they were hid.

19 Now when the maides were gone forth, the two Elders rose up and came vnto her, saying,

20 Behold, the garden doores are shut, that no man can see vs, and wee be here in loue with thee: therefore consent vnto vs, and lie with vs.

21 If thou wilt not, we will beare witness against thee, that a young man was with thee, and therefore thou dost lend away thy maydes from thee.

22 Then Susanna sighes, and said, I am in trouble on euery side: for if I doe this thing, it is death vnto mee: and if I doe it not, I cannot escape your hands.

23 It is better for me to fall into your hands, and not doe it, then to sinne in the sight of the Lord.

24 Which that Susanna cryed, with a lowde voice, and the two Elders cried out against her.

25 Then ranne the one, and opened the garden doore.

26 So when the seruants of the house heard the crye in the garden, they rushed in at the backe doore to see what was done vnto her.

27 But when the Elders had declared their matter, the seruants were greatly ashamed: for there was neuer such a report made of Susanna.

28 On the morrow after, came the people to Joachim her husband, and the two Elders came also, full of malicious imagination against Susanna to put her to death, 29 And said before the people, Send for Susanna the daughter of Ioseph Joachim's wife, And immediately they sent.

30 So she came with her father and mother, her children and all her kindred.

31 Now Susanna was very tender, and faire of face.

32 And these wicked men commanded to uncover her face, (so) she was counted that they might be so satisfied with her beauty.

33 When they saw that men about her, and all that knew her, were.

34 Then the two Elders stood up in the midst of the people, and laid their hands vpon her head, 35 Which wept, and looked hy toward heauen: for her heart trusted in the Lord.

36 And the Elders sayd, As wee walked in the garden alone, shee came in with two maides, whom she sent away from her, and shut the garden doores.

37 Then a yong man, which there was hid, came vnto her and lay with her.

38 Then wee which stood in a corner of the garden, seeing this wickedness, ran vnto them, and tooke them as they were together.

39 But wee could not hold him: for hee was stronger then wee, and opened the doore and leaped out.

40 Now when wee had taken this woman, we asked her what yong man this was, but shee would not tell vs: of these things are wee witness.

41 Then the assembly beleued them, as those that were the Elders and Iudges of the people: so they condemned her to death.

42 Then Susanna cried out with a lowde voyce, and sayd, O enuious old men, that knowest the secrets, and knowest all things afoze they come to passe, 43 Thou knowest, that they haue borne false witness against mee, and behold, I must die, whereas I neuer did such things as these men haue maliciously inuented against me.

44 And the Lord heard her voyce.

45 Therefore when shee was led to be put to death, the Lord raised vp the holy spirit of a yong child, whose name was Daniel.

46 Which cryed with a lowde voyce, I am cleane from the blood of this woman.

47 Then all the people turned them toward him, and sayd, What meant these wordes, that thou hast spoken?

48 Then Daniel stood in the midst of them, and sayd, Aee yee such fooles, O Iudaistes, that without examination, or knowledge of the cryed, yee haue condemned a daughter of Israel?

49 Repente againe to iudgement: for they haue borne false witness against her.

50 Therefore the people turned againe in all haste, and the Elders said vnto him, Come, lie downe among vs, and shew it vs, seeing God hath giuen thee the office of an Elder.

51 Then said Daniel vnto them, But these two aside, one farre from another, and I will examine them.

52 So when they laye put a linder one from another, hee called one of them, and said vnto him, O thou that art old in a wicked life, now thy sinnes which thou hast committed afoze time, are come to light.

53 For thou hast pronounced false iudgements, and hast condemned the innocent, and hast let the guilty goe free, albeit the Lord saith, * Be innocent and righteous halt thou not lye.

54 Now then, if thou hast bene here, tell me, vnder what tree lawest thou them companying nying together? Who answered, Under a fig tree.

55 Then said Daniel, Verily thou hast lyes against thine owne head: for loe, the Angel of God hath receiued the sentence of God, to cut thee in two.

56 So put hee him afixe, and commanded to bring the other, and said vnto him, O thou seede of Chanaan, and not of Iuda, beaurie hath deceiued thee, and lust hath subuerred thine heart.

57 Thus haue ye dealt with the daughters of Israel, and they for feare companied with you: but the daughter of Iuda would not abide your wickednesse.

58 Now therefore tell mee, vnder what tree diddest thou take them companying together? Who answered, Under a figgyne tree.

59 Then said Daniel vnto him, Verily thou hast also lied against thine head, for the Angel of God waiteth with the sword to cut thee in two, and so to destroy you both.

60 Which that all the whole assembly cried with a loud voice, and prayd God, which sauerth them that trust in him.

61 And they arose against the two Elders, for Daniel had convict them of false witness by their owne mouth.

62 And according to the Law of Moyses they dealt with them, as they dealt wickedly against their neighbours, and put them to death: Thus the innocent blood was laued the same day.

63 Therefore Helcias and his wife praised God for their daughter Gulanna, with Ioachim her husband, and all the kindred, that there was no dishonesty found in her.

64 From that day forth was Daniel had in great reputation in sight of the people.

65 And King Assages was layd with his fathers, and Cyus of Bertha reigned in his stead.

Deut. 19. 19.
Prov. 19. 5.

¶ The historie of Bel and the Dragon, which is the fourteenth Chapter of Daniel after the Latine.

Now when King Assages was layd with his fathers, Cyus the Persian receiued his kingdom.

2 And Daniel did eate at the Kings table, and was honoured above all his friends.

3 Now the Babylonians had an idole called Bel, and there were spent vpon him every day twelue great measures of fine flower, and forty shepes, and ffe great pots of wine.

4 And the King worshipped it, and went daily to honour it: but Daniel worshipped his owne God. And the King said vnto him, Why dost thou not worship Bel?

5 Who answered, and sayd, Because I may not worship idoles made with hands, but the liuing God, which hath created the heauen and the earth, and hath power vpon all flesh.

6 Then said the King vnto him, Thinkst thou not that Bel is a liuing God? Seest thou not how much hee eateth and drinketh every day?

7 Then Daniel smiled and said, O King, bee not deceiued: for this is but clay within, & hallow without, and did neuer eate any thing.

8 So the king was wroth, and called for his priests, and said vnto them, If ye tell me not who this is that eateth vp these expenses, ye shall die.

9 But if ye can certifie mee that Bel eateth them, then Daniel shall die: for hee hath spoken blasphemie against Bel. And Daniel said vnto the King, Let it be according to thy word.

10 (Now the priests of Bel were threescore and ten, besides their wives and children:) and the King went with Daniel into the temple of Bel.

11 So Bels priests said, Behold, we will goe out, and let thou the meate there, O King, and let the wine be filled: then shut the doore fast, and seale it with thine owne signet.

12 And to morrow when thou comest in, if thou findest not that Bel hath eaten vp all, we will suffer death, or else Daniel that hath lyes vpon vs.

13 Now they thought themselves sure enough: for vnder the table they had made a private entrance, and there went they in euer, and tooke away the things.

14 So when they were gone forth, the king set meates before Bel. Now Daniel had commanded his seruants to lying afixe, and these they strowed throughout all the temple, in the presence of the King alone: then went they out and shut the doore, and sealed it with the Kings signet, and so departed.

15 Now in the night came the priests with their wines and children, as they were wont to doe: and did eate and drinke vp all.

16 In the morning betimes, the King arose and Daniel went him.

17 And the King said, Daniel, are the scales whole? Who answered, Yes, O King, they be whole.

18 And as soon as hee had opened the doore, the King looked vpon the table, and cried with a loud voice, Great art thou, O Bel, and with thee is no deceit.

19 Then langhed Daniel, and held the King that he should not goe in, and said, Behold now the pavement, and marke well whole footsteps are these.

20 And the King sayd, I see the footsteps of men, women, and children: therefore the King was angry.

21 And tooke the priests, with their wines, and children, and they shewed him the private doores, where they came in, and consumed such things as were vpon the table.

22 There-

a Called Artaba, whereof every one contained somewhat more then nine gallons, which make in all an hundred and eighty gallons at the least.
b Called Mezera, and every one of these measures contained about ten gallons, which in all make three hundred.

22 Therefore the king slew them, and delivered Bel into Daniels power, who destroyed him, and his temple.

23 And he came in that same place there was a great Dragon, which the Babylonians worshipped.

24 And the King said unto Daniel, Sayest thou that this is of waste also: for, bee liner, and eatest and drunken, for that thou canst not say that he is no living God: therefore worship him.

25 Then said Daniel unto the King, I will worship the Lord my God: for he is the living God.

26 But give me leave, O King, and I will slay this Dragon without sword or staffe. And the king said, I give thee leave.

27 Then Daniel took pitch, and fatte, and haire, and did seete them together, and made lumps thereof: this he put in the Dragons mouth, and so the Dragon burst in himself. And Daniel says, Beghd whom yee worship.

28 When the Babylonians heard it, they were wonderfull with, and gathered them together against the King, saying, The King is become a Jew: for he hath destroyed Bel, and hath slaine the Dragon, and put the priests to death.

26 So they came to the King, and said, Destroy vs Daniel, or else we will destroy thee and thine house.

30 Now when the King saw, that they peaked sore upon him, and that needfullie constrained him, hee delivered Daniel unto them:

31 And he cast him into the Lions den, where hee was five dayes.

22 In the denne there were seven Lions, and they had given them every day two bodies and two sheepe, which then were not given them, so the intent that they might denounce Daniel.

33 And now there was in Jewrie a Prophet called Abacuc, which had made portage, and broken bread into a bottle, and was going into the field, for to bring it to the weavers.

34 But the Angel of the Lord said unto Abacuc, Go, carry the meate that thou hast into Babylon unto Daniel, which is in the Lions denne.

35 And Abacuc said, Lord, I never sawe Babylon, neither doe I knowe where the denne is.

36 Then the Angel tooke him by the crowne of the head, & bare him by the haire of the head, and through a mighty wind let him in Babylon upon the denne.

37 And Abacuc cried, saying, O Daniel, Daniel, take the dinner that God hath sent thee.

38 Then said Daniel, O God, thou hast thought upon mee, and thou never failest them that seek thee and love thee.

39 So Daniel arose, and did eate, and the Angel of the Lord let Abacuc in his owne place againe immediately.

40 Upon the seventh day the king went to bewaile Daniel, and when he came to the denne he looked in, and beheld, Daniel sat in the midst of the Lions.

41 Then cried the King with a loud voyce, saying, Great art thou, O Lord God of Daniel, and there is none other besides thee.

42 And he drew him out of the den, and cast them that were the cause of his destruction, into the denne, and they were denoured in a moment before his face.

CHAP. I.

8 The death of Alexander the King of Macedonia.
11 Antiochus taketh the kingdomes. 12 Many of the children of Israel make covenant with the Gentiles. 21 Antiochus subdueth Egypt and Ierusalem unto his dominion. 50 Antiochus seeth up idols.

Fear that Alexander the Macedonian, the sonne of Philip, went south of the land of Chetitim, and slew Darius King of the Persians and Medes, and reigned for him as he had before in Grecia.

2 He tooke great warres in hand, and warne strong holds, and slew the kings of the earth.

3 So went he thorow to the endes of the world, and tooke spoiles of many nations, insomuch that the world stood in awe of him: therefore his heart was puffed up and was haughty.

4 Now when hee had gathered a mighty strong hoste,

5 And had reigned over regions, nations, and kingdomes, they became tributaries unto him.

6 After these things he fell sicke, and knew that he should die.

7 Then hee called for the chiefe of his servants, which had been brought up with him of children, and parted his kingdom among them, while he was yet alive.

8 So Alexander had reigned twelue yeeres when he died.

9 And his servants reigned every one in his rourne.

10 And they all caused themselves to be crowned after his death, and so did their children after them many yeeres, and much wickednesse increased in the world.

11 For out of these came the wicked roote, even Antiochus Epiphanes, the sonne of king Antiochus, which had been an hostage at Rome, and hee reigned in the hundredth and seven and thirtieth yeere of the kingdom of the Greeces.

12 In those dayes went there out of Israel wicked men, which enticed many, saying, Let vs goe and make a covenant with the

the heathen that are round about vs: for since wee departed from them, we haue had much sorrow.

13 So this deuice pleased them well.

14 And certaine of the people were ready and went to the king, which gaue them licence to doe after the ordinances of the heathen.

15 Then set they vp a place of exercise at Ierusalem, according to the fashions of the heathen.

16 And made themselves vncircumcised and forsooke the holy Couenant, and toynd themselves to the heathen, and were sold to doe mischief.

17 So when Antiochus kingdome was set in order, hee went about to reigne ouer Egypt, that hee might haue the dominion of two Realmes.

18 Therfore hee entred into Egypt with a mighty companie, with chaces, and Elephants, and with horsemen, and with a great nauie.

19 And mooued warre against Ptolemus, King of Egypt: but Ptolemus was afraine of him, and fled, and many were wounded to death.

20 Thus Antiochus wan many strong cities in the land of Egypt, and tooke away the spoiles of the land of Egypt.

21 And after that Antiochus had smitten Egypt, he turned againe in the hundred fourthie and threere.

22 And went vp toward Israel and Ierusalem with a mighty people.

23 And entred proudly into the Sanctuary, and tooke away the golden Altar, and the Candlestick for the light, and all the instruments thereof, and the Table of the Showbread, and the pouring vessels, and the bowles, and the golden balens, and the vails, and the crownes, and the golden apparell, which was before the Temple, and brake all in pieces.

24 Hee tooke also the silver and golde, and the precious Jewels, and hee tooke the secret treasures that hee found, and when hee had taken away all, hee departed into his owne land.

25 After hee had murdered many men, and spoken very proudly.

26 Therfore there was a great lamentation in euery place of Israel.

27 For the Princes and the Elders mourned: the young women, and the young men were made feeble, and the beautie of the women was changed.

28 Euery by the ground took him to mourning, and shee that late in the marriage chamber was in heauenside.

29 The land also was moued for the inhabitants thereof: for all the house of Jacob was covered with confusion.

30 After two yeres the king sent his chiefe talmaster into the cities of Iuda, which came to Ierusalem with a great multitude.

31 And hee spake peaceable words vnto them in deceit, and they came credite vnto him.

32 Then hee fell suddenly vpon the cite, and smote it with a great plague, and destroyed much people of Israel.

33 And when he had spoiled the cite, hee set fire on it, casting downe the houses thereof, and walles thereof on euery side.

34 The women and their children took they captiue, and led away the cattell.

35 Then fortified they the city of David with a great and thicke wall, and with mighty towres, and made it a strong hold for them.

36 Therfore they set wicked people there, and vngodly persons, and fortified themselves therein.

37 And they stayed it with weapons and vntilities, and gathered the spoile of Ierusalem, and laid it vp there.

38 Thus became they a sore snare, and were in ambushment for the Sanctuary, and were wicked enemies euermore vnto Israel.

39 For they shed innocent blood on euery side of the Sanctuary, and defiled the Sanctuary.

40 Inasmuch that the citizens of Ierusalem fled away because of them, and it became an habitation of strangers, being desolate of them whom shee had borne: for her owne children did leaue her.

41 Her Sanctuary was left waste as a wilderness: her holy dayes were turned into mourning, her Sabbaths into reproof, and her honor brought to nought.

42 As her glory had bene great, so was her dishonour, and her excellencie was turned into sorrow.

43 Also the King wrote vnto all his Kingdome, that all the people should bee as one, and that euery man should leaue his lawes.

44 And all the heathen agreed to the commandement of the king.

45 Pra many of the Israelites consented to his religion, offering vnto Idoles, and defiling the Sabbath.

46 So the king sent letters by the messengers vnto Ierusalem, and to the cities of Iuda, that they should follow the strange lawes of the country.

47 And that they should forbe the burnt offerings and sacrifices, and the offerings in the Sanctuary.

48 And that they should defile the Sabbath, and the feasts.

49 And pollute the Sanctuary and the holy men.

50 And to set vp altars and groues, and chapels of idoles, and offer vp swines flesh, and vncleane beasts.

51 And that they should leaue their children vncircumcised, and defile their soules with vncleanness, and pollute themselves, that they might forget the Law, and change all the ordinances.

52 And that whosoener would not doe according to the commandement of the king, should suffer death.

53 In like maner wrote hee throughout all his Kingdomes, and let outcriers ouer all the people, for to compell them to doe these things.

54 And hee commanded the cities of Iuda to doe sacrifices, cite by cite.

55 Then went many of the people vnto them by heapes, euery one that forsooke the Law, and so they committed euill in the land.

56 And they hid the Israelites into secret places, even whithersoever they could flee for succour.

57 The fifteenth day of Catten, in the hundredth and five and twentieth years, they set up the abomination of desolation upon the altar, and they builded altars throughout the cities of Juda on every side.

58 And before the doores of the houses, and in the streets they burnt incense.

59 And the bookes of the Law, which they found, they burnt in the fire, and cut in pieces.

60 Whosoever had a booke of the Testament found by him, or whosoever consented unto the Law, the Kings commandement was, that they should put him to death by their authority.

61 And they executed these things every manner upon the people of Israel that were found in the cities.

62 And in the five and twentieth day of the moneth, they did sacrifice upon the altar, which was in the head of the altar of sacrifices.

63 And according to the commandement they put certaine women to death, which had caused their children to be circumcised.

64 And they hanged up the children at their neckes, and they spoiled their houses, and slew the circumcisers of them.

65 Yet were there many in Israel, which were of courage, and determined in themselves, that they would not eat unclean things.

66 But chose rather to suffer death, then to be defiled with those meates: so because they would not break the holy Covenant, they were put to death.

67 And this I Iytannie was very sore upon the people of Israel.

CHAP. II.

1 The mourning of Mattathias and his sonnes for the destruction of the holy city. 2 They refuse to doe sacrifice unto idoles. 3 The death of Mattathias for the Law of God. 4 They are slain, and will not fight against because of the Sabbath day. 5 Mattathias dying, commendeth his sonnes to sicke by the word of God, after the example of the fathers.

In those dayes stood by Mattathias the Priest, the sonne of Joannes, the sonne of Simeon, of the sonnes of Joarib of Jerusalem, and dwelt in Bethan.

2 And hee had five sonnes, Joanan called Sabbas.

3 Simon called Thabai.

4 Judas which was called Maccabeus,

5 Eleazar called Itharon, and Jonathan, whose name was Apphis.

6 And he slew the blasphemers, which were committed in Juda and Jerusalem:

7 And he said, Alas is mee: wherefore was I borne, to see this destruction of my people, and the destruction of the holy city, and thus to sit still: it is delivered into the hands of the enemies.

8 And the Sanctuary is in the hands of strangers: her temple is as a man that hath no remembrance.

9 Her glorious vessels are carried away into captivity: her infants are slain in the streets, and her young men are slain by the sword of the enemies.

10 What people is it that hath not some possession in her kingdom, or hath not gotten of her spoiles?

11 All her glory is taken away: of a free woman, she is become an handmaid.

12 Behold, our Sanctuary, and our beauty, and honour is desolate, and the Gentiles have defiled it.

13 What helpeth it us then to live any longer?

14 And Mattathias rent his clothes, he, and his sonnes, and put sackcloth upon them, and mourned very sore.

15 Then came men from the King to the cite of Bethan, to compell them to forsake God, and to sacrifice.

16 So many of the Israelites consented unto them: but Mattathias and his sonnes assembled together.

17 Then spake the commissioners of the king, and said unto Mattathias, Thou art the chiefe and an honorable man, and great in this cite, and hast many children and brethren.

18 Come thou therefore first, and fulfill the Kings commandement, as all the heathen have done, and also the men of Juda, and such as remaine at Jerusalem: so shalt thou and thy familie bee in the Kings favour: and thou and thy children shall bee enriched with silver and gold, and with many rewards.

19 Then Mattathias answered and said with a loud voice, Though all nations that are under the Kings dominion, obey him, and fall away every man from the religion of their fathers, and consent to his commandements, 20 Yet will I and my sonnes, and my brethren walke in the covenant of our fathers.

21 God be mercifull unto vs, that we forsake not the law and the ordinances.

22 Alas will not hearken unto the Kings words to transgress our religion, neither on the right side, nor on the left.

23 And when hee had left off speaking these words, there came one of the Jewes, in the sight of all, to sacrifice upon the altar which was at Bethan, according to the Kings commandement.

24 Now when Mattathias saw it, he was so inflamed with zeale, that he reines shooke, and his wrath was kindled according to the ordinance of the law: therefore hee ranne unto him, and killed him by the altar:

25 And at the same time he slew the Kings commissioner, that compelled him to doe sacrifice, and destroyed the altar.

26 Thus have he a zeale to the Law of God, doing as Abimeus did unto Samai the sonne of Belom.

27 Then cryed Mattathias with a loud voice in the cite, saying, Whosoever is zealous of the Law, and will stand by the covenant, let him come forth after me.

28 So hee and his sonnes fled into the mountaines, and left all that they had in the city.

29 Then many that sought after justice and judgement,

30 Went downe into the wilderness to dwell there, both they, and their children, and their wives and their cattell: for the afflictions increased sore upon them.

31 Now when it was told unto the Kings servants, servants, and to the garrisons, which were in Jerusalem in the cite of David, that men had broken the Kings commandment, and were gone down into the secret places in the wilderness.

32 Then many pursued after them: and having overtaken them, they compassed against them, and set the battell in array against them on the Sabbath day.

33 And said unto them, Let this now be sufficient: come forth and doe according to the commandment of the King, and ye shall live.

34 But they answered, We will not goe forth, neither will we doe the kings commandment, to defile the Sabbath day.

35 Then they gave them the battell.

36 But the other answered them nothing, neither cast any one stone at them, nor stopped the private places.

37 But said, We will die all in our innocence: the heaven and earth shall testify for us, that ye destroy us wrongfully.

38 Thus they gave them the battell upon the Sabbath, and slew both men and cattell, their wives & their children, to the number of a thousand people.

39 ¶ When Mattathias and his friends understood this, they mourned for them greatly.

40 And said one to another, If we all doe as our brethren have done, and fight not against the heathen for our lives, and for our Lawes, then shall they incontinently destroy us out of the earth.

41 Therefore they concluded at the same time, saying, Whosoever shall come to make battell with us upon the Sabbath day, we will fight against him, that we die not all, as our brethren that were murdered in the secret places.

42 Then came unto them the assembly of the Elders, which were of the strongest men of Israel, all such as were well minded toward the Law.

43 And all they that were fled for persecution, joynd themselves unto them, and were an helpe unto them.

44 So they gathered a power, and smote the wicked men in their wrath, and the ungodly in their anger: but the rest fled into the heathen and escaped.

45 Then Mattathias and his friends went about and destroyed the Altars, 46 And circumcised the children by force that were uncircumcised, as many as they found within the coasts of Israel.

47 And they purchased after the yowd men: and this act prospered in their hands.

48 So they recovered the Law out of the hand of the Gentiles, and out of the hand of kings, and gave not place to the wicked.

49 Now when the time drew neere, that Mattathias should die, he sayd unto his sonnes, Now is pride and perfection increased, and the time of destruction, and the wrath of indignation.

50 Now therefore, my sonnes, be ye zealous of the Law, and give your lives for the covenant of our fathers.

51 Call to remembrance what actes our fathers did in their time: so shall ye receive great honour and an everlasting name;

52 ¶ Was not Abraham found faithfull in tentation, and it was imputed unto him for righteousness?

53 ¶ Joseph in the time of his trouble kept the commandment, and was made the lord of Egypt.

54 ¶ Whithers our father, because he was zealous and fervent, obtained the covenant of the everlasting priesthood.

55 ¶ Jesus for fulfilling the word, was made the governor of Israel.

56 ¶ Caleb, because he bare witness before the congregation, received the heritage of the land.

57 ¶ David, because of his mercy, obtained the throne of the kingdom for evermore.

58 ¶ Elias, because he was zealous and fervent in the Law, was taken up even unto heaven.

59 ¶ Ananias, Azarias, and Misael by their faith were delivered out of the flame.

60 ¶ Daniel, because of his innocence, was delivered from the mouth of the Lions.

61 And thus ye may consider how without all ages, that whosoever put their trust in him, shall not want strength.

62 ¶ Feare not ye then the words of a sinful man: for his glory is but dung and wormes.

63 To day is he set up, and to morrow he shall not be found: for he is turned into his dust, and his purpose perished.

64 Wherefore my sonnes, take good hearts, and shew your selves men for the Law: for by it shall you obtaine glory.

65 And behold, I know that your brother Simon is a man of counsell: give care unto him alway: he shall be a father unto you.

66 And Judas Maccabeus hath bene mighty and strong, even from his youth up: let him be your captain, and fight you the battell for the people.

67 Thus shall ye bring unto you all those that observe the Law, and shall avenge the injuries of your people.

68 Recompense fully the heathen, and give your selves to the commandment of the Law.

69 So he blessed them, and was laid with his fathers.

70 And died in the hundredth, fourth and sixt year, and his sonnes buried him in his fathers sepulchre at Modin, and all Israel made great lamentation for him.

10 ¶ But ^a Apollonius gathered the Gentiles, and a great hoste out of Samaria, to fight against Israel.

11 Which when Iudas perceived, hee went forth to meete him, and smote him, and slew him, so that many fell downe slaine, and the rest fledde.

12 So Iudas tooke their spoiles, and tooke also Apollonius' sword, and fought with it all his life long.

13 ¶ Now when Heron a prince of the army of Syria, heard that Iudas had gathered vnto him the congregation, and Church of the faithfull, and went forth to the warre,

14 He said, I will get me a name, and will be glorious in the Realme: for I will goe fight with Iudas, and them that are with him, which haue despised the kings commandement.

15 So he made him ready to go up, and there went with him a mighty hoste of the vngodly to helpe him, and to be auenged of the children of Israel.

16 And when hee came neere to the going by of Beth-horon, Iudas went forth to meete him with a small company.

17 But when they saw the armie coming against them, they sayd to Iudas, how are we able being so few, to fight against so great a multitude, and so strong, seeing we be so weary, and haue fasted all this day?

18 Then said Iudas, It is an easing thing for man to bee shut in the hands of few, and there is no difference before the God of heauen, to deliuer by a great multitude, or by a small company.

19 For the victory of the battell standeth not in the multitude of the hoste, but the strength cometh from heauen.

20 They come against vs with a cruell and proud multitude to destroy vs, and our wives, and our children, and to robbe vs.

21 But we doe fight for our liues, and for our Lawes.

22 And God himselfe will destroy them before our face: therefore be not ye afraid of them.

23 And when he had left off speaking, he leaped suddenly vpon them: so was Heron and his host destroyed by Iudas.

24 And they purged them from the going downe of Beth-horon vnto the plaine: where there were slaine eight hundred men of them, and the residue fled into the land of the Philistines.

25 Then the feare and terrour of Iudas and his brethren fell vpon the nations round about.

26 So that his fame came vnto the King: for all the Gentiles could tell of his warres of Iudas.

27 ¶ But when king Antiochus heard these things, hee was angry in his minde: wherefore he sent forth, and gathered all the power of his Realme, a very strong armie.

28 And opened his treasure, and gaue his holie a yeece wages in hand, commanding them to be ready for a yeece for all occasions.

29 Hee sent helmes, when hee saw that the mony of his treasures failed, and that the treasures in the countrey were small, because of the distillation, and plagues that hee had brought vpon the land, in taking away the Lawes which had bene of olde time,

30 He feared lest he should not haue now at the second time, as at the first, for the charges and gifts that hee had giuen with a liberal hand afore: for in liberallitie hee hadde passed the other Kings that were before him.

31 Wherefore hee was heauie in his minde, and thought to goe into Ierusalem, to take rebukes of the countreys, and to gather much money.

32 So he left Lysias a noble man, and of the Kings blood to successe the kings businesse, from the river of Euphrates, vnto the borders of Egypt.

33 And to bying up his sonne Antiochus, till he came againe.

34 Moreover, he gaue him halfe of his hoste, and Elephants, and gaue him the charge of all things that he would haue done.

35 And concerning those which dwelt in Iuda and Ierusalem, that he should send an armie against them, to destroy a roote out of the people of Israel and the remnant of Ierusalem, and to put out their memoriall from that place.

36 And to let strangers for to inhabite all their quarters, & part their land among them.

37 And the King tooke the halfe of the hoste that remained, and departed from Antiochia his royall cite, in the yeece an hundredth foure and seuen, and passed the river Euphrates, and went thorow the little countreys.

38 Then Lysias chose Ptolemeus the sonne of Dositheus and Sicanos, & Sogias, mighty men and the kings friends, 39 And sent with them foure thousand footmen, and seven thousand horsemen, to goe into the land of Iuda, and to destroy it, as the king commanded.

40 So they went forth with all their power, and came & pitched by [†] Emmaus in the plaine country.

41 Now when the merchants of the countrey heard the rumour of them, they tooke very much silver and gold, and seruantes, and came into the campe to buy the colliozen of Israel for Lawes, and the strength of Syria and of strange nations toynd with them.

42 ¶ Now when Iudas and his brethren saw that trouble increased, and that the holle drew neere vnto their borders, considering the kings words, whereby hee had commanded to destroy the people, and utterly abolish them.

43 They said one to another, Let be the decay of our people, and let vs fight for our people, and for our Sane'rary.

44 Then the congregation were soone ready gathered to fight, and to pray, and to desire mercie and compassion.

45 As for Ierusalem, it was not inhabited, but was as a wilderness. There went none that was doyme in it, in or out at it, and the Sanctuary

Sanctuary was troden downe, and the strangers kept the forteſſe, and it was the habitation of the heathen: and the mirch of Jacob was taken away: the pipe and the harpe ceaſed.

46 So they gathered themſelves together, and came to Belpha before Jeruſalem: for in Belpha was the place where they prayed alwaies in Iſrael.

47 And they faſted that day, and put ſackcloth upon them, & caſt aſhes upon their heads, and rent their clothes.

48 And opened the booke of the Law, where in the heathen ſought to paint the likeniſſe of their idols.

49 And brought the Priests garments, and the ſilk ſuits, and the robes, and ſet there the ſacrifices, which accompliſhed their dayes.

50 And they cried with a loud voyce toward heaven, ſaying, What ſhall we doe with theſe? and whether ſhall we carry them away?

51 For the Sanctuary is troden downe and deſtroyed, and the Priests are in heavineſſe, and brought downe.

52 And behold, the heathen are come againſt vs, to deſtroy vs: thou knoweſt what things they imagine againſt vs.

53 How can we ſtand beſore them, except thou helpe vs?

54 Then they blew the trumpets, and cried with a loud voyce.

55 And aſſe, & this Judas ordeined captaines over the people, even captaines over thouſands, and captaines over hundreds, and captaines over fifties, and captaines over tens.

56 And they commanded them that builded houſes, or married wives, or planted vineyards, or were fearful, that they ſhould returne every one to his owne houſe, according to the Law.

57 So the hoſte remooved, and pitched upon the South ſide of Emmaus.

58 And Judas ſaid, Arise you ſelfes, and be valiant men, and be ready againſt the morning to fight with theſe nations, which are gathered together againſt vs, to deſtroy vs and our Sanctuary.

59 For it is better for vs to die in battell, then to ſee the calamities of our people, and of our Sanctuary.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Judas goeth againſt Gorgias which lyeth in wait.

14 He putteth Gorgias and his hoſte to flight. 28 Lyſias invadeth Judea. 29 But Judas crieth him out.

43 Judas purifieth the Temple, and dedicateth the Altar.

Then tooke Gorgias five thouſand ſcore men and a thouſand of the beſt boiſemen, and departed out of the campe by night.

2 To invaide the campe of the Jewes, and to ſlay them ſuddenly, and the men of the forteſſe were his guides.

2 Now when Judas heard it, he remooved, and they that were valiant men, to ſuſtaine the Kings army which was at Emmaus.

4 And ſee yet the army was diſperſed from the campe.

5 In the meane ſeaſon came Gorgias by night unto Judas campe: and when he found no man there, he ſought them in the mountaynes: for, ſaid he, they flee from vs.

6 But aſſoon as it was day, Judas ſet himſelfe in the field with three thouſand men, which had neither harme nor ſuſpitions to their minds.

7 And they ſaw that the armies of the heathen were ſtrong, and well armed, and their boiſemen about them, and that there were many men of warre.

8 Then ſaid Judas to the men that were with him, Feare ye not their multitude, neither be afraid of their aſſault.

9 Remember how our Fathers were delivred in the red Sea, when Pharaoh purſued them with an army.

10 Therefore now let vs cry unto heaven, and the Lord will have mercy upon vs, and remember the covenant of our fathers, and will deſtroy this hoſte beſore our face this day.

11 So ſhall all the heathen know, that there is one which deſerveth and ſaureth Iſrael.

12 Then the ſtrangers liſt up their eyes, and ſaw them cumming againſt them.

13 And they went out of their tents into the battell, and they that were with Judas, blew the trumpets.

14 So they joyned together, and the heathen were diſcomfited, and fled by the plaine.

15 But the hindmoſt of them ſet by the ſword, and they purſued them unto Gazer, and into the plaines of Betmea, and of Agoron, and of Samſa, ſo that there were ſlaine of them about three thouſand men.

16 So Judas turned againe with his hoſte, from purſuing them.

17 And ſaid unto the people, Be not greedy of the ſpoiles: for there is a battell beſore vs.

18 And Gorgias and the army is here by vs in the mountain: but ſtand ye now ſtill againſt your enemies, and overcome them: then ſhall we ſafely take the ſpoiles.

19 As Judas was ſpeaking theſe wordes, there appeared one part which looked from the mountaynes.

20 But when Gorgias ſaw that his were ſled, and that Judas ſouldiers burnt the tents: (for the ſmoake that was leene, declared what was done.)

21 When they ſaw theſe things, they were ſore afraid, and when they ſaw alſo that Judas and his hoſte were in the field ready to let themſelves in array,

22 They fled every one into the land of ſtrangers.

23 So Judas turned againe to ſpoyle the tents, where he gat much gold and ſilver, and precious ſtones, and purple of the ſea, and great riches.

24 Thus they went home, and ſung Pſalmes and prayed toward the heaven: for he is gracious and his mercy endureth for ever.

25 And ſo Iſrael had a great victory in that day.

26 ¶ Now all the ſtrangers that eſcaped, came, and told Lyſias all the things that were done.

27 Who when he heard theſe things, was ſore afraid & diſcourage, becauſe ſuch things came not vnto Iſrael as he would, neither ſuch things as the king had commanded him, came to paſſe.

28 Therefore the next yere following, gathered Lyſias threeſcore thouſand choſen men.

men, and four thousand horsemen to fight against Jerusalem.

29 So they came into I Idumea, and pitched their tents at I Beth-lura, where Iudas came against them with ten thousand men.

30 And when he saw that mighty armie, hee prayed, and said, Blessed be thou, O Saviour of Israel, * whiche wilt destroy the assault of the mighty man by the hand of thy servant David, * and gawest the booke of the strangers into the hand of Jonathan the sonne of Saul, and of his armour-bearer.

31 Shur up this army in the hand of thy people of Israel, and let them be confounded with their power, and with their horsemen.

32 Make them afraid, and consume their boldnesse and strenght, that they may be astonished at their destruction.

33 Cast them downe by the sword of them that loue thee: then shal all they that know thy name, praise thee with songs.

34 So they ioyned together, and there were slaine of Lyfias host four thousand men, and they still befote them.

35 When Lyfias, seeing his army put to flight, and the mannesse of Iudas souldiers, and that they were ready, either to liue or die valiantly, he went into Antiochia, & gathered strangers, and when he had furnished his army, he thought againe (being prepared) to come against Iudaea.

36 Then said Iudas & his brethren, Behold, our enemies are discomfited: let vs now goe up, to cleanse, and to reparate the Sanctuary.

37 So all the hoste gathered them together, and went up into the mountaine of Sion.

38 Now when they saw the Sanctuary layd waste, and the altar defiled, and the domes burnt up, and the shrubs growing in the courts, as in a forest, or as on one of the mountaines, and that the Priests chambers were broken downe, 39 They rent their clothes, and made great lamentation, and cast ashes vpon their heads.

40 And fell downe to the ground on their faces, and blew an alarme with the trumpets, and cried toward heauen.

41 Then Iudas commanded certaine of the men to fight against those that were in the castle, till he had cleansed the Sanctuary.

42 So these Priests that were undefiled, such as delighted in the law.

43 And they cleansed the Sanctuary, and bare out the defiled stones into an vnclense place.

44 And considered what to doe with the altar of burnt offerings which was polluted.

45 So they thought it was best to destroy it, lest it should be a reproch vnto them, because the heathen had defiled it: therefore they destroyed the altar.

46 And layd vpon the stones vpon the mountaine of the Temple in a conuenient place, till there should come a prophet, to shew what should be done with them.

47 So they took whole stones according to the Law, and builded a new altar according to the former,

48 And made by the Sanctuary, and the things that were within the Temple, and the courts, and all things.

49 They made also new holy vessels, and brought into the Temple the candlesticks, and the altar of burnt offerings, and of incense, and the table.

50 And they burnt incense vpon the altar, and lighted the lamps which were vpon the candlesticks, that they might burne in the Temple.

51 They let also the shewbread vpon the table, and hangd by the vases, and finished all the works that they had begun to make.

52 And vpon the five and twentieth day of the ninth month, which is called the month of Chassen, in the hundredth and eight and fortieth yeere they rose by betimes in the morning.

53 And offered sacrifice according to the Law, vpon the new altar of burnt offerings, that they had made.

54 According to the time, and according to the day, that the heathen had defiled it, in the same day. Was it made new with songs, and harps, and lutes, and cymbals.

55 And all the people fell vpon their faces, worshipping and praying toward the heauen him that had giuen them good successe.

56 So they kept the dedication of the altar eight daies, offering burnt offerings with gladnesse, and offered sacrifices of deliuerance and praye.

57 And decked the forefront of the Temple with crownes of gold & shields, and dedicated the gates and chambers, and hangd doores vpon them.

58 Thus there was very great gladnesse among the people, and the reproch of the heathen was put away.

59 So Iudas and his brethren with the whole congregation of Israel ordeined that the dayes of dedication of the altar should be kept in their season from yeere to yeere, by the space of eight dayes, from the five and twentieth day of the month Chassiu, with mirth and gladnesse.

60 And at the same time bulfied they vpon mount Sion with his walles & strong towres round about, lest the Gentiles should come and tread it downe, as they had done afore.

61 Therefore they set a garison there to keepe it, and fortified Beth-lura, to keepe it, that the people might haue a defence against Idumea.

C H A P. V.

3 Iudas vanquished the heathen that gon about to destroy Israel, and u helpers of his brethren Simon and Jonathan. 50 Her overthrow the cite of Ephron, because they denied him passage therow it.

Now when the nations round about heard, ^{1. 1. 1.} that the altar was bulfied, and the Sanctuary renewed as afore, they were sore grieved.

2 Therefore they thought to destroy the generation of Jacob that was among them, and began to slay and destroy the people.

3 Then Iudas fought against the children of Esau in Idumea at I Arababene, because they besieged the Israelites, and he smote them with a great plague, and diuoe them to straits, and tooke their spoiles.

4 He thought also vpon the mallice of the children of Beniamin, which had bene a snare and a hinderance vnto the people, when they lay in wait for them in the high way.

5 Therefore he sent them by in towres, and besieged besieged them, and destroyed them utterly, and burnt their towers with fire, with all that were therein.

6 Afterward, went he against the children of Ammon, where hee found a mightier power, and a great multitude with Timotheus their captain.

7 So hee had many battels with them, but they were destroyed before him, and so hee discomfited them.

8 And tooke Sazer, with the towne thereof, and so turned againe into Judea.

9 Then the heathen that were in Galaad, gathered them together against the Israelites that were in their quarters, to slay them: but they fled to the castle of Dabemam.

10 And sent letters to Judas, and to his brethren, saying, The heathen that are about vs, are gathered against vs, to destroy vs.

11 And they make them ready for to come, and to take the fortresse, whereunto we are fled, and Timotheus is captain of their hoste.

12 Come now therefore, and deliuer vs out of their hands: for many of vs are slaine.

13 And all our brethren that were at Tabin, are slaine, and they haue taken away their wives and their children, and their goods, and destroyed there almost a thousand men.

14 While these letters were yet a reading, behold, there came other messengers from Galle, with their clothes rent, which told the same tidings.

15 And said that they of Beotemats, and of Tyus, and of Sodon, and of all Galle of the Gentiles were gathered against them to destroy them.

16 When Judas and the people heard these wordes, a great congregation came together, to consult what they might doe for their brethren that were in trouble, and whom they desired.

17 Then said Judas to Simon his brother, Thus thee our men, and go and deliuer thy brethren in Galle, and I and my brother Jonathan will goe into the country of Galaad.

18 So hee left Iosiphus the sonne of Zacharias, and Arias to bee captains of the people, and to keepe the remnant of the hoste in Judea.

19 And commanded them, saying, Take the oversight of this people, and make no warre against the heathen until we come againe.

20 And unto Simon were given three thousand men, to goe into Galle, and to Judas eight thousand men for the country of Galaad.

21 Then went Simon into Galle, and gaue diuers battels to the heathen, and the heathen were discomfited by him.

22 And hee pursued them vnto the gates of Beotemats: and there were slaine of the heathen almost three thousand men: so hee tooke their spoiles.

23 Thus they returned them that were in Galle and in Beotemats, with their wives, and their children, and all that they had, & brought them into Judea with great loy.

24 ¶ Judas Baccabaeus also and his brother Jonathan went ouer Iordan, and trauelled three dayes journey in the wilderness.

25 Where they met with the Gadabites, who refreshed them longly, & told them every thing that was done vnto their brethren in the country of Galaad.

26 And how that many of them were besieged in Boloza, and Bolo, in Aclais, ¶ Chabon, Baged, and Carnaim (all these cities are strong and great.)

27 And that they were kept in other cities of Galaad, and to morrow they are appointed to bring their hoste vnto these forts, and to take them, and to destroy them all in one day.

28 So Judas & his hoste turned in all haste by the way of the wilderness toward Boloza, and wanne the cite, and slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and tooke all their spoile, and set fire vpon the cite.

29 And in the night he removed from thence: and went toward the fortresse.

30 And betimes in the morning when they looked vp, behold, there was an innumerable people bearing ladders, and instruments of warre, to take the fort, and had assaulted them.

31 When Judas saw that the battell was begun, and that the cry of the cite went vp to heauen with trumpets, and a great sound, 32 Then hee laid vnto the arme, Fight this day for your brethren.

33 So hee went forth behind them with three companies, and they blew the trumpets, and cried with prayer.

34 Then the hoste of Timotheus knew, that it was Baccabaeus, and they fled from him, and hee smote them with a great slaughter, so that there were killed of them the same day, almost eight thousand men.

35 ¶ Then departed Judas vnto Bafpba, and laid siege vnto it, and wanne it, and slew all the males thereof, and spoiled it, and set fire vpon it.

36 From thence went hee and tooke Chabon, Baged, and Bolo, and the other cities in Galaad.

37 After these things, gathered Timotheus another hoste, and hee camped before Raphon beyond the flood.

38 Now Judas had sent to espie the host, and they brought him word againe, saying, All the heathen that bee round about vs, are gathered vnto him, and the hoste is very great.

39 And hee had hired the Arabians to helpe them, and they haue pitched their tents beyond the flood, and are ready to come & fight against thee. So Judas went to meet them.

40 Then Timotheus said vnto the captains of his hoste, When Judas and his hoste come neere the flood, if hee passe ouer first vnto vs, wee shall not be able to withstand him: for hee will be too strong for vs.

41 But if hee be afraid, and campe beyond the flood, wee will goe ouer vnto him, and shall pursue a gainst him.

42 Now when Judas came neere to the flood, hee caused the gouernours of the people to remaine by the flood, and commanded them, saying, Suffer none to pitch a tent, but let every man come to the battell.

43 So hee went first ouer toward them, and all the people after him: and all the heathen were discomfited before him, & cast away their weapons, and fled into the temple that was at Carnaim,

108. c. 110. n.

44 Which cite Judas wanne, and burnt the Temple with all that were in it: so was Carnahu subdued, and might not withstand Judas.

45 ¶ Then Judas gathered all the Israelites that were in the countrey of Galaad from the least unto the most, with their wives and their children, and their baggage, a very great hoste, to come into the land of Juda.

46 So they came unto Ephron, which was a great cite by the way, and strongly defended: they could not passe neither at the right hand nor at the left, but must goe thowen it.

47 But they that were in the city, shut themselves in, and stopped up the gates with stones: and Judas sent unto them with peaceable words, saying,

48 Let vs passe thowen your land, that wee may goe into our owne countrey, and none shall hurt you: we will but onely goe thowen on foot: but they would not open unto him.

49 Wherefore Judas commanded a proclamation to bee made throughout the hoste, that every man should assault it according to his standing.

50 So the valliant men set upon it, & assaulted the cite all that day, and all that night, and the cite was given over into his hands:

51 And he slew all the males with the edge of the sword, and destroyed it, and tooke the spoile thereof, and went thowen the cite over them that were slain.

52 Then went they over Jordan into the great plaine beside Bethsan.

53 And Judas gathered together those that were behind, and gaue the people good exhortation all the way thowen, till they were come into the land of Juda.

54 Thus they went up with joy and gladnes unto mount Sion, where they offered burnt offerings, because there were none of them slain, but came home againe in safete.

55 ¶ Now wifles Judas & Jonathan were in the land of Galaad, and Simon their brother in Galilee beside Ptolemais.

56 Joseph the sonne of Zacharias and Azarias the captaine, hearing of the valliant actes, and battels which they had atcheued, said, 57 Let vs get vs a name also, and goe fight against the heathen that are round about vs.

58 So they gaue their host a commandement and went toward Iamnia.

59 But Gorgias and his men came out of the city to fight against them.

60 And Joseph & Azarias were put to flight, and pursued unto the borders of Iudas: and there were slain that day of the people of Israel about two thousand men: so that there was a great overthrow among the people of Israel:

61 Because they were not obedient unto Judas and his brethren, but thought to doe some valliant thing.

62 Also they came out of the stroke of these men, by whose hands deliuerance was giuen to Israel.

63 But the man Judas, and his brethren were greatly commended in the sight of all Israel, and of all the heathen, whereouer their name was heard of.

64 And the people came unto them, blidding them welcome.

65 Afterward went Judas south with his brethren, & sought against the children of Elion in the land toward the South, where he wanne Pedion, and the towne thereof, and he destroyed the castle thereof, and burnt the towne thereof round about.

66 Then removed hee to goe into the land of the strangers, and went thowen Samaria.

67 At the same time were the Priests of the city slain in the battell, which would shew force valliantlike, and went forth to battell without counsell: and when Judas came to Azotus in the strangers land, he brake downe their altars, and burnt with fire the images of their gods, and tooke away the spoiles of the cities, & came againe into the land of Iuda.

2 Antiochus willing to take the cite of Elimais, is driven away of the citizens. 8 He falleth into sickness, and death. 17 His sonne Antiochus is made King. 34 The manner to provoke elephants to fight. 43 Eliaz, a valiant alle. 48 The siege of Sion.

NOW when king Antiochus traualled thowen the big countrey, hee heard that Elimais in the countrey of Berthia, was a city greatly renowned for riches, siluer, and gold.

2 And that there was in it a very rich temple, whereas were coverings of gold, coats-armours, and harness, which Alexander King of Macedonia the sonne of Philip (that reigned first in Grecia) had left there.

3 Wherefore he went about to take the city, and to spoile it, but he was not able: for the citizens were warned of the matter.

4 And rose up against him in battell, and he fled and departed thence with great heaviness, and came againe into Babylon.

5 Moreover, there came one which brought him tidings in the countrey of Berthia, that the armies that went against the land of Iuda, were driven away.

6 And that Apollas, which went south first with a great power, was driven away of the Jewes, and that they were made strong by the armour, and power, and diuers spoiles which they had gotten of the armies whom they had destroyed.

7 And that they had pulled downe the adoration, which he had set up upon the altar of Jerusalem, and fenced the Sanctuary with high walles as it was afore, and Beth-sara his city.

8 So when the king had heard these words, he was astonished, and sore moued: therfore he layd him downe upon his bed, and fell sicke for very sorrow, because it was not come to passe as he had thought.

9 And there continued hee many dayes: for his griefe was more and more, so that hee saw that he must needs die.

10 Therfore he sent for all his friends, and said unto them, The sleepe is gone from mine eyes, and mine heart faileth for very care.

11 And I thinke with my selfe, Into what aduersitie am I come, and into what floods of miserie am I fallen now, whereas aforetime I was in prosperitie, and greatly set by, by reason of my power!

12 And now doe I remember the custodie

I have done at Jerusalem: for I took all the vessels of golde and silver that were in it, and sent to destroy the inhabitants of Iuda without cause.

13 I know that these troubles are come upon me for the same cause, and behold, I must die with great sorrow in a strange land.

14 Then called hee for Heliys one of his friends, whom he made ruler of all his Realme, 15 And gave him the crowne, and his robe, and the ring, that hee should instruct his sonne Antiochus, and bring him up, till hee might reigne himselfe.

16 So King Antiochus died there in the hundredth and fourty and ninth yere.

17 When Lysias knew that the King was dead, hee ordained Antiochus his sonne (whom hee had brought up) to reigne in his fathers stead, and called him Eupator.

18 Now they that were in the castle at Jerusalem, kept in the Israelites round about the Sanctuary, and fought alwayes their hurt, and the strengthening of the brethren.

19 Therefore Judas thought to destroy them, and called all the people together to besiege them.

20 So they came together, and besieged them in the hundredth and fifty yere, and made instruments to shoot, and other engines of warre.

21 But certaine of them that were besieged, gave forth, (unto whom some ungodly men of Ierusalem loved themselves.)

22 And they went unto the King, saying, How long wilt thou cease from executing indgement, and avenge our brethren?

23 We have bene ready to keepe thy Father and to goe forward in those things, that hee appointed, and to obey his commandments.

24 Therefore they of our nation fell from us for this cause, and wherefore they found any of us, they slew them, and spoiled our inheritance.

25 And they have not onely layde hand upon us, but upon all about their borders.

26 And behold, this day are they besieging the castle at Jerusalem to take it, and have fortified the Sanctuary, and Beth-sura.

27 And if thou dost not prevent them quickly, they will doe greater things then these, and thou shalt not be able to overcome them.

28 When the King heard this, hee was very angry, and called all his friends, the Captaines of his armie, and his boylmen, 29 And bands that were hired, came unto him from the Kings, that were consederate, and from the Isles of the Sea.

30 So the number of his armie was an hundredth thousand footemen, and twenty thousand boylmen, and two and thirte Elephants exercised in battell.

31 These came through Ioumen, and betwixt were to Beth-sura, and besieged it a long season, and made engines of warre: but they came out and burnt them with fire, and fought valiantly.

32 Then departed Judas from the castle, and remoued the hoste toward Beth-zacarias, our against the Kings campe.

33 So the King arose very early, and brought the armie and his power toward the way of Beth-zacarias, where the armie lay themselves in aray to the battell, and blew the trumpets.

34 And to provoke the elephants for to fight, they shewed them the blood of grapes and mulberries.

35 And they set the beasts according to the ranges: so that by every Elephant there stood a thousand men armed with coats of mail and helmets of brass upon their heads, and two or every beast were ordained their hundredth boylmen of the beast.

36 Which were ready at all times wherefore the beast was: and whithersoever the beast went, they went also, and departed not from him.

37 And upon them were strong towres of wood that covered every beast, which were fastened thereon with instruments, and upon every one was two or thirly men that fought in them, and the Indian that ruleth him.

38 They set also the remnant of the boylmen upon both the sides in two wings of the hoste, to strike them by and to keepe them in the valleys.

39 And when the Sunne shone upon the golden shields, the mountaines glistered therewith, and gave light as lampes of fire.

40 Thus part of the Kings armie was spiran upon the high Mountaines, and part beneath: so they marched forward warily, and in order.

41 And all they that heard the noise of their multitude, and the marching of the companie and the rattling of the harness, were astonished: for the armie was very great and mighty.

42 Then Judas and his host entered into the battell, and they strike first hundredth men of the kings armie.

all harness, and was more excellent then all the other beasts, he thought that the king should see upon him.

44 Wherefore hee leaped out himselfe to destroy his people, and to get him a perpetual name, 45 And ranne boldly unto him through the middes of the hoste, slaying on the right hand and on the left, so that they departed away on both sides.

46 So went hee to the Elephants side, and gave him vnder him, and slew him, then fell the Elephant downe upon him and there hee died.

47 But the other, seeing the power of the king, and the fiercenesse of his armie, departed from them.

48 And the kings armie went by to mette them toward Jerusalem, and the king pitched his tents in Iuda toward mount Zion.

49 Wherefore the king tooketh tract with them that were in Beth-sura: but when they came out of the citie, because they had no victuals there, and were shut up therein, and the land had rested,

50 The king tooketh Beth-sura, and set there a garrison to keepe it, 51 And besieged the Sanctuary many daies, and made instruments to shoot, and other engines of warre, and instruments to cast fire and stones, and pieces to cast darts and slings.

52 They also made engines against their engines, and fought a long season.

53 But in the garners there were no victuals, for it was the seventh yere, and therefore that were in Judea, and were delivered from the Gentiles, had eaten up the residue of the flowe, 54 So that in the Sanctuary were few men left: for the famine came so upon them, that they were scattered every man to his owne place.

55 How when Lyllias heard that Philip, (whome Antiochus the King had killed here), had ordained to bring up Antiochus his sonne, (as he might be King)

56 Was come againe out of Persia and Media and he King's holts with him, and thought to take unto him the rule of things,

57 Hee and his halles, & were directed forward by them in the castle to goe & tell the King, and the Captaines of the host, and to others, saying, Wee decrease daily, and our victuals are but small: and the place that we lay siege unto, is strong, and the affaires of the realme depend upon vs.

Or, G. no hands,

58 Now therefore let us agree with these men, and take truce with them, and with all their nation,

59 And graunt them to live after their Law, as they did afore: for they bee grieued, and doe all these things, because wee have broken their Lawes.

60 So the King and the Princes were content, and sent unto them to make peace, and they receiued it.

61 When the King and the Princes had made an oath unto them, they came upon this out of the fortreffe.

62 And the King went vp to mount Sion: but when he saw that the place was well defended, hee brake his oath that hee had made, and commanded to breake downe the wall round about.

63 Then departed hee in all haste, and returned unto Antiochia, where hee found Philip beating downe of the citie: so he fought against him, and tooke the citie by force.

Isaiah, An. 12, chap. 5,

1 In the hundredth and one and fiftieth yeere, departed Demetrius the sonne of Seleucus from Rome, and came vp with a few men unto a citie of the Sea coast, and reigned there.

2 And when hee came into the possession of his Father's kingdom, his souldiers tooke Antiochus and Lyllias, and brought them unto him.

3 But when it was told him, hee said, Shew me not their faces.

4 So they put them to death. Now when Demetrius was set upon the throne of his Kingdom,

5 There came unto him all the wicked and ungodly men of Israel: whose captaine was Alcimus, that would haue bene the high Priest.

6 These men accused the people unto the King, saying, Judas and his brethren haue slaine all thy friends, and driven vs out of our owne land.

7 Therefore send thou some man, to whome thou trustest, that hee may goe and see all the destruction, which he hath done unto vs, and to the Kings land, and let him punish them with all their partakers.

8 Then the King chose Bacchides a friend of his, which was a great man in the Recline, and ruled beyond the flood, and was faithfull unto the King, and sent him.

9 And that wicked Alcimus, whom he made high Priest, and commanded him to be auenger of the children of Israel.

10 So they departed, and came with a great hoste into the land of Iuda, and sent messengers to Judas and his brethren, deceitfully with peaceable words.

11 But they beleuened not their sayings: for they saw that they were come with a great host.

12 Then a company of the gouernours assembled unto Alcimus and Bacchides to intercede of reasonable points.

13 And the 14 Abneans were the first that required peace among the children of Israel.

14 For, sayde they, he that is a Priest of the seed of Aaron, is come with this armie: therefore hee will not hurt vs.

15 Then hee spake unto them peaceably, and swore unto them, and sayde, Will I doe you no harme, neither your friends?

16 And they beleuened him: but hee tooke of them thre score men, and slew them in one day, according to the words that were written,

17 They haue cast the bodies of thy Saints, and their blood round about Ierusalem, & there was no man that would bury them.

18 So there came a feare and a trembling among all the people: for they sayde, There is neuer truer nor righter ouersight in them: for they haue broken the appointment, and orde that they made.

19 Then Bacchides removed from Ierusalem, and pitched his tent at Beth-zeth, where hee sent forth & tooke many of the men that had forsaken him, and certaine of the people, whom hee slew and cast into the great pit.

20 Then committed hee the country unto Alcimus, and left men of war with him to helpe him: so Bacchides went unto the King.

21 Thus Alcimus strove for the Priestshoop.

22 And all such as troubled the people, resented unto him: in such that they obtained the land of Iuda, and did much hurt in Israel.

23 Now when Judas sawe all the mischief that Alcimus and his company had done among the Iudaicces more then the heathen,

24 Hee went forth round about all the borders of Iuda, and punished those that were fallen away, so that they came no more abroad in the country,

25 But when Alcimus sawe that Judas and his people had gotten the upper hand, and knew that hee was not able to abide them, hee went againe to the King, and accused them of wicked things.

26 Then the King sent Ptolemee one of his chief Princes, which hated Israel dearly, and commanded him that hee should destroy the people.

27 So Ptolemee came to Ierusalem with a great host, and sent unto Judas and his brethren deceitfully with friendly words, saying,

28 Let there be no warre betwene mee and you, I will come with few men, to see how ye doe friendly.

men consulted daily, and provided for the common affairs, to govern them well.

16 And that they committed their government to one man every year, who did rule over all their country, to whom every man was obedient: and there was neither hatred nor enmity among them.

17 ¶ Then Judas chose Eleazar the son of John, the sonne of Aseu, and Jason the sonne of Eleazar, and sent them vnto Rome, to make friendship and mutuall fellowship with them.

18 That they might take from them the yoke (for they saw that the kingdome of the Grecians would keepe Israel in bondage.)

¶ Or, Counsell. 19 So they went vnto Rome, which was a very great journey, and came into the Senate, where they spake, and said, 20 Judas Maccabees with his brethren, and the people of the Jewes hath sent vs vnto you, to make a bond of friendship and peace with you, and yet to register vs as your partakers and friends.

21 And the matter pleased them.

22 And this is the copy of the Epistle that they wrote in tables of brasse, and sent to Jerusalem, that they might haue by them a memoriall of the peace and mutuall fellowship.

23 Good successe be to the Romanes, and to the people of the Jewes, by sea and by land forever, and the sword and enemie be from them.

24 If there come first any warre vpon the Romanes, or any of their signiors throughout all their dominion,

25 The people of the Jewes shall helpe them, as the time shall be appointed with all their heart.

¶ Or, the Romanes. 26 Also if they shall giue nothing to them that come to fight for them, nor serue them with wheate nor weapons, nor money, nor shippes, as it pleaseth the Romanes, but if they shall keepe their covenants without taking any thing of them.

¶ Or, the Jewes. 27 Likewise also, if warre come first against the nation of the Jewes, the Romanes shall helpe them with a good will, according as the time shall be appointed them.

28 Neither shall what be giuen unto them, that take their part, nor weapons, nor money, nor shippes, as it pleaseth the Romanes, who will keepe their covenants without deceit.

29 According to these Articles the Romanes made the bond with the people of the Jewes.

30 If after these points the one party, or the other will adde or diminish, they may doe it at their pleasures, and whatsoeuer they shall adde or take away, shall be ratified.

31 And as touching the enill that Demetrius hath done vnto the Jewes, we haue written vnto him, saying, Wherefore layest thou thine heauie yoke vpon our friends and confederates the Jewes?

32 If therefore they complaine any more against thee, we will doe them Justice, and fight with thee by sea and by land.

CHAP. IX.

2 After the death of Nicanor, Demetrius findeth his army against Judas, 18 Judas is slain, 31 Jonathan is put to the head of his brother, 47 The battell betweene Jonathan and Bacchides, 55 Alcimus is smitten with the pal-se, and dieth, 68 He commeth vpon Jonathan by the way, full of carcases, wicked persons, and impietie, 70 The traitor of Jonathan with Bacchides.

¶ In the meane season, when Demetrius had heard how Alcimus and his people had giuen the battell, bee sent Bacchides and Alcimus against Iudas, and his chief strength with them.

2 So they went forth by the way that leadeth to Tadmor Galgala, and pitched their tents before Bethsai, which is in Atridra, and sent it, and slew much people.

3 And in the first moneth of the hundred fiftie and two yere, they laid their siege against Jerusalem.

4 But they raised their campe, and came to Berca with twenty thousand foot men, and two thousand horsemen.

5 Now Judas had pitched his tent at Eleatha, and three thousand chosen men with him.

6 And when they saw that the multitude of the army was great, they were sore afraid, and many conueyed themselves out of the battell, so that there abode no more of them but eight hundred men.

7 When Judas saw that his host failed him, and that he must needs fight, he was sore troubled in mind, that he had no time to gather them together, and was discouraged.

8 Nevertheless, he said vnto them that remained, Let us rise, and goe by against our enemies, if peradventure we may bee able to fight with them.

9 Furthermore he said vnto them, saying, We are not able to let us rather haue our lines: come backe now, seeing our brethren are departed: for shall we fight against them that are so few?

10 Then Judas said, God forbid: that wee should doe this thing, to flee from them: if our time be come, let vs be manifestly for our brethren, and let vs not shame our house.

11 Then the hoste remooued out of the tents, and stood against them, who had diuided their horsemen into two troupes, and they that they with slings, and the archers marched in the forefront, and they that fought in the forefront were all valiant men.

12 And Bacchides was in the right wing, and the army drew neere on both sides, and blew the trumpets.

13 They of Judas also blew the trumpets also, and the earth shook at the noise of the armies, and the battell continued from morning to night.

14 And when Judas saw that Bacchides and the strength of his armie was on the right side, he tooke with him all the hardy men,

15 And tooke the right wing, and followed vpon them vnto mount Sion.

16 Now when they which were of the left wing, saw that the right wing was discomfited, they followed Iudas bringe, and them that were with him, hard at the heels.

17 Then was there a sore battell: for many were slaine of both the parties.

18 Judas also himselfe was killed, and the remnant fled.

19 So Jonathan and Sion took Iudas their brother, and buried him in his fathers sepulchre.

Jonathas in the citie of Bethan.

20 And all the Israelites wept for him, and mourned greatly for him, and lamented many dayes, saying,

21 How is the valliant man fallen, which do-loured Israel!

22 Concerning the other things of Judas, both the battles & the valliant actes that hee did, and of his worthinesse, they are not written: for they were very many.

23 How after the death of Judas, wicked men came vp in at the cracks of Israel, and there arose all such as gaue themselves to iniquitie.

24 In those dayes was there a very great famine in the land, and all the country gaue one themselves wth them.

25 And Bacchides deu-chuse wicked men, and made them Iudues in the land.

26 These sought out, and made search for Judas his friends, and brought them vnto Bacchides, which auenged himselfe vpon them, and mocked them.

27 And there came to great trouble in Israel, as was not since the time that no Prophet was seene among them.

28 Then came all Judas friends together,
and said vnto Jonathan,

29 Seeing thy brother Judas is dead, and there is none like him to goe forth against our enemies, euen against Bacchides, and against them of our nation that are enemies vnto vs.

30 Therefore this day wee chuse thee that thou mayest bee our prince and capitaine in his place to order our battell.

31 So Jonathan tooke the gouernance vpon him at the same tyme, and ruled in stead of his brother Judas.

32 But when Bacchides knew it, hee sought foe to slay him.

33 Then Jonathan and Simon his brother perceiving that, fled into the wilderness of Thebena with all their company, and pitched their tents by the waterpools of Ephar.

34 Which when Bacchides vnderstood, hee came our Iorden with all his hoste vpon the Sabbath day.

35 How had Jonathan sent his brother John a captaine of the people, to pray his friends the Sabathiers, that they would keepe their daggers which was much.

36 But the children of Amhal came out of Medaba, and tooke John, and all that hee had,
and when they had taken it, went their way.

37 After this came word vnto Jonathan, and to Simon his brother, that the children of Am-hal made a great marriage, and brought the bride from Medaba with great pompe: for hee was daughter to one of the noble Princes of Canaan.

38 Therefore they remembered John their brother, and went vp and hid themselves vnder the couert of the mountaine.

39 So they lift vp their eyes, and looked, and behold, there was a great noyse, and much preparation: then the bridegrome came forth, and his friends; & his brethren met them with tym-pells and instruments of musicks, and many wrappings.

40 Then Jonathans men that lay in ambush told vs against them, and slew many of them, and the remnant fled into the mountaines, so that they took all their spoyle.

41 How the marriage was turned to moun-taining, and the noyse of their melodie into lamentation.

42 And so when they had auenged the blood of their brother, they turned againe vnto Jor-den.

43 When Bacchides heard this, he came vnto the border of Iorden with a great power vpon
the Sabbath day.

44 Then Jonathan said vnto his company,
Let vs rise now, and fight against our enemies:
for it is not to day as in time past.

45 Behold, the battell is before vs, and behind vs, and the water of Iorden on this side that side, and the marke and foyle, so that there is no place for vs to turne aside.

46 Wherefore cry now vnto brauen, that ye may bee deliuered from the power of your enemies: so they sayed battell.

47 Then Jonathan stretched out his hand to smite Bacchides, but hee turned aside from him and reuelt.

48 Then Jonathan and they that were with him leape into Iorden, and swammed ouer vnto the further bank: but the other would not passe through Iorden after them.

49 So in that day were slaine of Bacchides fifty about a thousand men.

50 Then he turned againe to Ierusalem, and built up the strong cities in Iuda, as the castle of Iericho, and Cammans, and Berthoson, and Bethel, and Camnaths, Epharathoni, and I Ticho, with his walls, with gates, and with barres.

51 And let garisons in them, that they might be their water vpon Israel.

52 He fortified also the citie of Beth-lura, and Gopara, and the castle, and let a garison in them with prouision of victuals.

53 Hee tooke also the chiefeest mens houses in the country for hostages, and put them in the castle at Ierusalem to be kept.

54 Afterward in the hundredth fiftie and thier yere, in the second moneth, Alcimus commanded that the wallies of the inner court of the Sanctuary should be destroyed, and hee pulled downe the monuments of the Prophets, and began to destroy them.

55 But at the same time Alcimus was plagued, and his enterpises were hindered, and his mouth was stopped: for hee was smitten with a palsy, and could no more speake, nor giue order concerning his house.

56 Thus dyed Alcimus with great rayment at the same tyme.

57 And when Bacchides saw that Alci-mus was dead, he returned againe to the King, and to the land of Iuda was in rest two yeres.

58 Then all the vngodly men held a counsil, saying, Behold, Jonathan, and his company dwell at ease, and without care: wherefore let vs bring Bacchides hither, and hee will take them all in one night.

59 So they went and consulted with him.

60 Who arose and came with a great hoste, and sent letters priuily to his adherents, which were in Iuda, to take Jonathan, and those that were with him: but they could not, for

|| Or, Jonathan,

their council was known unto you.
61 And they took possession of the country, which were the chief weapons of this wickedness, and slew them.

|| Or, Beth-bessen,

62 ¶ Then Jonathan and Simon with their company departed unto Beth-basin, which is in the wilderness, and repaired the tower thereof, and made it strong.

63 When Maecabees knew this, he gathered all his host, and sent word to them that were of Judea.

64 Then came he and laid siege to Beth-basin, and long he against it a long season, & made instruments of war.

65 But Jonathan had left his brother Simon in the city, and went forth into the country, and came with a certain number.

|| Or, Odreus.

66 And he slew Odreus and his brethren, and the children of Phallion in their tents: so he began to slay, and increased in power.

67 Simon also and his company went out of the city, and burned by the instruments of war.

68 And fought against Maecabees, and discomfited him, & wred him away, so that his council and company was in vain.

b Wicked council fell on the counsellors.

69 Wherefore he was very wroth at the wicked men, that gave him council to come into the country, and slew many of them, and purposed to return into his own country.

70 Whereof when Jonathan had knowledge, he sent ambassadors unto him, to intimate of peace with him, and that the prisoners should be delivered.

71 Which thing he accepted, & did according to his desire, and bade him on oath, that he would never doe him harme all the dayes of his life.

72 So hee returned unto him the prisoners that hee had taken altogether out of the land of Judea, and he returned and went into his own land, neither did hee come any more into their borders.

73 Thus the sword ceased from Israel, and Jonathan dwelt at Beth-basin, and began there to governe the people, and destroyed the ungodly men out of Israel.

CHAP. X.

4 Demetrius desireth to have peace with Jonathan, 18 Alexander also desireth peace with the Jews. 48 Alexander maketh warre against Demetrius. 50 Demetrius is slain. 51 The friendship of Ptolemus and Alexander.

Joseph Ant. 3. cap. 3. 3.

In the hundredth and threescore yeere came Alexander the sonne of Antiochus Epiphanes, and tooke Iudaea, and they received him, and there he reigned.

2 Now when Demetrius the king heard it, he gathered an exceeding great host, and went forth against him to fight.

3 Also Demetrius sent letters unto Jonathan, with loving words, as though hee would pferre him.

4 For he said, We will first make peace with him, before hee come with Alexander against vs.

5 Wee he will remember all the evil that we have done against him, and against his brethren and his nation.

6 And so hee gave Jonathan leave to gather an host, and to prepare weapons, and to be confederate with him, and commanded the hosges that were in the castle, to be delivered unto him.

7 ¶ Then came Jonathan to Jerusalem, and read the letters in the audience of all the people, and of them that were in the castle.

8 Therefore they were joyfull, because they heard that the king had given him leave to gather an armie.

9 So that the men of the castle, delivered the hostages unto Jonathan, who released them to their parents.

10 Jonathan also dwelt at Jerusalem, and began to build and repair the citie.

11 And he commanded the workmen to build the wall, and the mount Zion round about with strong stone, to fortifie it: and so they did.

12 When the strangers that were in the castle, which Ptolemus had made, fled.

13 So that every man left his place, & went into his own country.

14 Onely at Beth-basin remained certaine wicked men, to follow the lawe and the commandments: for it was their refuge.

15 ¶ Now when king Alexander had heard of the promises that Demetrius had made unto Jonathan: and when it was told him of the battles and noble actes, which hee and his brethren had done, and of their power: but they had endured.

16 Hee sayde, Might we finde such a man? now therefore we will make him our friend and confederate.

17 Upon this he wrote a letter, and sent it unto him with these words, saying,

18 KING ALEXANDER to his brother Jonathan friendly salutation.

19 We have heard that thou art a very valiant man, and worthy to be our friend.

20 Therefore we have we adorne thee to be the chief of the nation, and to be called the Kings friend: and we have sent thee a purple robe, and a crown of gold, that thou mayest consider what is for our profit, and have friendship toward vs.

|| Or, with
|| Or, with part.

21 So in the seventh moneth of the hundredth and threescore yeere, upon the feast day of the tabernacles, Jonathan put on the holy garment and gathered an host, and prepared many weapons.

22 Which when Demetrius heard, he was marvellous joy, and said,

Joseph Ant. 3. cap. 3.

23 What have we done that Alexander hath promised us in getting the friendship of the Jewes for his strength?

24 Yet will I write and export them, and promise them dignitie and rewards that they may helpe me.

25 Whereupon he wrote unto them these words, KING DEMETRIUS unto the nation of the Jewes friendly greeting.

26 We have heard that ye have kept your covenant toward vs, and continued in our friendship, and have not joined with our enemies, whereof we are glad.

27 Now therefore remaine still, and kepe fidelitie toward vs, and we will recompense you for the good things that ye have done for vs.

28 And will release you of many charges, and give you rewards.

29 And now I discharge for your sake all the Jewes from tributes, and free you from the customs customs of salt, and the crowne targa, and from the third part of the sheke,

30 And from the halfe of the fruit of the tithen which is mine owne duty, I so release them, that from this day forth, none shall take any thing of the land of Iuda, or of the three governments, which are added therunto, as of Samaria, and of Galilee, from this day forth for evermore.

31 Jerusalem also with all things belonging thereto, shall be holy and free from the scribes and scriuours.

32 Also I release the power of the castle which is at Jerusalem, and give it vnto the hie Priest, that he may let in such men, as he shal chuse to keepe it.

33 Whicauer I secretly deliver euery one of the Jewes that were taken aboue prisoners out of the land of Iuda throughout all my realme, and euery one of them shalbe free from tributes, rent, and their cattell.

34 And all the feasts, and Sabbaths, and new moones, and the dayes appointed, and the three dayes before the feast, and the three dayes after the feast, shall be dayes of freedom and liberte for all the Jewes in my realme.

35 So that in them no man shall haue power to doe any thing, or to daye any of them in any manner of cause.

36 Also thirty thousand of the Jewes shall be written vp in the Kings booke, and haue their wages payed them as appoynted to all them that are of the Kinges army: and of them shall be subiected certaine to keepe the Kings strong holdes.

37 And some of them shall bee set ouer the Kings most secret affaires, and these gouernors and their wicenes shalbe of themselves, and they shall liue after their owne lawes, as the King hath commanded in the land of Iuda.

38 And the three governments that are added vnto Iuda from the countrey of Samaria, shall be ioyned vnto Iuda, and they shall be as but one, and obey none other power, but the hie Priest.

39 And I give Iudelmans and the borders therof vnto the Sanctuary at Jerusalem, for the necessary expences of the holy things.

40 Moreover, I will giue euery yeere fiftene thousand shekles of silver of the Kings reuenues, out of the places appertaining vnto me.

41 And all the querullos which they haue not payed for the things due, as they did in the former yeeres, from henceforth they shall giue it toward the workes of the Temple.

42 And besides that the one thousand shekles of silver which they retained secretly of the accompt appointed for the maintenance of the Sanctuary, these yeeres passed, such these things shall be released, because they appertaine to the Priests that minister.

43 Item, whosoener they be that flee vnto the Temple at Jerusalem, or within the libertie thereof, and are indebted to the King for any manner of things, they shall bee pardoned, and all that they haue in my Realme.

44 For the building also and repairing of the workes of the Sanctuary, expences shalbe giuen of the Kings reuenues.

45 And for the making of the walles of Jerusalem, and fortifying it round about, that the bulwarks therein may bee built up, shall also the costs be giuen out of the Kings reuenues.

46 And when Jonathan and the people heard these wordes, they gaue no credit vnto them, neither perceiving them: for they remembered the great wickednes that he had done in Israel, and how false he had deposed them.

47 Wherefore they agreed vnto Alexander: for hee was the first that had increased of true peace betwixt them, and so were content with him alway.

48 Then gathered king Alexander a great host, and camped ouer against Demetrius.

49 So the two kings ioyned battell: but Demetrius holde fast, and Alexander pursued him and persecuted against them.

50 So that this battell continued till the Sunne went downe, and Demetrius was slaine the same day.

51 Then Alexander sent Ambassadors vnto Ptolemus the king of Egypt, with these wordes, saying,

52 For so much as I am come against to my Realme, and am set in the throne of my fathers, and haue gotten the dominion, I haue destroyed Demetrius, and enjoy my countrey.

53 Seeing that I haue euen giuen him the battell, and hee and his armye is overcome by me, and I sit in the throne of my kingdom,

54 Let us now make friendship together, and giue me now thy daughter to wife: so shall I be thy sonne in law, and giue thee reuenues, and do her things according to thy dignity.

55 Then Ptolemus the king gaue answer, saying, Happy be the day wherein thou art come againe vnto the land of thy fathers, and sittest in the throne of thy kingdom.

56 Now therefore wilt I fulfill thy writing: but meete me at Ptolemis, that we may see one another, and that I may make thee my sonne in law, according to thy desire.

57 So Ptolemus went out of Egypt, with his daughters Cleopatra, and came vnto Ptolemis in the hundredth thirtieth and two yeere.

58 Where king Alexander met him, and he gaue vnto him his daughter Cleopatra, and married them at Ptolemis, with great glory, as the manner of kings is.

59 Then wrote king Alexander vnto Jonathan, that he should come and meete him.

60 So he went honourably vnto Ptolemis, and there he met the two kings, and gaue them great presents of silver and gold, and so their friends, and found fauour in their sight.

61 And there assembled certaine sufficient fellows of Israel, and wicked men to accuse him: but the king would not heare them.

62 And the king commanded that they should take off the garments of Jonathan, and clothe him in purple, and so they did: and the king appoynted him to sit by him.

63 And said vnto his Ministers, Set with him into the midst of the cite, and make a proclamation, that no man complaine against him of any matter, and that no man trouble him for any manner of cause.

64 So when his enemies saw his honour according as it was proclaimed, and that he was clothed in purple, they fled away.

65 And the king measured him to honour, and wrote made him among his chief friends, and made him a duke, and possessed of his dominion.

66 Thus Jonathan returned to Jerusalem with peace and gladness.

67 ¶ In the hundredth thirtieth and five years, came Demetrius the sonne of Demetrius, from Ceera into his fathers land.

68 Alexander when king Alexander heard, he was very loze, and returned unto Antiochia.

69 Then Demetrius appointed Apollonius the gouernour of Coelolydia, who gathered a great hoste, and camped in Samnia, and sent vnto Jonathan the high Priest, saying,

70 Darest thou, being but alone, lift vp thy selfe against vs? and I am laughed at, and reproched, because of thee: now therefore why dost thou vaunt thy selfe against vs in the mountaines?

71 Now then, if thou trust in thine owne strength, come downe to vs into the plaine field, and there let vs try the matter together: for I haue the strength of cities.

72 As he and learned who I am, and they shall take my part: and they shall tell thee that your force is not able to stand before our face: for thy fathers haue bene thus chafed in their owne land.

73 And now how wilt thou be able to abide so great an hoste of horsemen & footmen in the plaine, where is neither stone, nor rocke, nor place to flee vnto?

74 When Jonathan heard the words of Apollonius, he was moued in his minde: wherefore hee chose ten thousand men, and went out of Jerusalem, and Simon his brother met him for to helpe him.

75 And he pitched his tents at Joppe: but they shut him out of the citie, for Apollonius garrisoned vs in Joppe.

76 Then they fought against it: and they that were in the citie, for very feare let him in: so Jonathan wanne Joppe.

77 Apollonius hearing of this, tookethree thousand horsemen, with a great hoste of foote men, and went toward Azotus, as though hee would goe forward, and came immediately into the plaine field, because he had so many horsemen, and put his trust in them.

78 So Jonathan followed vpon him to Azotus, and the armie skirmished with his artillerie hand.

79 For Apollonius had left a thousand horsemen behinde them in ambush.

80 And Jonathan knew that there was an ambushment behinde him, and thought they had compassed in his hoste, and shot darts at the people from the morning to the evening.

81 Per the people stood still, as Jonathan had commanded them, till their hostes were weary.

82 Then brought Simon forth his hoste, and set them against the band: but the hostes were weary, and he discouered them, and they fled: so the hostes were scattered in the field.

83 And they fled to Azotus, and came into the temple of Dagon their idole, that they might there save themselves.

84 But Jonathan let fire vpon Azotus and all the cities round about it, to take their hostes, and burnt with fire the temple of Dagon, with all them that were fled into it.

85 Thus were slaine and burnt about eight thousand men.

86 So Jonathan remoued the hoste from thence, and camped by Alalon, where the men of the citie came forth, and met him with great honour.

87 After this turned Jonathan and his hoste againe to Jerusalem with great spoiles.

88 And when king Alexander heard these things, hee began to doe Jonathan more honour.

89 And sent him a collar of gold, as the wis is to be giuen vnto such as are of the Kings blood: hee gaue him also Accaron, with the bayders thereof in possession.

CHAP. XI.

1 The difference between Ptolemus and Alexander his seruitor. 17 The death of Alexander. 19 Demetrius reigneth after the death of Ptolemus. 22 Simon besieged Jonathan. 43 Demetrius seeing that no man resisted him, sendeth his armie against. 54 Tryphon moueth Antiochus against Demetrius.

AND the King of Egypt gathered a great hoste, like the land that lyeth vpon the sea shore, and many ships, and went about through deceit to obtaine the kingdom of Alexander, and to loyne it vnto his owne Realme.

2 Upon this he went into Syria with friendly wordes, and was let into the citie, and men came forth to meete him: so King Alexander had commanded them to meete him, because he was his father in law.

3 Now when he entered into the citie of Ptolemais, he left handes and garrisons in every citie.

4 And when hee came nether to Azotus, they shewed him the temple of Dagon that was burnt, and Azotus, & the suburbs thereof that were destroyed, and the bodies cast abroad, and them that hee had burnt in the battell: for they had made heapes of them by the way where he should passe.

5 And they tolde the King what Jonathan had done, to the intent they might get him cruel will: but the King held his peace.

6 And Jonathan met the King with great honour at Joppe, where they saluted one another, and lay there.

7 So when Jonathan had gone with the King vnto the water that was called Elutherus, he turned againe to Jerusalem.

8 So King Ptolemus gave the dominion of the cities by the sea vnto Seleucia vpon the sea coast, imagining wicked counsels against Alexander.

9 ¶ And sent Ambassadors vnto king Demetrius, saying, Come, let vs make a league betwene vs, and I will giue thee my daughter, which Alexander hath, and thou shalt reigne in thy fathers kingdom.

10 For I repent that I gaue Alexander my daughter: for hee goeth about to slay me.

11 Thus he slandered Alexander as one that should desire his Realme.

12 And hee took his daughter from him, and gaue her vnto Demetrius, and forsooke Alexander, so that their hatred was openly known.

13 Then Ptolemus came to Antiochia, where he let two crownes vpon his owne head, of Asia, and of Egypt.

14 In the meane season was king Alexander in Cilicia: for they that dwell in those places, had rebelled against him.

11/12/13

15 But when Alexander heard it, hee came to warre against him, and Ptolemus brought forth his host, and met him with a mighty power, and put him to flight.

16 Then fled Alexander into Arabia, there to be defended: so Ptolemus was exalted.

17 And Jaddai the Arabian smote off Alexanders head, and sent it unto Ptolemus.

18 But the third day after, king Ptolemus died, and they that were in the hold, were slaine one of another.

19 And Demetrius reigned in the hundred thirtie and seven years.

20 ¶ At the same time gathered Jonathan them that were in Judea, to lay siege unto the castle which was at Jerusalem, and they made many instruments of warre against it.

21 Then went there certaine vngodly persons (which tared their owne people) unto king Demetrius, and told him that Jonathan besieged the castle.

22 So when he heard it, he was angry, and immediately came unto Ptolemas, and wrote unto Jonathan, that he should lay no more siege unto it, but that he should meet him, and speake with him at Ptolemas in all haste.

23 Therewithell, when Jonathan heard this, hee commanded to beseege it: he chose also certaine of the Elders of Israel, and the Priests, and put himselfe in danger.

24 And tooke with him silver and gold, and apparell, and divers presents, and went to Ptolemas unto the king, and found favour in his sight.

25 And though certaine vngodly men of his owne nation, had made complaints upon him, 26 Yet the king intreated him as his predecessors had done, and promoted him in the sight of all his friends.

27 And confirmed him in the high priesthood with all the honourable things that he had afore, and made him his chiefe friend.

28 Jonathan also desired the king, that hee would make Judea free with the three governments, and the country of Samaria, and Jonathan promised him three hundred talents.

29 Whereunto the king consented, and gave Jonathan writing of the same containing these wordes.

30 KING DEMETRIUS unto his brother Jonathan, and to the nation of the Jewes sundry greeting.

31 I will send you here a copy of the letter, which he did write unto our cousin Lathemes concerning you, that ye should see it.

32 King Demetrius unto Lathemes his father sundry greeting.

33 For the faithfulness that our friends the nation of the Jewes keepe unto vs, and for their good will toward vs, we are determined to doe them good.

34 Wherefore we assigne to them the coasts of Judea, with the three governments, Apphema, and Lydda, and Ramatha (which are added unto Judea from the country of Samaria) and all that pertainteth to all them that sacrifice in Jerusalem: both concerning the payments which the king tooke yearly asofetyme, both for the fruits of the earth, and for the fruits of the trees.

35 As for the other things pertaining unto us of the tithes and tributes which were due unto us, and the customes of salt, and croonages, which were payd unto vs, we discharge them of all from hence forth.

36 And nothing hereof shalbe reckoned from this time forth and for ever.

37 Therefore see that ye make a copy of these things, and deliver it unto Jonathan, that he may be set up upon the holy Mount in an open place.

38 After this, when Demetrius the king saw that his land was in rest, and that no resistance was made against him, hee sent away all his host, every man to his owne place, except certain bands of strangers, whom he brought from the yles of the heathen: wherefore all his souldiers holled him.

39 Now was there one Tryphon, that had been of Alexanders part afore, which when he saw that all the hoste mustured against Demetrius, hee went to ¶ Samaria the Arabian, that brought up Antiochus the sonne of Alexander.

40 And lay siege upon him, to distress him this young Antiochus, that he might rise in his fathers stead: hee tolde him also what great enmity Demetrius had borne, and how his men of warre hated him, and hee remained there a long season.

41 Also Jonathan sent unto king Demetrius, to shew them our which were in the castle at Jerusalem, and those that were in the fortresses: for they sought against Israel.

42 So Demetrius sent unto Jonathan, saying, I will not only doe these things for ihere and thy nation, but if opportunitie serve, I will honour thee, and thy nation.

43 Now therefore thou shalt doe me a pleasure, if thou wilt send me men to helpe me: for all my armie is gone from me.

44 So Jonathan sent him three thousand strong men unto Antiochia, and they came unto the king: wherefore the king was very glad at their coming.

45 ¶ But they that were of the citie, turnan hundred and twentie thousand men, gathered them together in the mids of the citie, and would have slaine the king.

46 But the king fled into the palace, and the citizens kept the streets of the citie, and began to fight.

47 Then the king called to the Jewes for helpe, which came to him altogether, and went abroad thoro the citie.

48 And slawe the same day an hundred thousand, and set fire upon the citie, and roke many houses that day, and delivred the king.

49 So when the citizens saw that the Jewes had gotten the upper hand of the citie, and that they themselves were disappointed of their purpose, they made their supplication unto the king, saying,

50 ¶ Grant vs peace, and let the Jewes cease from being vs and the citie.

51 So they cast away their weapons, & made peace, and the Jewes were greatly honoured before the king, and before all that were in his realme, and they came againe to Jerusalem with great joy.

52 Then king Demetrius tooke in the throne of his kingdome, and had peace in his land.

53 Therewithell, hee discomfited in all these even-he spake, and withstood him till he from Jonathan, neither did he move him according to the desire which he had done for him, but troubled him very long.

54 After this returned Tryphon with the young child Antiochus, which reigned, and was crowned.

55 Then they gathered unto him all the men of warre, whom Demetrius had scattered, and they fought against him, who fled, and turned his backe.

56 So Tryphon took the // beasts, and wan Antiochia.

57 And young Antiochus wrote unto Jonathan, saying, I appoint thee to be the chiefe Priest, & make thee ruler over the four governments, that thou mayest be a friend of the Kings.

58 Upon this he sent him golden vessels to be steeled in, and gave him leave to drinke in gold, and to weare purple, & to have a collar of gold.

59 He made his brother Simon also captaine from the coastes of Tyne unto the borders of Egypt.

60 Then Jonathan went forth, and passed throught the cities beyond the flood, & all the men of warre of Syria gathered unto him for to helpe him: so he came unto Ahalon, and they of the cite received him honourably.

61 And from thence he went unto Gaza: but they of Gaza hat him out; wherefore hee layde siege unto it, and burnt the suburbs thereof with fire and spoile them.

62 Then they of Gaza made supplication unto Jonathan, and he made peace with them, and took of the sonnes of the chiefe men for hostages, and sent them to Jerusalem, and went thence to the countrey unto Damascus.

63 And when Jonathan heard that Demetrius princes were come into Cadis, which is in Galile, with a great host, purposing to take him out of the countrey, 64 He came against them, and left Simon his brother in the countrey.

65 And Simon besieged Beth-sura, and fought against it a long season, and shutt up.

66 So they desired to have peace with him, which he granted them, and afterward put them out from thence, and took the cite, and set a garrison in it.

67 Then Jonathan with his host came to the water of Genezar, and betimes in the morning came to the plains of Ajor.

68 And behold, the hoste of the // strangers met him in the plains, & had laid ambushments for him in the mountaines:

69 So that when they came against them, the ambushments rose out of their places and skirmished.

70 So that all that were of Jonathan's side, fled: and there was not one of them left, except Batrachus the sonne of // Abdolomus, and Judas the sonne of Calpsi the Captaines of the hoste.

71 Then Jonathan rent his clothes, and cast earth upon his head, and prayed.

72 And turned againe to them to fight, and put them to flight, so that they fled a way.

73 Now when his owne men that were fled saw this, they turned againe unto him, and helped him to followe after all unto their tents at Cadis, and there they camped.

74 So there were slaine of the strangers the same day about thine thousand men, and Jonathan turned againe to Jerusalem.

CHAP. XII.

1 Jonathan studieth ambassadours to Rome, 2 and to the people of Sparta, to renewe their covenant of friendship. 34 Jonathan putteth to flight the Princes of Demetrius, 40 Tryphon taketh Jonathan by assault.

1 Jonathan now seeing that the time was mette for him, chose certaine men, and sent them unto Rome, to establish and renew the friendship with them,

2 He sent letters also unto the // Spartians, and to other places for the same purpose.

3 So they went unto Rome, and entered into the Senate, and laide Jonathan the big Priest, and the nation of the Jewes sent vs unto you, for to renew friendship with you, and the bond of love, as in times past.

4 So the Romanes gave them free passages: that men should leade them home into the land of Judea peaceably.

5 AND THIS is the copy of the letters that Jonathan wrote unto the Spartians,

6 Jonathan the big Priest with the Elders of the nation, and the Priests, and the rest of the people of the Jewes, send greeting unto the Spartians their brethren.

7 Wherefore we have letters sent unto Dnias the big Priest from // Arius, which then reigned among you, that you would doe our brethren, as the copy hereunder written sheweth.

8 And Dnias intreated the ambassadours honourably, and received the letters: wherein there was mention made of the bond of love and friendship.

9 But as for vs, we neede no such writings: for we have the holy bookes in our hands for comfort.

10 Nevertheless, we thought it good to send unto you, for the renewing of the brotherhood and friendship, lest we should be strange unto you: for it is long since the time that ye sent unto vs.

11 Therefore we remember you at all seasons continually, and in the feasts and other dayes appointed, when we offer sacrifices and prayers, as it is meete and convenient to thinke upon our brethren.

12 And wee reioyce at your prosperous estate.

13 And though we have bene troubled with great troubles and warres, to that the Kings round about vs have fought against vs,

14 Yet would we not be grievous unto you, nor to one of our confederates and friends in these warres.

15 For we have had helpe from heauen, that hath succoured vs, and we are delivered from our enemies, and our enemies are subdued.

16 Yet have wee chosen Somenus the sonne of Antiochus, and Antivater the sonne of Isalon, and sent them unto the Romanes, for to renew the former friendship with them, and league.

17 Wee commanded them also to goe unto you, and to salute you, and to deliver you our letters concerning the renewing of our brotherhood.

18 And now ye shall doe as a glenier to gine to an answer of these things.

19 And this was the copy of the Letter, which Arius the king of Sparta sent unto Donias.

20 THE KING of the Spartans unto Donias the high Priest sendeth greeting.

21 It is found in writing that the Spartans and Iemes are brethren, and come out of the generation of Abraham.

22 And now for so much as this is come to our knowledge, yet shall doe well to write unto ye of your prosperitie.

23 As for us we have written unto you, that your cattell and goods are ours, and ours are yours: these things have we commanded to be observed.

24 And now when Jonathan heard that Demetrius was come to fight against him with a greater hoste then afore.

25 He went from Jerusalem, and met them in the land of Damurh: for hee gave them not space to come into his owne country.

26 And he sent spies unto their tents, which came againe unto him, that they were going into to come upon him in the night.

27 Therefore, when the day was come downe, Jonathan commanded his men to watch, and to be in armes ready to fight all the night, and sent watchmen round about the hoste.

28 And when the watchmen heard that Jonathan was ready with his men in the battell, they feared, and trembled in their hearts, and kindled fires in their tents, and fled away.

29 Nevertheless Jonathan and his company knew it not till the morning: for they saw the fires burning.

30 Then Jonathan followed upon them, but he could not overtake them: for they were gone over the flood Eleutherus.

31 So Jonathan turned to the Arabians, which were called Sabedai, and slew them, and tooke their spoile.

32 Hee proceeded further also, and came unto Damascus, and went thow all the country.

33 But Simon his brother went forth, and came to Halcen, and to the next hold, departing unto Toppa, and walled it.

34 For he heard that they would deliver the hold to them that tooke Demetrius part: wherefore hee is a garrison there to keepe it.

35 And after this came Jonathan home, and called the Elders of the people together, and devised with them how to build up the strong holdes in Judaea.

36 And he walled the wall of Jerusalem high, and to make a great mount herow the calle and the citie: for to separate from the citie that is walled alone, so that men should neither buy, nor sell to it.

37 And he came together to build up the citities for yeare of the wall upon the bowne of the East: and hee called it Ephraim.

38 And hee also built up Betha in Sephela, and walled strong with gates and towers.

39 And in the meane time Tryphon purposed to come to Asia, so hee was crowned when he had slayned his brother Antiochus.

40 But he was afraid that Jonathan would not suffer him, but fight against him: wherefore he went about to take Jonathan, so hee kill him:
so he departed and came unto Babilon.

41 Then went Jonathan forth against him to the battell with fourty thousand chariots, and came unto Bethlon.

42 But when Tryphon saw that Jonathan came with so great an hoste, hee durst not lay downe upon him.

43 But called him honourably, and commended him unto all his friends, and gave him rewards, and commanded his men of warre to be obedient unto him, as to himselfe.

44 And sayd unto Jonathan, Kill ye hath thou caused this people to take such trouble, seeing there is no more battell betweene us.

45 Therefore sent hee him home againe, and chose certaine men to waite upon him, and come thou with us to Babilonia: for I will give thee with thy brother strong holdes and the other garrisons, and all them that have a share of the common affaires: so wilt I returne as a deputy for him in the cause of my countrymen.

46 Jonathan refused him, and did as he said, and sent upon his hoste, which were into the land of Iuda.

47 And remained but three thousand with him, whereof he sent two thousand unto Gallias, and one thousand went with himselfe.

48 And as soone as Jonathan entered into Babilonia, they of Babilonia shut the gates, and together, offered all them which they that came in with him.

49 Then sent Tryphon an hoste of footmen and horsemen into Gallias, and into the great plaine to destroy all Jonathan's company.

50 But when they heard that Jonathan was taken, and slaine, and those that were with him, they encouraged one another, and came forth against them ready to the battell.

51 But when they which followed upon them, saw that it was a matter of life, they turned backe againe.

52 By this meanes all they came into the land of Iuda peaceably, so that also Jonathan, and them that were with him, and feared greatly, and all Israel made great lamentation.

53 For all the heathen that were round about them, sought to destroy them.

54 For they said, How have they no captives, nor any man to helpe them: therefore let us now fight against them, and roote out their memory from among men.

CHAP. XIII.

1 After Demetrius was taken, Simon is also captained by Tryphon, making his children and money for the redemption of Jonathan, heeth him and his children.
2 Tryphon killeth Antiochus, and possideth the realme.
3 Demetrius is taken: and with Simon. 43 Simon winneth Gaza. 50 He possideth the towne of Sion. 53 He maketh his sonne John captain.

Now when Simon heard that Tryphon gathered a great hoste to come into the land of Iuda, and to destroy it.

2 And sawe that the people was in great trembling and feare, hee came up to Jerusalem, and gathered the people together.

3 And gave them exhortation, saying, Ye knowe.

know what great things I, and my brethren, and my fathers house have done for the Law, and the Sanctuary, and the altels, and crow-
bles that we have seen.

4 By reason whereof all my brethren are Haine for Israels sake, and I am left alone.

5 Now therefore God forbid, that I should spare mine owne life in any time of trouble: for I am not better then my brethren.

6 But I will avenge my nation, and the Sanctuary, and our wives and our children:
for all the heathen are gathered together to destroy us of very malice.

7 In hearing these words the hearts of the people were kindled.

8 So that they cryed with a loud voice, saying, Thou shalt be our capitaine in stead of Judas and Jonathan thy brethren.

9 Fight thou our battles, and whatsoever thou commandest us, we will do it.

IO ¶ So he gathered all the men of warre, making battell to fight the wall of Iherusalem, and compassed it round about.

11 Then sent he Jonathan the son of Abiathar with a great host into Hoppe, which smote them one that were therein, and remaineth there himselfe.

12 Tryphon also removed from Ptolemais with a great army, to come into the land of Juda, and Jonathan was with him as prisoner.

Dr. Addis. 13 And Simon pitched his tents at Addis:
his upon the open plaine.

14 But when Tryphon knew that Simon stood up in stead of his brother Jonathan, and that he would fight against him, he sent messengers unto him, saying,

15 All areas we have kept Jonathan's brother, it is for money that he is owing in the things account concerning the business that he had in hand.

16 Therefore from now an hundred talents of silver, and his two sonnes for hostages, that when he is letten forth he will not turne from us, and we will send him againe.

17 Hervertelleſſe Simon knew that he diſſembled in his words, yet commaunded he the money and children to bee deliuered vnto him, leſt he ſhould be in greater hatred of the people of Iſrael:

18 Who might have sayd, Because hee sent him not the money and the children, therefore is Jonathan dead.

19 So he sent the children and an hundred talents: but he dissembled and would not let Jonathan go.

20 Afterward came Tryphon into the land to destroy it, and went round about by the way, that leadeth vnto Asoz: but where soeuer they went, thither went Simon and his host.

21 shew they that were in the castle sent messengers vnto Tryphon, that hee should make haste to come by the wilderness, and to send them vitrailes.

22 So Erifphon made ready all his horsemen: but the same night fell a very great snow, so that he came not, because of the snow: but hee remoued & went into the countrey of Galaad.

23 And when he came neere to Balsama, he saw Jonathan, and he was buried there.

24 So Tryphon returned, and went into his own land.

25 ¶ Then sent Simon to take the bones of Jonathan his brother, and they buried him in Dothan his fathers citie.

26 And all Israel bewailed him with great lamentation and mourned for him very long.

27 And Simon made vpon the spulcove of his facher and his brethren, a building high to looke vnto of beemen stone behind and before.

28 And set vp iourn pillars vpon it, one against another, for his father, his mother, and foure brethren,

29 And her great pillars round about them, and set armes upon the pillars for a perpetuall memory, and carved shippes beside the armes, that they might be seene of men sayling in the sea.

30 This sepulchre which he made at Wodin, standeth yet unto this day.

§ I. ¶ Now as Tryphon went forth with the young King Antiochus, he slew him traitorously.

32 And reigned in his stead, and crowned himselfe King of Asia, & brought a great plague upon the land.

18. Simon also built up the castles of Judah, and compassed them about with high towers, and great walls, each with towers, and gates, and battlements, and laid up vituals in the strong holds.

34. Democritus, a man whose certain men and sent them to king Demetrius, that he would discharge the lands for all Tryphons beings were robbers.

35 Whereupon Demetrius the King answered him, and wrote unto him after this manner, 36 DEMETRIUS the King unto Simon the high Priest, and the friends of Kings, and to the Elders, and to the nation of the Jewes, greeting.

337 The golden crowne, and pretious stone that ye lent vnto vs, haue we rec. d. and are redy to make a full drafft peace with you, and to writte vnto the officers to release you of the things wherein we made you free.

48 And the things that we haue granted you, shall be stable: the strong holdes which ye haue builded, shall be your owne.

39 And he forgave the our rights, and fautes committed unto this day, and the crowne tax that yee ought us, and whereas was any other tribute in Jerusalem, it shall be now no tribute.

40 And they that are meeke among you to be written with our men, let them be written up, that there may be peace betweene vs.

41 The pole of the banner was taken from Israel in the hundredth and seventy year.

42 And the people of Israel began to write in their letters and publick instruments, IN THE FIRST yeere of Simon, the high chiefe Priest, governour and Prince of the Jewes.

42 In those dayes Simon camped against Doi, and belleged it round about, where he set up an engine of warre, and approached nere the cittie, and beat a tower and took it.

44 So they that were in the engine, leapt into the citie, and there was great trouble in the city.

45 In so much that the people of the city rent their clothes, and climb up upon the walls with

with their wives and children, and cried with a loud voice, beseeching Simon to grant them peace, saying,

46 Deale not with us according to our wickedness, but according to thy mercy.

47 Then Simon pitied them, & would fight no more against them, but put them out of the cite, and cleaned the houses, wherein the Idoles were, and he entered thereunto with Psalmes and thanksgiving.

48 So when he had cast all the filthines out, he set such men in it as kept the Law, and fortified it, and builded there a dwelling place for himselfe.

49 Now, when they in the castle at Jerusalem were kept, that they could not come forth, nor goe into the countrey, neither buy nor sell, they were very hungry, and many of them were famished to death.

50 Inasmuch that they besought Simon to make peace with them which he granted them, and put them out from thence, and cleaned the castle from filthines.

51 And upon the thirtieth and twentieth day of the second moneth, in the hundred seventie and one yeere they entered into it with thanksgiving, and branches of palme trees, and with harpes, and with cymbals, and with viols, & with Psalmes, and songs, because the great enemy of Israel was overcome.

52 And he ordained that the same day should be kept every yeere with gladnesse.

53 And he fortified the mount of the Temple that was besides the castle, where he dwelt himselfe with his company.

54 Simon also seeing that John his sonne was now a man, he made him captain of all the host, and caused him to dwell in Gazarta.

¶ Gazarta,

CHAP. XIII.

1 Demetrius is overcome of Antiochus. 11 Simon being captain, there is great quietness in Israel. 18 The covenant of friendship with the Romans, and with the people of Sparta is renewed.

12 The hundred seventie and two yeere, gathered king Demetrius his host, and departed unto Media, to get him helpe for to fight against Tryphon.

3 But when Antiochus the king of Persia and Media heard that Demetrius was entred with in his borders, he sent one of his princes to take him alive.

3 So he went and overcame the armie of Demetrius, and tooke him, and brought him to Antioch which kept him in ward.

4 Thus all the land of Iuda was in rest, so long as Simon lived: for he fought the warlike of his nation: therefore were they glad to have him for their ruler, and to doe him worship alway.

5 Simon also won the cite of Joppa to his great honour, to be an haven to him, and made it an entrance unto the sea of the sea.

6 He enlarged also the borders of his people, and conquered the countreys.

7 He gathered by many of their people that were prisoners, and hee had the dominion of Gazarta, and Beth-lura, and the castle, which hee cleaned from filthines, and there was no man that resisted him.

8 So that every man tilled his ground in peace, and the land gave her fruits, and the trees gave their fruit.

9 The Elders sate in the open places, and consulted all together for the Common wealth, and the young men were honoured by clothed and armed.

10 He provided becalles for the cities, and all kind of munition, so that his glorious name was renowned unto the end of the world.

11 He made peace throughout the land, and Israel had peace thereof and joy.

12 For every man sate under his vine, and the fig trees, and there was no man to fray them.

13 There was none in the land to fight against them: for then their things were overcome.

14 He helped all those that were in adversitie among his people: hee was diligent to see the Law kept, and hee took away the naughty and wicked.

15 He beautified the Sanctuary, and increased the vessels of the Temple.

16 When the Romans heard, and the Spartians had knowledge that Jonathan was dead, they were very loy.

17 But when they heard that Simon his brother was made high Priest in his stead, and how hee had wonne the land againe with the cities in it, 18 They wrote unto him in tables of brasse, to renew the friendship and bond of love, which they had made with Judas and Jonathan his brethren.

19 Which writings were read before the congregation at Jerusalem, and tois is the copie of the letters that the Spartians sent.

20 THE SENATORS and city of Sparta unto Simon the great Priest, and to the Elders, and to the Priests, and to the elders of the people of the Jewes their brethren their greeting.

21 When your ambassadours that were sent unto our people, certified us of your glory and honour, we were glad of their coming.

22 And have required their ambassage in the publicke records in this manner, NV MENI VS. the sonne of Antiochus, and Antipater the sonne of Balon, the Jewes ambassadours came vnto vs, to renew amitie with vs.

23 And it pleased the people, that the men should be honourably intreated, and that the copie of their ambassage should be registered in the publicke records, that it might be for a memoriall vnto the people of Sparta, and a copie of the same was sent to Simon the chiefe Priest.

24 After this, Simon sent Amentus to Rome with a great sherd of gold of a thousand pound weight to confirme the friendship with them.

25 Which when the people understood, they layd, What thanks shall we recompense againe vnto Simon and his children?

26 For he and his brethren, and the house of his father have stablished Israel, and overcome their enemies, and have confirmed the libertie thereof: therefore they wrote this in tables of brasse, and set it upon pillars in mount Sion.

27 The copy of the writing is this. In the eight and twentieth day of the moneth Elul, in the hundred seventie and two yeere, in the third yeere of Simon the high Priest.

¶ Or, Jerusalem.

18 In ¶ Samari in the great congregation of the priests, and of the people, and of the governors of the nation, and of the Elders of the country, we would signify unto you, that many battles have bene fought in our country.

19 Merem Simon the son of Maccabius (come of the children of Baris) and his brethren put themselves in danger, and resisted the enemies of their nation, that their Sanctuary, and Law might be maintain'd, and did their nation great honour.

20 For Jonathan gathered his nation together, and became their high Priest, and is lapd with his people.

21 After that would their enemies have invaded their country, and destroyed their land, and lay their hands on their Sanctuary.

22 When Simon resisted them, and fought for his nation, and spent much of his own substance, and armed the valiant men of his nation, and gave them wages.

23 We fortified also the cities of Judea, and built them that lieth upon the borders of Judea, (where the ordinance of their enemies lay sometime) and set there a garrison of the Jews.

24 And we fortified Toppe, which lieth upon the sea, and ¶ Gazara that doth reach upon Azotus (where the enemies dwell aloze) and there he placed Jewes, & furnished them with things necessary for the reparation thereof.

25 Now when the people saw the faithfulness of Simon, and to what glory hee thought to bring his nation unto, they made him their governor, and the chief Priest, because he had done all these things, and for the wisdom and fidelity that hee had kept to his nation, and that fought by all means to exalt his people.

26 For in his time they prospered well by him, so that the heathen were taken out of their country, and they also which were in the city of Dastid at Jerusalem, where they had made them a castle, out of the which they went, and desisted all things that were about the Sanctuary, and did great hurt unto religion.

27 And he set Jewes in it, and fortified it, for the assurance of the land and city, and called by the walls of Jerusalem.

28 And king Demetrius confirmed him in his high Priesthood for these causes.

29 And made him one of his friends, & gave him great honour.

30 For it was reported that the Romans called the Jewes their friends and confederates, and that they honourably received Simons ambassadors.

31 And that the Jewes and Priests consented that Simon should be their Prince and high Priest perpetually, till God raised by the true Prophet.

32 And that he should be their captain and have the charge of the Sanctuary, and to set men over the works, and over the Country, and over the weapons and over the fortresses, and that should make provision for the holy things.

33 And that he should be assisted of every man, and that all the writings in the country should be made in his name, and that he should be clothed in purple and wear gold.

34 And that he should not be lawfull for any of the people, to be lifted to break any of these things, or to withstand his words, or to call any congregation in the country without him, or be clothed in purple, or wear a collar of gold.

35 And if any did contrary to these things, or broke any of them, he should be punished.

36 So it pleased all the people to agree that he should be done to Simon according unto these words.

37 Simon also accepted it, and was content to be the high Priest, and the captain, and the Prince of the Jewes and of the Priests, and to be the chief of all.

38 And they commanded to set up this writing in tables of brass, and to fasten it to the wall that compassed the Sanctuary in an open place.

39 And that a copy of the same should be laid up in the treasury, that Simon and his sonnes might have it.

CHAP. XV.

1 Antiochus maketh a covenant of friendship with Simon, 11 Tryphon is purged. 15 The Romans write letters unto king and nation in the defence of the Jews, 27 Antiochus refusing the helps that Simon sent him, breaketh his covenant.

Demetrius King Antiochus the sonne of Demetrius sent letters from the ryes of the sea, unto Simon the Priest and Prince of the Jewes and to all the nation.

2 Concerning these words, ANTIOCHUS the King unto Simon the great Priest, and to the nation of the Jewes, sendeth greeting.

3 For so much as certain perfidious men have invaded the kingdom of our fathers, I am purposed to challenge the Realme againe, and to restore it to the old estate: wherefore I have gathered a great host, and prepared ships of warre.

4 That I may get it through the country, and be avenged of them, which have destroyed our country, & invaded many cities in the realme.

5 Now therefore I do confirme unto thee all the liberties, whereof all the Kings my progenitors have discharged thee, & all the payments, whereof they have released thee.

6 And I give thee leave to coine money of thine owne stamp within thy country.

7 And that Jerusalem and the Sanctuary be free, and that all the weapons that thou hast prepared, and the fortresses, which thou hast builded, and keepst in thine hands, shall be thine.

8 And all that is due unto the King: and all that shall bee due unto the King. I forgoe it thee, from this time forth for evermore.

9 And when wee have obtained our kingdom, we will give thee and thy nation, and the temple great honour, so that your honour shall be known throughout the world.

10 In the hundred, twenty & fourth yere, Josephus Antiochus sent him his fathers land, and all the bands came together unto him, so that few were left with Tryphon. 13. chap. 11.

11 So the King Antiochus pursued him, but he fled and came to Dopa, which lieth by the sea side.

12 For hee saw that troubles were toward him,

¶ Or, Gaza, or, Gazara.

him, and that the army had forsaken him.

13 Then camped Antiochus against Doza with an hundred and twenty thousand fighting men, and eight thousand horsemen.

14 So he compassed the cite about, and the ships came by the sea. Thus they pressed the cite by land, and by sea, inasmuch that they suffered no man to go in nor out.

15 In the meane season came Flumenius, and his company from Rome, having letters written unto the kings and countreyes, wherein were contained these words.

16 LV CIV: The Consul of Rome unto king Ptolemus greting.

17 The Ambassadors of the Jewes are come unto us as our friends and confederats from Simon the high Priest, and from the people of the Jewes, to renew friendship, and the bonde of love.

18 Altho have brought a shield of gold weighing a thousand pound.

19 Therefore we thought it good to write unto the kings & the countreyes, that they should not go about to hurt them, nor to fight against them nor their cities, nor their countrey, neither to maintaine their enemies against them.

20 And we were content to receive of them the shield.

21 If therefore there be any rebellious fellows fled from their countrey unto you, deliver them unto Simon the high Priest, that hee may punish them according to their owne law.

22 The same things were written to Demetrius the king, And to Attalus, And to Archies, and to Ariarces.

23 And to all the countreyes, as || Samphunes and to them of Sparta, and to || Delus, and to || Rhodus, & to Sydon, & to Caria, and to Samos, and to Samphilia, and to Lycia, and to Halicarnassus, and to Rhodes, and to Phaelia, and to Coos, and to Sidon, and to Coryna, and to Sidon, and to Cyprus, and to Cyrene.

24 And they sent a copy of them to Simon the high Priest.

25 ¶ So Antiochus the king camped against Doza the second time ever ready to take it, and make divers engines of war, and kept Tryphon in, that he could neither go in nor out.

26 Then Simon sent him two thousand chosen men to helpe him with silver and golde, and much furniture.

27 Howbeit, he would not receive them, but brake all the covenant, which hee had made with him afore, and withdrew himselfe from him.

28 And sent unto him Athenobius one of his friends, to commune with him, saying, We withhold Joppe, and Gazara, with the castle that is at Jerusalem the cite of my Realme, 29 Whose borders ye have destroyed, and done great hurt in the land, and have the government of many places of my kingdom.

30 Wherfore now deliver the cities, which ye have taken, with the tributes of the places, that ye have rule over without the borders of Judea.

31 ¶ He also gave me for them five hundred talents of silver, and for the barme that ye have done, and for the tributes of the places other five hundred talents, if not, we will come and fight against you.

32 So Athenobius the kings friend came to Jerusalem, and when he saw the honour of Simon, and the compass of gold and silver plate, and in great preparation, hee was astonished, and told him the kings message.

33 Then answered Simon, and said unto him, We have neither taken other mens lands, nor withholden that which appertaineth to others: but our fathers heritage, which our enemies had unrighteously in possession a certaine time.

34 But when we had occasion, we recovered the inheritance of our fathers.

35 And wheras thou || request Joppe and Gazara, they did great harme to our people, and choise our countrey, yet will we give an hundred talents for them. But Athenobius answered him not one word.

36 But turned againe angry unto the king, and told him all these words, and the dignity of Simon, with all that hee had seen: and the king was very angry.

37 ¶ In the meane time fled Tryphon by ship unto Ptochias.

38 Then the king made Cendebus captaine of the sea coast, and gave him bands of footemen, and horsemen.

39 And commanded him to remove the host toward Judea, and to build up Caizon, and to fortifie the gates, and to warre against the people: but the king pursued Tryphon.

40 So Cendebus came unto Jamnia, and began to vex the people, and to invade Judea and to take the people prisoners, & to slay them.

41 And he built up Caizon, where he set horsemen and garrisons, that they might make outcoudes by the wayes of Judea, as the king had commanded him.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Cendebus the captaine of Antiochus bestowes to fight by the forces of Simon. 2 Ptolemus the sonne of Antiochus killeth Simon and his two sons: at a banquet. 3 John killeth them that be in wait for his life.

¶ Then came John by word from Gazara, and told Simon his father, what Cendebus had done.

2 So Simon called two of his eldest sonnes, Judas and John, and said unto them, I and my brethren, and my fathers house, have ever from our youth unto this day fought against the enemies of Israel, and the matters have had good successe under our hands, and we have delivered Israel often times.

3 But I am now old, and yet by Gods mercie am of a sufficient age: he ye therefore in stead of me and my brother, and goe forth and fight for our nation, and the helpe of heaven be with you.

4 So he chose twenty thousand fighting men of the countrey both the horsemen, which went forth against Cendebus, and rebeld at Sidon.

5 In the morning they went, and went into the plaine richly and bearded, amongst the great hoste came against them, both of footemen, and horsemen: but there was a returne betwixt them.

6 And John ranged his armye over against him, and when he saw that the people was afraid to goe over the river, hee went over first himselfe, and the men seeing him, passed choise after him.

7 ¶ Then he divided his men, and set the horsemen men in the midst of the footmen.

8 For their enemies hostmen were very many: but when they blew the trumpets, Cendebeus fled with his hoster whereof many were slain, and the remnant gave them to the fortress.

9 Then was Judas Johns brother wounded: but John followed after them, till he came to Gedor, which Cendebeus had built.

10 Also they slew into the towers, that were in the fields of Azotus, and those did John burne with fire: thus were there slain two thousand men of them, to be returned peaceably into the land of Iuda.

11 Now in the field of Jericho was Ptolomus the sonne of Abubus made capitaine, and he had abundance of siluer and gold.

12 For he had married the daughter of the high Priest.

13 Therefore he waxed proud in his minde, and thought to rule the land, and thought to slay Simon and his sonnes by deceit.

14 Now as Simon went about the towne the cities of the country, and studied carefully for them, he came downe to Jericho with Ptolemaeus, and Judas his sonnes, in the hundredth twentieth and seven yeere, in the eleventh moneth, which is the moneth Sibat.

15 Then the sonne of Abubus received them by treason into a little hold called Dochnus, which he had built, where he made them a great banquet, and had his men there.

16 So when Simon and his sonnes had made good cheer, Ptolomus stood by with his men and took their weapons, and entered into Simon in the banke house, and slew him with his two sonnes and certain of his servants.

17 Whereby he committed a great villenie, and recompensed euill for good.

18 Then wrote Ptolomus these things and sent to the king, that he might send him an hoste to helpe him, and so would deliuer him the country with the cities.

19 He sent other men also unto Gazara, to take John, and sent letters vnto the capitaines to come to him, and he would giue them siluer, and gold and rewards.

20 And to Jerusalem he sent order to take it, and the mountaine of the Temple.

21 But one ran before, and told John in Gazara, that his father and his brethren were slain, and that Ptolomus had sent to slay him.

22 When he heard this, he was sore astonished, and layd hands on him that were come to slay him, and slew them: for hee knew that they went about to kill him.

23 Concerning other things of John, both of his warres, and of his noble actes (wherein he behaved himselfe manfully) of the building of walles which he made, and other of his deeds, 24 Beholde, they are written in the Chronicles of his Priesthood, from the time that he was made high Priest after his father.

CHAP. I.

1 An Epistle of the Iewes that dwelt at Jerusalem, sent vnto them that dwelt in Egypt, wherein they exhort them to giue thanks for the death of Antiochus. 19 Of the first that was killed in the pit. 24 The prayer of Nehemias.

De brethren the Iewes which be at Jerusalem, and they that are in the country of Iuda, vnto the brethren the Iewes that are throughout Egypt, send salutation, and prosperitie.

2 God be gracious vnto you, and remember his couenant made with Abraham, and Isaac, and Iacob his faithfull seruants.

3 And giue you all an heart to worship him, and to do his will with a whole heart, and with a willing minde.

4 And open your hearts in his Law and commandments, and send you peace.

5 And heare your prayers, and be reconciled with you, neuer forsake you in time of trouble.

6 Thus now we pray here for you.

7 When Demetrius reigned in the hundredth thirtieth and nine yeere, we Iewes waxed vnto you in the trouble and violence that came vnto us in those yeeres, after that Jason and his company departed out of the holy land and kingdom.

8 And burnt the porch, shed innocent blood, Then we prayed vnto the Lord, & were heard: we offered sacrifice and incense, and lighted the lampes, and set forth the bread.

9 Now therefore keepe ye the dayes of the feast of the Tabernacles in the moneth Chatten.

10 In the hundredth, thirtiescore and eight yeere, the people that was at Jerusalem, and in Iuda, and the counsell, and Judas, vnto Antiochus king Ptolomus master, which is of the stocke of the anoynted Priest, and to the Iewes that are in Egypt, sendeth greeting and health.

11 Informed as God hath deliuered vs from great perils, we thanke him highly, as though we had overcome the king.

12 For he brought them into Persia by heape that fought against the holy cite.

13 For albeit the capitaine and the army that was with him, seemed invincible, yet they were slain in the Temple of Baana, by the deceit of Baana priests.

14 For Antiochus as though he would dwell with her, came thither, hee and his friends with him to receive money vnder the title of a dowrie.

15 But when the priests of Baana had led it forth, and he was entered with a small company within the Temple, they shut the Temple, when Antiochus was come in.

16 And by opening a private doore of the banke, they cast stones, as it were thunders, vpon the capitaine and his, and hauing buylded them in pieces, they cut off their heads, and theye them to those that were without.

17 God be blessed in all things, which hath deliuered vs from the wicked.

18 Whereto we are now purposed to keepe the the purification of the temple upon the five and sixteenth day of the month Chislev, we thought it necessary to certify you thereto, that ye also might keep the feast of the Tabernacles, and of the fire, which was given vs when Jeremias offered sacrifice, after that he had built the Temple and the altar.

19 For when as our fathers were led away into Babilon, the Priests, which sought the honour of God, cooked the fire of the altar privately, and hid it in a hollow pit, which was hid in the bottom, and therein they kept it, so that the place was unknown unto every man.

20 Now after many yeeres when it pleased God that Jeremias should be sent from the king of Babilon, hee sent of the posteritie of those Priests, which had hid it, to fetch the fire, and as they told vs, they found no fire, but thicke water.

21 Then commanded hee them to drinke it up, and to bring it: and when the things appertaining to the sacrifices were brought, Jeremias commanded the Priests to sprinkle the wood, and the things layd thereupon, with water.

22 When this was done, and the time came that the Sunne shone, which afore was hid in the cloud, there was a great fire kindled, so that every man marvelled.

23 Now the Priests, and all prayed, while the sacrifice was consuming: Bomarhan began, and the other answered therunto.

24 And the prayer of Jeremias was after this manner: O Lord, Lord God, maker of all things, which art fearful and strong, and righteous, and mercifull, and therefore and gracious King,

25 Onely liberall, onely iust and Almighty, and everlasting, thou that deliverest Israel from all trouble, and hast chosen the fathers and sanctified them,

26 Receive the sacrifice for thy whole people of Israel, and preserve thine owne portion, and sanctifick it.

27 Gather those together, that are scattered from vs: deliver them that live among the heathen: looke upon them which are despised and abused, that the heathen may know that thou art our God.

28 Punish them that oppresse vs, and with ynde doe vs wrong.

29 Plant thy people againe in thine holy place, as thy people hath spoken.

30 And the Priests sang Psalmes therunto.

31 Now when the sacrifice was consumed, Jeremias commanded the great stones to bee sprinkled with the residue of the water.

32 Which when it was done, there was kindled a flame, which was consumed by the light, that shined from the altar.

33 So when this matter was known, it was told the King of Babilon, that in the place where the Priests, which were led away, had hid his fire, there appeared water, wherewith Jeremias and his company had purified the sacrifices.

34 The king tryed out the thing, and closed the place about, and made it holy.

35 And to them that the king favoured, hee gave and bestowed many gifts.

36 And Jeremias called the same place

• Ephethar, which is to say, purification: but many men call it Ephethar.

CHAP. II.

4 How Jeremias built the Tabernacle, the Ark, and the Altar in the hill. 23 Of the five bookes of Iason contained in one.

It is found also in the writings of Jeremias the Prophet, that he commanded them which were carried away, to take fire, as was declared, and as the Prophet commanded them that were led into captivitie,

2 Giving them a law, that they should not forget the commandments of the Lord, and that they should not erre in their mindes, when they saw images of golde and silver, with their ornaments.

3 These and such other things commanded hee them, and exhorted them that they should not let the law goe out of their hearts.

4 It is written also, how the Prophet, by an oracle that he had, charged them to take the Tabernacle and the Ark, and follow him, and when hee came up into the mountain where Babels tent was, and saw the heritage of God,

5 Jeremias went forth, and saw an hollow came, wherein hee layd the Tabernacle, and the Ark, and the altar of incense, and so stopped the doore.

6 And there came certaine of those that followed him, to make the place: but they could not finde it.

7 Which when Jeremias perceived, hee repoured them, saying, As for that place, it shall bee unknowne, till the time that God gather his people together againe, and that mercy bee shewed.

8 Then shall the Lord shewe these things, and the multitude of the Lord shall appeare, and the cloud also, as it was shewed under Babels, and as when Salomon deduced, that the place might be honourably sanctified.

9 For it is manifest that hee, being a wise man, offered the sacrifice of dedication, and consecration of the Temple.

10 And as when Babels prayed unto the Lord, the fire came downe from heaven, and consumed the sacrifice: so when Salomon prayed, the fire came downe from heaven, and consumed the burnt offering.

11 And Babels sayd, because the sinne offering was not eaten, therefore it is consumed.

12 So Salomon kept those eight dayes.

13 These things also are declared in the writing and registers of Jeremias, and how hee made a library, and how hee gathered the acres of the Kings, and of the Prophets, & the actes of David, and the epistles of the Kings concerning the holy gifts.

14 Even so Judas also gathered all things that came to passe by the warres that were among vs, which things we have.

15 Wherefore if ye have neede thereof, send some to fetch them unto you.

16 Whereas wee then are about to celebrate the purification, we have written unto you, and ye shall doe well, if ye keepe the same dayes.

17 Wee hope also that the God which delivered all his people, and gave an heritage to them all, and the kingdoms, and the Priest-

18 * As he promised in the Law, will shortly haue mercy vpon vs, and gather vs together from vnder the heauen into his holy place: for hee hath saued vs from great perils, and hath cleansed the place.

19 As concerning Judas Maccabeus and his brethren, the purification of the great Temple and the dedication of the altar;

20 And the warres against Antiochus Epi-phanes and Eupator his sonne.

21 And the manifest signes that came from heauen unto those, which manfully stood for the Jewes religion: (for though they were but few, yet they ran through whole countreyes, and purged the barbarous armies.

22 And repayed the Temple that was renowned throughout all the world, and deliuered the citie, and established the Lawes, that were like to be abolished, because the Lord was mercifull vnto them with all lenitie.)

23 These will assay to abridge in one volume those things that Jason the Cyrenian hath declared in five books.

24 For considering the wonderfull number, and the difficultie that they haue that would be occupied in the rehearsal of stoies, because of the diuersitie of the matters,

25 Wee haue endemoured, that they that would read, might haue pleasure, and that they which are studious, might easily keepe them in memorie, and that whosoever read them, might haue profit.

26 Therefore to vs that have taken in hand this great labour, it was no easie thing to make this abridgement, but required both sweat and watching.

27 Like as bee that maketh a feall, & seeketh other mens commoditie hath no small labour:
so wee also for many mens sakes are very well content to undertake this great labour.

28 Leaving to the author the exact diligence of every particular, we will labour to go forward according to the prescript order of an abridgement.

29 For as hee that will build a newe house, must provide for the whole building, but he that setteth out the plat, or goeth about to paint it seeketh but onely what is comely for the decking thereof:

30 Euen so I thinke for vs, that it appertaineth to the first writer of a Booke to enter Deeply into it, and to make mention of all things, and to be curious in every part.

31 But it is permitted to him that will shorten it, to use few words, & to avoyd those things that are curious therein.

32. Were then will we begin the story, adding thus much to our former words, that it is but a foolish thing to abound in words before the story, and to be short in the story.

CHAP. III.

3 Of the honour done to the Temple by the kings of the Gentiles, 6 Simon discovereth what treasure is in the Temple, 7 Heliodorus is sent to take them away, 26 He is stricken of God, and healed at the prayer of Onias.

VV What time as the holy cite was inhabited with all peace, and when the lawes were very well kept, because of the godly ffloof of Onian

the high Dixie and barred of wickedness.

2 It came to pass that even the Kings did honour the place, and garnished the Temple with great gifts.

3 Inasmuch that Seleucus King of Asia, of his own rents, bare all the costs belonging to the service of the sacrifices.

4 But one Simon of the tribe of Benjamin being appointed ruler of the Temple, contended with the high Priest concerning the iniquity committed in the city.

5 And when he could not overcome Drias, he gave him to Apollonius the sonne of Ebraseas which then was gouernour of Coriothia, and Phenice,

6 And told him that the treasure in Jerusalem was full of innumerable money, which did not belong to the provision of the sacrifices, and that it were possible that these things might come into the king's hand.

7 Now when Apollonius came to the King, and had shewed him of the money, as it was told him, the king chose out Heliodorus his treasurer, and sent him with a commandment, to bring him the fore-said money.

8 Immediately Belshazzar took his journey although he would visite the cities of Eorlosria and Obenier, but in effect to fulfill the kings misson.

9 So when he came to Jerusalem, and was courteously received of the big Priest into the citie, hee declared what was determined concerning the money, and shewed the cause of his coming, and asked if these things were to indeed.

10 Then the hie Priest tolde him that there were such things laid vp by the widowes and fatherlesse.

II And that a certaine of it belonged unto Hircanus the sonne of Tobias a noble man, and not as that wicked Simon had reported, and that in all, there were but foure hundred talents of silver, and two hundred of gold.

12 And that it were altogether impossible to do this wrong to them that had committed it of trust to the holiness of the place and Temple, which is honoured through the whole world for holiness and integrity.

13 But Heliodorus because of the kings commandement giuen him, sayd that in any wise it must be brought into the kings treasure.

I 4 So he appoynted a day, & went in to take order for these things: then there was no small grieffe throughout the whole circle.

15 For the Priests fell downe befoze the altar in the Priests garments, and called vnto heauen vpon him which had made a Law concerning things giuen to be kept, that they should be safely preferred for such as had committed them to be kept.

16 Then they that looked the big Devil in the face, were wounded in their heart: for his countenance, and the changing of his colour declared the storm of his mind.

17 The man was so wrapped in feare and trembling of the body, that it was manifest to them that looked vpon him, what sorowe he had in his heart.

18 Others also came out of their houses by heapes unto the common prayer, because the place was like to come unto contempt.

19 And the women, girt with sackcloth vnder their breasts, filled the streets, and the virgins that were kept in, came some to the gates, and some to the walls, and others looked out of the windows.

20 And all held up their hands toward heaven, and made prayer.

21 It was a lamentable thing to see the multitude that fell downe of all sorts, and the expectation of the high Priest in such anguish.

22 Therefore they called vpon the Almighty Lord, that he would keepe safe and sure the things which were laid up for those that had deliuered them.

23 Neuertheless, the thing that Heliodorus was determined to doe, that did he performe.

24 And as hee and his followers were now there present by the treasury, he that is the Lord of the spirits, and of all power, shewed a great vision, so that all they which presumed to come with him, were astonied at the power of God, and fell into feare and trembling.

25 For there appeared vnto them an hoile with a terrible man sitting vpon him, most richly habited, and he ran fiercely, and smote at Heliodorus with his sore feet, and it seemed that hee that sat vpon the hoile, had harness of gold.

26 Moreover, there appeared two yong men, notable in strength, excellent in beauty, & comely in apparel, which stood by him on either side, and scourged him continually, and gaue him many foyle stripes.

27 And Heliodorus fell suddenly vnto the ground, and was couered with great darkness: but they that were with him,ooke him vp, and put him in a litter.

28 Thus he that came with so great compaie, and many followers into the said treasury, was boine out: for hee could not helpe himselfe with his weapons.

29 So they did knowe the power of God manifestly, but he was dumbe by the power of God, and lay destitute of all hope and health.

30 And they praised the Lord that had honoured his own place: for the Temple which a litle afore was full of feare and trouble, when the Almighty Lord appeared, was filled with ioy and gladnesse.

31 Then straightway certaine of Heliodorus friends, prayed Onias, that he would call vpon the most high to graunt him his life, which lay ready to giue vp the ghost.

32 So the high Priest, considering that the king might suspect that the Jewes had done Heliodorus some euill, he offered a sacrifice for the health of the man.

33 Now when the high Priest had made his prayer, the same yong men in the same clothing appeared, and stood befor Heliodorus, laying, Gine Onias the high Priest great thanks: for, for his sake hath the Lord granted thee thy life:

34 And seeing that thou hast beene scourged from heaven, declare vnto all men the mighty power of God: and when they had spoken these words, they appeared no more.

35 So Heliodorus offered vnto the Lord sacrifice, and made great thanks vnto him which had graunted him his life, and thanked Onias, and went againe with his hoste to the king.

36 Then testified hee vnto every man of the great workes of God that he had seene with his eyes.

37 And when the king asked Heliodorus, who were meet to be sent yet once againe to Ierusalem, he said,

38 If thou hast any enemy, or traitour, send him thither, & thou shalt receive him well scourged, if hee escape with his life: for in that place, no doubt, there is a speciall power of God.

39 For hee that dwelleth in heauen, hath his eye on that place, and defendeth it, and hee beareth and destroied them that come to hurt it.

40 This came to passe concerning Heliodorus, and the keeping of the treasury.

CHAP. IIII.

1 Simon reporteth euill of Onias, 7 how he obtained the office of the high Priest by corrupting the king, 27 and was by Alexander de-franched by the king. 34 Onias is slain traitorously by Andronicus.

THIS Simon now, of whom we spake afore, being a betrayer of the money, and of his owne natural country, reported euill of Onias, as though he had murthered Heliodorus vnto this, and had beene the inuenter of the euill.

2 Thus was hee bold to call him a traitour, that was so beneficiall to the city, and a defender of his nation, and so zealous of the Lawes.

3 But when his malice increased so far, that through one that belonged to Simon, murders were committed,

4 Onias considering the danger of this contention, and that Apollonius, as hee that was the gouernour of Coelosyria and Idemite, did rage, and increased Simons malice,

5 Hee went to the king, not as an accuser of the citizens, but as one that intended the common weale both privately and publicly.

6 For hee saw it was not possible, except the king tooke order, to quiet the matters, and that Simon would not leane off his folly.

7 But after the death of Seleucus, when Antiochus called Epiphanes, tooke the kingdom, Jason the brother of Onias laboured by vnlawfull means to beee high Priest.

8 For hee came vnto the king, and promised him three hundred and threetye talents of silver, and of another rent fourescore talents.

9 Besides this, hee promised him an hundred and fiftie, if hee might haue license to set vp a place for exercise, and a place for the youth, and that they would name them of Ierusalem, Antiochians,

10 The which thing when the king had granted, and hee got in the superiority, hee began immediately to draw his kinfolde to the customs of the Gentiles.

11 And abolished the friendly priuiledges of the Kings, that the Jewes had set vp by John the father of Eupolemus, which was sent Ambassadors vnto Rome, to become friends & confederates: hee put downe their lawes and pollicies, and brought in new statutes, and contrary to the Law.

12 For hee presumed to build a place of exercise vnder the castle, and brought the chiefe yong men vnder their subiection, and made them weare hats.

a In working some trickery or sorcery against him.

Or, that he would write the Antiochians that were at Jerusalem among them.

Or, Ierusalem, as taken of want of name as the Gossiles did.

13 So there began a great desire to follow the manners of the Gentiles, and they took up the fashions of strange nations by the exceeding wickedness of Jason, not the high Priest, but the ungodly person.

14 So that the Priests were now no more diligent about the service of the altar, but despised the Temple, and regarded not the sacrifices, but made haste to be partakers of the wicked expences at the play,* after the casting of the stone.

15 For they did not set by the honour of their fathers, but liked the glory of the Gentiles best of all.

16 By reason whereof great calamitie came upon them: for they had them to be their enemies and punishers, whose custome they followed so earnestly, and desired to be like them in all things.

17 For it is not a light thing to transgresse against the lawes of God, but the time following shall declare these things.

18 ¶ Now when the ¶ games that were used every fifth yere, were played at Cyzus, the King being present,

19 This wicked Jason sent from Jerusalem men to looke upon them, as though they had bene Antiochians, which brought three hundred drachmes of silver for a sacrifice to Hercules: albeit they that carried them, desired they might not be bestowed on the sacrifice, (because it was not comely) but to be bestowed for other expences.

20 So hee that sent them, sent them for the sacrifice of Hercules: but because of those that brought them, they were given to the making of galleies.

21 ¶ Now Apollonius the sonne of Menelaus was sent into Egypt because of the coronation of king Ptolemeus Philometor: but when Antiochus perceived that hee was much affected toward his father, he sought his owne assurance, and departed from thence to Ioype, and so came to Jerusalem,

22 Where he was honourably received of Jason, and of the city, and was brought in with torchlight, and with great shoutings, and so hee went with his hoste into Idenice.

23 Three yeres afterward Jason sent Menelaus, the foresaid Simons brother, to beare the money unto the King, and to bring to passe certaine necessary affaires, whereof hee had given him a memoriall.

24 But he, being commended to the King, magnified him for the appearance of his power, and turned the Priesthood unto himselfe: for he gave three hundred talents of silver more then Jason.

25 So hee gave the kings ¶ letter patents, albeit hee had nothing in himselfe worthy of the high Priesthood, but bare the stomache of a cruell tyrant, and the wrath of a wilde beaste.

26 Then Jason which had deceived his own brother, being deceived by another, was compelled to flee into the country of the Ammonites.

27 So Menelaus gate the dominion: but as for the money that hee had promised unto the king, he took none order for it, albeit Sosistratus the ruler of the castle required it.

28 For unto him appertained the gathering of the customes: wherefore they were both called before the king.

29 Now Menelaus left his brother Lysimachus in his seat in the Priesthood, and Sosistratus left Crates which was gouernour of the Cypians.

30 ¶ Whiles these things were in doing, the Chaldeans and they of Babel made insurrection, because they were given to the kings concubine called Antiochus.

31 Then came the king in all haste to appeale the business, leaving Andronicus a man of authority to be his lieutenant.

32 Now Menelaus, supposing that hee had gotten a convenient time, stole certaine vessels of gold out of the Temple, and gave certaine of them to Andronicus: and some hee sold at Cyzus and in the cities thereby.

33 Which when Dnias knew of a surety, hee reproued him, and withdrew himselfe into a Sanctuary at Daphne by Antiochia.

34 Wherefore Menelaus, taking Andronicus apart, prayed him to slay Dnias: so when hee came to Dnias, hee counselled him craftily, giving him his right hand with an oath: (howbeit hee suspected him, and perswaded him to come out of the Sanctuary) so hee slew him incontinently without any regarde of righteousness.

35 For the which cause not onely the Jewes, but many other nations also were grieved, and tooke it heavily, for the unrighteous death of this man.

36 ¶ And when the king was come againe from the places about Cilicia, the Jewes that were in the city, and certaine of the Greeks that abhorred the fact also, complained because Dnias was slaine without cause.

37 Therefore Antiochus was sorrie in his mind, and he had compassion, and wept because of the modestie and great discretion of him that was dead.

38 Wherefore being kindled with anger, hee tooke away Andronicus garment of purple, and rent his clothes, and commanded him to be led throughout the city, and in the same place where hee had committed the wickedness against Dnias, hee was slaine as a murderer. Thus ¶ Loyd rewarded him his punishment as hee had deserved.

39 ¶ Now when Lysimachus had done many wicked deeds in the city through the counsell of Menelaus, and the bruit was spread abroad, the multitude gathered them together against Lysimachus: for hee had caried out now much vessel of gold.

40 And when the people arose, and were full of anger, Lysimachus armed about three thousand, and began to use unlawful power, a certaine tyrant being their Captaine, who was no lesse decayed in wit then in age.

41 But when they understood the purpose of Lysimachus, some gave stones, some great clubs, and some cast handfuls of dust which lay by, upon Lysimachus men, and those that invaded them.

42 Whereby many of them were wounded, some were slaine, and all the other cheyed away: but the wicked Churchrobber himselfe they killed besides the treasury.

43 For these causes an accusation was layde against

¶ Or, Olympian sports, which were games kept every fift yere.

¶ Or, commandment.

against Menelaus.

44 And when the king came to Tyus, three men sent from the Senate pleaded the cause before him.

45 But Menelaus being now convinced, promised to Ptolemies the sonne of Dositheus much money, if he would persuade the king.

46 So Ptolemies went to the king into a court, whereas he was to coole himselfe, and turned the kings minde.

47 Insomuch that he discharged Menelaus from the accusation (notwithstanding hee was the cause of all mischiefe) and condemned those poore men to death, which if they had told their cause, yea, before the Egyptians, they should have been heard as innocent.

48 Thus were they soone punished unjustly, which followed vpon the matter for the citie, and for the people, and for the holy vessels.

49 Wherefore they of Tyus hated that wickednesse, and ministered all things liberally for their buriall.

50 And so though the comonnesse of them that were in power, Menelaus remained in authority, increasing in malice, and declared himselfe a great traitour to the citizens.

C H A P. V.

2 Of the signes and tokens seen in Ierusalem. 6 Of the end and wickednesse of Iason. 11 The pursuit of Antiochus against the Iewes. 15 The spilling of the Temple. 27 Maccabeus fleeth into the wilderness.

ABOUT the same time Antiochus vnderooke his second voyage into Egypt.

2 And then were there sene throughout all the citie of Ierusalem forty dayes long, hostemen running in the ayre with robes of gold, and as bands of hearemen.

3 And as troups of hostemen set in aray, encountering and courting one against another with shaking of helms and multitude of darters, and drawing of swords, and shooting of arrows, and the glittering of the golden armour sene, and harneisse of all sorts.

4 Therefore every man prayed, that those tokens might turne to good.

5 Now when there was gone forth a false rumour, as though Antiochus had been dead, Iason tooke at the least a thousand men, and came suddenly vpon the citie, and they that were vpon the walles, being put backe, and the citie at length taken.

6 Menelaus fled into the castle, but Iason slew his owne citizens without mercie, not considering, that to haue the advantage against his kinsmen his greatest disadvantage, but thought that hee had gotten the victory of his enemies, and not of his owne nation.

7 Yet he gate not the superiortie, but at the last received shame for the reward of his treason, and went againe like a vagabond into the country of the Ammonites.

8 Finally, he had this end of his wicked conueration, that he was sacrificed before Areta the king of the Arabians, and fled from citie to citie, being pursued of every man, and hated as a forsaker of the Lawes, and was an abomination, as an enemy of his country and citizens, and was driven into Egypt.

9 Thus he that had chosen many out of their owne country, perished as a banished man, after that hee was gone to the Lacedemonians, thinking there to haue gotten succour by reason of kindred.

10 And hee that had cast many out vnburied was thrown out himselfe, no man mourning for him, nor putting him in his graue: neither was he partaker of his fathers sepulchre.

11 ¶ Now when these things that were done were declared to the king, he thought that Iudea would haue fallen from him: wherefore hee came with a furious minde out of Egypt, and tooke the citie by violence.

12 Hee commanded his men of warre also, that they should kill and not spare such as they met, and to slay such as went into their houses.

13 Thus was there a slaughter of young men, and old men, and a destruction of men and women and children, and virgins and infants were murdered:

14 So that within three dayes were thaire fourescore thousand, and foure thousand taken prisoners, and there were as many sold as were slaine.

15 Yet was hee not content with this, but dyrt goe into the most holy Temple of all the world, hauing Menelaus that traitour to the lawes, and to his owne country, to be his guide.

16 And with his wicked hands tooke the holy vessels, which other kings had giuen for the garnishing, glory, and honour of that place, and banded them with his wicked hands.

17 So haughty in his minde was Antiochus, that he considered not that God was not a little wroth for the sinnes of them that dwelt in the city, for the which such contempt came vpon that place.

18 For if they had not bene wrapped in many sinnes, hee, althoone as hee had come, had suddenly bene punished, and put backe from his presumption, as Heliodorus was, whom Seleucus the king sent to view the treasury.

19 But God had not chosen the nation for the places sake, but the place for the nations sake.

20 And therefore is the place become partaker of the peoples trouble, but afterward shall it be partaker of the benefites of the Lord, and as it is now forsaken in the wrath of the Almighty so when the great Lord shall be reconciled, it shall be set vp in great worship againe.

21 ¶ So when Antiochus had taken eighty three hundred talents out of the Temple, hee gaue him to Antiochia in all haste, thinking in his pride to make men saile vpon the yle land, and to walke vpon the sea: such an high minde had he.

22 But hee left deputies to bere the people: at Ierusalem Philip a Phrygian by birth, in manners more cruell then hee that set him there:

23 And at Gazin Andronicus, and with them Menelaus, which was more cruelous to the citizens then the other, and was despitefull against the Iewes his citizens.

24 Hee sent also Apollonius a cruell prince, with an army of two and twenty thousand, whom he commanded to slay those that were towards mans age, and to sell the women, and the yonger sort.

25 So when he came to Ierusalem, hee slained peace, and kept him still untill the holy day of Sabbath; and then finding the Jewes keeping the feast, hee commanded his men to take their weapons.

26 And so hee slew all them that were gone forth to the feth, and running thorow the cite with his men armed, hee murdered a great number.

27 But Judas Maccabeus, being as it were the tenth, fled into the wilderness, and lived there in the mountaines with his company among the beastes, and dwelling there, and eating grasse, lest they should be partakers of the filthinesse.

CHAP. VI.

1 The Jewes are compelled to leave the Lawe of God.
4 The Temple is despoiled. 13 The women cruelly punished.
28 The grievous paine of Eleazar.

¶ Or, Antiochia.

N O long after this, sent the king an old man of Antiochia, for to compell the Jewes to transgresse the lawes of the fathers, and not to be governed by the law of God.

2 And to despoile the Temple that was at Jerusalem, and to call it the Temple of Jupiter Olympius, and that of Carstin, according as they did that dwelt at that place, Jupiter that keeper of hospitality.

3 This wicked government was fore and grievous unto the people.

4 For the temple was full of dissolution, and gluttony of the Gentiles, which dallied with harlots, and had to doe with women within the circuit of the holy places, and brought in such things as were not lawfull.

5 The altar also was full of such things, as were abominable and forbidden by the law.

6 Neither was it lawfull to keepe the Sabbath, nor to observe their ancient feastes, nor plainly to confesse themselves to be a Jew.

7 In the day of the Kings birth they were grievously compelled to paye every moneth to banquet, and when the feast of Bacchus was kept, they were constrained to goe in the procession of Bacchus with garlands of Iute.

8 Moreover, through the counsell of Proteus, there went out a commandement unto the next cities of the heathen against the Jewes, that the like custome, and banquetting should be kept.

¶ Or, eating of the flesh that was sacrificed.

9 And who so would not conforme themselves to the maners of the Gentiles, should be put to death: then might a man have scene the present misery.

10 For there were two women brought forth that had circumcised their sonnes, whome when they had ledde round about the cite (the babes hanging at their breasts) they cast them downe headlong over the walles.

11 Some that were run together into dennes to keepe the Sabbath day secretly, were discouraged unto Philip, and were burnt together, because that for the reverence of the honourable day they were afraid to helpe themselves.

12 ¶ Now I beseech those which read this booke, that they be not discouraged for these calamities, but that they iudge these afflictions not to be for destruction, but for a chastening of our nation.

13 For it is a token of his great goodness, not to suffer sinners long to continue, but straightwayes to punish them.

14 For the Lord doeth not long waite for vs, as for other nations, whom he punisheth when they are come to the fullnesse of their sinnes.

15 But thus he dealeth with vs, that our sinnes should not be heaped up to the full, so that afterward he should punish vs.

16 And therefore hee neuer withholdeth his mercy from vs: and though hee punish with adversity, yet doth hee neuer forsake his people.

17 But let this be spoken now for a warning unto vs: and now will we come to the declaring of the matter in few words.

18 ¶ Eleazar then one of the principall Scribes, an aged man, and of a well favoured countenance was constrained to open his mouth, and to eate swines flesh.

19 But hee desiring rather to die gloriously then to live with hatred, offered himselfe willingly to the torment and dur it out:

20 As they ought to goe to death which suffer punishment for such things, as it is not lawfull to take of for the desire to live.

21 But they that had the charge of this wicked banquet, for that old friendship of the man, tooke him aside privately, and prayed him that he would take such flesh, as was lawfull for him to eate, and as hee would prepare for himselfe, and dissemble as though hee had eaten of the things appointed by the King, turn the flesh of the sacrifice.

22 That in so doing hee might be delivered from death, and that for the old friendship that was among them, he would receive this favour.

23 But hee began to consider discreetly, and as became his age, and the excellencie of his ancient yeeres, and the honour of his gray haire, whereunto hee was come, and his most honest conversation from his childhood, but chiefly the holy Law made and given by God: therefore hee answered consequently, I will them straightwayes to send him to the graue.

24 For it becometh not our age, sayd he, to dissemble, whereby many yong persons might thinke that Eleazar being foure score yeeres old and ten, were now gone to another religion.

¶ Or, so many more men of life.

25 And so through mine hypocrisie (for a little tyme of a transitory life) they might be deceived by me, and I should procure malediction, and reproch to mine old age.

26 For though I were now delivered from the torment of men, yet could I not escape the hand of the Almighty, neither alive nor dead.

27 Therefore I will now change this life manfully, and will shewe my selfe such as mine age requireth.

28 And so will leave a notable example for such as be young to die willingly, and courageously, for the honourable and holy lawes. And when he had said these words, immediately hee went to torment.

29 Now they that led him, changed the tone which they bare him before, into hatred, because of the words that he had spoken for that thought he had been a raga.

30 And as he was ready to give the ghost because of the strokes, hee sighed, and said, The Lord that hath the holy knowledge, knoweth manifestly, that whereas I might have beene delivered from death, I am scourged, and suffer these these six partes of my body: but in my minde I suffer them gladly for his religion.

31 When now after this manner ended he his life, leaving his death for an example of a noble courage, and a memorail of vertue, not onely vnto yong men, but vnto all his nation.

CHAP. VII.

The punishment of the seven brethren, and of their mother.

It came to passe also that seven brethren, with their mother, were taken to be compelled by the king against the Law to taste swines flesh, and were tormented with scourges and whips.

2 But one of them which spake first, sayd thus, What seeketh thou? and what wouldest thou know of vs? we are ready to die rather then to transgresse the lawes of our fathers.

3 Then was the King angry, and commanded to beate paines and cautions, which were incontinently made here.

4 And he commanded the tongue of him that spake first to be cut out, and to slay him, and to cut off the yernost partes of his body in the sight of his other brethren, and his mother.

5 Now when hee was thus mangled in all his members, he commanded him to be brought alme to the fire, and to ste him in the pan: and while the smoke for a long time smoked out of the pan, the other brethren with their mother exhorted one another to die courageously, saying in this manner:

6 The Lord God doth regard vs, & in deede taketh pleasure in vs, as Moyles declared in the song whereto hee testified openly, saying, That God will take pleasure in his seruants.

7 ¶ So when the first was dead after this manner, they brought the second to make him a mocking stocke: and when they had pulled the skine with the haire ouer his head, they asked him if he would eate, or be were punished in all the members of the body.

8 But hee answered in his owne language, and sayd, No. Wherefore hee was tormented forthwith like the first.

9 And when hee was at the last breath, hee said, Thou murderere takest this present life from vs, but the King of the world will raise vs vp, which is for his Lawes, in the resurrection of everlasting life.

13 ¶ After him was the third had in derision, and when they demanded his tongue, hee put it out incontinently, and stretched forth his hands boldly.

11 And spake manfully, These haue I had from the heauen, but now for the Law of God I despise them, and trust that I shall receiue them of him againe.

12 Inasmuch that the King and they which were with him, marvelled at the yong mans courage, as at one that nothing regarded the paines.

13 ¶ Now when he was dead also, they beheaded and tormented the fourth in like manner.

14 And when hee was now ready to die, hee said thus, It is better that we should change this which we might hope for of men, and waite for our hope from God, that we may be raised vp againe by him: as for thee, thou shalt haue no resurrection to life.

15 ¶ Afterward they brought the fifth also and tormented him,

16 ¶ Who looked vpon the King, and said, Thou hast power among men, and though thou be a mortall man, thou dost what thou wilt: but thinke not that God hath forsaken our nation.

17 But abide a while, and thou shalt see his great power, how he will torment thee and thy brethren.

18 After him also they brought the sixth, who being at the point of death, said, Deceiue not thy selfe foolishly: for wee suffer these things, which are worthy to be wondered at for our owne sakes, because we haue offended our God.

19 But thinke not thou, which undertaketh to fight against God, that thou shalt be unpunished.

23 But the mother was maruailous about all other, and worthy of honourable memorie: for when she saw her seven sonnes slaine within the space of one day, she suffered it with a good will, because of the hope that he had in the Law.

21 ¶ Pea, she exhorted every one of them in her owne language, and being full of courage, and wisdome, stirred by her womanly affections, with a manly stomack, and said vnto them,

22 I cannot tell how yee came into my wombe: for I neither gaue you breath nor life: it is not I that set in order the members of your body,

23 But doubtlesse the Creator of the world, which formed the birth of man, and found out the beginning of all things, will also of his owne mercie giue you breath, and life againe, as yee now regard not your owne selues, for his lawes sake.

24 Now Antiochus thinking himselfe despised, and considering the insurmountable words, while the yongest was yet alme, he did exhorte him not onely with words, but swore also vnto him by an oath that hee would make him rich and wealthy, if he would forsake the lawes of his fathers, and that he would take him as a friend, and giue him officers.

25 But when the yong man would in no case hearken vnto him, the King called his mother, and exhorted that she would counsell the yong man to leaue his life.

26 And when he had exhorted her with many words, he promised him that he would counsell her sonne.

27 So she turned her vnto him laughing the cruell tyrant to scorn, and spake in her owne language, O my sonne, haue pite vpon mee, that bare thee nine moneths in my wombe, and gaue thee sucke three yeres, and nourished thee, and tooke care for thee vnto this age, & brought thee vp.

28 I beseech thee, my sonne, looke vpon the heauen and the earth, and all that is therein, and consider that God made them of things that were not, and so was mankind made likewise.

29 Feare not this hangman, but shew thy selfe worthy such brethren by suffering death, that I may receiue thee in mercy with thy brethren.

30 While she was yet speaking these words, the yong man saide, Whom waite yee for? I will not obey the kings commandment: but I will obey the commandment of the Law that was giuen vnto our fathers by Moyles.

31 And

31 And thou that imaginest all mischief against the Hebrewes, shalt not escape the hand of God.

32 For wee suffer these things because of our sinnes.

33 But though the living Lord be angry with us a little while for our chaulnering and correction, yet will hee be reconciled with his owne servants.

34 But thou, O man without religion, and most wicked of all men, list not thy selfe up in vain, which art passed by with uncertain hope, and listest thine hands against the seruants of God.

35 For thou hast not yet escaped the iudgement of Almighty God, which seeth all things.

36 Whither then that haue suffered a little paine, are now under the diuine Covenant of euerslasting life, but thou through the iudgement of God, shalt suffer iust punishments for thy pittie.

37 Therefore I, as my brethren haue done, offer my body and life for the Lawes of our fathers, beseeching God, that he will loone be mercifull vnto one nation, and that thou by torment and punishment mayest confesse, that hee is the onely God.

38 And that in me and my brethren the wrath of the Almighty, which is rightfully fallen vpon all our nation, may cease.

39 When the king being kindled with anger, raged more cruelly against him then the others, and tooke it grievously that he was mocked.

40 So he also died hostily: and put his whole trust in the Lord.

41 Last of all after the sonnes, was the mother put to death.

42 Let this now be enough spoken concerning the banquet, and extreme cruelties.

CHAP. VIII.

1 Judas gathereth together his host. 8 Nicanor is sent against Judas. 16 Judas exhorteth his soldiers to constancie. 20 Nicanor is overcome. 27 The Iewes give thanks, after they haue put their enemies to flight, dismaying part of the spoyle vnto the fatherlesse and vnto the widowers. 30 Timotheus and Bacides are discomfited. 35 Nicanor fleeth vnto Antiochus.

Then Judas Maccabeus, and they that were with him, went priuily into the townes, and called their kinsfolkes and friends together, and tooke vnto them all such as continued in the Iewes religion: and assembled sixe thousand men.

2 So they called vpon the Lord, that hee would haue an eye vnto his people, which was hered of every man, and haue pittie vpon the Temple that was defiled by wicked men.

3 And that hee would haue compassion vpon the citie that was destroyed, and almost brought to the ground, and that he would heare the voyce of the blood that cried vnto him.

4 And that hee would remember the wicked slaughter of the innocent children, and the blasphemies committed against his name, and that he would shew his hatred against the wicked.

5 Now when Maccabeus had gathered this multitude, hee could not be withstood by the heathen: for the wrath of the Lord was turned into mercie.

6 Therefore hee came at bethsures, and burne vpon the robbers and cities: yet hee tooke the most commodious places, and slew many of the enemies.

7 But specially hee bled the nightes to make such assaults, inasmuch that the duke of his manerlie was spread euery where.

8 ¶ So when Philip saw that this man increased by little and little, and that things prospered with him for the most part, he wrote vnto Ptolemeus, the gouernour of Coelophila and Phenice to helpe him in the kings bullesse.

9 Then sent he speedily Alcianor the sonne of Patroclus, a speciall friend of his, and gaue him of all nations of the heathen no lesse then twenty thousand men to roote out the whole generation of the Iewes, and ioyned with him Gorgias a captain, which in matters of warre had great experience.

10 Alcianor obtained also a tribute for the king of two thousand talents, which the Romans should haue, to bee taken of the Iewes that were taken prisoners.

11 Therefore immediately he sent to the cities on the sea coast, prouoking them to buy Iewes to be their seruants, promising to sell foure score and ten for one talent: but hee considered not the vengeance of Almighty God, that should come vpon him.

12 When Judas then knew of Alcianors coming, hee told them that were with him, of the coming of the armie.

13 Now were there some of them fearefull, which trusted not vnto the righteousness of God, but fled away, and abode not in that place.

14 But the other told all that they had left, and besought the Lord together to deliuer them from that wicked Alcianor, which had sold them ouer hee came nere them.

15 And though hee would not doe it for thre lakes: yet for the Couenant made with their fathers, and because they called vpon his holy and glorious name.

16 And so Maccabeus called his men together, about sixe thousand, exhorting them not to bee afraid of their enemies, neither to feare the great multitude of the Gentiles, which came against them vnrighteously, but to fight manly.

17 Setting before their eyes the iniurie that they had vnjustly done to the holy place, and the cruelty done to the citie by desolation, and the destruction of the orders established by their fathers.

18 For they, said he, trust in their weapons and boldnesse: but our confidence is in the Almighty God. which at a becke can both destroy them that come against vs, and all the world.

19 Moreover, hee admonished them of the helpe that God shewed vnto their fathers, as when there perished an hundred and fourescore and sixe thousand vnder Semacherib.

20 And of the battell that they had in Babylon against the Galatians, how they came in all to the battell eight thousand, with foure thousand Macedonians: and when the Macedonians were assisted, the eight thousand slew an hundred and twenty thousand through the helpe that was giuen them from heauen, to whereby they had receiued many benefits.

21 Thus when hee had made them bold with these wordes, and ready to die for the Lawes and

and the countrey, he diuided his army into foure parts,

22 And made his owne brethren capitaines ouer the army, to wit, Simon, and Iosaph, and Jonathan, giuing each one fiftene hundred men.

23 And when Eleazarus had read the holy booke, and giuen them a token of the helpe of God, Iudas which led the forwarde toynd with Alcinoi.

24 And because the Almighty helped them, they slew about nine thousand men, and wounded and maidne the most part of Alcinoys host, and so put all to flight.

25 And tooke the money from those that came to buy them, and pursued them far: but lacking time, they returned.

26 For it was the day before the Sabbath, and therefore they would no longer pursue them.

27 So they tooke their weapons, and spoiled the enemies, & kept the Sabbath, giuing thanks and praising the Lord wonderfully, which had deliuered them that day, and powred vpon them the beginning of his mercy.

28 And after the Sabbath, they distributed the spoiles to the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and diuided the residue among themselves and their children.

29 When this was done, and they all had made a generall prayer, they delought the mercifull Lord to be reconciled at the length with his seruants.

30 Afterward with one consent they fel vpon Timotheus & Bacchides, and slew about twenty thousand, and wanne high and strong holdes, and diuided great spoiles, and gaue an equall portion vnto the sicke, and to the fatherlesse, and to the widowes, and to aged persons also.

31 Moreover, they gathered their weapons together, and laid them by diligently in conuenient places, and brought the remnant of the spoiles to Ierusalem.

32 They slew also Philarches a most wicked person which was with Timotheus, and had vexed the Iewes many wayes.

33 And when they kept the feast of Victorie in their countrey, they burne Calisthenes that had set fire vpon the holy gates, which was fled into a little house: for he receiued a reward merite for his wickednesse.

34 And that most wicked Alcinoi, which had brought a thousand Merchants to buy the Iewes, 35 Hee was through the helpe of the Lord brought downe of them whom hee thought as nothing, inso much that hee put off his glorious raiment, and fled ouerthwart the countrey like a fugitiue seruant, and came alone to Antiochia, with great dishonour through the destruction of his host.

36 Thus hee that promised to pay tribute to the Romanes, by means of the prisoners of Ierusalem, brought newes, that the Iewes had a defender, and for this cause mene could hurt the Iewes, because they followed the Lawes appointed by him.

5 As hee persecuteth the Iewes, hee is smitten of the Lord.
13 The feared repentance of Antiochus. 28 Hee dyeth miserably.

At the same time came Antiochus againe with dishonour, out of the Countrey of Persia.

2 For when he came to Persopolis, and went about to rob the Temple, and to subduer the city, the people ranne in a rage to defend themselves with their weapons, and put them to flight, and Antiochus was put to flight by the inhabitants and returned with shame.

3 Now when hee came to Ecbatane, hee vnderstood the things that had come vnto Alcinoy and Timotheus.

4 And then being chafed in his minde, hee thought to impute to the Iewes their fault, which had put him to flight, and therefore commanded his charer man to dyne continually, and to dispatch the Iourney: for Gods iudgement compelled him: for hee had said thus in his priuie, I will make Ierusalem a common burying place of the Iewes, when I come thither.

5 But the Lord Almighty, and God of Israel smote him with an incurable and misuisable plague: for as soone as hee had spoken these words, a paine of the bowels that was remediable came vpon him, and sore torment of the inner parts.

6 And that most lustily: for hee had torment of her mens bowels with diuers and strange tormentes.

7 Whobett hee would in no wise cease from his arrogancie, but swelled the more with pride, byearing out fire in his rage against the Iewes, and commanded to haste the Iourney: but it came to passe that hee fell downe from his charer that ranne swiftly, so that all the members of his body were huilt with the great fall.

8 And thus hee that a little afore thought he might command the floods of the Sea (so proud was he beyond the condition of man) and to weigh the high mountaines in the ballance, was now cast on the ground, and carried in an hoyle litter, declaring vnto all the manifest power of God.

9 So that the woymes came out of the body of this wicked man in abundance: & whiles he was alive, his flesh fell off for paine and torment: and all his armie was grieved at his smell.

10 Thus no man could beare because of his stinke, him that a little afore thought hee might reach to the starres of heauen.

11 Then he began to leane off his great pride and selfe will when hee was plagued, and came to the knowledge of himselfe by the scourge of God, and by his paine which increased euery moment.

12 And when hee himselfe might not abide his owne stinke, hee said these words, It is meete to be subiect vnto God, and that a man which is mortall, should not thinke himselfe equall vnto God through pride.

13 This wicked person prayed also vnto the Lord, who would now haue no merite on him.

14 And said thus, that he would set at liberty the holy city vnto the which hee made halfe to destroy it and to make it a burying place.

15 And as touching the Iewes (whom hee had iudged not worthy to be buried, but would haue cast them out with their children men to be demerited of the foules & wilde beastes) her would make them all like the citizens of Achems.

16 And whereas he had spoiled the holy Temple afore, her would garnish it with great gifts, and increase the holy vessels, and of his owne riches beare the charges belonging to the sacrifices.

17 Yea, and that he would also become a Jew himselfe, and goe betwixt all the world that was inhabited, and preach the power of God.

18 But for all this, his paines would not cease: for the iust iudgement of God was come vpon him: therefore despairing of his health, he wrote vnto the Jewes this letter vnder written, concerning the forme of a supplication.

19 THE KING, and prince Antiochus vnto the Jewes his louing citizens, wishesth much loe, and health and prosperitie.

20 If ye and your children fare wel, and if all things go after your mind, I giue great thanks vnto God, hauing hope in the heauen.

21 Though I lie sicke, yet I am mindfull of your honour, and good will for the loue I beare you: therefore when I returned from the country of Persia, I fell into a sore disease, I thought it necessary to care for the common safetie of all,

22 Not distrusting mine health, but hauing great hope to escape this sickness.

23 Therefore considering that when my father led an hoste against the high countreyes, he appointed you should succeed him:

24 That if any controuersie happened contrary to his expectation, as if that any tidings were brought that were gruous, they in the land might know to whom the affaires were committed, that they should not be troubled.

25 Again, when I ponder how that the gouernours, that are borderers and neighbours vnto my kingdom, wait for all occasions, and looke but for opportunitie, I haue ordered that my sonne Antiochus shall be king, whom I oft commended and committed to many of you, when I went into the high prouinces, and haue written vnto him as followeth hereafter.

26 Therefore I pray you, and requyre you to remember the benefices that I haue done vnto you generally, and particularly, and that euery man will be faithfull to me and to my sonne.

27 For I trust that he will be gentle and louing vnto you according to my minde.

28 As thus the murderers and blasphemers suffered most gruously, and as he had intreated other men, so he dyed a miserable death in a strange country among the mountaines.

29 And Philip that was brought by with him, carried away his body, who fearing the sonne of Antiochus, went into Egypt to Ptolemy Philometor.

CHAP. X.

1 Judas Maccabeus taketh the citie and the Temple, 10 the allies of Eupator. 16 The Tewes fight against the Idumeans. 24 Timotheus smareth Iudas, with whom Iudas sought battell. 29 Five men appeare in the aire to the helpe of the Tewes. 37 Timotheus is slaine.

Maccabeus now and his company, through the helpe of the Lord, won the Temple and the citie againe,

2 And destroyed the altars, & chappels that the heathen had buid in the open places,

3 And cleansed the Temple, and made another altar, and burned bones, and took fire of them, and offered sacrifices, and spent two yeeres, and fixe monethes after, and set forth the lampes, and the shewbread.

4 When that was done, they fell downe flat vpon the ground, and besought the Lord, that they might come no more into such troubles: but if they sinned any more against him, that he himselfe would chastise them with mercy, and that they might not be deliuered to the blasphemous, and barbarous nations.

5 Now vpon the same day, that the strangers polluted the Temple, on the very same day it was cleansed againe, even the fixe and twentieth day of the same moneth which is // Chablos.

// Or, Nemo.

6 They kept eight dayes with gladnesse as in the feast of the Tabernacles, remembering, that not long afore they held the feast of the Tabernacles, when they liued in the mountaines and demes like beasts.

7 And for the same cause they bare greene boughes, and satre branches and palmes, and sang Psalmes vnto him that had giuen them good successe in cleansing his place.

8 They ordained also by a common statute and decree, that euery yeere those dayes should be kept of the whole nation of the Jewes.

9 And this was the end of Antiochus called Epiphanes.

10 Now will we declare the acts of Antiochus Eupator, which was the sonne of this wicked man, gathering briefly the calamities of the warres that followed.

11 For when he had taken the kingdom, he made one Lysias, which had bin captaine of the hoste in Phenice and Coelozia, ruler ouer the affaires of the Realme.

12 For Ptolemy that was called Euergetes, purposed to doe iustice vnto the Jewes for the wrong that had bene done vnto them, and went about to behaue himselfe peaceably with them.

13 For the which cause, he was accused of his friends before Eupator, and was called oft times traitour, because he had left Cyprus that Philometor had committed vnto him, and came to Antiochus Epiphanes: therefore seeing that he was no more in estimation, he was discouraged, and poisoned himselfe, and died.

14 As But when Soigias was gouernour of the same places, he entertained strangers, and made warre oft times against the Jewes.

15 Moreover, the Idumeans that held the strong holdes which were meete for their purpose, troubled the Jewes, and by receiving them that were driven from Ierusalem, rooke in hand to continue warre.

16 Then they that were with Baccadeus, made prayers, and besought God that he would be their helper, and so they fell vpon the strong holdes of the Idumeans, 17 And assailed them sore, that they warne the places, and slew all that fought against them on the wall, and killed all that they mette with, and slew no lesse then twentie thousand.

18 And because certaine (which were no lesse then then nine thousand were slain into two strong castles, having all manner of things convenient to sustaine the siege.

19 Baccabarus left Simon and Joseph, and Judas also, and those that were with them, which were now to besiege them, and departed to those places which were more necessitie.

20 Now they that were with Simon, being led with covetousness, were entreated for money (through certain of those that were in the castle) andooke seventy thousand shekels, and let some of them escape.

21 But when it was told Baccabarus what was done, he called the generous of the people together, and accused those men, that they had sold their brethren for money, and let their enemies goe.

22 So he slew them when they were consuet of reason, and immediately wanne the two castles.

23 And having good successe, as in all the warres that hee tooke in hand, he slew in the two castles more then twentie thousand.

24 Now Timotheus whom the Jewes had overcome afore, gathered an armie of strangers of all sortes, and brought a great troupe of horsemen out of Asia, to winne Jewrie by strength.

25 But when he was nere, Baccabarus and they that were with him, turned to play unto God, and sprinkled earth upon their heads, and girded their reines with sackcloth.

26 And fell downe at the foot of the altar, and besought the Lord to be mercifull to them, and to be an enemy to their enemies, and to bee an adversarie to their adversaries, as the Law declareth.

27 So after the prayer they tooke their weapons, and went on further from the citie, and when they came nere to the enemies, they tooke heed to themselves.

28 And when the morning appeared, they both turned together: the one part had the Lord for their refuge, and pledge of prosperitie, and noble victorie, and the other tooke courage as a guide of the warre.

29 But when the battell was strong, there appeared unto the enemies from heaven fire comely men upon horses with habites of gold, and two of them led the Jewes.

30 And tooke Baccabarus betwixt them, and coured him on every side with their weapons, and kept him safe, but shot darts & lightnings against the enemies, so that they were confounded with blindness, and beaten downe, and full of trouble.

31 There were slaine of foote men twentie thousand and five hundred, and six hundred horsemen.

32 As for Timotheus himselfe, he fled unto Gazara, which was called a very strong hold, wherein Cheretas was capitaine.

33 But Baccabarus and his company layde siege against the fortresses with courage for foure dayes.

34 And they that were within, trusting to the height of the place, blasphemed exceedingly, and spake horrible words.

35 Nevertheless, upon the // sixth day in the morning, twentie young men of Baccabarus company, whose hearts were inflamed, because of the blasphemies, came unto the wall, & with both hands threw stones upon them that they met.

36 And there also they climbed up upon the cogges of warre against them that were within, let fire upon the towers, and burnt those blasphemers quicker then the flaxe that they had made, and others brake up the gates, and received the rest of the armie and took the citie.

37 And having found Timotheus that was crept into a cave, they killed him, and Cheretas his brother with Apollonbanus.

38 When this was done, they praised the Lord with psalmes and thanksgiving, which had done so great things for Israel, and given them the victory.

CHAP. XI.

1 Lysias goeth about to overcome the Jewes, 8 Succour is sent from heaven unto the Jewes, 16 The letter of Lysias unto the Jewes, 20 The letter of king Antiochus unto Lysias, 27 A letter of the same unto the Jewes, 34 A letter of the Romans to the Jewes.

VERY shortly after this, Lysias the Kings Remard, and a husband of his, which had the governance of the affaires, tookesoye displeasure for the things that were done.

2 And when hee had gathered about fourscore thousand, with all the horsemen, he came against the Jewes, thinking to make the city an habitation of the Gentiles.

3 And the Temple should have to get money by, like the other temples of the heathen: for he would sell the Priestes offices every yeere.

4 And thus being puffed up in his minde because of the great number of footemen, and thousands of horsemen, and in his fourscore Elephants,

5 Hee came into Judea, and drew nere to Beth-lura, which was a castle of defence, five furlongs from Jerusalem, and laid siege untill.

6 But when Baccabarus and his company knew that hee besieged the hold, they and all the people made prayers with weeping and tears before the Lord, that he would send a good Angel to deliver Israel.

7 And Baccabarus himselfe first of all tooke weapons, exhorting the other that they would leopard themselves together with him to helpe their brethren: so they went forth together with a courageous minde.

8 And as they were there besides Jerusalem, there appeared before them upon horsebacke a man in white clothing, shaking his harness of gold.

9 Then they praised the mercifull God all together, and tooke heart, informed that they were ready, not onely to fight with men, but with the most cruell beasts, and to breake downe walles of yron.

10 Thus they marched forward in aray, having an helper from heaven: for the Lord was mercifull unto them.

11 And running upon their enemies like lions, they slew eleven thousand footmen, and fixtene hundred horsemen, and put all the other to flight.

12 Many of them also being wounded, escaped naked, & Lysias himselfe fled away shamefully.

fully, and so escaped.

13 When as hee was a man of understanding considering what losse he had had, and knowing that the Hebrewes could not bee overcome because the Almighty God helped them, sent unto them,

14 And promised that he would consent to all things which were reasonable, and persuade the king to be their friend.

15 Maccabees agreed to Lysias requests, having respect in all things to the common weale, and whatsoever Maccabees import unto Lysias concerning the Jewes, the king granted it.

16 For there were letters written unto the Jewes from Lysias containing these wordes, Lysias unto the people of the Jewes tenderly greeting.

17 John and || Abesalom, which were sent from you, delivered me the things that you demand by writing, and required me to fulfill the things that they had declared.

18 Therefore what things I neuer were mee to be reported to the king himselfe, I have declared them, and he granted that that was possible.

19 Therefore if yee behave your selves as friends toward his affairs, hereafter also I will endeavour my selfe to doe you good.

20 As concerning these things, I have given commandement to these men, & to those whom I sent unto you, to communicate with you of the same particulars.

21 Fare ye well, the hundred and eight and fouretye, the foure and twentieth day of the month Diocelmeus.

22 ¶ Now the kings letter contained these wordes, KING ANTIOCHVS unto his brother Lysias tenderly greeting.

23 Since our father is translated unto the gods, our will is, that they which are in our Realme, live quietly, that every man may apply his owne affaires.

24 We understand also that the Jewes would not consent to our father say to be brought unto the custome of the Gentiles, but would keepe their owne manner of living: for the which cause they require of vs, that we would suffer them to live after their owne lawes.

25 Therefore our minde is, that this nation shall be in rest, and have determined to restore them their Temple, that they may be governed according to the custome of their fathers.

26 When shall we well therefore to send unto them, and grant them peace, that when they are certified of our minde, they may be of good comfort, and cheerfully goe about their owne affaires.

27 And this was the kings letter unto the nation, KING ANTIOCHVS unto the Elders of the Jewes, and to the rest of the Jewes tenderly greeting.

28 If ye care well, we have our desire: we are also in good health.

29 Helmslaus declared unto by that your desire was to returne home, and to apply your owne business.

30 Therefore, those that will depart, we give them free liberty, unto the thirtieth day of the month || Pantheus.

31 That the Jewes may use their owne maner of living and lawes, like an aspe, and none of them by any manner of hopes to have harme for things done by ignorance.

32 I have sent also directions to comfort you.

33 Fare ye well: the hundred and eight and fouretye, the fifteenth day of the month of Pantheus.

34 ¶ The Romanes also sent a letter concerning these wordes, QVINTVS MAMMIVS, and Titus || Pandulus ambassadors of the Romanes, unto the people of the Jewes tenderly greeting.

35 The things that Lysias the kings kinsman hath granted you, we grant the same also.

36 But concerning that which he shall report unto the king, send thither some with speed, when yee have considered the matter diligently, that we may consult thereupon, as shall be best for you: for we must goe unto Antiochia.

37 And therefore make haste, and send some men, that we may know your minde.

38 Farewell: this hundred and eight and fouretye, the fifteenth day of the month of Pantheus.

CHAP. XII.

1 Timotheus troubleth the Iewes. 2 The wicked deeds of them of Leppa against the Iewes. 3 Indus is amonged of them. 4 Hee fetch fire in the house of Lamaya. 5 The pursuit of the Iewes against Timotheus. 6 Timotheus is taken, and let goe without. 7 Indus pursueth Gorgias.

When these covenants were made, Lysias went unto the king, and the Jewes tilld their ground.

2 But the gouernours of the places, as Timotheus, and Apollonius the sonne of Senecus, and Jeronymus, and also Demophon, and besides them Gicario, the gouernour of Cyprius, would not let them live in rest and peace.

3 ¶ They of Ioppe also did such a vile acte: they prayed the Jewes that dwelt among them, to goe with their wines and children into the ships, which they had prepared as though they had ought them none ill will.

4 And so by the common aduise of the cite, they obeyed them, and suspected nothing: but when they were gone forth into the deepe, they bestowed no lesse then two hundred of them.

5 Now when Judas knew of this cruelty shewed against his nation, he commanded those men that were with him, to make them ready.

6 And hauing called upon God the righteous Iudge, hee went footed against the murderers of his brethren, and set fire in the haven by night, and burnt the shippes, and those that dwelt therein, he slew.

7 ¶ And when the cite was shut vp, he departed as though he would come againe, and rose out all them of the cite of Ioppe.

8 ¶ But when he perceived that the Jamnites were minded to doe in like manner unto the Jewes which dwelt among them,

9 He came upon the Jamnites by night, and set fire in the haven with the nauis, so that the light of the fire was seene at Ierusalem, vpon a two hundred and fouretye furlongs.

10 Now when they were gone from thence nine furlongs, in their tourney toward T. I. moechus, about fure thousand men of foote and and first hundred hostemen of the Arabians set upon him.

11 So the battell was sharpe, but it proceded with Judas through the helpe of God: the Romans of Arabia being overcome, besought Judas to make peace with them, and promised to give him certaine cattle, and to helpe him in other things.

12 And Judas thinking that they should increase bee profitable concerning many things, granted them peace: whereupon they shooke hands, and so they departed to their tents.

13 ¶ Judas also assaulted a citie called Castle, which was strong by reason of a dyke, and fenced round about with walles, and had divers kinds of people dwelling therein.

14 So they that were within, put such trust in the strength of the walles, and in hope of victuals, that they were the slacker in their doings, ruffling them that were with Judas, and re-proaching them: yea, they blasphemed and spake such words as were not lawfull.

15 But Bacchabuzs hostlers calling vpon the great Prince of the world (which without any instruments, or engines of warre, did cast downe the walles of Jericho, in the time of Jesus) gave a fierce assault against the walles,

16 And took the citie by the will of God, and made an exceeding great slaughter, inasmuch that a lake of two furlongs broad, which lay thereby, seemed to flow with blood.

17 ¶ Then departed they from thence, from hundred and fiftie furlongs, and came to Characa vnto the Iewes, that are called Tubiens.

18 But they found not Timotheus there:
so he was departed from thence, and had done nothing, and had left a garrison in a very strong hold.

19 But Dositheus, & Sopater, which were captaines with Bacchabuzs, went forth, and slew those that Timotheus had left in the fortress, more then ten thousand men.

20 And Bacchabuzs prepared and ranged his army by bands, and went courageously against Timotheus, which had with him an hundred and twenty thousand men of foot, and two thousand and five hundred hostemen.

21 When Timotheus had knowledge of Judas coming, he sent the women and children, and the other baggage afoze, vnto a fortress called Carmon (so it was hard to besiege, and vi-calle to come vnto, because of the straits on all sides.)

22 But when Judas first band came in sight, the enemies were shaken with feare, and a reuol-ting was among them through the presence of him that seeth all things. Inasmuch that they fleeing one here, another there, were oftentimes hurt by their owne people, and wounded with the points of their owne swords.

23 But Judas was very earnest in pursuing, and slew those which were: yea, he slew thirtie thousand men of them.

24 Timotheus also himselfe fell into the hands of Dositheus and Sopater, whom he besought with much earnest to let him go with his life, because he had many of the Iewes parents, and the brethren of some of them, which if they pur him to death, should be punished.

25 So when he had assured them with many words, and promised that he would release them without hurt, they let him goe for the health of their brethren.

26 ¶ Then went Bacchabuzs toward Car-mon, and Arragatio, and slew five and twenty thousand persons.

27 And after that hee had chased away and slaine them, Judas remoued the hoste toward Ephraim a strong citie, wherein was Lylas and a great multitude of all nations, and the strong young men kept the walles, defending them mightily: there was also great preparation of engines of warre, and darts.

28 But when they had called vpon the Lord, which with his power breaketh the strength of the enemies, they waite the citie, and slew five and thientie thousand of them that were within.

29 ¶ From thence went they to Sycehopo-lis, which lieth five hundred furlongs from Jerusalem.

30 But when the Iewes which dwelt there, testified that the Sycehopollitans dealt lovingly with them, and instructed them kindly in the times of their aduersitie,

31 They gave them thanks, desiring them to bee friendly still vnto them, and so they came to Jerusalem, as the feall of the workers appeared.

32 ¶ And after the feast called Pentecost, they went forth against Gorgias the gouernour of Iudaea:

33 Who came out with three thousand men of foot, and foure hundred hostemen.

34 And when they layned together, a few of the Iewes were slaine,

35 And Dositheus one of the Bacchois, which was on horsebacke and a mighty man tooke Gorgias, and layd hold of his garment, and drew him by force, because hee would haue taken the wicked man alive: but an hosteman of Characa fell vpon him and smote off his shoulder, so that Gorgias fled into Bethsai.

36 And when they that were with Martin, had foughten long, and were wearie, Judas called vpon the Lord, that hee would shew him, how to bee their helper, and Captaine of the field.

37 And then he began in his owne language, and sung Psalms with a loud voice, knowing that straightwayes hee made them that were about Gorgias, to take their flight.

38 ¶ So Judas gathered his hoste, and came into the citie of Modda. And when the seventh day came, they cleansed themselves (as the custome was) and kept the Sabbath in the same place.

39 And vpon the day following, as need little required, Judas and his company came to take vp the bodies of them that were slaine, and bury them with their kindemen in their fathers graves.

40 Now vnder the coats of many one that was slaine, they found fewell that had bene consecrate to the Idoles of the Samaritans, which thing is forbidden the Iewes by the Law. Then every man saw that this was the cause wherefore they were slaine.

41 And in eury man gave thanks vnto the Lord, the righteous Iudge, which had opened the things that were hid.

43 And they gave themselves to prayer, and besought him, that they should not directly be destroyed for the fault committed. Besides that, noble Judas exhorted the people to keepe themselves from sinne, sayalmuch as they saw before their eyes the things which came to passe by the sinne of these that were slaine.

43 And having made a gathering through the company, sent to Jerusalem about two thousand bushels of silver, to offer a sinne offering, doing very well and honestly, that he thought of the resurrection.

44 For if he had not hoped that they which were slaine, should rise againe, it had bene superfluous and vaine, to pray for the dead.

45 And therefore he perceived that there was great favour layed by for those that died godly. (It was an holy & good thought.) So he made a reconciliation for the dead, that they might be delivered from sinne.

a From this verse to the end of this chapter, the Greeke text is corrupt, so that no good sense, much lesse certaine doctrine can be gathered thereby. Also it is evident that this place was not written by the holy Ghost, both because it dissoneth from the rest of the holy Scriptures, & also the author of this booke acknowledging his own infirmities, desired pardon, if he have not attained to that he should. And it seemeth that this Iason the Cyrenyan, out of whom he took this abridgement, is Ioseph Ben-gorion, who hath written in Hebrew five booke of these matters, & increasing this place, maketh no mention of this prayer for the dead. Lib. 3. cap. 19. For it is contrary to the custome of the Iewes even to this day to pray for the dead. And though Iudas had so done, yet this particular example is not sufficient to establish a doctrine, no more then Zipporah was to prove that women might minister the Sacraments, Exod. 4. 25. or the example of Ramis, that one might kill himselfe, whom this author so much commendeth, Chap. 14. 41.

CHAP. XIII.

1 The coming of Eupator into Iudea. 4 The death of Menelaus. 10 Maccabees going to fight against Eupator, murther his soldiers unto prayer. 15 He killeth fourscore thousand men in the tents of Antiochus. 21 Rhodanus the betrayer of the Iewes is taken.

IN the hundredeth fourth and nine yeere, it was Icolde Iudas that Antiochus Eupator was coming with a great power into Iudea.

2 And Lysias the steward and ruler of his affaires with him, having both in their armie an hundred and ten thousand men of foote of the Grecians, and five thousand horsemen, and two and twenty Elephants, and three hundred chariots set with bowes.

3 Helcias also loyned himselfe with them, and with great desire encouraged Antiochus, not for the safeguard of the country, but because he thought to have bene made the gouernour.

4 But the king of kinges mooued Antiochus minde against this wicked man, and Lysias exhorred the king, that this man was the cause of all mischiefe, so that the king commanded to bring him to Beroe to put him to death as the manner was in that place.

5 Now there was in that place a tower of fittie cubits high, full of ashes, and it had an instrument that turned round, and on every side it couled downe into the ashes.

6 And there whosoener was condemned of sterillidge, or of any other greivous crime, was cast of all men to the death.

7 And so it came to passe that this wicked man should die such a death, and it was a most iust thing that Helcias should want buriall.

8 For because he had committed many sinnes by the altar, whose fire and ashes were holy: hee himselfe also dyed in the ashes.

9 ¶ Now the king raged in his minde, and came to them himselfe cruse into the Iewes then his father.

10 Which things when Iudas perceived, he commanded the people to call upon the Lord night and day, that if euer he had holpen them, he would now helpe them, when they should bee put from their Law, from their country, and from the holy Temple.

11 And that he would not suffer the people which a litle before began to recouer, to be subdued unto the blasphemous nations.

12 So when they had done this altogether, and besought the Lord for mercy with weeping and fasting, and fasting downe three dayes together, Iudas exhorted them to make themselves ready.

13 And he being apart with the Elders,ooke council to goe forth, afore the king brought his holte into Iudea, and should take the citie, and commit the matter to the helpe of the Lord.

14 So committing the charge to the Lord of the world, he exhorted his soldiers to fight manfully, euen unto death for the Law, the Temple, the citie, their country, and the common wealth, and camped by Bethdin.

15 And so giuing his soldiers for a watch-word, The victorie of God, he picked out the manliest yong men, and went by night into the kings campe, and slew of the holte foure score thousand men, and the greatest Elephant with all that sate vpon him.

16 Thus when they had brought a great feare, and trouble in the campe, and all things went prosperously with them, they departed.

17 This was done in the beake of the day, because the protection of the Lord did helpe them.

18 ¶ Now when the king had taken the manlinesse of the Iewes: hee went about to take the holds by policy.

19 And marched toward Beth-sura, which was a strong hold of the Iewes: but hee was chased away, hurt, and lost of his men.

20 For Iudas had sent unto them that were in it, such things as were necessary.

21 But Rhodocus which was in the Iewes holte, disclosed the secrets to the enemies: therefore he was sought out, and when they had got him, they put him in prison.

22 After this, did the king commune with them that were in Beth-sura, and tooke truce with them, drew them and loyned battell with Iudas, who ouercame him.

23 But when hee understood, that Philip (whom he had left to be surer of his bulwark at Antiochia) did rebel against him, he was astonished, so that he fledd himselfe to the Iewes, and made them agree to doe all things that were right, and was appeald toward them, and offered Sacrifice and adioyned the Temple, and shewed great gentlenesse to the place.

24 And embraced Spartolus, and made him capitaine and gouernour from Beroe into the Geremans.

25 Antiochus,

25 Neuerthelesse, when hee came to Prolemais, the people of the cite were not content with this agreement: and because they were grieved, they would that hee should breake the covenants.

26 Then went Lysias by into the iudgement seat, and opened the fact as well as he could, and perswaded them, and pacified them, and made them well affectioned, and came againe unto Antiochia. This is the matter concerning the kings journey, and his returne.

CHAP. XLIII.

1 Demetrius moved by Alcimus, sendeth Nicanor to kill the Jews. 28 Nicanor maketh a compass with the Jews. 29 Which hee yet breaketh thorow the motion of the King. 37 Nicanor commandeth Rea, to be taken, who slayeth himselfe.

After these yerces was Judas informed that Demetrius the son of Scleucus was come up with a great power and nauy by the haue of Ergolis.

2 When he had won the countrey, and slaine Antiochus, and his lieutenant Lysias.

3 Now Alcimus, which had bene the high Priest, and willfully desired himselfe in the time that all things were confounded, seeing that by no meanes hee could saue himselfe, nor haue any more entrance to the holy Altar,

4 Hee came to king Demetrius in the hundredth partie and one yere, presenting unto him a crowne of gold, and a palme, and of the boughes which were used solemnly in the Temple, and that day he held his tongue.

5 But when he had gotten opportunitie, and occasion for his rage, Demetrius called him to counsell, and asked him what desires or counsels the Jewes framed unto.

6 To the which he answered, The Jewes that be called Aldmans, whose capitaine is Judas Maccabeus, maintaine warres, and make insurrections, and will not let the realme bee in peace.

7 Therefore I, being deplued of my fathers honour (I meane the high Priesthood) am now come hither,

8 Partly because I was well affectioned unto the kings affaires, and secondly because I sought the profite of mine owne citizens: for all our people, that owe their rashness, are not a little troubled.

9 Wherefore, O king, seeing thou knowest all these things, make prouision for the countrey, and our nation which is abused, according to thine owne humanitie, that is ready to helpe all men.

10 For as long as Judas liueth, it is not possible that the matter should be well.

11 When hee had spoken these words, other friends also hauing will at Judas, let Demetrius on fire.

12 Who immediately called for Alicanoz the ruler of the Ephraims, and made him capitaine ouer Judea.

13 And sent him forth, commanding him to slay Judas, and to scatter them that were with him, and to make Alcimus his priest of the great Temple.

14 Then the brethren which fled out of Judea from Judas, came to Alicanoz by flockes, thinking the harme and calamities of the Jewes to be their welfare.

15 Now when the Jewes heard of Alicanoz coming, and the gathering together of the brethren, they sprinkled themselves with earth, and spaued unto him, which had appointed himselfe a people for ruie, and did alwaies defend his owne portion with euident tokens.

16 So at the commandement of the capitaine, they remoued straightwayes from thence, and came to the towne of Desian.

17 Where Simon Judas brother had fought battell with Alicanoz, and was somewhat astonished though the sudden silence of the enemies.

18 Neuerthelesse, Alicanoz hearing the manliness of them that were with Judas, and the bolde stomacks that they had for their countrey, durst not pmooue the matter with bloodshedding.

19 Wherefore hee sent Polistodorus, || Theodorus, and || Satyrus before to make peace.

20 So when they had taken long adoulement thereupon, and the Capitaines shewed it vnto the multitude, they were agreed in one mind, and consented to the covenants.

21 And they appointed a day, when they should particularly come together: so when the day was come, they set for enery man his shoule.

22 Neuerthelesse, Judas commanded certaine men of armes to waite in convenient places: least there should suddenly arise any riuall through their enemies: and so they continued together of the things wherupon they had agreed.

23 Alicanoz, while hee abode at Ierusalem, did none hurt, but sent away the people that were gathered together.

24 Hee || loued Judas, and fauoured him in his heart.

25 Hee prayed him also to take a wife, and to beget children: so hee married, and they liued together.

26 But Alcimus perceiving the loue that was betwene them, & vnderstanding the covenants that were made, came to Demetrius & tolde him that Alicanoz had taken strange matters in hand, and ordeined Judas a traitor to the realme to be his secretor.

27 Then the king was displeased, and by the reports of this wicked man, hee wrote to Alicanoz, saying, That hee was very angry for the covenants, commanding him that he should send Maccabeus in all haste prisoner vnto Antiochia.

28 When these things came vnto Alicanoz, he was astonished and sore grieved, that hee should breake the things wherem they had agreed, seeing that that man had committed no wickedness.

29 But because it was not commodious to him to withstand the king, hee sought craftily to accomplish it.

30 Notwithstanding, when Maccabeus perceived that Alicanoz beganne to bee rough vnto him, and that hee entreated him more rudely then he was wont, hee perceived that such a iour came not of good, and therefore hee gathered a fewe of his men, and withdrew himselfe from Alicanoz.

31 But the other perceiving that hee was persecuted by Maccabeus worthy policy, came into the great and holy Temple, and commanded the Priests, which were offering their usuall sacrifices, to deliuer him the man.

32 And when they heare that they could not tell where the man was, whom he sought,

33 Hee stretched out his right hand toward the Temple, and made an othe in this manner, If ye will not deliuer mee Iudas as a prisoner, I will make this Temple of God a plaine field, and will breake downe the Altar, and will erect a notable temple vnto Bacchus.

34 After these words hee departed: then the Priests lift vp their hands toward heauen, and besought him that was euer the defender of their nation, saying in this manner, 35 Thou, O Lord of all things, which hast need of nothing, wouldest that the Temple of thine habitation should be among vs.

36 Therefore now, O most holy Lord, keepe this house euer undefiled, which lately was cleansed, and stop all the murtheres of the vnrighteous.

37 Now was there accused vnto Nicanor, Razis one of the Elders of Ierusalem, a louer of the Citie, and a man of very good report, which for his loue was called a father of the Iewes.

38 For this man sometimes when the Iewes were minded to keepe themselves undefiled and pure, being accuser to be of the Religion of the Iewes, did offer to spend his body and life with all constancie for the Religion of the Iewes.

39 So Nicanor willing to declare the hatred that hee bare to the Iewes, sent about five hundred men of warre to take him.

40 For hee thought by taking him to doe the Iewes much hurt.

41 But when this company would haue taken his castle, and would haue broken the gates by violence, & commanded to bring fire to burne the gates, so that he was ready to bee taken on every side, he fell on his sword,

42 Willing rather to die manfully, then to giue himselfe into the hands of wicked men, and to suffer reproch vnworthy for his noble stocke.

43 Forwithstanding what time as he missed of his stroke for haste, and the multitude rushed in violently betwene the doores, he ran boldly to the wall, and cast himselfe downe manfully among the multitude.

44 Which conueyed themselves lightly away, and gaue place, so that hee fell vpon his belly.

45 Wherehelesse while there was yet breath in him, being kindeled in his minde, hee rose vp, and though his blood gushed out like a fountaine, and he was very sore wounded, yet hee ran thorow the mids of the people.

46 And gaue him to the top of an high rocke: so when his blood was bitterly gone, hee rooke out his owne bowels with both his hands, & threw them vpon the people, calling vpon the Lord of life and Spirit, that he would restore them againe vnto him, and thus hee died.

CHAP. XY.

1 Nicanor goeth about to come vpon Iudas on the Sabbath day. 5 The blasphemie of Nicanor. 14 Maccabeus expounding vnto the Iewes the vision, encourageth them. 21 The prayer of Asa, &c. 30 Maccabeus commandeth Nicanors head and hands to be cut off, and his tongue to be giunte to the heels. 39 The ambuscade excuseth himselfe.

Now when Nicanor knew that Iudas and his company were in the countrey of Samaria, he thought with all assurance to come vpon them, vpon the Sabbath day.

2 Wherehelesse the Iewes that were compelled to goe with him, said, O kill not so cruelly and barbarously, but honour and sanctifie the day that is appointed by him that seeth all things.

3 But this most wicked person demanded, Is there a Lord in heauen, that commanded the Sabbath day to be kept?

4 And when they said, There is a liuing Lord, which ruleth in the heauen, who commanded the seventh day to be kept,

5 Then hee said, And I am mightie vpon earth to command them for to arme themselves, and to performe the kings businesse. Forwithstanding he could not accomplish his wicked enterprise.

6 For Nicanor lifted by wicked pride, purposed to see by a memoriall of the victorie obtained of all them that were with Iudas.

7 But Maccabeus had exceeding confidence and a perfect hope that the Lord would helpe him,

8 And exhorted his people not to bee afraid at the coming of the heathen, but alway to remember the helpe that had bene shewed vnto them from heauen, and to trust now also that they should haue the victorie by the Almighty.

9 Thus he encouraged them by the Law, and Prophets, putting them in remembrance of the battels that they had wonne afore, and so made them more willing.

10 And stirred by their hearts, and thrust them also the deceitfulness of the heathen, and how they had broken their othes.

11 Thus he armed euery one of them, not with the assurance of shields and speares, but with wholesome words and exhortations, and stirred them a dreame worthy to be beleued, and reioyced them greatly.

12 And this was his villon. He thought that he saw Onias, (which had bene the high Priest, a vertuous and a good man, reuerent in behauiour, and of sober conuersation, well spoken, and one that had bene exercised in all points of godlinesse from a child, holding vp his hands toward heauen, and praying for the whole people of the Iewes.

13 After this there appeared vnto him another man which was aged, honourable, and of a wonderfull dignitie, and excellencie aboue him.

14 And Onias spake and said, This is a louer of the brethren, who prayeth much for the people, and for the holy Citie, to wit, Ieremias the Prophet of God.

15 He thought also that Ieremias held out his right hand, & gaue vnto Iudas a sword of gold: and as he gaue it he spake thus,

16 Take this holy sword a gift from God, wherewith thou shalt wound the abuerfaries.

17 And so being comforted by the words of Iudas, which were very sweet, and able to stirre them.

a As this private example ought not to bee followed of the godly because it is contrary to the word of God, although the author seeme here to approoue it: so that place as touching prayer. Chap. 13. 44. though Iudas had appointed it, yet were it not sufficient to proue a doctrine, because it is only a particular example.

them by to ballantnes, & to encourage the hearts of the young men, they determined to pitch no campe, but courageously to set vpon them, and manfully to assault them, and to trie the matter hand to hand, because the city, and the Sanctuary, and the Temple were in danger.

18 As for their wives and children, and brethren and kinsfolkes, they set lesse by their danger: but their greatest and principall feare was for the holy Temple.

19 Againe they that were in the Citty, were carefull for the army that was abroad.

20 Now whyles they all waited for the triall of the matter, and the enemies now met with them, and the hoste was set in aray, & the beasts were separated into conuenient places, and the hostemen were placed in the wings:

21 Bacabenus considering the coming of the multitude, and the diuers preparations of weapons, and the fiercenesse of the beastes, held up his hands toward heauen, calling vpon the Lord that doeth wonders, and that looked vpon them, knowing that the victory commeth not by the weapons, but that hee giueth the victory to them that are worthy, as seemeth good vnto him.

22 Therefore in his prayer he said after this maner, O Lord, * about that didst send thine Angel in the time of Ezekias king of Iudra, who in the bott of Sennacherib slew an hundred fourescore and siue thousand,

23 Send now also thy good Angel before vs, O Lord of heauens, for a feare and dread vnto them,

24 And let them be discomfited by the strength of thine arme, which come against thine holy people to blaspheme. Thus with these words he made an end.

25 Then Alcanoz and they that were with him, blew neere with trumpets, and shoutings for toy.

26 But Judas and his company praying and calling vpon God, encountered with the enemies.

27 So that with their hands they fought, but with their hearts they prayed vnto God, and slew no lesse then siue and thirtie thousand men: for through the presence of God they were wonderfully comforted.

28 Now when they left off, and were turning againe with toy, they understood that Alcanoz himselfe was slaine for all his armour.

29 Then they made a great shout and aerie, praising the Almighty in their owne language.

30 Therefore Iudas which was ever the chiefe defender of his citizens both in body and minde, and which bare euer good affection towards them of his nation, commanded to smite off Alcanozs head, with his hand and shoulder, and to bring it to Ierusalem.

31 And when he came there, he called al them of his nation, and set the picke by the altar, and sent for them of the castle,

32 And shewed them wicked Alcanozs head, and the hand of that blasphemer which hee had holden up against the holy Temple of the Almighty with proud brags.

33 He caused the tongue also of wicked Alcanoz to be cut in little pieces, and to bee cast vnto the fowles, and that the rewards of his madnesse should be hanged by before the Temple.

34 So euerie man praised toward the heauen the glorious Lord, saying, Blessed bee hee that hath kept his place undefiled.

35 Wee hanged also Alcanozs head vpon the high castle, for an euident and plaine token vnto all of the helpe of God.

36 And so they established altogether by a common decree, that they would in no case suffer this day without keeping it holy.

37 And that the feast should be the thirteenth day of the twelfth moneth, which is called Adar in the Syzians language, the day before Wardochus day.

38 Thus farre as concerning Alcanozs matters, and from that time the Hebrewes had the citie in possession. And here will I also make an end.

39 If I haue done well, and as the story required, it is the thing that I desired: but if I haue spoken slenderly and barely, it is that I could.

40 For as it is hurtfull to drinke wine alone and then againe water: and as wine tempered with water is pleasant, and delightedh the taste: so the setting out of the matter, delightedh the eares of them that read the story. And here shall be the end.

The end of the Apocrypha.

¶ The summe of the whole Scripture of the Bookes of the old and New TESTAMENT.

IH E bookes of the olde Testament doe teach vs, that the same God, whom Adam, Noe, Abraham, Isaac, Iacob, Dauid and the other fathers did worship, is * the onely true God, and that hee the same is Almighty and * euermlasting: who of his meere goodnesse hath created by his Word * heauen and earth, and all tha: is in them. From whom all things do come: without whom there is nothing at all: And that he is * iust and mercifull: who also * worketh all in all * after his owne will: * To whom it is not lawfull to say, Wherefore doth he thus or thus.

Moreouer, these Bookes teach vs, that this very God Almighty, after he created all things, (hope also Adam the first man, & so the image and spiritual similitude of himselfe, and that he did constitute him Lord ouer all things that he had created in earth. Which Adam by the enuie and fraude of the deuil, transgressing the precept of his Creator, by this his sinne brought in such and so great sinne into the worlde, that we which be sprong from him by the flesh, bee in nature the children of wrath, and thereupon we be made subiect and thrall to death, to damnation, to the yoke and tyranny of the deuil.

Furthermore, we are taught by these excellent bookes, that God promised to * Adam, * Abraham, * Isaac, * Iacob, * Dauid, and to other Fathers of the olde time, that he would sende that blessed seede, his sonne Iesus Christ our sauour, which should deliuer all those from sinne, and from the tyranny of the deuil which by a liuely and working faith should beleue this promise, and put their trust in Iesus Christ, hoping that of him and by him, they should obtaine this deliuerance.

Also they giue vs to vnderstand, that in the meane season, while those Fathers the Israelites looked for the saluation, and deliuerance promised (for that the nature of man is such, so proud and so corrupt, that those would not willingly acknowledge themselves to bee sinners, which had neede of the Sauour promised) God the Creator gaue by Moses his * Lawe written in two Tables of stone: that by it, sinne & the malice of mans heart being * knowne, men might more vehemently thirst for the comming of Iesus Christ, who should redeeme and deliuer them from sinne: which thing, neither the Lawe, nor yet the sacrifices and oblations of the Law did * performe. For they were shadowes and figures of the true oblation of the body of Christ: by which oblation all * sinne should be blotted out and quite put away.

By the bookes of the new Testament we be taught, that Christ so afore promised (* which is God) aboue all things most blessed for euer) euen he, I say, was shadowed in the bookes of the olde Testament, and in sacrifices figured, that hee was * sent at the last from the Father, the selfe same time which the Father did constitute within himselfe: I say, at that time when all wickednesse abounded in the worlde, then hee was sent: And this Iesus our Sauour being borne in the flesh, * suffered death, and rose againe from the dead. Which actes of his were not done by him in respect of the * good workes of any man (for we were all sinners) but that this God our Father (should * appeare true, in exhibiting the abundant * riches of his grace which he promised, and that through his mercie hee might bring vs to saluation.

Whereupon it is euidently shewed in the * Newe Testament, that Iesus Christ, being the true * Lambe, the true * sacrifice of the worlde, * putting away the sinnes of men, came into this worlde to purchase grace and * peace for vs with the Father, * walking vs from our sinnes in his owne blood, and * should deliuer vs from the bondage of the deuil, whom by sinne we did serue: And so we should be * adopted by him to be the sonnes of God, made * heirs with him of that most excellent and euermlasting kingdom.

Now that we should acknowledge this singular and excellent benefit of God towards vs, almighty God * giueth vs his holy Spirit: the * fruit and effect of the which, is faith in God, and in his Christ. For without the holy Ghost, by which we are instructed and * sealed, neither can we beleue that God the Father sent Messias, nor yet that Iesus is Christ: For * no man (saith Paul) can say that Iesus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghost. The * same Spirit witnesseth to our spirit, that we are the children of God, and poweth into our bowels that Charitie which Paul describeth to the Corinthians. Furthermore, that holy Spirit doth giue vs hope, which is a sure looking for eternall life, whereas, he himselfe is the certaine * token and pledge. Also he giueth vs other * spiritual gifts, of the which Paul writeth to the Galatians. Therefore the benefit of faith is not yet to be despised or little to be esteemed. For by the means of this trust & * faith in Christ, which * worketh by charity, & the which itselfe forth by the word of charity, mouing man therto, we are * iustified and sanctified: that is to say, God and the Father of our Lord

The Summe of the holy Scripture,

Good workes.

Christ our Master and teacher.
Bishop.
Mediatour.
Aduocate.

Iudgement.

Eternall life.

Eternall fire.

To what intent
the Scriptures
were written.

Christ the onely
foundation.

Iesus Christ (which is made our Father also by him, being our brother) doth accept vs to be iust and holy through his grace, & through the merite of his Son Iesus Christ, not^r imputing our finnes to vs, so farre forth, that we should suffer the paines of hell for them.

Finally, Christ himselfe came into the world, to the intent that we through him being sanctified and cleansed from our finnes, following his will in good workes, should deny the things pertaining to the flesh, and freely^r asseue him in righteousness and holinesse all the dayes of our life: and that by good workes (which God hath prepared for vs to walke in) we should^r shew our selves to be cal- led to his grace, and gift of faith: which good workes who so hath not, doth shew himselfe not to haue such a faith in Christ as is required in vs.

To Christ must we come, and follow him with a cheerefull minde that he may teach vs: For he is^r our master, lowly and humble of heart; he is to vs an^r example, whereby we must learne the rule to liue well.

Moreover, he is our Bishop, & our high Priest, which did himselfe offer vp for vs his own blood, being the onely^r mediatour betwene God and men: Who now sitteth at the right hand of God the Father, being made our^r Aduocate, making prayer and intercession for vs: who doubtlesse shall obtaine for vs^r whatsoever we shall desire, either of him, or else of his Father in his Name, if so be that we thus desiring, shall beleue that he will so do: for thus hath he promised. Therefore let vs not doubt, if we sinne at any time, to come with^r repentance (to the which he doth inuite and stirre vs at the very be- ginning of his preaching) and with sure trust to the^r throne of his grace, with this beliefe, that wee shall obtaine mercy For therefore^r came he into the world, that he might saue sinners by his grace,

This is verely Christ Iesus, which shall come at a^r certain time appointed by his Father, & shall sit in great maiestie to iudge all men, and to render to euery man^r the works of his body according to that he hath done, whether it be good or euill: And he shall say to them which shall be on the right side, which in this world did looke for the good things to come: } is to say, life euerlasting: } Come ye blessed of my Father, enjoy the kingdome that hath bene prepared for you from the beginning of the world; but to them which shall be on the left side, he shall say, depart from me ye cursed into euer- lasting fire prepared for the deuill and his angels. And then shall the end be, when Christ hauing vt- terly vanquished all manner of enemies, shall deliuer vp the kingdome to God the Father.

To the intent that we might vnderstand these things, the^r sacred Bookes of the Bible were deli- uered to vs by the goodnesse of God through his holy Spirit, with the preaching of that doctrine which is contained in them, and with his Sacraments, by which the truth of his doctrine is sealed vp to vs: that we^r might vnderstand, I say, and beleue that there is one onely true God, and one Saviour Iesus Christ, whom (as he had promised) he hath sent; and that we beleueing, might haue in his Name life euerlasting.

Besides this^r foundation, no man can lay any other in the Church of Christ: and vpon this founda- tion the Church doeth stand sure and stedfast. And Paul willett him to be^r accursed which shall preach any other faith and saluation, then by Iesus Christ, yea, though he were an Angel from heauen.

For^r of him, through him, and for him, are all things: To whom with the father and the holy Ghost be all honour and glory, world without end, Amen.

¶ Certaine

Certaine questions and answeres touching the doctrine of Predestination, the vse of Gods word and Sacraments.

Question.

By doe men so much vary in matters of religion?

Answer.

Because all haue not the like measure of knowledge, neither doe all beleue the Gospell of Christ.

Question.

What is the reason thereof?

Answer.

Because they only beleue the Gospell and doctrine of Christ, which are ordained vnto eternall life.

Question.

Are not all ordained vnto eternall life?

Answer.

Some are vessels of wrath ordained vnto destruction, as others are vessels of mercy prepared to glory.

Question.

How standeth it with Gods iustice, that some are appointed vnto condemnation?

Answer.

Very well: because all men haue in themselves sinne, which deserueth no lesse: and therefore the mercy of God is wonderfull in that he vouchsafeth to saue some of that sinfull race, and to bring them to the knowledge of the truth.

Question.

If Gods ordinance & determination must of necessity take effect, then what need any man to care: for hee that liueth well, must needs be damned, if he be therunto ordained, and he that liueth ill, must needs be saued, if he be therunto appointed.

Answer.

Not so: for it is not possible, that either the elect should alwaies be without care to doe well, or that the reprobate should haue any will therunto. For to haue either good will or good worke, is a testimony of the Spirit of God, which is given to the Elect only, whereby faith is so wrought in them, that being graft in Christ, they grow in holinesse to that glory, wherunto they are appointed. Neither are they so vaine as one to thinke that they may doe as they list themselves, because they are predestinate vnto saluation: but rather they endeavour to walke in such good workes as God in Christ Iesus hath ordained vnto them, and prepared for them to be occupied in, to their owne comfort, stay and assurance, and to his glory.

Question.

But how shall I know my selfe to be one of those whom God hath ordained to life eternall?

Answer.

By the motions of spirituall life, which be longerth onely to the children of God: by the which that life is perceived, euen as the life of this body is discerned by the sense and motions thereof.

Question.

What meane you by the motions of spirituall life?

Answer.

I meane remouing of conscience, loyned with the loathing of sinne, and loue of righteousness: the band of faith reaching vnto life eternall in Christ, the conscience comforted in distress, and rayed vp to confidence in God by the worke of his Spirit, a thankfull remembrance of Gods benefits received, and the using of all aduerities as occasion of amendment sent from God.

Question.

Cannot such perishe as at some time or other feele these motions within themselves?

Answer.

It is not possible that they should: for as Gods purpose is not changeable, so he repenteth not of the gifts and graces of his adoption: neither doth he cast off those whom he hath once received.

Question.

Why then should wee pray by the example of David, that hee cast vs not from his face, and that hee take not his holy Spirit from vs?

Answer.

In so praying we make profession of the weaknes of flesh, which moueth vs to doubt: yet should not we haue courage to aske, if we were not assured that God will giue according to his purpose and promise, that which we require.

Question.

Doe the children of God feele the motions aforesayd alwayes alike?

Answer.

Do truly: for God sometime to proue his, seemeth to leaue them in such sort, that the flesh ouermatcheth the Spirit, whereof ariseth trouble of conscience for the time.

Questions and Answers.

yet the Spirit of adoption is never taken from them, that have once received it: else might they perish. But as in many distempers of the body, the powers of bodily life are lessened: so in some ailments these motions of spiritual life are not perceived, because they lie hid in our manifold infirmities: as the fire covered with ashes. For as after sickness commonly healed, and after clouds the Sun shineth clear: so the powers of spiritual life shall more or less be felt and perceived in the children of God.

Question.

What if I never feel these motions in my selfe, shall I despair, and thinke my selfe a cast-away?

Answer.

God forbid: for God calleth his at what time hee seeth good: and the instruments whereby he usually calleth, have not the like effect at all times, yet it is not good to neglect the meanes whereby God hath determined to worke the saluation of his. For as ware is not melted without heate, nor clay hardened but by meanes thereof: so God voucheth means both to draw those into himselfe, whom hee hath appointed vnto saluation, and also to bring the wickednesse of them whom he finally condemnerh.

Question.

By what meanes voucheth God to draw men to himselfe, that they may be saved?

Answer.

By the preaching of his word, and the ministering of his Sacraments thereunto annexed.

Question.

What mean you by the word of God?

Answer.

I meane the doctrine of the Prophets and Apostles which they receiued of the Spirit of God, and haue left written in that Booke, which we commonly call the Old and New Testament.

Question.

How may I be assured that it is the word of God, which that Booke containeth?

Answer.

By the maiestie of God appearing in that plaine and simple doctrine: by the purmess, brightness, and holinesse thereof: by the certainty of euery thing therein affirmed: by the successe of all things according to it: by perpetuall consent which is to be seene in euery part thereof: by the excellencie of the matters declared: But especially by the testimony of Gods Spirit, whereby it was written, who moueth the hearts of those in whom it resteth, to consent vnto the word, and reverently to embrace it.

Question.

How doth this word of God serue to draw men vnto him?

Answer.

When it is preached and heard, that men may vnderstand and leaue what God teacheth: accept & receiue thankfully that which is thereby giuen, promised and assured: and be moued with desire and diligence to doe that which it commandeth.

Question.

Do the Sacraments also serue to this end?

Answer.

Yea, verily: that by sight, taste and feeling, as well as by hearing we might be instructed, assured, and brought to obedience.

Question.

How doth our baptisme serue hereunto?

Answer.

It teacheth vs to put on Christ, that with his righteousness our sinfulness may be hid: it assurcth vs that we are so grafted into Christ, that all our sinnes are by him washed away: it chargeth vs to dye to sinne, to continue in the profession of Christ, and to loue each other.

Question.

What the Lords Supper also this vse?

Answer.

Yea doubtlesse: for it teacheth that the body and blood of Christ crucified, is the only food of the new borne children of God: it assurcth that Christ is wholly theirs to giue and to continue life spiritual and heavenly to body & soule, to nourish, strengthen, refresh, and to make cheerefull the hearts of the elect: it requirerh thankfull remembrance of the deatch of Christ, vnto among those that doe profess him with a free confession of his truth.

Question.

Why is not this vse of the Sacraments commonly knowne?

Answer.

Because they are abused for forme, for fashion, for custome and company, without regard vnto the word, whereunto they are so annexed, that they ought not vpon any necessity by any person be severed from it, which teacheth the right vse of euery thing.

Question.

I perceive that nothing is more necessary then the word of God: therefore I pray you shew me how I may attaine to some knowledge and profite thereby.

Answer.

By diligent hearing of such as preach it, by continuall and orderly exercise of reading, and praying.

Question.

What orderly exercise thinke you most convenient to be vsed herein?

Answer.

of predestination, &c.

Answers.

That as every Day twice at the least, wee most commonly receive food to the nourishment of this carnall life, so no Day bee let passe without some reading, in such sort that occasion thereby may bee taken to speake againe unto God by prayer as hee in his word speaketh unto us : So that at the least fift Chapters would bee orderly and advantageously read every Day, all other businesse, impediments and lets set aspart.

Question.

This seemeth very easie to be done; what thinke you else requisite?

Answers.

That some speciall places of Scripture be so committed to memory, that the minde may ever bee furnished with some good matter against all temptations. To which enu-

I note these Scriptures unto you, wherunto you may turne often at your owne choise: Mattheus 129, 37, 50. Chap 53. John 17. Rom. 8. 1. 1 Tim. 4.

Question.

But the Scriptures are hard, and not easie to understand.

Answers.

Discourage not your selfe herewith: for God maketh them easie to such as in humilitie seek him; and that hardnesse that you finde, serveth to moove you to the more diligence, and to make inquirie of such as have knowledge, when any doubt ariseth. That which you perceive not at one time, God shall reveale at another: So that you shall have your growing in grace, knowledge, and godlinesse, to Gods glory and your owne comfort in Christ, to whose Name so ever bee prayed, Amen.

Cum Priuilegio

The summe of the whole Scripture of the Bookes of the old and New Testament.

HE bookes of the olde Testament doe teach vs, that the same God, whom Adam, Noe, Abraham, Isaac, Iacob, Dauid and the other fathers did worship, is the onely true God, and that hee the same is Almighty and euerslasting: who of his meere goodnesse hath created by his Word ^b heauen and earth, and all that is in them. From whom all things do come: without whom there is nothing at all: And that he is iust and mercifull: who also ^d worketh all in all: after his owne will: ¹ To whom it is not lawfull to say, Wherefore doth he thus or thus,

Moreouer, these Bookes teach vs, that this very God Almighty, after he created all things, ¹ hope also Adam the first man, so the image and spirituall similitude of himselfe, and that he did constitute him Lord ouer all things that he had created in earth. Which Adam by the enuie and fraude of the deuil, transgressing the precept of his Creator, ^h by this his sinne brought in such and so great sinne into the worlde, that we which be sprung from him by the flesh, ¹ bee in nature the children of wrath, and thereupon we be made subiect and thrall to death, to damnation, to the yoke and tyranny of the deuil.

Furthermore, we are taught by these excellent bookes, that God promised to ^h Adam, ¹ Abraham, ¹ Isaac, ¹ Iacob, ¹ Dauid, and to other Fathers of the olde time, that he would sende that blessed seed, his sonne Iesus Christ our sauour, which should deliuer all those from sinne, and from the tyranny of the deuil which by a liuely and working faith should beleue this promise, and put their trust in Iesus Christ, hoping that of him and by him, they should obtaine this deliuerance.

Also they giue vs to vnderstand, that in the meane season, while those Fathers the Israelites looked for the saluation, and deliuerance promised (for that the nature of man is such, so proud and so corrupt, that those would not willingly acknowledge themselves to be sinners, which had neede of the Sauour promised) God the Creator gaue by Moses his ¹ Lawe written in two Tables of stone: that by it, sinne & the malice of mans heart being ¹ known, men might more vehemently thirst for the comming of Iesus Christ, who should redeeme and deliuer them from sinne: which thing, neither the Lawe, nor yet the sacrifices and oblations of the Law did ¹ performe. For they were shadowes and figures of the true oblation of the body of Christ: by which oblation all ¹ sinne should be blotted out and quite put away.

By the bookes of the new Testament we be taught, that Christ so afore promised (which is God) Aboue all things most blessed for euer) euen he, ¹ say, was shadowed in the bookes of the olde Testament, and in sacrifices figured, that hee was ¹ sent at the last from the Father, the selfe same time which the Father did constitute within himselfe: ¹ say, ^h at that time when all wickednesse abounded in the world, then hee was sent: And this Iesus our Sauour being borne in the flesh, ¹ suffered death, and rose againe from the dead. Which actes of his were not done by him in respect of the good workes of any man (for we were all sinners) but that this God our Father should ¹ appeare true, in exhibiting the abundant riches of his grace which he promised, and that ¹ through his mercie hee might bring vs to saluation.

Now that we should acknowledge this singular and excellent benefit of God towards vs, almighty God ¹ giue vs his holy Spirit: the ¹ fruit and effect of the which, is faith in God, and in his Christ: For without the holy Ghost, by which we are instructed and ¹ sealed, neither can we beleue that God the Father sent Messias, nor yet that Iesus is Christ: For ¹ no man (saith Paul) can say that Iesus is the Lord, but by the holy Ghost. The ¹ same Spirit witnesseth to our spirit, that we are the children of God: and powerth into our bowels that Charitie which Paul describeth to the Corinthians. Furthermore, that holy Spirit doth giue vs hope, which is a sure looking for eternall life, whereof he himselfe is the certaine ¹ token and pledge. Also be giue us other ¹ spirituall gifts, of the which Paul writeth to the Galatians. Therefore the benefit of faith is not yet to be despised or litle to be set by, for by the means of this trust & ¹ faith in Christ, which ¹ worketh by charitie, & sheweth itselfe forth by the works of charitie, mouing man thereto, we are ¹ iustified and sanctified: that is to say, God, and the Father of our Lord

Eternall life.

To what intent
the Scriptures
were written.

Christ the onely
foundation.

Iesus Christ (which is made our Father also by him, being our brother) doth accompt vs to be iust and holy through his grace, & through the merite of his Son Iesus Christ, not imputing our finnes to vs to farre fourth, that we should suffer the paines of hell for them,

Finally, Christ himselfe came into the world, to the intent that we through him being sanctified and cleansed from our finnes, following his will in good workes, should deny the things pertaining to the flesh, and freely serve him in righteousness and holinesse all the dayes of our life: and that by good workes (which God hath prepared for vs to walke in) we should shew our selves to be called to his grace, and gift of faith: which good workes who so hath not, doth shew himselfe not to haue such a faith in Christ as is required in vs.

To Christ must we come, and follow him with a cheerefull minde that he may teach vs: For he is our master, lowly and humble of heart; he is to vs an example, whereby we must learne the rule to liue well.

Moreover, he is our Bishop, & our high Priest, which did himselfe offer vp for vs his own blood, being the onely mediator betwene God and man: Who now sitteth at the right hand of God the Father, being made our Advocate, making prayer and intercession for vs: who doubtlesse shall obtaine for vs whatsoeuer we shall desire, either of him, or else of his Father in his Name, if so be that we thus desiring, shall beleue that he will so do: for thus hath he promised. Therefore let vs not doubt, if we sinne at any time, to come with repentance (to the which he doth inuite and stirre vs at the very beginning of his preaching) and with sure trust to the throne of his grace, with this belief, that wee shall obtaine mercy. For therefore came he into the world, that he might saue sinners by his grace,

This is verely Christ Iesus, which shall come at a certain time appointed by his Father, & shall sit in great maiestie to iudge all men, and to render to every man the works of his body according to that he hath done, whether it be good or euill: And he shall say to them which shall be on the right side, which in this world did looke for the good things to come (it is to say, life euerslasting): Come ye blessed of my Father, enioy the kingdome that hath bene prepared for you from the beginning of the world; but to them which shall be on the left side, he shall say, depart from me ye cursed into euerslasting fire prepared for the deuill and his angels. And then shall the end be, when Christ hauing vtterly vanquished all manner of enemies, shall deliuer vp the kingdome to God the Father.

To the intent that we might vnderstand these things, the sacred Bookes of the Bible were deliuered to vs by the goodnesse of God through his holy Spirit, with the preaching of that doctrine which is contained in them, and with his Sacraments, by which the truth of his doctrine is sealed vp to vs: that we might vnderstand, I say, and beleue that there is one onely true God, and one Sauour Iesus Christ, whom (as he had promised) he hath sent; and that we beleueing, might haue in his Name life euerslasting.

Besides this foundation, no man can lay any other in the Church of Christ: and vpon this foundation the Church doeth stand sure and steadfast. And Paul willeth him to bee accursed which shall preach any other faith and saluation, then by Iesus Christ, yea, though he were an Angel from heauen.

For of him, through him, and for him, are all things: To whom with the father and the holy Ghost be all honour and glory, world without end, Amen.

Certaine questions and answers touching the doctrine of Predestination, the vse of Gods word and Sacraments.

Question.

Why doe men so much vary in matters of religion?

Answer.

Because all haue not the like measure of knowledge, neither doe all beleue the Gospell of Christ.

Question.

What is the reason thereof?

Answer.

Because they only beleue the Gospell and doctrine of Christ, which are ordained vnto eternall life.

Question.

Are not all ordained vnto eternall life?

Answer.

Some are vessels of wrath ordained vnto destruction, as others are vessels of mercy prepared to glory.

Question.

How standeth it with Gods iustice, that some are appointed vnto condemnation?

Answer.

Very well: because all men haue in themselves sinne, which deserueth no lesse: and therefore the mercy of God is wonderfull in that he vouchsafeth to saue some of that sinfull race, and to bring them to the knowledge of the truth.

Question.

If Gods ordinance & determination must of necessity take effect, then what need any man to care? for hee that liueth well, must needs be damned, if he be therunto ordained, and he that liueth ill, must needs be saued, if he be therunto appointed.

Answer.

Not so: for it is not possible, that either the elect should alwaies be without care to doe well, or that the reprobate should haue any will therunto. For to haue either good will or good woike, is a testimony of the Spirit of God, which is giuen to the Elect onely, whereby faith is so wrought in them, that being graft in Christ, they grow in holinesse to that glory, wherunto they are appointed. Neither are they so baime as once to thinke that they may doe as they list themselves, because they are predestinate vnto saluation: but rather they endeavour to walke in such good woikes as God in Christ Iesus hath ordained vnto them, and prepared for them to bee occupied in, to their owne comfort, stay and assurance, and to his glory.

Question.

But how shall I know my selfe to bee one of those whom God hath ordained to life eternall?

Answer.

By the motions of spirituall life, which be longerh onely to the children of God: by the which that life is perceiued, euen as the life of this body is discerned by the sense and motions thereof.

Question.

What meane you by the motions of spirituall life?

Answer.

I meane remorsie of conscience, loyned with the loching of sinne, and loue of righteousness: the hand of faith reaching vnto life eternall in Christ, the conscience comforted in distresse, and rayled vp to confidence in God by the woike of his Spirit, a thankfull remembrance of Gods benefits receiued, and the vbing of all aduersities as occasion of a amendment sent from God.

Question.

Cannot such perish as at some time or other feele these motions within themselves?

Answer.

It is not possible that they should: for as Gods purpose is not changeable, so he repenteth not of the gifts and graces of his adoption: neither doeth he cast off those whom he hath once receiued.

Question.

Why then should wee pray by the example of Dauid, that hee cast vs not from his face, and that hee take not his holy Spirit from vs?

Answer.

In so praying we make protestation of the weaknes of flesh, which moueth vs to doubt: yet should not we haue courage to aske, if we were not assured that God will giue according to his purpose and promise, that which we require.

Question.

Doe the children of God feele the motions aforesayd alwaies alike?

Answer.

Not truely: for God sometime to pmooue his, stremeth to leaue them in such sort, that the flesh ouermatcheth the spirit, whereof ariseth trouble of conscience for the times:

Questions and Answers.

yet the Spirit of adoption is never taken from them, that have once received it: this might they perceive. But as in many diseases of the body, the powers of bodily life are lost: so in some assaults these motions of spiritual life are not perceived, because they lie hid in our manifold infirmities: as the fire covered with ashes. For as after sickness commonly healed, and after clouds the Sun shiner clear: so the powers of spiritual life will more or less be felt and perceived in the children of God.

Question.

What if I never feel these motions in my selfe, shall I despair, and thinke my selfe a cast-away?

Answer.

God forbid: for God calleth his at what time hee seeth good: and the instruments whereby he usually calleth, have not the like effect at all times, yet it is not good to neglect the means whereby God hath determined to worke the salvation of his. For as waie is not melted without heat, nor clay hardened but by means thereof: so God vnderstandeth means both to draw those vnto himselfe, whom hee hath appointed vnto saluation, and also to bewray the wickednesse of them whom he finally condemneth.

Question.

By what means useth God to draw men to himselfe, that they may be saved?

Answer.

By the preaching of his word, and the ministering of his Sacraments thereunto annexed.

Question.

What meane you by the word of God?

Answer.

I meane the doctrine of the Prophets and Apostles which they received of the Spirit of God, and haue left written in that Booke, which we commonly call the Old and New Testament.

Question.

How may I be assured that it is the word of God, which that Booke containeth?

Answer.

By the maiestie of God appearing in that plaine and simple doctrine: by the purenesse, brightnesse, and holinesse thereof: by the certainty of every thing therein affirmed: by the successe of all things according to it: by perpetuall consent which is to be seene in every part thereof: by the excellencie of the matters vetered: But especially by the testimony of Gods Spirit, whereby it was written, who moueth the hearts of those in whom it resteth, to consent vnto the word, and reverently to embrace it.

Question.

How doth this word of God serue to draw men vnto him?

Answer.

When it is preached and heard, that men may vnderstand and learn what God teacheth: accept & receive thankfully that which is thereby giuen, promised and assured: and be moued with desire and diligence to doe that which it commandeth.

Question.

Do the Sacraments also serue to this end?

Answer.

Yea, verily: that by sight, taste and feeling, as well as by hearing we might be instructed, assured, and brought to obedience.

Question.

How doth our baptism serue hereunto?

Answer.

It teacheth vs to put on Christ, that with his righteousness our sinfulness may be hid: it assureth vs that we are so grafted into Christ, that all our finnes are by him washed away: it chargeth vs to dye to sinne, to continue in the profession of Christ, and to loue each other.

Question.

What the Lords Supper also this vs?

Answer.

Yea doubtlesse: for it teacheth that the body and blood of Christ crucified, is the only food of the new borne children of God: it assureth that Christ is wholly theirs to giue and to continue life spiritual and heavenly to body & soule, to nourish, strengthen, refresh, and to make cheerefull the hearts of the elect: it requirith thankfull remembrance of the death of Christ, vnto among those that doe profess him with a true confession of his truth.

Question.

Why is not this vse of the Sacraments commonly known?

Answer.

Because they are abused for forme, for fashion, for custome and company, without regard vnto the word. Whereunto they are so annexed, that they ought not vpon any necessity by any person be severed from it, which teacheth the right vse of every thing.

Question.

I perceive that nothing is more necessary then the word of God: therefore I pray you shew me how I may attaine to some knowledge and proficte thereby.

Answer.

By diligent hearing of such as preach it, by continual and orderly exercise of reading, and praying.

Question.

What orderly exercise thinke you most commend to be used herein?

Answer.

of predestination, &c.

Answers.

That as every day twice at the least, wee most commonly receive looke to the nourishment of this cuppe all life, so no day bee let passe without some reading, in such sort that occasion thereby may bee taken to speake againe unto God by prayer as hee in his word speaketh unto vs: So that at the least fift Chapters would bee orderly and methodically read every day, all other businesse, impediments and lets set apart.

Question.

This seemeth very easie to be done; what thinke you else requisite?

Answers.

That some speciall places of Scripture be so committed to memorie, that the minde may ever bee furnished with some good matter against all temptations. To which end

I note these Scriptures unto you, to be committed to you may have other at your owne choice: Psalmen 119, 137, 50. Chap 53. John 17. Rom. 8. 1. Tim. 4.

Question.

But the Scriptures are hard, and not easie to understand.

Answers.

Discourage not your selfe herewith: for God maketh them easie to such as in humilitie seke him: and that hardnesse that you finde, serveth to moove you to the more diligence, and to make inquirie of such as have knowledge, when any doubt ariseth. That which you perceive not at one time, God shall reveale at another: So that you shall have your growing in grace, knowledge, and godlinesse, to Gods glory and your owne comfort in Christ, whose Name for ever bee praised, Amen.

¶ The

The holy Gospel of Iesus Christ according to Matthew.

THE ARGUMENT.

IN this history written by Matthew, Marke, Luke, and Iohn, the Spirit of God so governed their hearts, that although they were foure in number, yet in effect & purpose they coeint, as though the whole had bene composed by any one of them. And albeit in stile & manner of writing they be diuers, and sometime one writeth more largely that which the other doth abridge: nevertheless in matter and argument, they all tend to one end, which is to publish to the world the fauour of God toward mankind, through Christ Iesus, whom the Father hath giuen vs a pledge of his mercy and loue. And for this cause they entitle their story, Gospel, which signifieth good tidings, forasmuch as God hath performed indeed that which the fathers hoped for. So that hereby we are admonished to forsake the world, and the vanities thereof, and with most affectionate hearts embrace this incomparable treasure freely offered vnto vs: for there is no ioy nor consolation, no peace nor quietnesse, no felicitie nor saluation, but in Iesus Christ, who is the very substance of this Gospel, and in whom all the promises are, Yes, and Amen. And therefore vnder this word is contained the whole new Testament: but commonly we vie this name for the historie, which the foure Euangelists write, containing Christs coming in the flesh, his death and resurrection, which is the perfect summe of our saluation. Matthew, Marke, and Luke are more copious in describing his life and death: but Iohn more labourerth to set forth his doctrine, wherein both Christs office, and also the vertue of his death and resurrection more fully appeare: for without this, to know that Christ was borne, dead, and risen againe, should nothing profit vs. The which thing notwithstanding that y three first touch partly, as hee also sometime intermedleth the histori call narration, yet Iohn chiefly is occupied herein. And therefore as a most learned interpreter writeth, they describe as it were, the body, and Iohn stretch before our eyes the soule. Wherefore the same aptly termeth the Gospel written by Iohn, y key which openeth the doore to the vnderstanding of the others: for whosoever doeth know the office, vertue, and power of Christ, shall read that which is written of the Sonne of God come to be the Redeemer of the world with most profit. Now as concerning the writers of this historie, it is euident that Matthew was a Publican or custome gatherer, and was thence choosen of Christ to be an Apostle. Marke is thought to haue bin Peters discipule, and to haue planted the first church at Alexandria, where he died the eight yere of the reigne of Nero. Luke was a Physician of Antiochia, and became Pauls discipule, and fellow in all his traualles: he liued fourescore and foure yeres, and was buried at Constantinople, Iohn was that Apostle whom the Lord loued, the sonne of Zebedee, and brother of Iames: he died threescore yeres after Christ, and was buried neere to the citie of Ephesus.

to David, are fourteene generations: & from David vntill they were caried away into Babylon, fourteene generations: and after they were caried away into Babylon, vntill Christ, fourteene generations.

18 ¶ Now the birth of Iesus Christ was thus: When as his mother Mary was be-strothed to Ioseph, before they came together, she was found with child of the holy Ghost.

19 ¶ Then Ioseph her husband being a just man, and not willing to make her a publicke example, was minded to put her away secretly.

20 But while he thought these things, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeared vnto him in a dream, saying, Ioseph the sonne of David, feare not to take Mary thy wife:
for that which is conceived in her, is of the holy Ghost.

21 And she shall bring forth a sonne, and thou shalt call his name Iesus: for he shall save his people from their sinnes.

22 And all this was done that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken of the Lord
by the Prophet, saying,

23 ¶ Behold a Virgine shall be with child, and shall beare a sonne, and they shall call his name Emmanuel, which is by interpretation, God with vs.

24 ¶ ¶ Then Ioseph being raised from sleep, did as the Angel of the Lord had injoyned him, and tooke his wife.

25 But hee knew her not, till shee had brought forth her first borne sonne, and he called his name IESVS.

CHAP. II.

1 The time and place of Christ's birth. 11 The wise men offer their presents. 14 Christ fleeth into Egypt. 16 The young children are slaine. 23 Ioseph turneth into Galilee.

¶ When Iesus then was borne at Bethlehem in Iuda, in the dayes of Herode the King, behold, there came wise men from the East to Jerusalem, saying, Where is the King of the Jewes that is borne? for we haue seene his starre in the East, and are come to worship him.

3 ¶ ¶ Then King Herode heard this, he was troubled, and all Jerusalem with him.

4 And gathering together all the chiefe Priests and Scribes of the people, he asked of them, where Christ should be borne.

5 ¶ And they said vnto him, At Bethlehem in Iuda: for so it is written by the Prophet,

6 ¶ And thou Beth-lehem in the land of Iuda, art not the least among the princes of Iuda: for out of thee shall come the gouernour:
that shall feed my people Israel.

7 ¶ ¶ Then Herode secretly called the wise men, & diligently inquired of them the time of the starre that appeared.

8 And sent them to Beth-lehem, saying, Go and search diligently for the babe: and when ye haue found him, bring mee word again, that I may come also, and worship
him.

9 ¶ ¶ ¶ When they had heard the king, they departed: and lo, the starre which they had seene in the East, went before them, till it came, and stood ouer the place where the babe was.

10 And when they saw the starre, they rejoyced with an exceeding great ioy.

11 And went into the house, and found the babe with Mary his mother, and fell downe, and worshipped him, and opened their Treasuries, and presented vnto him gifts, euen gold, and incense, and myrrhe.

12 And after they were warned of God in a dream, that they should not go againe to Herode, they returned into their country another way.

13 ¶ ¶ ¶ After their departure, behold, the Angel of the Lord appeareth to Ioseph in a dream, saying, Arise, and take the babe and his mother, and flee into Egypt, & be there till I bring thee word: for Herode will seeke
the babe to destroy him.

14 So he arose, and tooke the babe and his mother by night, and departed into Egypt.

15 And was there vnto the death of He-rode, that it might be fulfilled, which was spoken of the Lord by the Prophet, saying,
Out of Egypt haue I called my Sonne.

16 ¶ ¶ ¶ ¶ Then Herode seeing that he was mocked of the Wise men, was exceeding wroth, and sent forth, and slew all the male children that were in Beth-lehem, and in all the coasts thereof, from two yere olde and vnder, according to the time which hee had diligently searched out of the Wisemen.

5 Then went out to him Jerusalem and all Iudaea, & all the region round about Jordan.

6 And they were baptized of him in Jor-

7 Now when hee saw many of the Pha-

Then was Iesus led aside of the Spirit into the wilderness, to bee tempted of the devill.

2 And when hee had fasted fourtie dayes and fourtie nights, hee was afterward hungry.

3 Then came to him the tempter, and said, "If thou be the Sonne of God, command that these stones be made bread."

4 But hee answering, said, It is written, Man shall not live by bread onely, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God.

5 Then the devill tooke him up into the holy Citie, and set him on a pinnacle of the Temple,

6 And sayd unto him, "If thou bee the Sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe: for it is written, that hee will give his Angels charge over thee, and will beare thee up in their hands: lest at any time thou strike thy foot against a stone."

9 And sayd to him, All these will I giue thee, if thou wilt fall downe and worship me.

10 Then sayd Jesus vnto him, Quoth Satan: for it is written, Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him onely shalt thou serue.

11 Then the diuell left him: and behold, the Angels came and ministered vnto him.

12 And when Jesus had heard that John was deliuered by, hee returned into Galilee.

13 And leauing Nazareth, went & dwelt in Capernaum, which is nere the sea, in the borders of Zabulon and Naphtali.

14 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the Prophet, saying,

15 The land of Zabulon and, the land of Naphtali by the way of the sea, beyond Jordan: Galilee of the Gentiles.

16 The people which sat in darkness, saw great light: and to them which sat in the region and shadow of death, light is risen vp.

17 From that time Jesus beganne to preach, and to say, Amend your lines: for the Kingdome of heauen is at hand.

18 And Jesus walking by the sea of Galilee, saw two brethren, Simon, which was called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea (for they were fischers.)

19 And he sayd vnto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men.

20 And they straightway leauing the nets followed him.

21 And when hee was gone forth from thence, he saw other two brethren, James the sonne of Zebedee, and John his brother in a ship, with Zebedee their father mending their nets, and he called them.

22 And they without tarrying, leauing the ship and their father, followed him.

23 So Jesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their Synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the Kingdome, and healing euery sickness, and euery disease among the people.

24 And his fame spread abroad through all Syria: and they brought vnto him all sicke people that were taken with diuers diseases and gripings, and them that were possessed with euils, and those which were lunaticke, and those that had the palsey, and he healed them.

25 And there followed him great multitudes out of Galilee, and Decapolis, and Ierusalem, and Iudea, & from beyond Jordan

AND when he saw the multitude, he went up into a mountaine: and when he was set, his Disciples came to him.

2 And hee opened his mouth and taught them, saying,

3 Blessed are the poore in spirit: for theirs is the Kingdome of heauen.

4 Blessed are they that mourne: for they shall be comforted.

5 Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth.

6 Blessed are they which hunger and thirst for righteousness: for they shall be filled.

7 Blessed are the mercifull: for they shall obtaine mercy.

8 Blessed are the pure in heart: for they shall see God.

9 Blessed are the peacemakers: for they shall be called the children of God.

10 Blessed are they which suffer persecution for righteousness sake: for theirs is the Kingdome of heauen.

11 Blessed are ye when men reuile you, and persecute you, and say all manner of euill against you for my sake, say.

12 Reioyce and bragge, for great is your reward in heauen: for so persecuted they the Prophets which were before you.

13 Pee are the salt of the earth: but if the salt haue lost his saluour, wherewith shall he be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be troden vnder foot of men.

16 Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorifie your Father which is in heauen.

17 Thinke not that I am come to destroy the Law, or the Prophets: I am not come to destroy them, but to fulfill them.

18 For truly I say vnto you, Till heauen and earth perish, one tittle, or one tittle of the Law shall not escape, till all things be fulfilled.

19 Whosoever therefore shall breake one of these least Commandments, and teach men so, he shall be called the least in the Kingdome of heauen: but whosoever shall obserue and teach them, the same shall be called great in the Kingdome of heauen.

20 For I say vnto you, except your righteousness exceede the righteousness of the law, ye shall not enter the Kingdome of heauen. 21 Whosoever shall transgresse the least of the ten Commandments in word and example, he shall be cast out of the Kingdome of God, except he be pardoned him in Church. Luke 11. 35.

Which neither ¹ Scribes and Pharises, ye shal not enter into the kingdom of heauen.

21 ² Ye haue heard that it was said vnto them of the olde time, ³ Thou shalt not kill:
for whosoever killeth, shall be // culpable of iudgement.

22 But I say vnto you, ⁴ Whosoever is angry with his brother // vnadulgidly, shall be culpable of iudgement. And whosoever saith vnto his brother, ⁵ Raca, shall be worthy to be punished by the ⁶ Council. And whosoever shall say, Foole, shall be worthy to be punished with hell fire.

23 If then thou bring thy gift to the altar, and there rememberest that thy brother hath ought against thee,

24 Leave there thyne offering before the altar, and go thy way: first bee reconciled to thy brother, and then come and offer thy gift.

25 ⁷ Agree with thine aduersary quickly, whiles thou art in the way with him, lest thine aduersary deliuer thee to the Iudge, and the Iudge deliuer thee to the Sergeant, and thou be cast into prison.

26 Remember I say vnto thee, thou shalt not come out thence till thou hast payed the very last farthing.

27 ⁸ Ye haue heard that it was said to them of old time, ⁹ Thou shalt not commit adulterie.

28 But I say vnto you, that whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her, hath committed adulterie with her already in his heart.

29 ¹⁰ Therefore if thy right eye cause thee to offend, plucke it out, and cast it from thee:
for better it is for thee, that one of thy members perish, // then that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

30 ¹¹ Also if thy right hand make thee to offend, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for better it is for thee, that one of thy members perish, // then that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

31 It hath bene said also, ¹² Whosoever shal put away his wife, let him giue her a tes-timoniall of diuorcement.

32 But I say vnto you, ¹³ Whosoever shall put away his wife (except it be for fornication) causeth her to commit adulterie: & whosoever shall marry her that is diuorced, com-mitteth adulterie.

33 ¹⁴ Again, ye haue heard that it was said to them of olde time, ¹⁵ Thou shalt not for-swear thy selfe, but shalt performe thine othes to the Lord.

34 But I say vnto you, ¹⁶ Swear not at all, neither by heauen, for it is the throne of God:

35 ¹⁷ Nor yet by the earth, for it is his foot-stool: neither by Ierusalem, for it is the city of the great King.

36 ¹⁸ Neither shalt thou sweare by thine head, because thou canst not make one haire
white or blacke.

37 ¹⁹ Nor yet by the earth, for it is his foot-stool: neither by Ierusalem, for it is the city of the great King.

38 ²⁰ Neither shalt thou sweare by thine head, because thou canst not make one haire
white or blacke.

39 ²¹ And when thou prayest, be not as the hypocrites: for they loue to stand and pray
in the Synagogues and in the corners of the streets, because they would be seene of men.
Clerely I say vnto you, they haue their reward.

37 ²² But let your communication be ²³ Yes, yea, Nay, nay. For whatlouer is more then these, commeth of an euill.

38 ²⁴ Ye haue heard that it hath bene said an ²⁵ eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth.

39 But I say vnto you, ²⁶ Resist not // euil: but whosoever shall smite thee on the right cheeke, turne to him the other also.

40 ²⁷ And if any man will sue thee at the law, and take away thy coat, let him haue thy cloake also.

41 ²⁸ And whosoever will compell thee so go a mile, go with him twaine.

42 ²⁹ Giue to him that asketh, and from him that would borrow of thee, turne not away.

43 ³⁰ Ye haue heard that it hath bene said, ³¹ Thou shalt loue thy neighbour, and ³² hate thine enemy.

44 But I say vnto you, ³³ Loue your enemies, blesse them that curse you: doe good to them that hate you, // and pray for them which // hurt you, and persecute you,

45 ³⁴ That ye may be the children of your Father that is in heauen: for hee maketh his sunne to arise on the euill and the good, and sendeth raine on the iust and vniust.

46 ³⁵ For if you loue them which loue you, what reward shall you haue. Doe not the Publicanes curre the same:

47 ³⁶ And if ye // be friendly to your brethren only, what singular thing doe ye? Doe not euen the Publicanes likewise?

48 ³⁷ Ye shall therefore bee ³⁸ perfect, as your Father which is in heauen is perfect.

49 ³⁹ And when thou prayest, be not as the hypocrites: for they loue to stand and pray
in the Synagogues and in the corners of the streets, because they would be seene of men.
Clerely I say vnto you, they haue their reward.

50 ⁴⁰ But when thou dost thine almes, let hand doeth.

51 ⁴² That thine almes may be in secret, and ward thee openly.

hypocrites: for they loue to stand and pray

shall your Father which is in heauen, give good things to them that aske him.

12 * And hereafter whosoever ye would that men should doe to you, euen so doe ye to them for this is the Law and the Prophets.

13 ¶ Enter in at the strait gate, for it is the wide gate and broad way that lead-eth to destruction: and many there bee which goe in thereat.

14 Because the gate is strait, and the way narrow that leadeth vnto life, and fewe there be that finde it.

15 ¶ Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheeps clothing, but inwardly they are rauening wolves.

16 Ye shall know them by their fruits,
* Doe men gather grapes of thornes, or figs of thistles?

17 So every good tree bringeth forth good fruit, and all corrupt tree bringeth forth euill fruit.

18 A good tree cannot bring forth euill fruit, neither can a corrupt tree bring forth good fruit.

19 * Every tree that bringeth not forth good fruit, is hewen downe, and cast into the fire.

20 Therefore by their fruites ye shall know them.

21 ¶ For every one that saith vnto mee,
Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdome of heauen, * but hee that doeth my Fathers will will inghe in heauen.

22 Whany will say to me in that day, Lord
Lord, haue wee not by thy name prophesied: and by thy name cast out deuils: and by thy name done many great works?

23 And then will I professe to them, * I neuer knew you: * depart from mee, ye that work iniquity.

24 Whosoever then heareth of me these wordes, and doeth the same, I will liken him to a wise man, which hath builded his house on a rocke.

25 And the raine fel, and the floods came and the windes blew, and beate vpon that house, and it fell not: for it was grounded on a rocke.

26 But whosoever heareth these my wordes, and doeth them not, shall be likened vnto a foolish man, which hath builded his house vpon the sand.

27 And the raine fel, and the floods came
and the windes blew, and beate vpon that house, and it fell, & the fall thereof was great.

28 ¶ And it came to passe when Iesus had ended these wordes, the people were astonied at his doctrine.

29 For hee taught them as one hauing authoritie, and not as the scribes.

NOW when hee was come downe from the mountaine, great multitudes followed him.

2 * And loe, there came a leper and wo-shipped him, saying, Walter, if thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

3 And Iesus putting forth his hand touched him, saying, I will, be thou cleane: and immediatly his leprosie was cleansed.

4 Then Iesus layd vnto him, See thou tell no man, but goe and shew thy selfe vnto the Priest, and offer the gift that Moses commanded, for a witnesse to them.

5 ¶ When Iesus was entred into Capernaum, there came vnto him a Centurion, beseeching him,

6 And sayd, Walter, my seruant lieth sick at home of the palsey, & is grievously pained.

7 And Iesus layd vnto him, I will come and heale him.

8 But the Centurion answered, saying, Walter, I am not worthy that thou should dest come vnder my rooffe: but speake the word onely, and my seruant shall be healed.

9 For I am a man also vnder the autho-ritie of another, & haue souldiers vnder me: &
I say to one, Goe, and he goeth: and to another come and hee cometh: and to my seruant, Doe this, and he doeth it.

10 When Iesus heard that, he marvelled and said to them that followed him, Verily I say vnto you, I haue not found so great faith euen in Israel.

11 But I say vnto you, that many shall come from the East and West, and shall sit downe with Abraham, and Isaac, and Ia-cob in the kingdome of heauen.

12 And the children of the kingdome shall be cast out into verie darkenesse: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

13 Then Iesus layd vnto the Centurion Goe thy way, and as thou hast beleued, so be it vnto thee. And his seruant was healed
the same houre.

14 ¶ And when Iesus came to Peters house, he saw his wifes mother layd downe, and sicke of a feuer.

15 And he touched her hand, and the feuer left her: so she arose, & ministered vnto them.

16 ¶ When the euen was come, they brought vnto him many that were possessed with deuils: and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed all that were sicke.

17 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Elias the Prophet, saying, He tooke our infirmities, & bare our sicknesses.

18 ¶ And when Iesus saw great multitudes of peoples about him, he commanded them to goe out of the water.

19 ¶ Then came there a certaine scribe, and layd vnto him, Walter, I will follow thee whithersoever thou goest.

20 But Iesus layd vnto him, The sores haue holes, and the birds of the heauen haue nests, but the Son of man hath not whereon to rest his head.

21 ¶ And another of his disciples layd vnto him, Walter, first, lett me burye my father.

Iesus sheweth him that hee is farre wider from that hee thought for in stead of worldly wealth, there is but poverty to Christ.

The holy^a Gospel of Iesus Christ
^b according to Matthew.

THE ARGUMENT.

IN this history written by Matthew, Marke, Luke, and Iohn, the Spirit of God is poured their hearts, that although they were foure in number, yet in effect & purpose theye colent, as though the whole had bene compoled by any one of them, And albeit in stile & manner of writing they be diuers, and sometime one writeth more largely than which the other doth abridge: nevertheless in matter and argument, they all tend to one end, which is to publish to the world the fauour of God toward mankind through Christ Iesus, whom the Father hath giuen vs a pledge of his mercy and loue. And for this cause they craiue their glory, Gospel, which significth good tidings, forasmuch as God hath performed indeed that which the fathers hoped for, So that hereby we are admonished to forsake the world, and the vanities thereof, and with most affectionate hearts embrace this incomparable treasure freely offered vnto vs: for there is no ioy nor consolation, no peace nor quietnesse, no felicitie nor saluation, but in Iesus Christ, who is the very substance of this Gospel, and in whom all the promises are, Yea, and Amen. And therefore vnder this word is contained the whole new Testament: but commonly we vie this name for the historie, which the foure Euangelists write, concerning Christs coming in the flesh, his death and resurrection, which is the perfect summe of our saluation. Matthew, Marke, and Luke are more copious in describing his life and death: but Iohn more laboureth to set forth his doctrine, wherein both Christs office, and also the vertues of his death and resurrection more fully appere: for without this, to know that Christ was borne, dead, and risen againe, should nothing profit vs. The which thing notwithstanding that I tresure first touch partly, as hee also sometime intermedleth the histori call narration, yet Iohn chiefly is occupied therein. And therefore as a most learned interpreter writeth, they describe as it were, the body, and Iohn setteth openeth the doore to the vnderstanding of the others: for whosoever doth know the office, vertue, and power of Christ, shall read that which is written of the Sonne of God come to be the Redeemer of the world with most profit. Now as concerning the writers of this historie, it is euident that Matthew was a Publican or custome gatherer, and was thence chosen of Christ to be an Apostle. Marke is thought to haue bin Peters disciple, and to haue planted the first church at Alexandria, where he died the eight yeare of the reigne of Nero. Luke was a Physician of Antiochia, and became Pauls disciple, and fellow in all his trauiels: he liued foure score and foure yeares, and was buried at Constantinople, Iohn was that Apostle whom the Lord loued, the sonne of Zebedee, and brother of Iames: he died three score yeeres after Christ, and was buried neere to the cite of Ephesus.

blessed tidings
of forgiveness of finnes and reconciliation with God.

Thou shalt not set thy foot against a stone.

7 Jesus said unto him, It is written againe, * Thou shalt not tempt the Lord thy God.

8 Again the diuell tooke him vp vnto an exceeding high mountaine, and shewed him all the kingdomes of the world, and the glory of them.

9 And sayd to him, All these will I giue thee, if thou wilt fall downe and worship me.

10 Then sayd Jesus vnto him, Auaunt Satan: for it is written, * Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him onely shalt thou serue.

11 * Then the diuell left him: and behold, the Angels came and ministred vnto him.

12 * And when Jesus had heard that John was deliuered vp, hee returned into Galilee.

13 And leauing Nazareth, went & dwelt in Capernaum, which is nere the sea, in the borders of Zabulon and Nepthalim.

14 That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Elias the Prophet, saying,

15 * The land of Zabulon and, the land of Nepthalim by the way of the sea, beyond Jordan, * Galilee of the Gentiles:

16 The people which late in * darkenesse, saw great light: and to them which late in the region and shadow of death, light is risen vp.

17 * From that time Jesus beganne to preach, and to say, Amend your liues: for the Kingdome of heauen is at hand.

18 * And Jesus walking by the sea of Galilee, saw two brethren, Simon, which was called Peter, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the sea (for they were pishers.)

19 And he sayd vnto them, Follow me, and I will make you fishers of men.

20 And they straightway leauing their nets followed him.

21 And when hee was gone forth from thence, he saw other two brethren, James the sonne of Zebedeus, and John his brother in a ship, with Zebedeus their father mending their nets, and he called them.

22 And they without tarrying, leauing the ship and their father, followed him.

23 So Iesus went about all Galilee, teaching in their Synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the * Kingdome, and healing every sickness, and every disease among the people.

24 And his fame spread abroad through all Syria: and they brought vnto him all sick people that were taken with diuers diseases, and gripings, and them that were possessed with * diuels, and those which were * lunaticke, and those that had the palseie and he healed them.

25 And there followed him great multitudes out of Galilee, and Decapolis, and Ierusalem, and Iudea, & from beyond Jordan

And when he saw the multitude, he went vp into a mountaine: and when he was set, his Disciples came to him.

2 And hee opened his mouth and taught them, saying,

3 * Blessed are the * poore in spirit: for theirs is the Kingdome of heauen.

4 * Blessed are they that * mourne: for they shall be comforted.

5 * Blessed are the * meeke: for they shall inherit the earth.

13 * Yet are the * salt of the earth: but if the salt haue lost his salour, wherewith shall it be salted? it is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be troden vnder foot of men.

14 * Yet are the light of the world. A city that is set on an hill, cannot be hid.

15 * Neither doe men light a candle, and put it vnder a bushell, but on a candlelicke, and it giueth light vnto all that are in the house.

16 * Let * your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorifie your Father which is in heauen.

17 * Think not that I am come to destroy the Law, or the Prophets. * I am not come to destroy them, but to fulfill them.

18 * For truly I say vnto you, Till heauen and earth perish, one iota, or one title of the Law shall not escape, till * all things be fulfilled.

19 * Whosoever therefore shall breake one of * these least Commandements, and teach men so, hee shall be called the least in the Kingdome of heauen: but whosoever shall obserue and teach them, the same shall be called great in the Kingdome of heauen.

30 Also if thy right hand make thee to offend, cut it off, and cast it from thee: for better it is for thee that one of thy members perish, then that thy whole body should be cast into hell.

ction be corrupt,

Deut. 15. 9.

13 If the concupiscence & wicked affections o-uercome reason,
we must not maruell though men be blinded, and be like vnto
beastes. Luk. 12. 22.

14 Mans trauell nothing availeth where God giueth not increase.

6 But when thou prayest, enter into thy chamber: and when thou hast shut thy doore, pray vnto thy Father which is in secret, and thy Father which seeth in secret, shall reward thee openly.

7 Also when ye pray, use no vain repetitions as the heathen: for they thinke to be heard for their much babling.

8 Be ye not like them: for ye knowe your Father knoweth whereof ye haue need before ye aske of him.

9 After this manner therefore pray ye,
Our Father which art in heauen, hallowed be thy Name.

10 Thy kingdom come. Thy will be done euen in earth as it is in heauen.

11 Give vs this day our daily bread.

12 And forgive vs our debts, as we also forgiue our debtors.

13 And leade vs not into temptation, but deliuer vs from euill: for thine is the kingdome, and the power, and the glory, for euer, Amen.

14 For if ye doe forgive men their trespasses, your heavenly Father will also forgiue you.

15 But if ye doe not forgive men their trespasses, neither will your Father forgive you your trespasses.

16 Whosoever, when ye fast, looke not sowre, as the hypocrites: for they disfigure their faces, that they might seeme vnto men to fast. Merely I say vnto you, that they haue their reward.

17 But when thou fastest, anointe thine head, and wash thy face,

18 That thou seeme not vnto men to fast, but vnto thy Father which is in secret, and thy Father which seeth in secret, will reward thee openly.

19 Lay not by treasures for your selues vpon the earth, where the moth and canker corrupt, and where theues dig theow, and steale.

20 But lay by treasures for your selues in heauen, where neither the moth nor can-ker corrupteth, and where theues neither dig theow nor steale.

21 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

22 The light of the body is the eye:
if then thine eye be single, thy whole bodie shall be light.

23 But if thine eye be wicked, then all thy body shall be darke. Wherefore if the light that is in thee be darkness, how great is that darkness?

24 No man can serue two masters: for either he shall hate the one, and loue the other, or else he shall leaue to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serue God and riches.

25 Therefore I say vnto you, Be not carefull for your life, what ye shall eat, or what ye shall drinke, nor yet for your body, what ye shall put on. Is not the life more worth then meate? and the body then raiment?

26 Behold the fowles of the heauen: for they sow not, neither reape, nor carry into the barnes: yet your heavenly Father feedeth them. Are ye not much better then they?

27 Which of you by taking care, is able to add one cubite vnto his stature?

28 And why care ye for raiment? Learne how the lillies of the field do grow: they labour not, neither spin:

29 Yet I say vnto you, that euen Salomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these.

30 Wherefore if God so clothe the grasse of the field, which is to day, and to morrow is cast into the ouen, shall he not doe much more vnto you? Of little faith?

31 Therefore take no thought, saying,
What shall we eat? or what shall we drinke?
or wherewith shall we be clothed?

32 For after all these things seeketh the Gentiles: for your heavenly Father knoweth that ye haue need of all these things.

33 But seeke ye first the kingdom of God and his righteousnesse, and all these things shall be ministered vnto you.

34 Care not then for the morrow: for the morrow shall care for it: suffice it the day hath enough with his owne griefe.

CHAP. VII.

1 Christ forbiddeth rash iudgement. 6 Not to cast holy things to dogges. 7 To aske, secke, or knocke.

1 Judge not, that ye be not iudged.
2 For with what iudgement ye iudge, ye shall be iudged; and with what measure ye mete, it shall be measured to you againe.

3 And why seest thou the mote that is in thy brothers eye, & perceiuest not the beame that is in thine owne eye?

4 How sayest thou to thy brother Suffer me to cast out the mote out of thine eye, and behold, a beame is in thine owne eye?

5 Hypocrite, first cast out the beame out of thine owne eye, and then shalt thou see clearly to cast out the mote out of thy brothers eye.

6 Sturpe not that which is holy to dogges, neither call ye your pearles before swine, lest they tread them vnder their feete, and turning againe all to rent you.

and ye shall finde: knocke, and it shall be opened vnto you.

8 For whosoever asketh, receiuerth: and hee that seeketh, findeth: and to him that knocketh, it shall be opened.

9 For what man is there among you, which if his sonne ask him bread, would giue him a stone?

22 But Iesus said vnto him, Follow me and let the dead bury the dead.

23 ¶ And when he was entered into the ship, his disciples followed him, 24 And beholde, there arose a great tempest in the Sea, so that the ship was couered with waues: but he was asleepe.

25 ¶ Then his disciples came and awoke him, saying, Master, saue vs: we perishe.

26 And he sayd vnto them, Why are ye fearfull O ye of little faith: Then he arole and rebuked the windes and the Sea: and so there was a great calme.

27 And the men marvelled, saying, What man is this, that both the windes and the Sea obey him!

28 ¶ And when hee was come to the other side into the countrey of the Gergesenes, there met him two possessed with deuils, which came out of the graues very fierce, so that no man might go by that way.

29 And beholde, they cryed out, saying, Iesus the sonne of God, what haue wee to doe with thee? Art thou come hither to torment vs before the time?

30 Now there was a farr off from them
a great herd of swine feeding.

31 And the deuils besought him, saying If thou cast vs out, suffer vs to go into the herd of swine.

32 And he sayd vnto them, Goe. So they went out, and departed into the herde of swine: and beholde, the whole herde of swine was carryed with violence from a shepe downe place into the Sea, and died in the water.

33 ¶ Then the herdmen fled: and when they were come into the citie, they tolde all things, and what was become of them; that were possessed with the deuils.

34 And beholde, all the citie came out to meete Iesus: and when they saw him, they besought him to depart out of their coastes.

c Because they did maliciously refuse Christ, who offered
himselfe
unto them.

¶ When he entered into a ship, and passed ouer, and came into his owne citie.

2 And loe, they brought to him a man sicke of the palsey, lying on a bed. And Iesus seeing their faith, said to the sicke of the palsey, Sonne, be of good comfort: thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

3 And beholde, certaine of the Scribes sayd within themselves, This man blasphem-eth.

4 But when Iesus saw their thoughts, he sayd, All therefore thinke ye euill things in your hearts?

5 For whether is it easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiven thee, or to say, Arise, and walke?

6 And that ye may know that the Sonne of man hath authoritie in earth to forgive sinnes, (then sayd he vnto the sicke of the palsey,) Arise, take vp thy bed, and goe to thy house.

7 And he arose, and departed to his owne house.

8 So when the multitude saw it, they marvelled, and glorified God, which had gi-uen such authoritie to men.

9 ¶ And as Iesus passed forth from thence, hee saw a man sitting at the receipt of custome, named Mattew, and layd to him, Follow me. And he arose, and followed him.

10 And it came to passe as Iesus sat at meate in his house, beholde, many Publi-cans and sinners, that came thither, late downe at the table with Iesus and his disciples.

11 And when the Pharisees saw that, they sayd to his disciples, Why eat ye with Pharisees and Publicans and sinners?

12 Now when Iesus heard it, he sayd vnto them, They whole need not a physician, but they that are sicke.

13 But goe ye, and learne what this is,
* I will haue mercy, and not sacrifice: for I am not come to call the righteous, but the sinners to repentance.

14 ¶ Then came the disciples of Iohn to him, saying, Why doe we and the Pharisees fast oft, and thy disciples fast not?

15 And Iesus layd vnto them, Can the children of the marriage chamber moune as long as the bridegrome is with them?
But the dayes will come when the bridegrome shall bee taken from them, and then shall they fast.

16 Moreover, no man putteth an old garment with a piece of new cloth: for that that should fill it vp, taketh away from the garment, and the breach is worse.

17 Neither doe they put new wine into old vessels: for then the vessels would brake, and the wine would bee spilt, and the vessels should perish: but they put new wine into new vessels, and so are both preserved.

18 ¶ While hee thus spake vnto them, beholde, there came a certaine ruler, and worshipped him, saying, My daughter is now deceased, but come and lay thine hand on her, and she shall liue.

19 And Iesus arose, and followed him with his disciples.

20 ¶ And beholde, a woman which was distracted with an issue of blood twelue yeeres came behind him, and touched the hemme of his garment.

21 For hee sayde in her selfe, If I may touch but his garment onely, I shall bee whole.

22 ¶ Then Iesus turned him about, and seeing her, did say, Daughter, be of good comfort: for thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

23 ¶ Then Iesus turned him about, and seeing her, did say, Daughter, be of good comfort: for thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

24 ¶ Then Iesus turned him about, and seeing her, did say, Daughter, be of good comfort: for thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

comfort: for thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

25 And when the multitude were put forth, he went in and took her by the hand, and the maid arose.

26 And this bruit went throughout all that land.

27 And as Jesus departed thence, two blinde men followed him, crying, and saying,

28 Come of David, haue mercy vpon vs.

29 And when he was come into the house, the blinde came to him, and Jesus said vnto them, Belenue yee that I am able to doe this: And they said vnto him, Pea, Lord.

30 Then touched he their eyes, saying, According vnto your faith be it vnto you.

31 And their eyes were opened, and Jesus charged them, saying, See that no man know it.

32 But when they were departed, they spread abroad his fame throughout all that land.

33 ¶ And as they went out, behold, they brought to him a dumbe man possessed with a deuill.

34 And when the deuill was cast out, the dumbe spake: then the multitude marvelled, saying, The like was neuer seen in Israel.

35 But the Pharisees said, ¶ We casteth out deuils through the prince of deuils.

36 ¶ And Jesus went about all cities and townes, teaching in their Synagogues, and preaching the Gospel of the Kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people.

37 ¶ But when he saw the multitude, he had compassion vpon them, because they were dispersed and scattered abroad, as sheepe hauing no shepheard.

38 ¶ Then said he to his disciples, Surely the harvest is great, but the labourers are few.

39 ¶ Wherefore pray the Lord of the harvest, that hee would send forth labourers into his harvest.

CHAP. XI.

1 Christ preacheth. 2 John Baptist sendeth his disciples unto him. 7 Christes testimony concerning the Iewes. 18 The opinion of the people concerning Christ and Iohn. 20 Christ upbraided the unthank-full cities. 25 The Gospel is compared to the temple.

28 They that labour, and are laden. 29 Christes
joye.

AND it came to passe, that when Iesus had made an ende of commanding his twelve disciples, he departed thence to teach and to preach in their cities.

2 * And when Iohn heard in the prison the workes of Christ, he sent two of his disciples, and said unto him,

3 Art thou hee that should come, or shall we looke for another ?

4 And Iesus answering, said unto them, Goe, and shew Iohn what things yee haue heard and seene.

5 The blinde receive sight, and the lame goe the lepers are cleansed, and the deafe heare, the dead are raised up, and the poore receiue the Gospel.

6 And blessed is he that shall not be offended in me.

7 And as they departed, Iesus began to speake unto the multitude, of Iohn, What went yee out into the wilderness to see ? A reed shaken with the winde ?

8 But what went yee out to see ? A man clothed in soft rayment ? Behold, they that weare soft clothing, are in kings houses.

9 But what went yee out to see ? A Prophet ? Yea, I say unto you, and more then a Prophet.

10 For this is he of whom it is written,
* Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

11 Verely I say unto you, Among them which are begotten of women, aroise there not a greater then Iohn Baptist : notwithstanding hee that is the least in the kingdome of heauen, is greater then hee.

12 And from the time of Iohn Baptist hitherto, the kingdome of heauen suffereth violence, and the violent take it by force.

13 For all the Prophets and the Law
* prophesied unto Iohn.

14 And if ye will receive it, this is * Elias, which was to come.

15 * And hee that hath eares to heare, let him heare.

16 * But wherunto shall I liken this generation ? It is like unto little children which sit in the markets, and call unto their fellowes,

17 And say, We haue piped unto you, and ye haue not danced, we haue * mourned unto you, and ye haue not lamented.

18 For Iohn came neither eating nor drinking, and they say, He hath a devil.

19 The Sonne of man came eating and drinking, and they say, Behold, a glutton and a drinker of wine, a friend unto Publi-cans and sinners : but wisdome is iustified of her children.

20 * Then began hee to upbraid the ci-tyes. He prophesied things to those, which now we see fulfilled more clearely : I meaning this testimony concerning Iohn. Mat.

3 Chrisť exorciseth his disciples which plucke the eares of corne, 10 He healeth the dried hand, 32 heareth the possessed that was blinde and dumbe, 31 Blasphemie, 34 The generation of vipers, 35 Of good workes, 36 Of idle words, 38 He rebuketh the vnfaithfull that would needs haue tokens, 49 And sheweth who is his brother, sister and mother.

At that time Iesus went on a Sabbath day through the corne, and his disciples were an hungred, and began to plucke the eares of corne, and to eat.

2 And when the Pharisees saw it, they sayd vnto him, Behold, thy disciples do that which is not lawfull to doe vpon the Sabbath.

3 But hee sayde vnto them, Have ye not read what David did when hee was an hungred, and they that were with him?

4 When he entred into the house of God, and ate the shew bread, which was not lawfull for him to eat, neither for them which were with him, but onely for the Priests?

5 Have ye not read in the Law, how that on the Sabbath dayes the Priests in the Temple break the Sabbath, and 6 But I say vnto you, that here is one greater then the Temple.

7 Wherfore if ye knew what this is, I will haue mercy and not sacrifice, ye would not haue condemned the innocents.

8 For the Sonne of man is Lord, euen of the Sabbath.

9 And he departed thence, and went into their Synagogue.

10 And behold, there was a man which had his hand dried vp. And they asked him, saying, Is it lawfull to heale vpon a Sabbath day? that they might accuse him.

11 And hee said vnto them, What man shall there be among you, that shall haue a sheepe, and if it fall on a Sabbath day into a pit, will not hee take it and lift it out?

12 Who much more then is a man better then a sheepe? therefore it is lawfull to doe well on a Sabbath day.

13 Then sayd hee to the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And hee stretched it forth, and it was made whole as the other.

14 Then the Pharisees went out, and consulted against him how they might destroy him.

16 And charged them that they should not make him knowne.

21 And in his Name shall the Gentiles trust.

22 Chen was brought to him one possessed with a deuil, both blinde and dumbe, and he healed him, so that he which was blind and dumbe, both spake and saw.

23 And all the people were amazed, and sayd, Is not this the Sonne of David?

24 But when the Pharisees heard it, they sayd, This man callethe the deulls no other wise out, but through Belzebub the prince of deulls.

25 But Iesus knew their thoughts, and sayd to them, Every kingdome diuided against it selfe, shall be brought to nought: and every citie or house diuided against it selfe, shall not stand.

26 So if Satan cast out Satan, he is diuided against himselfe: how shall then his kingdome endure?

30 Yee that is not with mee, is against me: and he that gathereth not with me, scattereth.

31 Wherefore I say unto you, every sin, and blasphemy shall be forgiven unto men: but the blasphemy against the holy Ghost shall not be forgiven unto men.

32 And whosoever shall speake a word against the Sonne of man it shall be forgiven him: but whosoever shall speake against the holy Ghost, it shall not be forgiven him, neither in this world, nor in the world to come.

33 Either make the tree good, and his fruit good: or els make the tree || euill, and his fruit euill: for the tree is known by the fruit.

34 O || generations of vipers, how can you speake good things, when yee are euill: for of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh.

35 A good man out of the good treasure of his heart bringeth forth good things: and an euill man out of an euill treasure bringeth forth euill things.

36 But I say unto you, that of euery idle word that man shall speake, they shall give account thereof at the day of iudgement.

37 For by thy words thou shalt bee || iustified, and by thy words thou shalt bee condemned.

38 ¶ Then answered certaine of the Scribes and of the Pharisees, saying, Master, we would see a signe of thee.

39 But he answered and said to them, An euill and adulterous generation seeketh a signe, but no signe shall be giuen vnto it, save the signe of the Prophet Jonas.

40 ¶ For as Jonas was three dayes and thrie nightes in the whales belly: so shall the Sonne of man bee thrie dayes and thrie nightes in the heart of the earth.

41 The men of Nineue shall rise in iudgement with this generation, and condemne it: for they repented at the preaching of Jonas: and behold, a greater then Jonas is here.

42 ¶ The Queene of the South shall rise in iudgement with this generation, and shall condemne it: for she came from the remot parts of the earth to heare the wisdom of Salomon: and behold, a greater then Salomon is here.

45 ¶ Then hee goeth, and taketh vnto him seven other spirits worse then himselfe, and they enter in, and dwell there: and the end of that man is worse then the beginning. Even so shall it be with this wicked generation.

¶ Then hee goeth, and taketh vnto him seven other spirits worse then himselfe, and they enter in, and dwell there: and the end of that man is worse then the beginning. Even so shall it be with this wicked generation.

46 ¶ While hee yet spake to the multitude, he holde, his mother and his brethren stood without desiring to speake with hee.

48 But he answered and said to him that tolde him, Who is my mother? and who are my brethren?

49 And hee stretched forth his hand toward his disciples, and sayd, Beholde my mother and my brethren?

3 Then hee spake many things to them in parables, saying, Beholde, a sower went forth to sow.

4 And as he sowed, some fell by the wayes side, and the fowles came and deuoured them vp.

5 And some fell vpon stony ground, where they had not much earth, & anon they sprung vp, because they had no depth of earth.

6 And when the sunne rose vp, they were parched, and for lacke of rooting, withered away.

33 Then they that were in the ship, came and worshipped him, saying, Of a truth thou art the Sonne of God.

34 ¶ And when they were come over, they came into the land of Genesareth.

35 And when the men of that place knew him, they sent out into all that country round about, and brought unto him all that were sick, 36 And besought him, that they might touch the hemme of his garment onely; and as many as touched it, were made whole.

CHAP. XV.

3 Corrupt exenstish his disciples, and rebuketh the Scribes and Pharisees, for transgressing Gods Commandment by their own traditions. 13 The plant that shall be rooted out. 18 What things defile a man. 23 Her delirious the woman of Canaan's daughter. 26 The bread of the children. 30 Her health the sick. 36 And feedeth foure thousand men, besides women and children.

Then came to Iesus the Scribes and Pharisees, which were of Ierusalem, saying,

2 Why do thy disciples transgresse the tradition of the Elders: for they walk not their hands when they eat bread.

3 But he answered and said unto them, Why doe ye also transgresse the commandment of God by your tradition?

4 For God hath commanded, saying, Honour thy father and mother: and he that curseth father or mother, let him die the death.

5 But ye say, Whosoever shall say to father or mother, By the gift that is offered by me, thou mayest have profit.

6 Though hee honour not his father, or his mother, shall be free: thus have ye made the commandment of God of no authority by your tradition.

7 Hypocrites, Elias prophesied well of you, saying,

8 This people draweth neere vnto me with their mouth, and honoureth mee with the lipps, but their heart is farre off from mee.

9 But in vaine they worship me, teaching for doctrines mens precepts.

10 Then he called the multitude vnto him, and said vnto them, Heare and understand.

11 That which goeth into the mouth defileth not the man, but that which cometh out of the mouth, that defileth the man.

12 ¶ Then came his disciples, and said vnto him, Perceivest thou not that the Pharisees are offended in hearing this saying,

13 But he answered and said, Every plant which mine heavenly Father hath not planted, shall be rooted up.

14 Let them alone: they be the blinde leaders of the blinde: and if the blinde lead the blinde, both shall fall into the ditch.

15 ¶ Then answered Iesus, and saide to him, Declare vnto vs this parable.

16 Then said Iesus, Are ye yet without understanding?

17 Perceivest ye not yet, that whatsoever entereth in: the mouth, goeth into the belly, and is cast out into the draught?

18 But those things which proceede out of the mouth, come from the heart, and they defile the man.

19 For out of the heart come evil thoughts, murders, adulteries, fornications, thefts, false testimonies, slanders.

20 These are the things which defile the man: but to eat with unwashen hands, defileth not the man.

21 And Iesus went thence, and departed into the coasts of Tyrus and Sidon.

22 And behold a woman, a Canaanite came out of the same coasts, and cryed saying vnto him, Have mercy on mee, O Lord, the sonne of David: my daughter is miserably vexed with a devill.

23 But hee answered her not a word. Then came to him his disciples, and besought him, saying, Send her away, for she cryeth after vs.

24 But he answered, and said, I am not sent, but vnto the lost sheepe of the house of Israel.

25 Yet she came and worshipped him, saying, Lord helpe me.

26 And he answered, and said, It is not good to take the childrens bread, and to cast it to whelpes.

27 But she said, Crie with me, Lord: yet indeed the whelpes eat of the crummes, which fall from their masters table.

28 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto her, O woman, great is thy faith: be it to thee, as thou desirest. And her daughter was made whole at that houre.

29 ¶ So Iesus went away from thence, and came neere vnto the sea of Galilee, and went by into a mountaine and late downe there.

30 And great multitudes came vnto him, hauing with them halke, blinde dumbe, maimed, and many other, and call them downe at Iesus feet, and hee healed them.

31 Inasmuch that the multitude wondered, to see the dumbe speake, the maimed whole, the halke to goe, and the blinde to see: and they glorified the God of Israel.

32 ¶ Then Iesus called his disciple vnto him, and said, I have compassion on this multitude, because they haue continued with me already three dayes, and haue nothing to eat: and I will not let them depart fasting, lest they faint in the way.

33 And his disciples said vnto him, Whence should we get so much bread in the wilderness, as should suffice to great a multitude?

34 And Iesus said vnto them, How many loaves haue ye? and they saide, Seven, and a few little fishes.

35 Then he commanded the multitude to sit downe on the ground,

36 And tooke the seven loaves, and the fishes, and gave thanks, and brake them, and gave to his disciples, and the disciples to the multitude.

37 And they did all eat, and were filled.

Then came the Pharisees and Sadducees, and did tempt him, desiring him to shew them a signe from heaven.

2 But he answered, and said unto them, When it is evening, ye say, Fair weather: for the skies are red.

3 And in the morning say, To day shall be a tempest: for the sky is red and lowering. O hypocrites, ye can discern the face of the sky, and can ye not discern the signs of the times?

4 The wicked generation, and adulterous, seeketh a signe, and there shall no signe be given it, but the signe of the Prophet Jonas: so he left them and departed.

5 And when his disciples were come to the other side, they had forgotten to take bread with them.

6 Then Jesus said unto them, Take heed and beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

7 And they thought in themselves saying, It is, because we have brought no bread.

8 But Jesus knowing it, said unto them, O ye of little faith, why thinke you thus in your selves, because ye have brought no bread?

9 Doe ye not yet perceive, neither remember the five loaves, when there were five thousand men, and how many baskets took ye up?

10 Neither the seven loaves when there were four thousand men, and how many baskets took ye up?

11 Why perceive ye not, that I said not unto you concerning bread, that ye should beware of the leaven of the Pharisees and Sadducees?

12 Then understood they that he had not said, that they should beware of the leaven of bread, but of the doctrine of the Pharisees and Sadducees.

13 Now when Jesus came into the cauls of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, saying, Whom do men say that I the Sonne of man am?

14 And they said, Some say, John Baptist: and some, Elias: and others, Jeremias, or one of the Prophets.

15 He said unto them, But whom say ye that I am?

16 Then Simon Peter answered, and said, Thou art the Christ the Sonne of the living God.

17 And Jesus answered, and said to him

Blessed art thou, Simon, the sonne of Jonas: for a flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven.

18 And I say also unto thee, that thou art Peter, and upon this rocke I will build my Church: and the gates of hell shall not overcome it.

19 And I will give unto thee the keys of the kingdom of heaven, and whatsoever thou shalt bind upon earth, shall be bound in heaven: and whatsoever thou shalt loose on earth shall be loosed in heaven.

20 Then he charged his disciples, that they should not tell no man that he was Jesus the Christ.

21 From that time forth Jesus began to shew unto his disciples, that he must go unto Jerusalem, and suffer many things of the elders, and of the High Priests and Scribes, and be slain, and rise againe the third day.

22 Then Peter tooke him aside, and began to rebuke him, saying, Master, if thou wilt, this shall not be unto thee.

23 Then he turned backe, and said unto Peter, Get thee behinde me, because thou understandest not the things that are of God, but the things that are of men.

24 Jesus then saide to his Disciples, If any man will follow me, let him forsake himselfe, and take up his crosse and follow me.

25 For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, shall finde it.

26 For what shall it profit a man, if he should win the whole world, if he lose his owne soule? or what shall a man give for recompense of his soule?

27 For the Sonne of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his Angels, and then shall he give to every man according to his deeds.

28 And I say unto you, there be some of them that stand here, which shall not taste of death, till they have seene the Sonne of man come in his kingdom.

11 But he said vnto them, All men can not receiue this thing, save they to whom it is giuen.

13 ¶ Then were brought to him little children, that he should put his handes on them, & pray, and the disciples rebuked them.

14 But Iesus said, Suffer the little children, and forbid them not to come to me: for of such is the kingdome of heauen.

15 And when he had put his handes on them, he departed thence.

16 ¶ And behold, one came and said vnto him, Good master, what good thing shall I doe, that I may haue eternall life?

17 And hee said vnto him, Why callest thou me good? there is none good but one, euen God: but if thou wilt enter into life, keepe the commandmentes.

18 He said vnto him, Which? And Iesus said, These: Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not commit adultery: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witness.

19 Honour thy father and mother: and, Thou shalt loue thy neighbour as thy selfe.

20 The young man sayd vnto him, I haue observed all these things from my youth: what lacke I yet?

21 Iesus said vnto him, If thou wilt be perfect, goe, sell that thou hast, and giue it to the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come and follow me.

22 And when the young man heard that saying, hee went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions.

23 Then Iesus said vnto his disciples, Verily I say vnto you, that a rich man shall hardly enter into the kingdome of heauen.

24 And againe I say vnto you, It is easier for a camel to goe thorow the eye of a needle, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdome of God.

25 And when his disciples heard it, they were exceedingly amazed, saying, Who then can be saved?

26 And Iesus beheld them, and said vnto them, Althow much this is impossible, but with God all things are possible.

27 ¶ Then answered Peter, and said to him, Behold, we haue forsaken all, and followed thee: what shall we haue?

28 And Iesus said vnto them, Verily I say vnto you, that when the Sonne of man shall sit in the throne of his Patricie, ye which followed mee in the regeneration, shall sit also vpon twelue thrones, and iudge the twelue tribes of Israel.

29 And whosoever shall forsake houses, or brethren, or sisters, or father, or mother, or wife, or children, or lands, for my names sake, hee shall receiue an hundredfold more, and shall inherite euermolting life.

30 But many that are first, shall be last, and the last shall be first.

¶ Christ teacheth by a similitude, that God is debtor to no man, and how he alway calleth men to his labour. 18 He admonisheth them of his passion. 20 He teacheth vs to flee ambition. 28 Christ payeth our ransom. 30 He giueth two blind men their sight.

¶ Of the kingdome of heauen is like vnto a certaine householder, which went out at the dawning of the day to hire labourers into his vineyard.

2 And he agreed with the labourers for a penie a day, and sent them into his vineyard.

3 And hee went out about the third houre, and sawe other standing idle in the market place,

4 And said vnto them, Goe ye also into my vineyard, and whatsoeuer is right, I will giue you: and they went their way.

5 Againe he went out about the fift and ninth houre, and did likewise.

6 And hee went about the eleventh houre, and found other standing idle, and said vnto them, Althow stand ye here all the day idle?

7 They sayd vnto him, Because no man hath hired vs. He said vnto them, Go ye also into my vineyard, and whatsoeuer is right, that shall ye receiue.

8 ¶ And when euen was come, the Master of the vineyard said vnto his servants, Call the labourers, and giue them their hire, beginning at the last, till thou come to the first.

9 And they which were hired about the eleventh houre, came and receiued euery man a penie.

10 And when the first came, they supposed that they should receiue more, but they likewise receiued euery man a penie.

11 And when they had receiued it, they murmured against the master of the house,

12 Saying, These last haue wrought but one houre, and thou hast made them euall vnto vs, which haue borne the burthen, and heat of the day.

13 And he answered one of them, saying, Friend, I doe thee no wrong: diddest thou not agree with me for a penie?

14 Take that which is thine owne, and goe thy way: I will giue vnto these last as much as to thee.

20 ¶ Then came to him the mother of Zebedees children with her sons, worshipping him, and desiring a certaine thing of him.
21 And he said vnto her, What wouldest thou? She said to him, Grant that these my two sons may sit, the one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy kingdome.

22 And Iesus answered, and sayd, Pee knowe not what yee aske. Are yee able to drinke of the cup that I shall drinke of, and to be baptizd with the baptisme that I shall be baptizd with? They said to him, We are able.

31 And the multitude rebuked them, because they should hold their peace: but they cried the more, saying, O Lord, the Sonne of Dauid haue mercie on vs.

32 Then Iesus stood still, & called them and said, What wilt thou that I should doe to you?

33 They said to him, Lord, that our eyes may be opened.

3 And if any man say ought vnto you, say ye, that the Lord hath need of them, and straightway he will let them goe.

4 All this was done, that it might bee fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophet, saying,

5 ¶ Tell ye the daughter of Sion, Behold, thy king cometh vnto thee, meek, and sitting vpon an asse, and a colt, the foale of an asse yoked to the yoke.

6 So the disciples went, and did as Iesus had commanded them.

7 And brought the asse & the colt, and put on them their clothes, and set him thereon.

8 And a great multitude spread their garments in the way: and other cut downe branches from the trees, and strawed them in the way.

9 Moreover, the people that went before, and they also that followed, cried, saying, ¶ Holanna the sonne of Dauid: blessed be he that cometh in the Name of the Lord, Holanna thou which art in the highest heauens.

10 ¶ And when hee was come into Ierusalem, all the city was moued, saying, What is this?

11 And the people said, This is Iesus the Prophet of Nazareth in Galilee.

12 ¶ And Iesus went into the Temple of God, and cast out all them that sold and bought in the Temple, and ouerthrew the tables of the money changers, and the seats of them that sold doves.

13 And said to them, It is written, Mine house shall be called the house of prayer: but yee haue made it a denie of heeues.

14 Then the blinde and the halt came to him in the Temple, and he healed them.

15 But when the chiefe Priests and Scribes sawe the marvelles that hee did, and the children crying in the Temple, and saying, Holanna the Sonne of Dauid, they disdained.

16 And said vnto him, Wouldest thou what these say? And Iesus said vnto them, Pea: read yee never, ¶ By the mouth of babes and sucklings thou hast made perfect the praise?

17 ¶ So he left them and went out of the cite vnto Bethania, and lodged there.

18 And in the morning as hee returned into the cite, he was hungry.

19 And seeing a figge tree in the way, hee came to it, and found nothing thereon, but leaues only, and said to it, Neuer fruit grow on thee henceforward. And anon the figge tree withered.

20 And when his disciples sawe it, they marvelled, saying, How soone is the fig tree withered?

21 And Iesus answered, & said vnto them, ¶ Truly I say vnto you, if yee haue faith, and 23 ¶ And when hee was come into the Temple, the chief Priests and the Elders of the people came unto him as hee was teaching, and sayd, By what authority dost thou these things? and who gave thee this authority?

24 ¶ Jesus answered, and said unto them, I also will aske of you a certaine thing, which if ye tell mee, I likewise will tell you by what authority I doe these things.

25 ¶ The Baptisme of Iohn, whence was it? if from heaven, or of men? Then they reasoned among themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heaven, he will say unto us, Why did ye not then believe him?

26 And if we say, Of men, we feare the people: for all hold Iohn as a Prophet.

27 ¶ Then they answered Jesus, and said, We cannot tell. And he said unto them, Neither tell I you by what authority I doe these things.

28 ¶ But what thinke ye? A certaine man had two sonnes, and came to the elder, and said, Sonne, goe, and worke to day in my vineyard.

29 But he answered, and said, I will not: yet afterwards hee repented himselfe, and went.

30 ¶ Then came he to the second, and sayd likewise. And he answered, and said, I will sir: yet he went not.

31 ¶ Afterward they twaine did the will of the father: they said unto him, Truly I say unto you, that the Publicans and the Pharisees shall go before you into the kingdom of God.

32 For Iohn came unto you in the way of righteousness, and ye believed him not; but the Publicans and the Pharisees believed him, and ye, though ye saw it, were not moved with repentance afterwards, that ye might believe him.

33 ¶ Heare another parable. There was a certaine householder, which planted a vineyard, and hedged it round about, and made a winnisseth therein, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into a strange country.

34 And when the time of the fruit was nere, hee sent his servants to the husbandmen to receive the fruit thereof.

35 And the husbandmen took his servants, and beat one, and killed another, and stoned another.

36 Again hee sent other servants, more than the first: and they did the like unto them.

37 ¶ The last of all he sent unto them his owne sonne, saying, He shall receive mine harvest.

38 But when the husbandmen saw the sonne, they said among themselves, This is the heire: now let us kill him, and let us take his inheritance.

39 ¶ So they took him, and cast him out of the vineyard, and slew him.

40 ¶ When therefore the Lord of the vineyard shall come, what will hee do to those husbandmen?

41 ¶ They shall say unto him, We will surely destroy those wicked men, and will let out his vineyard unto other husbandmen, which shall bring forth the fruit in their seasons.

42 ¶ Jesus answered them, Read ye never in the Scriptures? The stone which the builders refused, the same is made the head of the corner: & that was the Lord himselfe, and it is marvellous in our eyes.

43 ¶ Therefore say I unto you, the kingdom of God shall be taken from you, and shall be given to a nation which shall bring forth the fruit thereof.

44 ¶ And whosoever shall fall on this stone, he shall be broken: but on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grind him to powder.

45 And when the chief Priests and Pharisees had heard his parables, they perceived that he spake of them.

46 And they seeking to lay hands on him, feared the people, because they took him as a Prophet.

¶ Then Jesus answered, and spake unto them againe in parables, saying,

2 The kingdom of heaven is like unto a certaine king which marked his sonne,

3 And sent forth his servants to call them that were bidden to the wedding, but they would not come.

4 Again hee sent forth other servants, saying, Tell them which are bidden, Behold, I have prepared my dinner: mine oxen and mine fiallings are killed, and all things are ready: come unto the marriage.

5 But they made light of it, and went their wayes, one to his farme, and another about his merchandise.

6 And the countant took his servants, and intreated them sharply, and slew them.

7 But when he heard it, hee was wroth, and sent forth his warriors, and destroyed those murderers, and burned up their cite.

8 ¶ Then said he to his servants, Truly the wedding is prepared: but they which were bidden were not worthy.

9 ¶ Soe hee therefore out into the high wayes, and as many as ye finde, bid them to the marriage.

10 ¶ Soe those servants went out into the high wayes, and gathering together all that came they found both good and bad: so the wedding was filled with guests.

13 Then said the king to the servants, Bind him hand and foot: take him away, and cast him into utter darkness: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

14 * For many are called, but few chosen.

15 * Then went the Pharisees and took counsel how they might catch him in talk.

16 And they sent unto him their disciples with the * Probrians, saying, Master, we know that thou art true, and teachest the way of God truly, neither carest thou for any man: for thou considerest not the * person of men.

17 Tell us therefore, How thinkest thou? Is it lawful to give tributes unto Caesar, or not?

18 But Jesus perceived their wickedness, and said, Why tempt ye me, ye hypocrites?

19 Shew me the * tribute money. And they brought him a * penny.

20 And he said unto them, Whose is this image and superscription?

21 They said unto him, Caesars. Then said he unto them, * Give therefore to Caesar, the things which are Caesars, and give unto God, those things which are Gods.

22 And when they heard it, they marvelled, and left him, and went their way.

23 * The same day the Sadduces came to him (which say that there is no resurrection) and asked him,

24 Saying, Master, * Moses said, If a man die, having no children, let his brother marry his wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.

25 Now there were with us seven brethren, and the first married a wife, and deceased: and having no issue, left his wife unto his brother.

26 Likewise also the second, and the third unto the seventh.

27 And last of all the woman died also.

28 Therefore in the resurrection, whose wife shall she be of the seven? for all had her.

29 Then Jesus answered, and said unto them, Ye * are deceived, not knowing the Scriptures, nor the power of God.

30 For in the Resurrection they neither marry wives, nor are they betrothed in marriage, but are as the * Angels of God in heaven.

31 And concerning the resurrection of the dead, have ye not read what is spoken unto you of God, saying,

32 * I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob? God is not the God of the dead, but of the living.

33 And when the people heard it, they were astonished at his doctrine.

34 * But when the Pharisees had heard that hee had put the Sadduces to silence, they assembled together.

35 And one of them which was an respondent of the Law, asked him a question, tempting him, and saying,

36 Master, which is the great commandment in the Law?

37 Jesus said unto him, * Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thine heart, with all thy soul, and with all thy mind.

38 * This is the first and the great Commandment.

39 And the second is like unto this, * Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thy self.

40 In these two Commandments * hangeth the whole Law and the Prophets.

41 * While the Pharisees were gathered together, Jesus asked them, 42 Saying, What thinkest ye of Christ? Whose * Sonne is he? They said unto him, Dauids.

43 He said unto them, How then doth David call him Lord, saying,

44 * The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, * till I make thine enemies thy footstool?

45 If then David call him * Lord, how is he his Sonne?

46 And none could answer him a word, neither durst any from that day forth ask him any more questions.

r Not that his kingdom shall then end: but the office of his manlike flesh cease, and be with the Father and the holy Ghost his reign for ever as one God all in all. f Christ is David's Son touching his manhood, and his Lord concerning his Godhead.

m When God hath made an end of the troubles of his Church.

n He speaketh of a horrible trembling of the world, and as it were an alteration of the order of nature. Dom. 7. 1 3. 10. 17.

9 * Then they shall deliver you up to be afflicted, and shall kill you, and you shall be hated of all nations for my names sake.

10 * And then shall many be offended, and shall betray one another, and shall hate one another.

11 * And many false prophets shall arise, and shall deceive many.

12 * And because iniquity shall be increased, the love of many shall be cold.

13 * But he that endureth to the end, he shall be saved.

14 * And this Gospel of the kingdom shall be preached through the whole world for a witness unto all nations, and then shall the end come.

15 * Whosoever therefore shall see the abomination of desolation spoken of by Daniel the Prophet, standing in the holy place, (let him that readeth consider it.)

16 * Then let them which be in Judea flee into the mountains.

17 * Let him which is on the house top, not come down to fetch any thing out of his house.

18 * And he that is in the field, let not him return back to fetch his clothes.

19 * And woe shall be to them that are with child, and to them that give suck in those days:

20 * But pray that your flight be not in the winter, neither on the Sabbath day.

21 * For then shall the great tribulation, such as was not from the beginning of the world to this time, nor shall be.

22 * And except those days should be short-ned, there should no flesh be saved: but for the elects sake, those days shall be short-ned.

23 * Then if any shall say unto you, Lo, here is Christ, or there, believe it not.

24 * For there shall arise false Christs, and false prophets, and shall show great signs and wonders, so that if it were possible, they should deceive the very elect.

25 * Behold, I have told you before.

26 * Wherefore if they shall say unto you,
Behold, he is in the desert, go not forth:
Behold, he is in the secret places, believe it not.

27 * For as the lightning cometh out of the East, and shineth unto the West, so shall also the coming of the Son of man be:

28 * For wheresoever a dead carcase is, thither will the Eagles resort.

29 * And immediately after the tribulations of those days, shall the Son of man be seen, and the Son of man shall not give his light, and the stars shall fall from heaven, and the powers of heaven shall be shaken.

30 * And then shall appear the sign of the Son of man in heaven: and then shall all the kindred of the earth mourn, and they shall see the Son of man come in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory.

31 * Then shall the Son of man be seen with a great cloud, and every eye shall see him, and they that have pierced him shall see him,
and from thence shall he come to judge the world.

32 * Now learn the parable of the fig-tree: when her branch is yet tender, and it buds forth leaves, ye know that summer is near.

33 * So likewise ye, when ye shall see all these things, know that the kingdom of God is near, even at the doors.

34 * Verily I say unto you, this generation shall not pass, till all these things be done.

35 * Heaven and earth shall pass away:
but my kingdom shall not pass away.

36 * But of that day and hour knoweth no man, no not the Angels of heaven, but my Father only.

37 * But as the days of Noe were, so likewise shall the coming of the Son of man
be.

38 * For as it was in the days before the flood, they did eat and drink, marry, and give in marriage, unto the day that Noah entered into the Ark.

39 * And so shall it be in the days of the Son of man: they shall eat and drink, marry, and give in marriage, till the coming of the Son of man.

40 * Then two men shall be in the field, the one shall be received, and the other shall be refused.

41 * Two women shall be grinding at the mill: the one shall be received, and the other shall be refused.

42 * Make therefore: for ye know not what hour the Son of man shall come.

43 * But take heed, that if the goodman of the house know at what watch the thief will come, he would surely watch, and not suffer his house to be digged through.

44 * Wherefore be ye all ready: for in the hour that ye think not, will the Son of man come.

45 * Who then is a faithful servant and wise, whom his Master hath made ruler over his household, to give them meat in season:

46 * Blessed is that servant, whom his Master when he cometh, shall find so doing.

47 * I tell you, he shall make him ruler over all his goods.

48 * But if that evil servant shall say in his heart, My Master doth deferre his coming,

49 * And begin to smite his fellowes, and to eat and drink with the drunken:

50 * That servant shall make him ruler over all his goods, when he looketh not for him, and in an hour that he is not ware of.

51 * And will set him off, and give him his portion with hypocrites: there shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth.

52 * Therefore shall every one that heareth these sayings, let him take heed, lest he come into temptation: for the Son of man shall come as a thief in the night.

53 * Watch therefore, ye that know the day of the Lord's coming, lest ye come into temptation.

54 * For the Son of man shall come as the lightning, and shall be seen of all men, and shall tread upon the clouds, and shall come with power and great glory.

55 * And he shall send his Angels, and they shall gather together his elect from the four winds, and from the ends of the earth, into the kingdom.

56 * Then shall the Son of man be seated on his throne, and he shall judge the living and the dead.

57 * Then shall the Kingdom be given unto the Father, for ever.

58 * And the Son of man shall come again, and shall be with you, and shall reign with you for ever and ever.

59 * Amen.

cup cannot passe away from me, but that I must drinke it, he will be done.

43 And he came, and found them asleepe againe: for their eyes were heavy.

44 So he left them, and went away againe, and prayed the third time, saying the same words.

45 Then came he to his Disciples, and said unto them, Sleepe henceforth, and take your rest: behold, the houre is at hand, and the Sonne of man is given into the hands of sinners.

46 Rise, let us goe, behold, he is at hand that betrayeth me.

47 And while he yet spake, lo Judas one of the twelve, came, & with him a great multitude with swords and staves from the high Priests and Elders of the people.

48 Now he that betrayeth him, had given them a token, saying, Whosoever I shall kisse, that is he, lay hold on him.

49 And forthwith he came to Iesus, and said, God haue mercy, & kist him.

50 Then said Iesus unto him, Friend, wherfore comest thou? Then came they, and laid hands on Iesus, and tooke him.

51 And behold, one of them which were with Iesus, stretched out his hand, and drew his sword, and strooke a servant of the high Priest, and smote off his eare.

52 Then said Iesus unto him, Put thy sword into his place: for all that take the sword, shall perish with the sword.

53 Whether thinkest thou that I cannot now pray to my Father, and he will glue me more then twelue legions of Angels?

54 Now then should the Scriptures be fulfilled, which say, that it must be so?

55 The same houre said Iesus to the multitude, Perce me out: as I was against a chiefe with swords and staves to take me: I sate dayly teaching in the Temple among you, and yet took me not.

56 But all this was done, that the Scriptures of the Prophets might be fulfilled.

57 Then all the disciples forsooke him, & fled.

58 And they tooke Iesus, & led him to Cataphas the high Priest, where the Scribes and the Elders were assembled.

59 And Peter followed him a far off, vnto the high Priestes hall, and went in, and sate with the seruants to kee the end.

60 Now the chiefe Priests and the Elders, and all the whole Councell, sought false witness against Iesus to put him to death.

61 But they found none, and though many false witnesses came, yet found they none: but at the last came two false witnesses.

62 And sayd, This man sayd, I can destroy the temple of God, and build it in three dayes.

63 Then the chiefe Priest arose, and said to him, Art thou not a Jew, and sayest this? knowest thou the matter that these men witness against thee?

64 But Iesus answered, and said to him, I charge thee by the living God, that thou tell us if thou be the Christ the Sonne of God.

64 Iesus sayd to him, Thou hast said it: nevertheless I say vnto you, hereafter shall ye see the Sonne of man sitting at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the clouds of heauen.

65 Then he the Priest rent his clothes saying, He hath blasphemed: what haue we any more need of witnesses? behold, now ye haue heard his blasphemy.

66 What thinkest thou? They answered, and sayd, He is worthy to die.

67 Then spake they in his face, and buffetted him: and other smote him with their rods.

68 Saying, Prophecies to vs: O Christ, altho he be that smother thee?

69 Peter late without in the hall, and a maide came to him, saying, Thou also wast with Iesus of Galilee.

70 But he denied before them all, saying, I wote not what thou sayest.

71 And when he went out into the porch, another maide saw him, and said vnto him that was there, This man also was with Iesus of Nazareth.

72 And againe he denied with an oath, saying, I know not the man.

73 So after a while, came vnto him they that stood by, and said vnto Peter, Surely thou art also one of them: for euen thy speech betrayeth thee.

74 Then began he to curse himselfe, and to sweare, saying, I know not the man. And immediately the cocke crew.

75 When Peter remembered the words of Iesus, which had said vnto him, Before the cocke crow, thou shalt deny me thrise. So he went out, and wept bitterly.

When the morning was come, all the chiefe Priests and the Elders of the people tooke councell against Iesus, to put him to death.

2 And led him away bound, and deliuered him vnto Pontius Pilate the gouernor.

3 Then when Judas which betrayed him, saw that he was condemned, he repented himselfe, and brought againe the thirtie pieces of siluer to the chiefe Priestes & Elders.

4 Saying, I haue sinned betraying the innocent blood. But they said, What is that to vs? see thou to it.

5 And when he had cast downe the silver pieces in the Temple, he departed; and went, and hanged himselfe.

6 And the chiefe Priests took the silver pieces, and said, It is not lawfull for vs

d These hypocrites lay the whole fault vpon Judas. e The hypocrites are full of complacence in a matter of shedding blood to the innocent blood, they make nothing of it.

9 (Then was fulfilled that which was spoken by Ieremias the Prophet, saying, And theyooke thirty silver pieces, the price of him that was valued, whom they of the children of Israel valued.

10 And they gave them for the potters field, as the Lord had appointed me.)

11 (And Iesus stood before the gouernour, and the gouernour asked him, saying, Art thou the king of the Jewes? Iesus said vnto him, Thou sayest it.

12 And when he was accused of the chiefe Priests and Elders, he answered nothing.

13 Then said Pilate vnto him, Hearst thou not how many things they lay against thee?

14 But he answered him not to one word, in so much that the Gouernour marvelled greatly.

15 Now at the feast the Gouernour, was wont to deliver vnto the people a prisoner, whom they would.

16 And they had then a notable prisoner called Barabbas.

17 When they were then gathered together, Pilate said vnto them, Whether will ye that I let loose vnto you, Barabbas, or Iesus which is called Christ?

18 (For he knew well, that for crime they had delivered him.

19 Also when he was set downe vpon the iudgement seat, his wife sent to him, saying, Haue thou nothing to doe with that iust man: for I haue suffered many things this day in a dreame by reason of him.)

20 But the chiefe Priests and the Elders had perswaded the people, that they should alke Barabbas, and should destroy Iesus.

21 Then the Gouernour answered, and sayd vnto them, Whether of the twaine will ye that I let loose vnto you? And they said, Barabbas.

22 Pilate said vnto them, What shall I doe then with Iesus which is called Christ? They all said to him, Let him be crucified.

23 Then said the Gouernour, But what wilt thou haue done? Then they cried the more saying, Let him be crucified.

24 And when Pilate saw that hee could not thinke, but that more tumult was made, heeooke water and washed his hands before the multitude, saying, I am innocent of the blood of this iust man, looke ye to it.

25 Then answered all the people, & said, His blood be on vs, and on our children.

26 Then let hee Barabbas loose vnto them, and scourged Iesus, and delivered him to be crucified.

27 (Then the souldier of the gouernour, tooke Iesus into the common hall, and gathered about him the whole band.

28 And they stripped him, and put vpon him a scarlet robe.

29 And placed a crowne of thornes, and put it vpon his head, and a reed in his right hand, and bowed their knees before him, and mocked him, saying, God saue thee, King of the Jewes.

30 And spied vpon him, & tooke a reed, and smote him on the head.

31 (Then when they had mocked him, they tooke the robe from him, and put his owne garment on him, and led him away to crucifie him.

32 And as they came out, they found a man of Cyrene, named Simon: him they compelled to beare his crosse.

33 And when they came vnto the place called Golgotha, (that is to say, the place of dead mens skulls,)

34 They gave him a draught to drinke mingled with gall: and when hee had tasted thereof he would not drinke.

35 And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, and did cast lots, that it might be fulfilled which was spoken by the Prophet, * They divided my garments among them, and vpon my belayre did cast lots.

36 And they sate and watched him there.

37 (They let vp also ouer his head, his cause written, * THIS IS IESVS THE KING OF THE IEWES.

38 And there were two thieves crucified with him, one on the right hand, and another on the left.

39 And they that passed by, crucified him, wagging their heads,

40 And saying, * Thou that destroyest the Temple, and buildest it in three dayes, saue thy selfe: thou be the Sonne of God, come downe from the crosse.

41 Likewise also the his priests mocking him, with the Scribes and Elders, & Pharisees, said, 44 That same also the two thieves which were crucified with him, cast in his teerh.

45 Now from the first houre was there darkness ouer all the land vnto the ninth houre.

46 And about the ninth houre Iesus cried with a loud voyce, saying, Eli, Eli, lamma sabachthani: that is, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?

47 And some of them that stood there, when they heard it, said, This man calleth Elias.

48 And straightway one of them ranne, and tooke a sponge, and filled it with vinegar, and put it on a reed, and gaue him to drinke.

ple was rent in twaine, from the top to the bottom, and the earth did quake, and the stones were clouen,

52 And the graues did open themselves, and many bodies of the Saints which slepe, arose,

53 And came out of the graues after his resurrection, and went into the holy Citie, and appeared vnto many.

54 When the Centurion, and they that were with him watching Iesus, sawe the earthquake, and the things that were done, they feared greatly, saying, Truly this was the Sonne of God.

55 And many women were there, beholding him a farre off, which had followed Iesus from Galilee, ministering vnto him.

56 Among whom was Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James and Ioses, and the mother of Zebedeus sonnes.

57 And when the euen was come, there came a rich man of Arimathea, named Ioseph, who had also himselfe been Ie-sus disciple.

58 Hee went to Pilate, and asked the body of Iesus. Then Pilate commanded the body to be deliuered.

59 So Ioseph tooke the body and wrapped it in a cleane linnen cloth,

60 And put it in his new tombe, which hee had hewen out in a rocke, and rolled a great stone to the doore of the sepulchre, and departed.

61 And there was Mary Magdalene, and the other Mary sitting ouer against the sepulchre.

62 Now the next day that followed the Preparation of the Sabbath, the high Priests and Pharisees assembled to Pilate,

63 And said, Sir, we remember that that deceitful sayd, while hee was yet alive, that in three dayes I will rise.

64 Command therefore that the Sepulchre be made sure vntill the third day, lest his Disciples come by night, and steale him away, and say vnto the people, Hee is risen from the dead: so shall the last error bee worse then the first.

65 Then Pilate said vnto them, Hee haue a watch: goe, and make it sure as ye know.

66 And they went & made the sepulchre sure with the watch, and sealed the stone.

CHAP. XXVIII.

6 The resurrection of Christ. 10 The brethren of Christ. 12 The high Priests bribe the souldiers, 17
Christ appeareth to his disciples, and sendeth them forth to preach and to baptize, 20 Promising to them continuall assistance,

Now in the end of the Sabbath, when the first day of the worke began to dawn, Mary Magdalene, and the other Mary came to see the sepulchre.

2 And behold, there was a great earthquake: for the Angel of the Lord descended from heauen, and came and rolled backe the stone from the doore, and sat vpon it.

3 And his countenance was like lightening, and his raiment white as snow.

4 And for feare of him the keepers were astonied, and became as dead men.

5 But the Angel answered, and sayd to the women, Feare ye not: for I know that ye seeke Iesus which was crucified:

6 He is not here, for he is risen, as he said:
Come, see the place where the Lord was layd,

7 And goe quickly, and tell his disciples that he is risen from the dead: and behold, hee goeth before you into Galilee: there ye shall see him: loe, I haue told you.

8 So they departed quickly from the sepulchre, with feare and great ioy, and did runne to bring his disciples word.

9 And as they went to tell his disciples, behold, Iesus also met them, saying, God saue you. And they came, andooke him by the feete, and worshipped him.

10 Then Iesus said vnto them, Bee not afraid: Goe, and tell my brethren, that they goe into Galilee, and there shall they see me.

11 Now when they were gone, behold, some of the watch came into the citie, and shewed vnto the high Priests all the things that were done.

12 And they gathered them together with the Elders, andooke counsell, and gaue large money vnto the souldiers,

13 Saying, Say, His disciples came by night, and stole him away while we slepe.

14 And if the gouernour heare of this, we will perswade him, and saue you harmlesse.

15 So they tooke the money, and did as they were taught: and this saying is now fals among the Jewes vnto this day.

16 Then the eleven Disciples went into Galilee, into a mountaine, whither Iesus had appointed them.

17 And when they saw him, they worshipped him, but some doubted.

18 And Iesus came and spake vnto them, saying, All power is giuen vnto me in heauen, and in earth.

19 Goe therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the Name of the Father, and the Sonne, and the holy Ghost,

20 Teaching them to obserue all things, whatsoeuer I haue commanded you: and loe, I am with you alway, vntill the end of the world. Amen.

CHAP. I.

3 The office, doctrine and life of Iohn the Baptist.
3 Christ is baptiz'd, 13 and tempted, 14 He preacheth, 17 calleth the fishes, 23 Christ healeth the man with the unclean spirit. 27 New doctrine, 29 Hee healeth Peter's mother in law. 34 The devils know him, 41 Hee cleanseth the leper, and healeth divers others.

He • beginning of the Gospel of Iesus Christ, the Sonne of God :

2 As it is writtē in the Prophets, * Behold, I send my messenger before thy face which shall prepare thy way before thee.

3 * The voyce of him that cryeth in the wilderness, * Prepare the way of the Lord, make his paths straight.

4 * Iohn did baptize in the wilderness, and * preach the baptisme of amendment of life for remission of finnes.

5 And all the country of Iudea, and they of Ierusalem went out vnto him, and were all baptiz'd of him in the riuer Iordan, confessing their finnes.

6 * Now Iohn was clothed with camels haire, and with a girdle of a skin about his loynes : and he did eat * Locusts and wild bouie.

7 * And preacheth, saying, A stronger then I cometh after mee, whose shooles latchet I am not worthy to stoupe downe, and vnloose.

8 Truth it is, I haue baptiz'd you with water : but hee will baptize you with the holy Ghost.

9 * * And it came to passe in those dayes, that Iesus came from Nazaret a citie of Galilee, and was baptiz'd of Iohn in Iordan.

10 And as soone as hee was come out of the water, Iohn saw the heauens clouen in twaine, and the * holy Ghost descending vpon him like a doue.

11 Then there was a voyce from heauen, saying, Thou art my beloued * Sonne in whom I am well pleased.

12 * And immediately the * Spirit diuertieth him into the wilderness.

13 And hee was there in the wilderness forty dayes, and was * tempted of Satan : hee was also with the wilde beasts, and the Angels ministred vnto him.

14 * * Now after that Iohn was committed to prison, Iesus came into Galilee, preaching * the Gospel of the kingdome of God.

15 And saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdome of God is at hand : repent and belesue the Gospel.

16 * * And as hee walked by the rell * Sea of Galilee, he saw Simon, and Andrew his brother, casting a net into the Sea, (for they were fishes.)

17 Then Iesus said vnto them, Follow me, * I will make you to be * fishes of men.

18 And straightway they forsooke their nets, and followed him.

19 And when hee had gone a litle further thence, hee saw James the sonne of Zebedeus, and Iohn his brother, as they were in the ship, mending their nets.

20 And anon hee called them : and they left their father Zebedeus in the ship with his hired seruants, and went their way after him.

21 * * So they entered into Capernaum, and straightway in the Sabbath day he entered into the Synagogue, and taught.

22 And they were astonied at his doctrine : * for hee taught them as one that had authoritie, and not as the Scribes.

23 * And there was in their Synagogue a man which had an vncleane spirit, and hee cryed, 24 Saying, Ah, what haue wee to doe with thee, O Iesus of Nazareth : Art thou come to destroy vs ? I know thee what thou art, euen that holy One of God.

25 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, * Hold thy peace, and come out of him.

26 And the vncleane spirit tare him, and cryed with a loud voyce, and came out of him.

27 And they were all amazed, so that they demanded one of another, saying, What thing is this : What new doctrine is this : for hee commandeth the foule spirits with authoritie, and they obey him.

28 And immediately his fame spread abroad throughout all the region bordering on Galilee.

29 * * And as soone as they were come out of the Synagogue, they entered into the house of Simon and Andrew, with James and Iohn.

30 And Simons wifes mother lay sick of a feuer, and anon they told him of her.

31 And he came and tooke her by the hand, and lift her vp, and the feuer forsooke her by and by, and she ministred vnto them.

32 And when euen was come, and the Sonne was downe, they brought to him all that were diseased, and them that were possessed with deuils.

33 And the whole cite was gathered together at the doore.

34 And hee healed many that were sicke of diuers diseases : and hee cast out many deuils, and * suffered not the deuils to say that they knew him.

35 And in the morning very early, * before day, Iesus arose and went out into a solitary place, and there prayed.

36 And Simon, and they that were with him, followed after him.

39 And hee preached in their Synagogues throughout all Galilee, and cast the devils out.

40 ¶ And there came al caper to him, beseeching him, and knelled downe unto him, and said to him, If thou wilt, thou canst make me cleane.

41 And Jesus had compassion, and put forth his hand, and touched him, and said to him, I will be thou cleane.

42 And alldoone as hee had spoken, immediately the leprosie departed from him, and he was made cleane.

43 And after hee had giuen him a strait commandement, he sent him away soothwith.

44 And said vnto him, See thou say nothing to any man, but get thee hence, and shew thy self to the Priest, and offer for thy cleansing those things which Moses commanded, for a testimoniall vnto them.

45 But when he was departed, he began to tell many things, and to publish the matter: so that Jesus' could no more openly enter into the citie, but was without in desert places: and they came to him from euery quarter.

CHAP. II.

3 He healeth the man of the palsey, 5 Hee forgiveth sinnes. 14 Hee calleth Lewi the custumer. 26 He eateth with sinners 28 Hee exorciseth his disciples, as teaching fasting, and keeping the Sabbath day.

After a few dayes hee entered into Capernaum againe, & it was noised that he was in the house.

2 And anon many gathered together, in so much that the places about the doore could not receive any more: and he preached the word vnto them.

3 And there came vnto him that brought one sicke of the palsey, borne of foure men.

4 And because they could not come neere vnto him for the multitude, they vncouered the rooffe of the house where hee was: and when they had broken it open, they let downe the bed whereon the sicke of the palsey lay.

5 Now when Jesus saw their faith, hee said to the sicke of the palsey, Sonne, thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

6 And there were certaine of the Scribes, sitting there, and reasoning in their hearts,

7 Why doeth this man speake such blasphemies? Who can forgive sinnes, but God onely?

8 And immediately when Jesus perceived in his Spirit, that thus they thought with themselves, hee said vnto them, Why reason ye these things in your hearts?

9 Whether is it easier to say to the sicke of the palsey, Thy sinnes are forgiven thee: or to say, Arise, and take up thy bed, and walke?

10 And that yee may know, that the Sonne of man hath authority in earth, to forgive sinnes, (he sayd vnto the sicke of the palsey)

11 I say vnto thee, Arise and take up thy bed, & get thee hence into thine owne house.

12 And by and by hee arose, & tooke up his bed, and went forth before them al, inuincing that they were all amazed, & glorified God, saying, We neuer saw such a thing.

13 ¶ Then hee went againe toward the sea, and all the people reioyced vnto him, and he taught them.

14 ¶ And as Jesus passed by, he saw Levi the sonne of Alphrus sit at the recter of a custom, and said vnto him, Follow me. And he arose and followed him.

15 ¶ And it came to passe, as Jesus sat at table in his house, many Publicanes and sinners sat at table alio with Jesus, and his disciples: for there were many that followed him.

16 And when the Scribes and Pharisees saw him eate with the Publicanes and sinners, they sayd vnto his disciples, How is it, that hee eateth and drinketh with Publicanes and sinners?

17 Now when Jesus heard it, he said vnto them, What whole have no need of the physician, but the sicke? I came not to call the righteous, but the sinners to repentance.

18 ¶ And the disciples of John and the Pharisees did fast, and came and said vnto him, Why doe the disciples of John and of the Pharisees fast, and thy disciples fast not?

19 And Jesus said vnto them, Can the children of the marriage chamber fast, whilst the bridegrome is with them? as long as they haue the bridegrome with them they cannot fast.

20 But the dayes will come, when the bridegrome shall be taken from them, and then shall they fast in those dayes.

21 Also no man seweth a piece of new cloth in an old garment: for els the new piece rakerh away the filling up from the old, and the breach is worse.

22 Likewise, no man putteth new wine into old vessels: for els the new wine breakeh the vessels, and the wine runneth out, and the vessels are lost: but new wine must be put into new vessels.

9 Then he said vnto them, Ye that haue eares to heare, let him heare.

10 And when he was alone, they that were about him with the twelue, asked him of the parable.

11 And he said vnto them, To you it is giuen to know the mysterye of the kingdome of God: but vnto them that are without,
all things be done in parables,

12 That they seeing, may see, and not discerne: and they hearing may heare, and not vnderstand, lest at any time they should turne, and their sinnes should bee forgiven
them.

13 Again he said vnto them, Perceiue ye not this parable? how then should ye understand all other parables?

14 The Sowre soweth the word.

15 And these are they that receive the seed by the wayes side, in whom the worde is sowne: but when they haue heard it, Satan cometh immediately, and taketh away the worde that was sowne in their hearts.

16 And likewise they that receive the seed in stony ground, are they, which when they haue heard the word, straightwayes receive it with gladnes.

17 Yet haue they no roote in themselves, and indure but a time: for when trouble and persecution ariseth for the word, immediatly they be offended.

18 Also they that receive the seed among the thornes, are such as heare the word:

19 But the cares of this world, and the deceitfulness of riches, and the lusts of other things enter in, and choke the word, and it is vnfruitfull.

20 But they that haue receiued seede in good ground, are they that heare the word, and receiue it, and bring forth fruite, one come thirty, another sixty, and some an hundred.

21 Also hee said vnto them, * If the candle lighted be put vnder a bushell, or vnder the table, and not to be put on a can-dlesicke?

22 * For there is nothing hid that shall not be opened: neither is there a secret, but that it shall come to light.

23 If any man haue eares to heare, let him heare.

24 And he said vnto them, Take heed what ye heare. * Altho what is measured ye receive, it shall bee measured vnto you:
and vnto you that heare, shall more bee gi-uen.

25 For vnto him that hath, shall it bee giuen, and from him that hath not, shall be taken away, euen that he hath.

26 Also he said, So is the kingdome of God, as if a man should cast seed in the ground,

27 And should sleep, and rise by night and day, and the seed should spring and grow vp, he not knowing how.

28 For the earth bringeth forth fruit of her selfe, first the blade, then the eares, after that, full come in the eares.

29 And alsoone as the fruit stremeth it selfe, anon he putteth in the sickle, because the harvest is come.

30 * He said moreover, Altho vnto
Mat. 13. 37.

comparison shall we compare it?

31 It is like a graine of mustard seede, which when it is sowne in the earth, is the least of all seedes that be in the earth:

32 But after that it is sowne, it groweth vp, and is greater of all herbes, and beareth great branches, so that the fowles of heauen may build vnder the shadow of it.

33 And with many such parables hee preached the word vnto them, as they were able to heare it.

34 And without parables spake hee nothing vnto them, but hee expounded all things to his disciples apart.

35 * Now the same day when euen was come, he said vnto them, Let vs passe ouer luke 8. 22. into the other side.

36 And they left the multitude, and tooke him as he was in the ship: and there were also with him other ships.

37 And there arose a great storme of wind and the waues dashed into the ship, so that it was now full.

38 And he was in the sterne asleepe on a pillow: and they awoke him, and sayd to him, Waite, carest thou not that we perish?

39 And he arose vp, and rebuked the wind, and said vnto the sea, Peace, and bee still. So the wind ceased, and it was a great calme.

40 Then he said vnto them, Why are ye so fearefull? how is it that ye haue no faith?

41 And they feared exceedingly, and sayd one to another, Who is this, that both the wind and sea obey him?

13 And incontinently Jesus gave them leave. Then the unclean spirits went out, and entered into the swine, and the herd ran headlong from the hill banke into the Sea, (and there were about two thousand swine) and they were drowned in the Sea.

14 And the swineherds fledde, and told it in the citie, and in the country, and they came out to see what it was that was done.

15 And they came to Jesus, and saw him that had bene possessed with the devill, and had the Legion, sit both clothed and in his right mind: and they were afraid.

16 And they that saw it, told them what was done to him that was possessed with the devill, and concerning the swine.

17 Then they began to pray him, that he would depart from their coasts.

18 And when he was come into the ship, he that had bene possessed with the devill, prayed him that he might be with him.

19 Howbeit Jesus would not suffer him, but sayd unto him, See thy way home to thy friends, and shew them what great things the Lord hath done unto thee, and how hee hath had compassion on thee.

20 So he departed, and began to publish in Decapolis, what great things Jesus had done unto him: and all men did marvelle.

21 ¶ And when Jesus was come over againe by shippe unto the other side, a great multitude gathered to him, and hee was nere unto the Sea.

22 ¶ And behold there came one of the rulers of the Synagogue, whose name was Jairus: and when he saw him, he fell downe at his feet, 28 For he sayd, If I may but touch his clothes, I shall be whole.

29 And straightway the course of her blood was dried up, and she felt in her body, that she was healed of that plague.

30 And immediately when Jesus did knowe in himselfe the vertue that went out of him, hee turned him round about in the presseth, and said, Who hath touched my clothes?

31 And his disciples said unto him, Thou seest it the multitude thronged thee, and sayest thou, Who did touch me?

32 And hee looked round about, to see her that had done that.

33 And the woman feared and trembled; for she knew what was done in her, and shee came and fell down before him, and told him the whole truth.

34 And he said to her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole: goe in peace, and bee whole of thy plague.)

35 While he yet spake, there came from the same Ruler of the Synagogues house, certaine which said, Thy daughter is dead: why dost thou trouble the Master any further?

36 Assoone as Jesus heard that worde spoken, he said unto the ruler of the Synagogue, Be not afraid: onely believe.

37 And he suffered no man to follow him, save Peter, and James, and John the brother of James.

38 So he came unto the house of the ruler of the Synagogue, and saw the tumult, and them that wept, and wailed greatly.

39 And he went in, and layd unto them, Why make ye this rowle, and weep? the child is not dead, but sleepeth.

40 And they laughed him to scorne: but he put them all out, and tooke the father, and the mother of the child, and the child that were with him, and entered in where the child lay,

41 And tooke the child by the hand, and said unto her, Talitha cumi, which is by interpretation, Waken, I say unto thee, Arise.

5 Then asked him the Pharisees and Scribes, Why walke not thy disciples according to the tradition of the Elders, but eat || meate with vnuualwen hands?

6 Then he answered and said vnto them Sincerely * Elsay hath prophesied well of you hypocrites, as it is written, This people honoureth me with their * lips, but their heart is farre away from me.

7 But they worship mee in vaine, teaching for doctrine the * commaundements of men.

8 For ye lay the commandement of God apart, and obserue the tradition of men, as the washing of pots and cups, and many other such like things ye doe.

9 And he sayd vnto them, Well, ye reiect the commandement of God, that ye may obserue your owne tradition.

10 For Moses said, * Honour thy father and thy mother: and, * Whosoever shall curse father and mother, let him die the death.

11 But ye say, If a man say to father or mother, Corban, that is, By the gift that is offered by me, thou mayest haue profit, he shall be free.

12 So ye suffer him no more to doe any thing for his father, or his mother.

13 Making the word of God of none authority, by your tradition which ye haue ordained: and ye doe many such like things.

14 ¶ Then he called the whole multitude vnto him, and said vnto them, * Hearken you all vnto me, and vnderstand.

15 There is nothing without a man, that can defile him, when it entereth into him: but the things which procede out of him, are they which defile the man.

16 If any haue eares to heare, let him heare.

17 And when he came into an house away from the people, his disciples asked him concerning the parable.

18 And he sayd vnto them, ¶ What are ye without vnderstanding also? Doe ye not know that whatsoeuer cometh from without entereth into a man, cannot defile him.

19 Because it entereth not into his heart, but into the billey, and goeth out into the draught, which is the purging of all uncaris?

20 Then he said, ¶ What which cometh out of man, that defileth man.

21 ¶ For from within, even out of the heart of man procede euill thoughts, adulteries, fornications, murders,

26 (And the woman was a Greeke, a Syrophonitian by nation) and the beloughe him that he would cast out the deuill out of her daughter.

27 But Iesus saide vnto her, Let the childrens first bee fed: for it is not good to take the childrens bread, and to cast it vnto whelpes.

28 Then he answered, & said vnto him, Truth, Lord: yet indeed the whelpes eate vnder the table, of the childrens crumbs.

31 ¶ And hee departed againe from the coasts of Tyus and Sidon, and came vnto the sea of Galilee, through the middes of the coasts of Decapolis.

33 Then hee tooke him aside from the multitude, and did spit, and touched his eares, and did spit, and touched his tongue.

34 And looking vnto heauen, hee sighed, and said vnto him, Ephatha, that is, Be opened.

35 And straightway his eares were opened, and the string of his tongue was loosed, and he spake plaine.

36 And hee commanded them, that they should tell no man: but how much sooner hee forbade them, the more a great deale they published it.

3 The miracle of the seven loaves, 11 The Pharisees aske a signe, 15 The leauen of the Pharisees, 23 The blind receiveth his sight, 29 How was known of his disciples, 33 How reprehenseth Peter, 34 and sheweth how necessary perfection is.

¶ I chose dayes, when there was a very great multitude, and had nothing to eate, Iesus called his disciples to him, and saide vnto them,

2 I haue compassion on the multitude, because they haue now continued with mee three dayes, and haue nothing to eate.

3 And if I send them away fasting to their owne houses, they would faint by the way: for some of them came from farre.

4 Then his Disciples answered him, ¶ How can a man satise these with bread here in the wilderness?

5 And he asked them, How many loaves haue ye? And they said, Seven.

6 Then hee commanded the multitude to sit downe on the ground: and he tooke the seven loaves, and gaue thanks, brake them, and gaue to his disciples to set before them, and they did set them before the people.

7 They had also a few small fishes, and when he had giuen thanks, hee commanded them also to be set before them.

8 So they did eat, and were sufficed, and they tooke vp of the broken meate that was left, seven baskets full.

9 (And they that had eaten, were about foure thousand) so he sent them away.

10 ¶ And anon hee entered into a ship, with his disciples, and came into the parts of Dalmanurtha.

11 ¶ And the Pharisees came forth, and began to dispute with him, seeking of him a signe from heauen, and tempting him.

12 Then hee sighed deeply in his spirit, and said, Why dooeth this generation seeke a signe? verily I say vnto you, ¶ a signe shall not be giuen vnto this generation.

13 ¶ So he left them, and went into the ship againe, and departed to the other side.

14 ¶ And they had forgotten to take bread, neither had they in the ship with them but one loaf.

15 And hee charged them, saying, Take heed, and beware of the leauen of the Pharisees, and of the leauen of Herod.

16 And they thought among themselves, saying, It is because we haue no bread.

17 And when Iesus knew it, hee sayd vnto them, Why reason you thus because ye haue no bread? perceive ye not yet, neither vnderstand? haue ye your hearts yet hardened?

18 Haue ye eyes and see not? and haue ye eares and heare not? doe ye not remember?

19 ¶ When I brake the five loaves among five thousand, how many baskets full of broken meate tooke ye by? they said vnto him, Twelue.

20 And when I brake seven among foure thousand, how many baskets of the leauings of broken meate tooke ye by? and they sayd, Seven.

21 Then hee sayd vnto them, ¶ How is it that ye vnderstand not?

22 ¶ And he came to Bethsaida, and they brought a blind man vnto him, and desired him to touch him.

23 Then hee tooke the blind by the hand, and led him out of the towne, and spit in his eyes, and put his hands vpon him, and asked him if hee saw ought.

24 And hee looked vp, and said, I see men: for I see them walking like trees.

25 A fter that hee put his hands againe vpon his eyes, and made him looke againe. And hee was restored to his sight, and saw every man as hee off clearly.

26 And hee sent him home to his house, saying, Neither goe into the towne, nor tell it to any in the towne.

27 ¶ And Iesus went out, and his disciples, into the towne of Celarea. ¶ And by the way hee asked his disciples, saying vnto them, Whom doo men say that I am?

33 The disposition who should be the greatest, 38 Not to hinder the course of the Gospel, 42 Offences are forbidden.

And hee said unto them, Verily I say unto you, that there be some of them that stand here, which shall not taste of death till they have seene the kingdom of God come with power.

2 And six dayes after, Jesus tooke Peter, and James, and John, and brought them by into an high mountaine out of the way alone, and he was transfigured before them.

3 And his raiment did shine, and was very white as snow, so white as no fuller can make bypon the earth.

4 And there appeared unto them Elias with Moses, and they were talking with Jesus.

5 Then Peter answered and said to Jesus, Master, it is good for vs to be here: let vs make also three tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias.

6 ¶ Yet he knew not what hee said: for they were asleepe.

7 And there was a cloude that shadowed them, and a voyce came out of the cloude, saying, This is my beloued Sonne: heare him.

8 And suddenly they looked round about, and saw no more any man save Jesus onely with them.

9 And as they came downe from the mountaine, he charged them that they should tell no man what they had seene, save when the Sonne of man were risen from the dead againe.

10 So they kept that matter to themselves, as he demanded one of another, what he rising from the dead againe should meane.

11 And they asked him, saying, Why say the Scribes, that Elias must first come?

12 And hee answered and said unto them, Elias verily shall first come, and restore all things: and as it is written of the Sonne of man, he must suffer many things, and be set at naught.

13 But I say unto you, that Elias is come, and they have done unto him whatsoever they would: as it is written of them.

14 ¶ And when hee came to his disciples, hee saw a great multitude about them, and the Scribes disputing with them.

15 And straightway all the people, when they beheld him, were amazed, and ranne to him, and saluted him.

16 Then hee asked the Scribes, What dispute you among your selves?

17 And one of the company answered, and sayd, Master, I have brought my sonne unto thee, which hath a dumb spirit.

18 And wheresoever hee taketh him, hee teareth him, and hee foameth, and gnaweth his teeth, and pineth away: and I spake to thy disciples, that they should cast him out, and they could not.

19 Then he answered him, and sayd, O faithlesse generation, how long now shall I bee with you? How long now shall I suffer you? bring him unto me.

20 So they brought him unto him: and as soon as the spirit saw him, hee rare him, and he fell down on the ground, wallowing and foaming.

21 Then he asked his father, How long time is it since hee hath bene thus? And hee said, of a child.

22 And oft times hee casteth him into the fire, and into the water to destroy him: but if thou canst doe any thing, helpe vs, and haue compassion vpon vs.

23 And Jesus said unto him, If thou canst beleue it, all things are possible to him that beleueth.

24 And straightway the father of the child crying with teares, sayd, Lord, I beleue: helpe my vnbeleefe.

25 Then Jesus said that the people came running together, hee rebuked the vnleane spirit, saying unto him, Thou dunbe & deafe spirit, I charge thee, come out of him, and enter no more into him.

38 ¶ Then Iohn answered him saying, Master, wee saw one casting out devils by thy name, which followed not vs, and wee forbade him, because hee followeth vs not.

39 But Iesus said, Forbid him not: for there is no man that can doe a // miracle by my name, that can lightly speake euill of mee.

3 And he answered, and sayd vnto them, What did Moses command you?

4 And they sayd, Moses suffered to write a bill of diuorcement, and to put her away.

5 ¶ Then Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, For the hardnesse of your heart hee wrote this precept vnto you.

6 But at the beginning of the creation God made them male and female.

7 For this cause shall man leaue his father and mother and cleaue vnto his wife.

8 And they twaine shall bee one flesh: so that they are no more twaine, but one flesh.

9 ¶ Therefore what God hath coupled together, let no man separate.

10 And in the house his Disciples asked him againe of that matter.

followed, they were afraid, and Iesus tooke
the twelue againe, and began to tell them what things should come vnto him.

33 Saying, Behold, we goe by to Ierusalem, and the Sonne of man shall be deli-uered vnto the high priests, and to the scribes, and they shall condemne him to death, and shall deliuer him to the Gentiles.

34 And they shall mocke him, & scourge him, and spit vpon him, and kill him: but the third day he shall rise againe.

35¶ Then James and John the sons of Zebedee came vnto him, saying, Master, we would that thou shouldst doe for vs that thou wilt desire.

36 And he sayd vnto them, What would ye I should doe for you?

37 And they sayd vnto him, Grant vnto vs, that we may sit one at thy right hand, and the other at thy left hand in thy glory.

38 But Iesus sayd vnto them, Ye know not what ye aske. Can ye* drinke of the cup that I shall drinke of, and bee baptized with the baptisme that I shall bee baptized with?

39 And they sayd vnto him, We can. But Iesus said vnto them, Ye shall drinke indeed of the cup that I shall drinke of, and be baptized with the baptisme wherewith I shall bee baptized:

40 But to sit at my right hand, and at my left, is not* mine to giue, but it shall be giuen to them for whom it is prepared.

41 And when they heard that, they began to dispute at James and John.

42 But Iesus called them vnto him, and sayd to them, * Ye know that they which delight to beare rule among the Gentiles, haue domination ouer them, and they that be great among them, exercise authoritie ou-er them.

43 But it shall* not bee so among you:
but whosoever will be great among you, shall be your seruant.

44 And whosoever will be chiefe of you, shall be the seruant of all.

45 For euen the Sonne of man came not to be serued, but to serue, and to giue his life for the ranfome of many.

46¶ Then they came to Iericho: and as he went out of Iericho with his disciples and a great multitude, Bartimeus the son of Timeus, a blind man, sat by the way side begging.

47 And when he heard that it was Iesus of Nazareth, he began to cry and to say, Iesus
the sonne of Dauid haue mercy on mee.

48 And many rebuked him, because hee shoud hold his peace: but hee* cryed much more, O Sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on mee.

49 Then Iesus stood still, and commanded him to bee called: and they called the blind, saying vnto him, Bee of good comfort arise, he callith thee.

50 So he threw away his cloke, and rose and came to Iesus.

51 And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto him, What wilt thou that I doe vnto thee?
And the blind said vnto him, Lord, that I may receiue sight.

52 Then Iesus sayd vnto him, Go thy way: thy faith hath saved thee. And by answer he receiued his sight, and followed Iesus in the way.

3 But they took him, and beat him, and sent him away empty.

4 And again, he sent unto them another servant, and at him they cast stones, and brake his head, and sent him away shamefully handled.

5 And again he sent another, and him they flew, and in many other, beating some, and killing some.

6 Per had hee one sonne, his deare beloved: him also he sent the last unto them, saying, They will reverence my sonne.

7 But the husbandmen said among themselves, This is the heire: come, let vs kill him, and the inheritance shall be ours.

8 So they took him, and killed him, and cast him out of the vineyard.

9 What shall then the Lord of the vineyard doe? Hee will come and destroy these husbandmen, and giue the vineyard to others.

10 Waire ye not read so much as this scripture? The stone which the builders did refuse, is made the head of the corner?

11 This was done of the Lord, and it is marvellous in our eyes.

12 Then they went about to take him, but they feared the people: for they perceived that he spake thus parable against them: therefore they left him, and went their way.

13 ¶ And they sent unto him certaine of the Pharisees, and of the Herodians, that they might take him in his talke.

14 And when they came, they say unto him, Master, wee know that thou art true, and carest for no man: for thou considerest not the person of men, but teachest the way of God truly. Is it lawfull to giue tribute to Celsar, or not?

15 Should wee giue it, or should wee not giue it? But he knew their hypocritie, and said unto them, Why tempt ye me? Bring me a penny, that I may see it.

16 So they brought it, and hee said unto them, Whose is this image and superscription? And they said unto him, Celsars.

17 Then Iesus answered, and said unto them, Give to Celsar the things that are Celsars, and to God, those that are Gods: and they marvelled at him.

18 ¶ Then came the Sadduces unto him (which say there is no resurrection) and they asked him, saying,

19 Master, Moses wrote unto vs, If any mans brother die, and leaue his wife, and leaue no child: then, that his brother should take his wife, and raise up seed unto his brother.

20 There were seven brethren, & the first tooke a wife, and when he died, left no issue:

21 Then the second tooke her, and hee died, neither did hee yet leaue issue, and the third likewise.

22 So seven had her, and left no issue: last of all the wife died also.

23 In the resurrection then, when they shall rise againe, whose wife shall shee be of them? for seven had her to wife.

24 Then Iesus answered, and said unto them, Are ye not therefore deceived, because ye know not the Scriptures, neither the power of God?

25 For when they shall rise againe from the dead, neither men marrie, nor women are married, but are as the Angels which are in heauen.

26 And as touching the dead, that they shall rise againe, haue ye not read in the booke of Moses, how in the bush God spake unto him, saying, I am the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob?

27 He is not the God of the dead, but the God of the living. Ye are therefore greatly deceived.

28 ¶ Then came one of the Scribes, that had heard them disputing together, and perceiving that he had answered them well, he asked him, Which is the first commandment of all?

29 Iesus answered him, The first of all the commandments is, heare Israel, the Lord our God is the only Lord.

30 Thou shalt therefore love the Lord thy God, with all thine heart, and with all thy soule, & with all thy minde, and with all thy strength: this is the first commandment.

31 And the second is like this, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thy selfe. There is none other commandment greater then these.

32 Then the Scribe said unto him, Master, thou hast said the truth, for there is one God, and that there is none but he.

33 And to love him with all the heart, and with all the understanding, and with all the soule, and with all the strength, and to love his neighbour as himselfe, is more then all burnt offerings and sacrifices.

34 Then when Iesus saw that hee answered discretely, hee said unto him, Thou art not farre from the kingdom of God. And no man after that durst aske him any question.

35 ¶ And Iesus answered, and said, teaching in the Temple, how say the Scribes that Christ is the sonne of David?

36 For David himselfe said by the holy Ghost, The Lord said to my Lord, Sit at my right hand, till I make thine enemies thy footstool.

37 Then Dauid himselfe calleth him Lord: by what meanes is he then his sonne? and much people heard him gladly.

38 ¶ Moreover he said unto them in his doctrine, Beware of the Scribes, which loue to goe in long robes, and loue salutations in the markets.

39 And the chiefe seates in the Synagogues, and the best roomes at feasts.

40 Which denoure widows houses, when vnder a colour of long prayers. These shall receive the greater damnation.

41 ¶ And as Iesus sat out against the treasure, hee beheld how the people cast money into the treasure, and many rich men cast in much.

42 And there came a certaine poore widow, and shee threw in two mites, which make a quadrin.

43 Then hee called unto him his Disciples, and said unto them, Verily I say unto

F 3 The destruction of Ierusalem. 10 The Gospel shall be preached to all. 33 The persecution and false prophets which shall bee before the coming of Christ, whose house Ierusalem shall be. 33 Hot exhorteth every one to watch.

And as he went out of the Temple, one of his disciples said unto him, Master, see what stones and what buildings are here.

2 Then Jesus answered and said unto him, Seest thou these great buildings? there shall not be left one stone upon a stone, that shall not be thrown down.

3 And as he sat on the mount of Olives, over against the Temple, Peter, and James and John, and Andrew asked him secretly,

4 Tell us when shall these things be, and what shall be the signe when all these things shall be fulfilled.

5 And Jesus answered them, and began to say, Take heed lest any man deceive you.

6 For many shall come in my Name, saying, I am Christ, and shall deceive many.

7 Furthermore, when ye shall heare of warres, and rumours of warres, be ye not troubled: for such things must needs be: but the end shall not be yet.

8 For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdome against kingdome, and there shall be earthquakes in divers quarters: & there shall be famine and troubles: these are the beginnings of sorowes.

9 But take heed to your selves: for they shall deliver you up to the Councils, & to the Synagogues: ye shall be beaten, and brought before rulers and kings for my sake, for a testimoniall unto them.

10 And the Gospel must first be published among all nations.

11 But when they lead you and deliver you up, take ye no thought afoze, neither premeditate what ye shall say: but whatsoever is given you at the same time, that speake: for it is not ye that speake, but the holy Ghost.

12 Yea, and the brother shall deliver the brother to death, and the father the sonne, and the children shall rise against their parents, and shall cause them to die.

13 And ye shall be hated of all men for my Names sake: but whosoever shall endure unto the end he shall be saved.

14 Whosoever when ye shall see the abomination of desolation (spoken of by Daniel the Prophet) standing where it ought not (let him that readeth consider it) then let them that bee in Judea, flee into the mountaines.

15 And let him that is upon the house, not come downe into the house, neither enter therein to fetch any thing out of his house.

16 And let him that is in the field, not turne backe againe unto the clothes which he leaveth behind him, to take his clothes.

17 When ye shall see to them that are with children, and to them that give sucke in those dayes.

18 Pray therefore that your flight bee not in the winter.

19 For there shall bee in those dayes such tribulation, as was not from the beginning of the creation which God created, unto this time, neither shall be.

20 And except that the Lord had shortened those dayes, no flesh should be saved:
but for the elects sake, which he hath chosen he hath shortened those dayes.

21 Then if any man say to you, Lo, here is Christ, or Lo, he is there, beware it not.

22 For false Christs shall rise, and false prophets, and shall shew signes and wonders to deceive, if it were possible, the very elect.

23 But take ye heede: behold, I have shewed you all things before.

24 Whosoever in those dayes, after that tribulation the Sonne shall waite dark, and the Moone shall not give her light.

25 And the stars of heaven shall fall: and the powers which are in heaven shall shake.

26 And then shall they see the Sonne of man coming in the cloudes, with great power and glory.

27 And hee shall then send his Angels, and shall gather together his elect from the four windes, and from the remotest part of the earth, to the remotest part of heaven.

28 Now learne a parable of the fig tree.
When her bough is yet tender, and it bringeth forth leaves, ye know that Summer is nere.

29 So in like manner, when ye see these things come to passe, know that the kingdome of God is nere, even at the doores.

30 Verily I say unto you, that this generation shall not passe, till all these things be done.

31 Heaven and earth shall passe away, but my words shall not passe away.

32 But of that day & houre knoweth no man, no, nor the Angels which are in heaven, neither the Sonne himselfe, save the Father.

33 Take heede: watch, and pray: for ye know not when the time is.

34 For the Sonne of man is as a man going into a strange countrey, & leaveth his house, and giveth authority to his servants, and to every man his work, and commandeth the porter to watch.

35 Watch therefore, (for ye know not when the Master of the house will come, at even, or at midnight, or at the cocke crowing, or in the dawning.)

36 Lest if he come suddenly, hee should find you sleeping.

37 And these things that I say unto you,
I say unto all men, Watch.

might take him by craft, & put him to death.
But they said, Not in the feast day, lest there be any tumult among the people.

3 And when he was in Bethania, in the house of Simon the leper, as he sat at table, there came a woman hauing a boere of oymnt
of || Spikenard very costly, and she brake
the boere, and powdered it on his head.

4 Therefore some diddained among themselves, and said, To what end is this waste of oymnt?

5 For it might haue bene sold for moze then three hundred pence, & been giue vnto the poore, and they grudged against her.

6 But Iesus said, Let her alone: why trouble ye her? shee hath wrought a good worke on me.

7 For ye haue the poore with you alwayes, and when ye will ye may doe them good, but me ye shall not haue alwayes.

8 Shee hath done that she could: she came aforeshand to anoint my body to the burying.

9 Clerely I say vnto you, Wheresoener this Gospele shall be preached throughout the whole world, this also that shee hath done, shall be spoken of in remembrance of her.

10 ¶ Then Iudas Iscariot one of the twelue, went away vnto the hie Priests to betray him vnto them.

11 And when they heard it, they were glad, and promised that they would giue him money: & therefore he sought how he might conueniently betray him.

12 ¶ Now the first day of vncleanened bread, when they sacrificed the Passouer, his disciples said vnto him, Where wilt thou that we go, and prepare, that thou mayest eat the Passouer?

13 Then he sent forth two of his disciples and sayd vnto them, Go ye into the city, and there shall a man meet you, bearing a picher of water: follow him.

14 And whithersoener he goeth in, say ye to the Goodman of the house, The Master sayeth, Where is the lodging where I shall eat the Passouer with my disciples?

15 And he will shew you an upper chamber which is large, furnished and prepared:
there make it ready for vs.

16 So his disciples went forth, and came to the city, & found as he had sayd vnto them and made ready the Passouer.

17 ¶ And at euening he came with the twelue.

18 ¶ And as they late at table and did eat, Iesus sayd, Clerely I say vnto you, that one of you shall betray mee, which eateth with mee.

19 Then they began to be sorrowfull, and to say to him one by one, Is it I? and another, Is it I?

20 And he answere, and sayd vnto them,
It is one of the twelue that eate with me in the platter.

21 ¶ Surely the Sonne of man goeth his way, as it is written of him: but woe be to that man by whom the Sonne of man is betrayed: it had been good for that man, if he had neuer been borne.

22 ¶ And as they did eat, Iesus tooke the bread, and when he had giuen thanks, hee broke it and gaue it to them, and said, Take care, this is my body.

23 Also he tooke the cup, and when he had giuen thanks, gaue it to them: and they all dranke of it.

24 And hee sayd vnto them, This is my blood of the New Testament, which is shed for many.

25 Clerely I say vnto you, I will drinke no more of the fruit of the Vine, vntill that day that I drinke it new in the kingdome of God.

26 And when they had sung a Psalm,
they went out to the mount of Olues.

27 ¶ Then Iesus said vnto them, All ye shall be offended by me this night: for it is written, I will smite the Shephard, and the sheepe shall be scattered.

28 Woe after that I am risen I will goe into Galilee before you.

29 And Peter sayd vnto him, Although all men should be offended, yet would not I.

30 Then Iesus sayd vnto him, Clerely I say vnto thee, this day, when in this night, before the cocke crow twise, thou shalt denie me thrise.

31 But he said moze earnestly, If I should die with thee, I will not denie thee: likewise also said they all.

32 ¶ After, they came into a place named Gethsemane: then hee said to his disciples, Sit ye here till I haue prayed.

33 And hee tooke with him Peter, and James, and Iohn, & he began to bee afraid, and in great heavinesse.

34 And he said vnto them, My soule is very heauie, euen vnto the death: tarrye here and watch.

35 So hee went forward a litle, and fell downe on the ground, and prayed, that if it were possible, that houre might passe from him.

36 And he said, Abba, Father, all things are possible vnto thee: take away this cup from me: neuertheless, not that I will, but that thou wilt, be done.

37 Then he came & found them sleeping, and sayd to Peter, Simon, sleepest thou?
couldst not thou watch one houre?

38 ¶ Watch ye, and pray, that ye enter not into tentation: the spirit is in deede is readie, but the flesh is weak.

39 And againe hee went away, and prayed, and spake the same words.

40 And hee returned, and found them asleep againe: for their eyes were heavy: neither knew they what they should answer
him.

41 And hee came the third time, and said vnto them, Sleep henceforth, and take your rest: it is enough: the houre is come:
behold, the Sonne of man is deliuered into the hands of sinners.

42 Rise vp: let vs goe: loe, he that betray-eth me, is at hand.

43 ¶ And immediately while he yet spake, came Iudas that was one of the twelue, and 45 And as soone as he was come, he went straightway to him, and sayd, Peace, Peace, and kisted him.

46 Then they layd their hands on him, and tooke him.

47 And one of them that stood by drew out a sword, and smote a servant of the high Priestes, and cut off his eare.

48 And Iesus answered and sayd unto them, Per he come out as unto a thiefe with swords and with staves to take me.

49 I was dayly with you teaching in the Temple, and ye took me not: but this is done that the Scriptures shoulde be fulfilled.

50 Then they all forooke him and fled.

51 And there followed him a certaine young man, clothed in linnen upon his bare body, and the young men caught him.

52 But he left his linnen cloth, and fled from them naked.

53 So they led Iesus away to the high Priestes, and to him came all the high Priestes, and the Elders, and the Scribes.

54 And Peter followed him a farre off, even into the hall of the high Priestes, and sat with the servants, and warmed himself at the fire.

55 And the high Priestes and all the Counsell sought for witness against Iesus, to put him to death, but found none.

56 For many bare false witness against him, but their witness agreed not together.

57 Then there arose certaine, and bare false witness against him, saying,

58 We heard him say, I will destroy this Temple made with hands, and within three dayes I will build another, made without hands.

59 But their witness yet agreed not together.

60 Then the high Priest stood up amongst them, and asked Iesus, saying, Answerest thou nothing? What is the matter that these bear witness against thee?

61 But he held his peace, and answered nothing. Again the high Priest asked him, and sayd unto him, Art thou Chrest the Sonne of the Blessed?

62 And Iesus sayd, I am hee, and yee shall see the Sonne of man sit at the right hand of the power of God, and come in the cloudes of heauen.

63 Then the high Priest rent his clothes, and said, What have we any more neede of witnesses?

64 We have heard the blasphemie: what thinke ye? And they all condemned him to be worthy of death.

65 And some began to spit at him, and to cover his face, and to beate him with fists, and to say unto him, Prophesie. And they keregeants smote him with their rods.

66 And as Peter was beneath in the hall, there came one of the majores of the high Priest.

67 And when he saw Peter warming himselfe, hee looked on him, and said, Thou wast also with Iesus of Nazaret.

68 But he denied it, saying, I knowe him not, neither see I what thou sayest. Then he went out into the porch, and the cocke crew.

69 Then a maide saw him againe, and began to say to them that stood by, This is one of them.

70 But hee denied it againe: and anon after they that stood by, sayd againe to Peter, Surely thou art one of them: for thou art of Galilee, and thy speech is like.

71 And hee began to curse and swear, saying, I knowe not this man of whom yee speake.

72 Then the second time the Cocke crew, and Peter remembered the word that Iesus had said unto him, Before the cocke crow twice, thou shalt denie mee twice, and he weigthing that with himselfe, he wept.

CHAP. XV.

1 Iesus is led to Pilate. 15 He is condemned, reviled, and put to death, 46 and is buried by Joseph.

And anon in the dawning, the high Priestes held a Councell with the Elders, and the Scribes, and the whole counsell, and bound Iesus, and led him away, and delivered him to Pilate.

2 Then Pilate asked him, Art thou the king of the Iewes? And hee answered, and said unto him, Thou sayest it.

3 And the high Priestes accused him of many things.

4 And therefore Pilate asked him againe, saying, Answerest thou nothing? behold how many things they witness against thee.

5 But Iesus answered, no more at all, so that Pilate marvelled.

6 Now at the feast Pilate wold deliver a prisoner unto them, whomsoever they would desire.

7 Then there was one named Barabhas, which was bound with his fellows, that had made insurrection, who in the insurrection had committed murder.

8 And the people cryed aloud, and began to desire that hee would doe as her had: such done unto them.

9 Then Pilate answered them, and sayd, Will yee that I let loose unto you the King of the Iewes?

10 For he knew that the high Priestes had delivered him of envy.

11 But the high Priestes had moved the people to desire that hee would rather deliver Barabhas unto them.

12 And Pilate answered, and sayd againe unto them, What will ye then that I doe with him, whom yee call the King of the Iewes?

13 And they cryed againe, Crucifie him.

14 Then Pilate sayd unto them, What will ye then that I doe with him? And they cryed the more frequently, Crucifie him.

15 So Pilate willing to content the people, people looked upon Barabbas, and desired Jesus when he had scourged him, that he might be crucified.

16 Then the soldiers led him away into the hall, which is the common hall, and called together the whole band.

17 And clad him with purple, and platted a crown of thornes, and put it about his head.

18 And began to salute him, saying, Hail, King of the Jewes.

19 And they smote him on the head with a staffe, and spat upon him, and bowed the knees, and did him reverence.

20 And when they had mocked him, they took the purple off him, and put his owne clothes on him, and led him out to crucifie him.

21 And they compelled one that passed by called Simon of Cyrene (which came out of the country, and was father of Alexander and Rufus) to beare his crosse.

22 And they brought him to a place named Golgotha, which is by interpretation, the place of dead mens skulls.

23 And they gave him to drinke wine mingled with myrrour: but he refused it not.

24 And when they had crucified him, they parted his garments, casting lots for them, what every man should have.

25 And it was the chiefe houre when they crucified him.

26 And the title of his cause was written above, THE KING OF THE JEWES.

27 They crucified also with him two thieves, the one on the right hand, and the other on his left.

28 Thus the Scripture was fulfilled, which saith, And he was counted among the wicked.

29 And they that went by, called on him, wagging their heads, and saying, He that destroyeth the Temple, and buildeth it in three dayes, 30 Save thy selfe, and come downe from the crosse.

31 Likewise also even the high Priestes mocking, said among themselves with the Scribes, He saved other men, himselfe hee cannot save.

32 Let Christ the King of Israel now come downe from the crosse, that wee may see, and beleefe. They also that were crucified with him, crucified him.

33 At now when the first houre was come, darkness came over all the land until the ninth houre.

34 And at the ninth houre Jesus cryed with a loud voyce, saying, Eli, Eli, lama sabachthani: which by interpretation, My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken mee?

35 And some of them that stood by, when they heard it, said, Behold, he callith Elias.

36 And one ran, and filled a sponge full of vinegar, and put it on a reede, and gave him to drinke, saying, Let him alone: let us see if Elias will come and take him downe.

37 And Jesus cryed with a loud voyce, and gave up the ghost.

38 And the vail of the Temple was rent in twaine, from the top to the bottom.

39 Now when the Centurion, which stood out against him, saw that he thus crying gave up the ghost, he said, Truly this man was the Sonne of God.

40 There were also women, which beheld a farre off, among whom was Marie Magdalene, & Marie (the mother of James the lesse, and of Ioses) and Salome, 41 Which also when hee was in Galilee, followed him, and ministered unto him, and many other women which came up with him unto Jerusalem.

42 And now when night was come, (because it was the day of the preparation, that is before the Sabbath)

43 Ioseph of Arimathea, an honourable Counsellour, which also looked for the kingdom of God, came, and went in boldly unto Pilate, and asked the body of Jesus.

44 And Pilate marvelled if hee were already dead, and called unto him the Centurion, and asked of him whether hee had bene any while dead.

45 And when hee knew the truth of the Centurion, he gave the body to Ioseph.

46 Who bought a linnen cloth, and tooke him downe, and wrapped him in the linnen cloth, and layed him in a tombe that was betweene out of a rocke, and rolled a stone unto the doore of the sepulchre.

47 And Marie Magdalene, and Marie Iosephs mother beheld where he should be laid.

And when the Sabbath day was past, Marie Magdalene, and Marie the mother of James, and Salome, bought sweete oymments: that they might come, and embalme him.

2 Therefore early in the morning, the first day of the weeke, they came unto the sepulchre, when the Sunne was yet rising.

3 And they sayd one to another, Altho shall roll away the stone from the doore of the sepulchre?

4 And when they looked, they saw that the stone was rolled away (for it was a very great one.)

5 So they went into the sepulchre, and saw a young man sitting at the right side clothed in a long white robe: and they were affraid.

6 But he said unto them, Be not affraid: see Iesus of Nazareth, which hath bene crucified: he is risen: he is not here: behold the place where they put him.

7 But go your way, and tell his disciples, and Peter, that he will go before you into Galilee, there shall ye see him: as he said unto you.

8 And they went out quickly, and fled from the sepulchre: for they trembled, and were amazed: neither sayd they any thing to any man: for they were affraid.

CHAP. I.

5 Of Zacharias & Elisabeth. 11 The Angel sheweth him of the nativity of Iohn Baptist. 30 His incredulity is punished. 38 The talke of the Angel and Mary. 46 Her song. 57 The birth, circumcision, and grace of Iohn. 68 Zacharias giveth thanks to God, and prophesieth.

As much as many have taken in hand to set forth the story of these things, whereof we are fully persuaded,

2 As they have delivered them unto us, which from the beginning saw them their lives, and were ministers of the word,

3 It seemed good also to me (most noble Theophilus) as soon as I had searched out perfectly all things from the beginning, to write unto thee thereof from point to point.

4 That thou mightest acknowledge the certainty of those things, whereof thou hast been instructed.

5 It was the time of Herod king of Iudea, there was a certaine Priest named Zacharias, of the course of Abia: and his wife was of the daughters of Aaron, and her name was Elisabeth.

6 Both were just before God, and walked in all the commandments and ordinances of the Lord, without reproche.

7 And they had no child, because that Elisabeth was barren: and both were well stricken in age.

8 And it came to passe, as he presented the priests office before God, as his course came in order,

9 According to the custom of the Priests office, his lot was to burne incense, when he went into the Temple of the Lord.

10 And the whole multitude of the people were without in prayer, while the incense was burning.

11 Then appeared unto him an Angel of the Lord standing at the right side of the altar of incense.

12 And when Zacharias saw him, he was troubled, and feare fell upon him.

13 But the Angel said unto him, Feare not, Zacharias: for thy prayer is heard, and thy wife Elisabeth shall beare thee a sonne, and thou shalt call his name John.

14 And thou shalt have joy and gladnes, and many shall reioyce at his birth.

15 For hee shall be great in the sight of the Lord, he shall neither drinke wine nor strong drinke: and hee shall be filled with the holy Ghost, even from his mothers wombe.

16 And many of the children of Israel shall be turned to their Lord God.

17 For he shall goe before him in the spirit and power of Elias, to turne the hearts of the fathers to the children, and the disobedient to the wisdom of the just men, to make ready a people prepared for the Lord.

18 Then Zacharias said unto the Angel, whereby shall I know this? for I am an old man, and my wife is of a great age.

19 And the Angel answered, and said unto him, I am Gabriel, that stand in the presence of God, and am sent to speak unto thee, and to shew thee these good tidings.

20 And behold, thou shalt be dumb, and not be able to speake, untill the day that these things be done, because thou believest not my words, which shall be fulfilled in their season.

i The Temple

was divided into three parts: the first was the body of the Temple called Atrium, where the people were: the second called Sanctum, where the Priests and Levites were: and the third Sanctum Sanctorum, into the which the high Priest entered once a yeere to sacrifice.

21 Now the people waited for Zacharias, and marvelled that hee caried so long in the Temple.

22 And when he came out, he could not speake vnto them: then they perceived that hee had seene a vision in the Temple: for hee made signes vnto them, and remained dumbe.

23 And it came to passe, when the dayes of his office were fulfilled, that he departed to his owne house.

24 And after thole dayes his wife Elizabeth conceived, & hid her selfe sixe moneths, saying,

25 Thus hath the Lord dealt with mee, in the dayes wherein he looked on me, to take from me my rebuke among men.

26 ¶ And in the sixt moneth, the Angel Gabryel was sent from God vnto a city of Galilee, named Nazareth, 27 To a virgin affianced to a man whose name was Ioseph, of the house of Dauid, and the virgins name was Mary.

28 And the Angel went in vnto her, and said, ¶ Haille thou that art ¶ freely beloued: the Lord is with thee, blessed art thou among women.

29 And when she saw him, she was troubled at his saying, and thought what manner of salutation that should be.

30 ¶ Then the Angel said vnto her, Feare not Mary: for thou hast found fauour with God.

31 ¶ For loe, thou shalt conceive in thy wombe, and beare a Son, and shalt call his Name IESVS.

32 He shall be great, and shall be called the Son of the most High, and the Lord God shall giue vnto him the Throne of his father Dauid;

33 *and he shall rigne ouer the house of Iacob for euer, and of his kingdome shall be none end.

34 ¶ Then sayde Mary vnto the Angel, How shall this bee, seeing I know not man?

35 And the Angel answered and said vnto her, The holy Ghost shall come vpon thee and the power of the most High shall ouershadow thee: therefore also that holy thing which shall be borne of thee, shall be called the Sonne of God.

36 And behold, thy cousin Elizabeth, she hath also conceived a sonne in her old age: and this is the first moneth, which was called barren.

37 For with God shall nothing be impossible.

38 ¶ Then Mary said, Behold the seruant of the Lord: be it vnto me according to thy word. So the Angel departed from her.

39 ¶ And Mary arose in thole dayes, and went into the hill countrey with haste to a cite of Iuda;

40 And entered into the house of Zacharias: and saluted Elizabeth.

41 And it came to passe, as Elizabeth heard the salutation of Mary, the babe sprang in her belly, and Elizabeth was filled with the holy Ghost.

42 And she cryed with a loud voyce, and sayd, Blessed art thou among women, because the fruit of thy wombe is blessed.

43 And whence cometh this to me, that the Mother of my Lord should come to me?

44 For loe, as soon as the voyce of thy salutation sounded in mine eares, the babe sprang in my belly for Ioy.

45 And blessed is shee that belieued: for thole things shall be performed, which were told her of the Lord.

46 ¶ Then Mary sayd, My soule magnified the Lord,

47 And my spirit reioyced in God my Saviour.

48 For he hath looked on the flouore degree of his seruant: for behold, from henceforth shall all ages call me blessed.

49 Because he that is mighty hath done for me great things, and holy is his Name.

50 And his mercy is from generation to generation on them that feare him.

51 ¶ Wee hath shewed strength with his armes: he hath scattered the proud in the imagination of their hearts.

52 Wee hath put downe the mighty from their seats, and exalted them of low degree.

53 ¶ He hath filled the hungry with good things, and sent away the hungry with empty.

54 ¶ He hath upholden Israel his seruant, being minded of his mercy.

55 ¶ (As he hath spoken to our fathers, to wit, to Abraham, and to his seed) for euer.

56 ¶ And Mary abode with her about three monthes: after, shee returned to her owne house.

57 ¶ Now Elizabeths time was fulfilled that she should be deliuered, and she brought forth a sonne.

58 And her neighbors and cousins heard tell how the Lord had shewed his great mercie vpon her, and they reioyced with her.

59 And it was so that on the eight day they came to circumcise the babe, and called him Zacharias, after the name of his father.

60 But his mother answered and sayd, Not so, but he shall be called Iohn.

61 And they said vnto her, There is none of thy kindred that is named with this name.

62 ¶ Then they made signes to his father, how he would haue him called.

63 So hee asked for writing tables, and wrote, saying, His name is Iohn: and they marvelled all.

64 And his mouth was opened immediately, and his tongue loosed, and hee spake and was puffed God.

And it came to passe in those dayes, that there came a commandement from Augustus Cæsar, that all the * world should bee taxed. (This first * taxing was made when Cyrenius was gouernour of Syria.) 3 Therefore went all to be taxed, every man to his owne ciuitie. 4 And Joseph also went by from Galilee out of a ciitie called Nazareth, into Iudæa, unto the ciitie of * David, which is called

Beth-lehem, (because hee was of the house and lineage of David,) 5 To be taxed with Mary that was giuen him to wife, which was with child. 6 And so it was, that while they were there, the dayes were accomplished that shee should be deliuered. 7 And she brought forth her * first begotten Sonne, and wrapped him in swaddling clothes, and layde him in a cratch, because there was no room for them in the Inn. 8 And there was in the same countrey shepherds abiding in the field, and keeping watch by night because of their flocke. 9 And loe, the Angel of the Lord came vpon them, and the glory of the Lord shone about them, and they were sore afraid. 10 Then the Angel said vnto them, Be not afraid: for behold, I bring you tidings of great ioy, that shall be to all the people: 11 That is, that vnto you is borne this day in the ciitie of * David, a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord. 12 And * this shall be a signe to you, Ye shall find the child swaddled, and laid in a cratch. 13 And straightway there was with the Angel a multitude of beauntifull soldiers, praising God, and saying, 14 Glory bee to God in the high heavens, and peace in earth, and towards men * good will. 15 And it came to passe when the Angels were gone away from them into heauen, that the shepherds layd one to another, Let vs goe then vnto Beth-lehem, and see this thing that is come to passe, which the Lord hath shewed vnto vs. 16 So they came with haste, and found both Mary and Ioseph, and the babe layd in the cratch. 17 And when they had seene it, they published abroad the thing, which was tolde them of that child. 18 And all that heard it, wondered at the things which were tolde them of the shepherds. 19 But Mary kept all these sayings, and pondered them in her heart. 20 And the shepherds returned, glorifying and praying God, for all that they had heard & seene, as it was spoken vnto them. 21 And when the right dayes were accomplished, that they should circumsise the child, his name was then called * IESVS, which was named of the Angel, before hee was conceived in the wombe. 22 And when the dayes of her purification after the Law of Moyses were accomplished, they brought him to Ierusalem, to present him to the Lord. 23 (As it is written in the Law of the Lord, * Everyman child that his first opened the wombe, shall be called holy to the Lord.) 24 And to geue an oblation, * as it is commanded in the Law of the Lord, * a pair of turtle doves, or two young pigeons. 25 And behold, there was a man in Ierusalem, whose name was Simeon: this man was iust, and feared God, and waited for the consolation of Israel, and the * holy Ghost was vpon him.

46 And it came to passe thre dayes after that they found him in the Temple, sitting in the middes of the || doctors, both hearing them, and asking them questions.

47 And all that heard him, were astonied at his vnderstanding, and answers.

48 So when they saw him, they were amazed, and his mother said vnto him, Son, why hast thou thus dealt with vs? beholde,

3 Then the deuill said vnto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, command this stone that it be made bread.

5 Then the deuill tooke him up into an high mountaine, and shewed him all the kingdomes of the world, & in the twinkling of an eye.

7 If thou therefore wilt worship mee, they shall be thine.

8 But Iesus answered him, and said, I vnto thee, Satan: for it is written, * Thou shalt worship the Lord thy God, and him alone shalt thou serue.

9 Then hee brought him to Ierusalem, and set him on a pinnacle of the Temple, and said vnto him, If thou be the Sonne of God, cast thy selfe downe from hence,

16 And hee came to Nazaret, where hee had been brought vp, and (as his custome was) went into the Synagogue on the Sabbath day, and stood vp to read.

17 And there was deliuered vnto him the booke of the Prophet Iſaias: and when hee opened the booke, hee found the place, where it was written,

18 * The Spirit of the Lord is vpon me, because he hath anointed me, that I should preach the Gospel to the poore: hee hath sent mee that I should heale the broken hearted, that I should preach deliuerance to the captiues, and recouering of sight to the blinde, that I should set at liberty them that are bound.

19 And that I should preach the acceptable yeere of the Lord.

20 And hee closed the booke, and gaue it againe to the minister, and sat downe: and the eyes of all that were in the Synagogue were fastened vpon him.

21 Then hee began to say vnto them, This day is this Scripture fulfilled in your eares.

22 And all bare him witness, and wondered at the gracious words, which proceeded out of his mouth, and sayd, Is not this Iosephs sonne?

23 Then hee said vnto them, Ye will surely say vnto mee this pource, Physician, heale thy selfe: for as much as we haue heard done in Capernaum, doe it here likewise in thine owne country.

24 And hee said, Verely I say vnto you, No Prophet is accepted in his owne country.

25 But I tell you of a trueth, many widowes were in Israel in the dayes of Elias, when heauen was shut three yeeres and sixe monethes, when great famine was throughout all the land.

26 But vnto none of them was Elias sent, save into Sarepta, a citie of Sidon, vnto a certaine widow.

27 Also, many lepers were in Israel, in the time of Eliseus the Prophet: yet none of them was made cleane, saving Naaman the Syrian.

28 Then all that were in the Synagogue, when they heard it, were filled with wrath.

29 And rose vp, and thrust him out of the citie, and led him vnto the edge of the hill, whereon their citie was built, to cast him downe headlong.

30 But hee passed through the mids of them, and went his way.

31 * And came downe into Capernaum, a citie of Galilee, and there taught them on the Sabbath dayes.

32 * And they were astonished at his doctrine: for his word was with authoritie.

33 And in the Synagogue there was a man which had a spirit of an vnclane deuil, which cryed with a loud voyce, 34 Saying, What haue wee to doe with thee, thou Iesus of Nazaret: art thou come to destroy vs? I know who thou art, even the holy One of God.

35 And Iesus rebuked him, saying, Hold thy peace, and come out of him. Then the deuil throwing him in the mids of them, came out of him, and hurt him not.

36 So feared came on them all, and they spake among themselves, saying, What thing is this? for with authoritie and power hee commandeth the foule spirit, and they come out.

37 And the fame of him spread abroad throughout all the places of the countrey round about.

38 * And he rose vp, and came out of the Synagogue, and entred into Simons house, and Simons wifes mother was taken with a great feuer, and they required him for her.

39 Then hee stood ouer her, and rebuked the feuer, and it left her: and immediately she arose, and ministered vnto them.

40 Now when the Sunne was downe, all they that had sick folkes of diuers diseases brought them vnto him, and hee layd his handes on euery one of them, and healed them.

41 * And devils also came out of many, crying, and saying, Thou art the Christ, the Sonne of God: but hee rebuked them, and suffered them not to say that they knew him to be Christ.

42 And when it was day, hee departed, and went forth into a desert place, and the people sought him, and came to him, and kept him, that hee should not depart from them.

43 But hee said vnto them, Surely I must also preach the kingdom of God to other cities: for therefore am I sent.

44 And hee preached in the Synagogues of Galilee.

9 For hee was greatly astonished, and all that were with him, for the draught of fishes which they took.

10 And so was also James and John the sonnes of Zebedee, which were companions with Simon. Then Iesus sayd vnto Simon, Feare not: from henceforth thou shalt catch men.

11 And when they had brought the shypes to land, they forsooke all, and followed him.

12 ¶ Now it came to passe, as he was in a certaine cite, behold, there was a man full of leprosie, and when hee sawe Iesus, hee fell on his face, and besought him, saying, Lord, if thou wilt, thou canst make mee cleane.

13 So hee stretched forth his hand, and touched him, saying, I will beee thee cleane. And immediately the leprosie departed from him.

14 And he commanded him that he should tell it no man: but he, said he, and sheweth thy selfe to the Priest, and offer for thy cleansing as Moses hath commanded, for a witnesse vnto them.

15 But so much more went there a fame abroad of him, and great multitudes came together to heare, and to be healed of him of their infirmities.

16 But he kept himselfe apart in the wilderness, and prayed.

17 ¶ And it came to passe on a certaine day as hee was teaching, that the Pharisees and doctors of the Law came by, which were come out of euery towne of Galilee, and Iudea, and Ierusalem, and the power of the Lord was in him to heale them.

18 ¶ Then beheld, men brought a man lying in a bed, which was taken with a palsy, and they sought meanes to bring him in, and to lay him before him.

19 And when they could not find by what way they might bring him in because of the presse, they went vp on the house, and let him downe through the tiling bed and all, in the mids before Iesus.

20 And when hee saw their faith, he said vnto him, Man, thy sinnes are forgiven thee.

21 Then the Scribes and the Pharisees began to thinke, saying, Who is this that speaketh blasphemies? Who can forgive sinnes, but God onely?

22 But when Iesus perceiued their thoughts, he answered, and said vnto them, What thinke ye in your hearts?

23 Whether is easier to say, Thy sinnes are forgiven thee, or to say, Rise, and walke?

24 But that yee may know that the Son of man hath authoritie to forgive sinnes in earth, (he said vnto the sicke of the palsy) I say to thee, Rise: take vp thy bed, and goe to thine house.

25 And immediately hee rose vp before them, and tooke vp his bed to whereon hee lay, and departed to his owne house, praising God.

26 And they were all amazed, and praised God, and were filled with feare, saying, Doubtlesse wee haue seene strange things to day.

27 ¶ And after that he went forth and saw a Publikee named ¶ Levi, sitting at the receit of Customs, and said vnto him, Follow me.

28 And hee left all, rose vp, and followed him.

29 Then Levi made him a great feast in his owne house, where there was a great company of Publicanes, and of other that sat at table with them.

30 But they that were Scribes and Pharisees among them, murmured against his disciples saying, Why eate ye, and drinke ye with Publicanes and sinners?

31 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, They that are whole, neede not the Physician, but they that are sicke.

32 ¶ I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance.

33 ¶ Then they said vnto him, Why doe the disciples of Iohn fast often, and I pray, and the disciples of the Pharisees also, but thine eate and drinke?

34 And he said vnto them, Can yee make the children of the wedding chamber to fast as long as the bridegrome is with them?

35 But the daies will come when the bridegrome shall be taken away from them: then shall they fast in those daies.

36 Again hee spake also vnto them a parable, No man putteth a piece of a new garment into an olde vesture: for then the new renteth it, and the piece taken out of the new agreeth not with the old.

37 ¶ Also no man putteth new wine into olde vessels: for then the new wine wil breake the vessels, and it will runne out, and the vessels will perish.

38 But new wine must be put in new vessels: so both are perfected.

39 Also no man that hath drunke olde wine, straightway desireth new, for hee saith, The old is better.

4. How hee went into the house of God, andooke, and at the Shebutad, & gave also to them which were with him, which was not lawfull to eate, but for the Disciples onely?

5 And he said unto them, The Sonne of man is Lord also of the Sabbath day.

6 * It came to passe also on another Sabbath, that hee entered into the Synagogue and taught, and there was a man whose right hand was dried up.

7 And the Scribes and Pharisees watched him, whether hee would heale on the Sabbath day, that they might finde an accusation against him.

8 But he knewe their thoughts, and said to the man which had the withered hand, Arise, and stand up in the midst. And he arose and stood up.

9 Then said Iesus unto them, I will aske you a question, Whether is it lawfull on the Sabbath dayes to doe good, or to doe ill: to save life, or to destroy it?

10 And hee beheld them all in compasse, and said unto the man, Stretch forth thine hand. And hee did so, and his hand was restored againe, as whole as the other.

11 Then they were filled full of madnesse and communed one with another, what they might doe to Iesus.

12 And it came to passe in those dayes, that hee went into a mountaine to pray, and spent the night in prayer to God.

13 And when it was day, he called his disciples, and of them hee chose twelve which also hee called Apostles.

14 Simon whom hee named also Peter, and Andrew his brother, James and John, Phillip, and Bartolomew:

15 Matthew, and Thomas: James the sonne of Alpheus, and Simon called zealous:

16 Judas James brother, and Judas Iscariot, which also was the traitour.)

17 Then he came downe with them and stood in a plaine place, with the company of his Disciples, and a great multitude of people out of all Iudea and Ierusalem, and from the Sea coast of Tyrus and Sidon, which came to heare him, and to be healed of their diseases:

18 And they that were vexed with foule spirits, and they were healed.

19 And the whole multitude sought to touch him: for there went verrie out of him, and healed them all.

20 * And he blessed by his eyes upon his disciples, and said, Blessed be ye: poor: for yours is the kingdom of God.

20 * Blessed are ye that hunger now: for ye shall be satisfied. Blessed are ye that weepe now: for ye shall laugh.

22 * Blessed are ye when men hate you, and when they separate you, and reuile you, and put out your name as ruff, for the Son of mans sake.

23 Reioyce ye in that day, and be glad: for behold, your reward is great in heauen: for after this manner their fathers did to the Prophets.

24 * But woe be to you that are rich: for ye have received your consolation.

25 Woe be to you that are full: for ye shall hunger. Woe be to you that now laugh: for ye shall weep and weepe.

26 Woe be to you when all men speake well of you, for so did their fathers to the false prophets.

27 * But I say unto you which heare, Love your enemies: doe well to them which hate you.

28 Bless them that curse you, and pray for them which hurt you.

29 And unto him that smiteth thee on the one cheeke, offer also the other: and him that taketh away thy cloke, forgiue not to take thy coat also.

30 Giue to every man that asketh of thee, and of him that taketh away thy goods, aske them not againe.

31 * And as ye would that men should doe to you, so doe ye to them likewise.

32 * For if ye love them which love you, what thank shall ye have? for euen the sinners love those that love them.

33 And if ye doe good for them which doe good for you, what thanks shall ye have? for euen the sinners doe the same.

34 And if ye lend to them of whom ye hope to receive, what thanks shall ye have? for euen the sinners lend to sinners, to receive the like.

35 Wherefore I love ye your enemies, & doe good and lend, looking for nothing againe, and your reward shall be great, and ye shall be the children of the most High: for he is kind unto the unkinde, and to the euill.

36 Be ye therefore mercifull, as your Father also is mercifull.

37 * Judge not, & ye shall not be iudged: condemn not, & ye shall not be condemned: for giue, and ye shall be forgiven.

38 And it shall be giuen unto you, a good measure, pressed downe, shaken together, & running ouer shall men giue into your bosom: for with what measure ye mete, with the same shall men mete to you againe.

39 And hee spake a parable unto them, Can the blinde leade the blinde? shall not they both fall into the ditch?

40 * The Disciple is not above his Master: but whosoever will be a perfect Disciple, shall be as his Master.

41 * And why? seest thou a mote in thy brothers eye, and considerest not the beam that is in thine owne eye?

42 Either do as I canst thou say to thy brother, Brother, let me pull out the mote that is in thine eye, when thou seest not the beam that is in thine owne eye? ^b It might bee that this captaine did live with his garison in Capernaum.

When he had ended all his sayings in the audience of the people, hee entered into Capernaum.

2 And a certaine Centurions seruant was sicke and ready to die, which was deare vnto him.

3 And when he heard of Iesus, hee sent vnto him the Elders of the Iewes, beseeching him that hee would come and heale his seruant.

4 So they came to Iesus, and besought him instantly, saying, that hee was worthy that he should doe this for him.

5 For hee loueth, sayd they, our nation, and he hath built vs a Synagogue.

6 Then Iesus went with them: but when he was now not farre from the house, the Centurion sent friends to him, saying vnto him, Lord, trouble not thy selfe: for I am not worthy that thou shouldst enter vnder my rooffe.

7 Wherefore I thought not my selfe worthy to come vnto thee: but I say the word, and my seruant shall be whole.

8 For I likewise am a man like vnder authority, and haue vnder mee souldiers, and I say vnto one, Goe, and he goeth, and to another, Come, and he cometh: and to my seruant, Doe this, and he doeth it.

9 When Iesus heard these things, hee marvelled at him, and turned him and said to the people that followed him, I say vnto you, I haue not found so great faith, no not in Israel.

10 And when they that were sent, turned backe to the house, they found the seruant that was sicke, whole.

11 And it came to passe the day after, that he went into a citie called Bala, and many of his disciples went with him, and a great multitude.

12 Now when hee came neere to the gate of the citie, behold, there was a dead man carried out, who was the only begotten sonne of his mother, which was a widow, and much people of the citie was with her.

13 And when the Lord saw her, hee had compassion on her, and said vnto her, Arise.

14 And he went and touched her, and she said, O Pong man, I lay vnto thee, Arise.

15 And hee that was dead, came vp, and began to speake, and was deliuered him to his mother.

16 Then there came a feare on them all, and they glorified God, saying, A great Prophet is raised vp among vs, and God hath visited his people.

17 And this rumour of him went forth throughout all Iudaea, and throughout all the region round about.

18 ¶ And the disciples of Iohn shewed him of all these things.

19 So Iohn called vnto him two certaine men of his disciples, and sent them to Iesus, saying, Art thou hee that should come, or shall we wait for another?

20 And when the men were come vnto him, they sayd, Iohn Baptist hath sent vs vnto thee, saying, Art thou hee that should come, or shall we wait for another?

21 And at that time hee cured many of their sicknesses and plagues, and of euill spirits, and vnto many blind men hee gaue sight.

22 And Iesus answered and said vnto them, Goe your wayes and shew Iohn what things ye haue seene & heard: that the blind see, the batt goe, the lepers are cleansed, the deafe heare, the dead rise againe, and the poore receiue the Gospel.

23 And blessed is hee, that shall not bee offended in me.

24 And when the messengers of Iohn were departed, hee began to speake vnto the people of Iohn, What went ye out into the wilderness to see? A reede shaken with the winde?

25 But what went ye out to see? A man clothed in soft raiment? Behold, they which are gorgeously appareled, and lince delicate, are in kings courts.

26 But what went ye forth to see? A Prophet? yes, I say to you, and greater then a Prophet.

27 This is hee of whom it is written, Behold, I send my messenger before thy face, which shall prepare thy way before thee.

28 For I say vnto you, there is no greater Prophet then Iohn, among them that are begotten of women: neuertheless, he that is the least in the kingdom of God, is greater then hee.

38 And he stood at his fette behind him weeping, and began to wash his fette with teares, and did wipe them with the haire of her head, and kissed his fette, and anointed them with the ointment.

39 Now when the Pharise which had him, saw it, he spake with himselfe, saying, If this man be a Prophet, he would shew me what manner of woman this is which toucheth him: for shee is a sinner.

40 And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto him, Simon, I haue somewhat to say vnto thee. And he said, Master, say on.

41 There was a certaine lender, which had two debtors: the one ought fise hundred pence, and the other fifty.

42 When they had nothing to pay, he forgave them both. Which of them therefore, tell me, will loue him most?

43 Simon answered, and sayd, I suppose that hee to whom hee forgave most. And he sayd vnto him, Thou hast cruly iudged.

44 Then hee turned to the woman, and sayd vnto Simon, Seest thou this woman? I entered into thine house, and thou gauest me no water to my fette: but she hath washed my feet with teares, and wiped them with the haire of her head.

45 Thou gauest me no kisse: but shee since the time I came in, hath not ceased to kisse my fette.

46 Mine head with oyle thou diddest not anoint: but she hath anointed my fette with ointment.

6 And some fell on the stones, and when it was sprung vp it withered away, because it lacked moisture.

7 And some fell among thornes, and the thornes sprung up with it, and choked it.

8 And some fell on good ground, and sprung vp, and bare fruit, an hundred fold. And as he said these things, he cried, He that hath eares to hear, let him heare.

9 Then his disciples asked him, demanding what parable that was.

10 And hee sayd, Unto you it is given to knowe the secrets of the kingdome of God, but to other in parables, that when they see, they should not see, and when they heare, they should not understand.

12 And they that are beside the way, are they that heare: afterward cometh the deuill, and taketh away the word out of their hearts, lest they should beleue, and bee saved.

13 But they that are on the stones are they which when they haue heard, receiue the word with joy: but they haue no rootes, which for a while beleue, but in the time of tribration goe away.

16 ¶ So man when he lighteth a candle, couereth it vnder a vessel, neither putteth it vnder the table, but setteth it on a candlestick, that they that enter in may see the light.

17 ¶ For nothing is secret, that shall not be euident: neither any thing hid, that shall not be known, and come to light.

18 Take heede therefore how yee heare: for whosoever hath not, from him shall bee taken, euen that which it seemeth that hee hath.

19 ¶ Then came to him his mother and his brethren, and could not come neere to him for the pease.

20 And it was told him by certaine which said, Thy mother and thy brethren stand without, and would see thee.

21 But he answered, and said vnto them, My mother, and my brethren are they which heare the word of God, and doe it.

22 ¶ And it came to passe on a certaine day, that hee went into a ship with his disciples, and hee layd vnto them, Let vs goe ouer vnto the other side of the lake. And they lauched forth.

23 And as they sailed, he fell asleep, and there came downe a storme of winde on the lake, and they were filled with water, and were in leopardie.

24 Then they went to him, and awoke him, saying, Master, Master, wee perishe. And hee arose, and rebuked the winde, and the waues of water: and they ceased, and it was calme.

25 Then hee sayd vnto them, Where is your faith? And they feared, and wondered among themselves, saying, What is this that commaundeth both the windes and water, and they obey him?

26 ¶ So they sailed vnto the region of the Gadarenes, which is ouer against Galilee.

27 And as hee went out to land, there met him a certaine man out of the cite, which had a deuill long time, and hee ware no clothes, neither abode in house, but in the graues.

28 And when he saw Iesus, he cryed out, and fell downe before him, and with a loude voice said, What haue I to doe with thee, Iesus the Sonne of God, the most high? I beseech thee torment me not.

29 For hee commanded the foule spirit to come out of the man: (for so oft times hee had caught him: therefore hee was bound with chaines, and kept in fetters: but hee brake the bands, and was caught of the deuill into wildernesses.)

30 Then Iesus asked him, saying, What is thy name? And hee said, Legion, because many deuils were entered into him.

31 And they besought him, that he would not commaund them to goe out into the deepe.

¶ And this word, Chap. 16. 2. 3. is called hell, where the deuils are chained in the obscurity of darkenesse, 1. Pet. 3. 4.

32 And there was there by an herd of many swine, feeding on an hill, and the deuils besought him, that he would suffer them to enter into them. So he suffered them.

33 Then went the deuils out of the man, and entered into the swine: and the herd was caried with violence from a steepe downe place into the lake, and was choaked.

34 When the headmen saw what was done, they fled: and when they were departed, they told it in the cite and in the countrey.

35 Then they came out to see what was done, and came to Iesus, and found the man, out of whom the deuils were departed, sitting at the feete of Iesus, clothed, and in his right mind, and they were afraid.

36 They also which saw it, told them by what meanes hee that was possessed with the deuill was healed.

37 Then the whole multitude of the countrey about the Gadarenes, besought him, that hee would depart from them: for they were taken with a great feare: and he went into the ship and returned.

38 Then the man out of whom the deuils were departed, besought him that he might be with him: but Iesus sent him away, saying,

39 Returne into thine owne house, and shew what great things God hath done to thee. So he went his way, and preached throughout all the parts, what great things Iesus had done vnto him.

40 ¶ And it came to passe when Iesus was come againe, that the people receiued him: for they all waited for him.

41 ¶ And behold, there came a man named Jairus, and hee was the ruler of the Synagogue, who fell downe at Iesus feete, and besought him that hee would come into his house.

42 For hee had but a daughter onely, about twelue yeres of age, and shee lay a dying. (And as hee went, the people thronged him.)

43 And a woman hauing an issue of blood twelue yeres long, which had spent all her substance vpon Physicians, and could not be healed of any:

44 When shee came behind him, shee touched the hemme of his garment, and immediately her issue of blood stancheth.

45 Then Iesus said, Who is it that hath touched mee? When euery man denied, Peter said, and they that were with him, Master, the multitude thrust thee, and read on thee, and sayest thou, Who hath touched me?

46 And Iesus said, Some one hath touched me: for I perceiue that vertue is gone out of me.

47 When the woman saw that shee was not hid, shee came trembling, and fell downe before him, and told him before all the people, for what cause shee had touched him, and how shee was healed immediately.

48 And hee said vnto her, Daughter, thy faith hath made thee whole: goe in peace.

from the ruler of the Synagogues house, which said to him, Thy daughter is dead: disquiet not the Master.

50 When Jesus heard it, hee answered him, saying, Feare not, beleeue onely, and she shall be made whole.

51 And when he went into the house, hee suffered no man to goe in with him, save Peter, and James, and John, and the father and mother of the maide.

52 And all wept and bewailed for her: but he said, Sleepe not, for she is not dead, but sleeperly.

53 And they laught him to scorne, knowing that she was dead.

54 So he thrust them all out, and tooke her by the hand, and cryed, saying, Mayde, arise.

55 And her spirit came againe, and she rose straightway: and he commanded to giue her meate.

56 Then her parents were astonied: but he commanded them that they should tell no man what was done.

CHAP. IX.

1 Hee sendeth out the twelue Apostles to preach, 7 Herod beareth tell of him. 12 Hee feedeth fise thousand men with fise loaves & two fishes. 19 Diuers opinions of Christ. 28 He transfigureth himselfe upon the mount. 42 He deliuereth his possessed, 47 and teacheth his disciples to bee lowly. 54 They desire vengeance, but hee reproveth them.

Then called he the twelue disciples together, and gaue them power and authoritie ouer all deuils, and to heale diseases.

2 And he sent them to preach the kingdom of God, and to cure the sicke.

3 And hee said to them, Take nothing to your Iourney, neither staffe, nor scrip, neither bread, nor silver, neither haue two coats.

4 And whatsoeuer house yee enter into, there abide, and thence depart.

5 And whosoever will not receiue you, when ye goe out of that citie, shake off the very dust from your feete for a testimony against them.

6 And they went out, and went thorow euery towne preaching the Gospel, and healing euery where.

7 Now Herod the Tetrarch heard of all that was done by him: and hee doubted because that it was sayd of some, that Iohn was risen againe from the dead:

8 And of some, that Elias had appeared, and of some, that one of the old Prophets was risen againe.

9 Then Herod said, Iohn haue I beheaded: who then is this, of whom I heare such things? And he desired to see him.

10 And when the Apostles returned, they told him what great things they had done. And he tooke them, and went aside into a solitary place, nere to the citie called Bethsaida.

11 But when the people knew it, they followed him, and hee receiued them, and spake vnto them of the kingdom of God, and healed them that had need to be healed.

12 And when the day began to waxe away, the twelue came, and layd vnto him,

Send the people away, that they may goe into the townes and villages round about, and lodge, and get meate: for we are here in a desert place.

13 But hee sayd vnto them, 4 Goe yee them to eate. And they sayd, Wee haue no more but fise loaves and two fishes, except wee should goe and buy meate for all this people.

14 For they were about fise thousand men. Then hee said to his Disciples, Cause them to sit downe by fifties in a company.

15 And they did so, and caused all to sit downe.

16 Then he tooke the fise loaves, and the two fishes, and looked vp to heauen, and blessed them, and brake and gaue to the disciples to set before the people.

17 So they did all eate, and were satisfied: and there was taken vp of that remained to them, twelue baskets full of broken meate.

18 And it came to passe as he was alone praying, his disciples were with him, and hee asked them, saying, Whom say the people that I am?

19 They answered, and sayd, Iohn Baptist: and others say, Elias: and some say, that one of the old Prophets is risen againe.

20 And hee sayd vnto them, But whom say ye that I am? Peter answered, and sayd, The Christ of God.

21 And hee warned, & commanded them, that they should tell that to no man,

22 Saying, The Sonne of man must suffer many things, and be reprooued of the Elders, and of the hie Priests and Scribes, and be slaine, and the third day rise againe.

23 And hee sayd to them all, If any man will come after mee, let him denie himselfe, and take vp his crosse & dayly, and follow mee.

24 For whosoever will saue his life, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose his life for my sake, the same shall saue it.

25 For what advantage it a man, if hee winne the whole world, and destroy himselfe, or lose himselfe?

26 For whosoever shall be ashamed of me, and of my words, of him shall the Sonne of man be ashamed when hee shall come in his glory, and in the glory of his Father, and of the holy Angels.

27 And I tell you of a suretie, there be some standing heere, which shall not taste of death till they haue seene the kingdom of God.

28 And it came to passe about an eight dayes after those words, that he tooke Peter and Iohn, and James, and went vp into a mountaine to pray.

29 And as hee prayed, the fashion of his countenance was changed, and his garment was white and glistered.

30 And behold, two men talked with him, which were Moses and Elias, 31 which appeared in glory, and told of his departing, which he should accomplish at Ierusalem.

him, were heavy with sleepe, & when they awoke, they saw his glory, and the two men standing with him.

33 And it came to passe as they departed from him, Peter said unto Jesus, Master, it is good for vs to bee here: let vs therefore make three Tabernacles, one for thee, and one for Moses, and one for Elias, and wilt not what he saith.

34 While hee thus spake, there came a cloud, and overshadowed them, & they feared when they were entering into the cloud.

35 And there came a voyce out of the cloud, saying, This is my beloued Sonne, heare him.

36 And when the voyce was past, Jesus was found alone: and they kept it close and tolde no man in those dayes any of those things which they had seene.

37 And it came to passe on the next day, as they came downe from the mountaine, much people met him.

38 And beholde, a man of the company cried out, saying, Master, I beseech thee, behold my sonne, for he is all that I haue.

39 And loe, a spirit taketh him, and suddenly he cryeth, and he teareth him, & hee cometh, & with much paine departeth from him, when he hath buffeted him.

40 Now I haue brought hee thy disciples to cast him out, but they could not.

41 Then Jesus answered, and said, O generation faithlesse and crooked, how long now shall I be with you, and suffer you? bring thy sonne hither.

42 And whiles he was yet comming, the deuill rent him, and tare him: and Jesus rebuked the vncleane spirit, and healed the child, and deliuered him to his father.

43 And they were all amazed at the mighty power of God: and while they all wondered at all things which Jesus did, hee said vnto his disciples, 44 Marke these wordes diligently: for it shall come to passe, that the Sonne of man shall be deliuered into the hands of men.

45 But they understood not that word: for it was hid from them, so that they could not perceiue it: and they feared to aske him of that word.

46 And then there arose a disputation among them, which of them should bee the greatest.

47 When Jesus saw the thoughts of their hearts, hee tooke a little child, and set him by him.

48 And saide vnto them, Whosoever receiuethe this little child in my name, receiuethe mee: and whosoever shall receiue mee, receiuethe him that sent mee: for hee that is least among you all, he shall be great.

49 And John answered, and sayd, Master, wee saw one calling out deuils in thy name, and we forsaide him, because hee followeth thee not with vs.

50 Then Jesus sayd vnto him, Forbidde him not: for he that is not against vs, is with vs.

51 And it came to passe, when the dayes were accomplished, that hee should be receiued by, he stiled himselfe fully to goe to Ierusalem, 52 And sent messengers before him: and they went and entered into a towne of the Samaritanes, to prepare him lodging.

53 But they would not receiue him, because his beginning was, as though hee would goe to Ierusalem.

54 And when his disciples, James and John saw it, they sayd, Lord, wilt thou that wee command that fire come downe from heauen, and consume them, even as Elias did?

55 But Jesus turned about and rebuked them, and sayd, Per know not of what spirit ye are.

56 For the Sonne of man is not come to destroy mens liues, but to saue them. Then they went to another town.

57 And it came to passe, that as they went in the way, a certaine man said vnto him, I will follow thee, Lord, whither thou goest.

58 And Jesus said vnto him, The foxes haue holes, and the birds of the heauen haue nests, but the Sonne of man hath not whereon to lay his head.

59 But he sayd vnto another, Follow me. And the same said, Lord, suffer me first to go and bury my father.

60 And Jesus sayd vnto him, Let the dead bury their dead: but goe thou & preach the kingdom of God.

61 Then another said, I will follow thee, Lord: but let me first goe bid my brethren which are at mine house.

62 And Jesus said vnto him, No man that putteth his hand to the plough, & looketh backe, is apt to the kingdom of God.

18 And hee said vnto them, I sawe Satan like lightning, fall downe from heauen.

19 Beholde, I giue vnto you power to tread on serpents, and scorpions, and ouer all the power of the enemy, and nothing shall hurt you.

20 Howert heless, in this reioyce not, that the spirits are subdued vnto you: but rather reioyce, because your names are written in heauen.

21 ¶ That same houre reioyced Iesus in the spirit, and said, I confesse vnto thee, Father, Lord of heauen and earth, that thou hast bid these things from the wise and learned, and hast reuealed them to babes: euen lo, Father, because it so pleased thee.

22 ¶ Then he turned to his disciples, and said, All things are giuen me of my Father: and no man knoweth who the Sonne is, but the Father: neither who the Father is, saue the Sonne, & he to whom the Sonne will reueale him.

23 ¶ And hee returned to his disciples, and said secretly, Blessed are the eyes which see that ye see.

24 For I tell you that many Prophets and Kings haue desired to see those things which ye see, and haue not seene them, and to heare those things which ye heare, and haue not heard them.

25 ¶ ¶ Then beholde, a certaine expounder of the Law stood up, and tempted him, saying, Master, what shall I doe to inherit eternall life?

26 And hee said vnto him, What is written in the Law? how readest thou?

27 And he answered & said, Thou shalt loue thy Lord God with all thine heart, and with all thy soule, and with all thy strength, and with all thy thought, and thy neighbour as thy selfe.

28 ¶ Then hee said vnto him, Thou hast answered right: this doe, and thou shalt liue.

29 But hee willing to iustifie himselfe, said vnto Iesus, Who is? then my neighbour?

30 And Iesus answered, and said, A certaine man went downe from Ierusalem to Iericho, and fell among thornes, and they robbed him, and sold among thornes, and wounded him, and departed, leauing him halfe dead.

31 And by chance there came downe a certaine Priest that same way, and when hee saw him, hee passed by on the other side.

32 And likewise also a Leuite, when hee was come nere to the place, went and looked on him, and passed by on the other side.

33 ¶ Then a certaine Samaritan, as hee iournayed, came nere vnto him, and when hee saw him, hee had compassion on him,

34 And went to him, and bound by his woundes, and powred in oyle and wine, and put him on his owne beast, and brought him to an Inne, and made provision for him.

35 And on the morrow when hee departed, hee tooke out two pence, and gaue them to the host, and said vnto him, Take care of him, and whatsoeuer thou spendest more, when I come againe, I will recompense thee.

36 Which now of these three, thinkest thou, was neighbour vnto him that fell among the thornes?

37 And hee said, He that shewed mercy on him. Then said Iesus vnto him, Go, and doe thou likewise.

38 ¶ Now it came to passe as they went, that hee entred into a certaine towne, and a certaine woman named Martha, receiued him into her house.

39 And shee had a sister called Mary, which also sat at Iesus feete, and heard his preaching.

40 But Martha was cumbered about much seruise, and came to him, and said, Master, dost thou not care that my sister hath left me to liue alone? bid her therefore that shee helpe me.

^b Or, pardon. ^c By this similitude he teacheth vs that we ought not to be discouraged, if we obtaine not continually that which we desire. ^d Or, in passing by the way.

5 When hee said vnto them, Which of you shall haue a friend, and shall goe to him at midnight, and say vnto him, Friend, lend me three loanes:

6 For a friend of mine is come I out of the way to me, and I haue nothing to set before him:

7 And he within should answer and say, Trouble me not: the doore is now shut, and my children are with mee in bed: I cannot rise and giue them to thee.

11 If a sonne shall aske bread of any of you that is a father, will hee giue him a stone: or if he aske a fish, will hee for a fish giue him a serpent:

^c The chiefest thing that we can desire of God, is his holy spirit.

12 And if he aske an egge, will hee giue him a scorpion:

13 If ye then which are euill, can giue good gifts vnto your children, how much more shall your heavenly Father giue the holy Ghost to them, that desire him?

14 When hee call out a deuill which was dumbe: and when the deuill was gone out, the dumbe spake, and the people wondered.

15 But some of them sayd, Wee casteth out deuils through Beelzebub the chiefe of the deuils.

16 And others tempted him, seeking of him a signe from heauen.

Math. 12. 35. mar. 3. 24, 25.

17 But he knew their thoughts, and said vnto them, Every kingdome diuided against it selfe, shall be desolate, and a house diuided against a house, shall fall.

18 So if Satan also bee diuided against himselfe, how shall his kingdome stand, because ye say that I cast out deuils through Beelzebub?

19 If I through Beelzebub cast out deuils, by whome doe your children cast them out? Therefore shall they bee your iudges.

20 But if I by the finger of God cast out deuils, doubtlesse the kingdom of God is come vnto you.

21 When a strong man armed keepeth his palace, the things that he possideth are in peace.

22 But when a stronger then he commeth vpon him, and ouercommeth him, hee taketh from him all his armour wherein hee trusted, and diuiderh his goods.

23 Wee that is not with mee, is against mee: and hee that gathereth not with mee, scattereth.

24 When the vncleane spirit is gone out of a man, hee walketh through drie places, seeking to rest: and when hee findeth none, he sayth, I will retorne vnto my house whence I came out.

25 And when hee commeth, hee findeth it swept and garnished.

26 Then he goeth bye, and taketh to him seuen other spirits worse then himselfe: and they enter in and dwell there: so the last state of that man is worse then the first.

27 And it came to passe, as hee sayd these things, a certaine woman of the company lifted up her voyce, and said vnto him, Blessed is the wombe that bare thee, and the paps which thou hast sucked.

28 But he sayd, Yea, rather blessed are they that heare the word of God, and keepe it.

29 And when the people were gathered thicke together, he began to say, This is a wicked generation: they seeke a signe, and there shall no signe be giuen them, but the signe of Ionas the Prophet.

30 For as Ionas was a signe to the Ninuites, so shall also the sonne of man be to this generation.

31 The Queene of the South shall rise in iudgement with the men of this generation, and shall condemne them: for shee came from the remot parts of the earth to heare the wisdom of Salomon, and behold, a greater then Salomon is here.

32 The men of Nineue shall rise in iudgement with this generation, and shall condemne it: for they repented at the preaching of Ionas: and behold, a greater then Ionas is here.

33 So man lighteth a candle, and putteth it in a pialite place, neither vnder a bushell: but on a candlestick, that they which come in may see the light.

35 Take heed therefore, that the light which is in thee, be not darkened.

36 If therefore the whole body shall be light, hauing no part darke, then shall all be light.

 hypocrites: for ye are as graues which ap-

48 Truly ye beare witnesse, and allow

22 And he spake vnto his disciples, There-your life, what ye shall eat: neither for your body, what ye shall put on.

23 The life is more then meate: and the body more then the rayment.

24 Consider the rauen: for they neither sowe nor reape: which neither haue storehouse nor barn, and yet God feedeth them: how much more are ye better then fowles?

25 And which of you with taking thought, can add to his stature one cubite?

26 If ye then be not able to doe the least thing, why take ye thought for the remnant?

27 Consider the lilies how they grow:
they labour not, neither spinne they: yet I say vnto you, that Salomon himselfe in all his royaltie was not clothed like one of these.

28 If then God do clothe the grasse which is to day in the field, and to morrow is cast into the oven, how much more will he clothe
you. O ye of little faith?

29 Therefore he that eat not what ye shall eat, nor what ye shall drinke, neither stand in doubt.

30 For all such things the people of the world seek for: and your father knoweth that ye haue need of these things.

31 But rather seek ye after the kingdome of God, and all these things shall be ministed vnto you.

32 Fear not, little flocke: for it is your fathers pleasure, to giue you the kingdom.

33 Sell that ye haue, and giue almes: a make you bags, which waxe not old, a treasure that can neuer faile in heauen, where no thiefe cometh, neither moth corrupteth.

34 For where your treasure is, there will your heart be also.

35 Let your loynes be girded about,
and your lightes burning,

36 And ye your selues like vnto men that waite for their master, when he will returne from the wedding, that when he cometh and knocketh, they may open vnto him immediately.

37 Blessed are those seruants, whom the Lord when he cometh, shall find waking:
verely I say vnto you, he will gird himselfe about, and make them to sit downe at table, and will come forth and serue them.

38 And if he come in the second watch, or come in the thirde watch, and shall finde them so, blessed are those seruants.

39 Now understand this, that if the goodman of the house had knowne at what houre the thiefe would haue come, he would hine watched, and would not haue suffered his house to be digged through.

40 Be ye also prepared therefore: for the Sonne of man will come at an houre when ye thinke not.

41 Then Peter sayd vnto him, Master, tellet thou this parable vnto vs, or vnto all?

42 And the Lord said, Who is a faithfull steward, and wise, whom the master shall make ruler ouer his householde, to giue them their portion of meate in season?

43 Blessed is that seruant, whom his master when he cometh, shall find so doing.

44 O that I say vnto you, that hee will make him ruler ouer all that he hath.

45 But if that seruant slee in his heart, his master doth deferre his coming, and shall begin to sinne the seruants, and may-dens, and to eat & drinke, and to be drunken,

46 The master of that seruant will come in a day when hee thinketh not, and at an houre when he is not ware of, and will cut him off, and giue him his portion with the unbeleeuers.

47 And that seruant that knew his masters will, and prepared not himselfe neither did according to his will, shall be beaten with many stripes.

48 But he that knowe it not, and yet did committe things worthie of stripes, shall bee beaten with few stripes: for vnto whom more is giuen, of him shall be much required, and to whom more shall be committed, the more of him will they aske.

49 ¶ I am come to put a fire on the earth, and what is my desire, if it be already kindled?

50 Notwithstanding I must bee baptized with a baptism, and how am I grieved, till it be ended?

51 ¶ Thinke ye that I am come to giue peace on earth? I tell you, nay, but rather debate.

52 For from henceforth there shall be sune in one house diuided, three against two,
and two against three.

53 The father shall be diuided against the sonne, and the sonne against the father:
the mother against the daughter, and the daughter against the mother: the mother in law, against her daughter in law, and the daughter in law against her mother in law.

54 ¶ Then said he to the people, When you see a cloud rise out of the West, straightway ye say, a thowse cometh: and so it is.

55 And when ye see the South winde blow, ye say, that it will be hete: and it cometh to passe.

56 Hypocrites, ye can discerne the face of the earth, and of the skie: but why discern ye not this time?

57 Yea, and why iudge you not of your selues what is right?

58 ¶ While thou goest with thine aduerfary to the ruler, as thou art in the way, giue diligence in the way, that thou mayest be delivered from him, lest hee bring thee to the iudge, and the iudge deliver thee to the taylor, and the taylor cut thee into pie-

1 The crucifix of Pilate. 2 We ought not to condemn alse to be wicked men which suffer. 3 Christ exhorteth to repentance. 4 Hee healeth the crooked woman, 15 answereth to the master of the Synagogue. 18 By diuers similitudes hee declareth what the kingdom of God is, 23 also that the number of them which shall bee saved, is small. 33 Finally, hee sheweth that no worldly policie or force can les the worke and counsell of God.

a Hee murdered them, as they were sacrificing: & so their blood was mingled with the blood of the beasts which were sacrificed. b For the Iewes tooke occasion hereby to condemn them, as most wicked men. c He warneth them, rather to consider their owne estate, then to reprocue other mens. d Which Iower flood by the river Siloe or fith-pool in Ierusalem.

ffor feblers. e By this similitude is declared y great patience that God useth towards sinners, in looking for their amendment, but this delay auailieth them nothing, when they still remaine in their corruption. f We see our state, if we bring not forth fruit. g For both it is vniuersall it selfe and doth hurt to the good where it groweth. h Whom Satan had striken with a disease, as the Spirit of couerousness is that spirit that maketh a man couerous. i As they are, whole sinners are drunk. k Or, as at libertie out of Satans hands.

There were certaine men present at the same season, that shewed him of the Galileans, whose blood Pilate had mingled with their owne sacrifices.

2 And Iesus answered, and sayd vnto them, Suppose yet, that these Galileans were greater sinners then all the other Galileans, because they haue suffered such things?

3 I tell you nay: but except yee amend your liues, ye shall all likewise perish.

4 Or thinke you that those eightene, vpon whom the towre in Siloam fell, and slew them, were sinners then all the men that dwell in Ierusalem?

5 I tell you, nay: but except yee amend your liues, ye all shall likewise perish.

6 Or speake also this parable, A certaine man had a figge tree planted in his vineyard: and hee came and sought fruit thereon, and found none.

7 Then said he to the dresser of his vineyard, Beholde, I this three yeres haue I come and sought fruit of this figge tree, and finde none: cut it downe: why keepeth it also the ground barren?

8 And hee answered, and said vnto him, Lord, let it alone this yere also, till I digge round about it, and dung it.

9 And if it beare fruit, well: if not, then after that thou shalt cut it downe.

10 And hee taught in one of the Synagogues on the Sabbath day.

11 And behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmitee eighteen yeres, and was bowed together, and could not lift vp her selfe in any wise.

12 When Iesus saw her, hee called her to him, and said to her, Woman, thou art loosed from thy disease.

13 And hee laid his hands on her, and immediately she was made straight againe, and glorified God.

14 And the ruler of the Synagogue answered with indignation, because that Iesus had healed on the Sabbath day, and sayde vnto the people, There are six dayes in which men ought to worke: in them therefore come and bee healed, and not on the Sabbath day.

15 Then answered him the Lord, and sayd, Hypocrite, doeth not each one of you on the Sabbath day loose his ox or his asse from the stall, and lead him away to the water?

16 And ought not this daughter of Abraham whom Satan had bound, for eighteen yeres, be loosed from this bond on the Sabbath day?

17 And when hee said these things, all his aduersaries were ashamed: but all the people rejoyced at all the excellent things that were done by him.

18 ¶ Then said he, What is the kingdom of God like? of what sort shall I compare it?

19 It is like a graine of mustard seede which a man tooke and sowed in his garden, and it grew, and waied a great tree, and the fowles of the heauen made nestes in the branches thereof.

20 ¶ And againe hee sayd, Whereunto shall I liken the kingdom of God?

21 It is like leauen, which a woman tooke and hid in three peckes of flour, till all was leaued.

22 ¶ And hee went through all cities and townes, teaching, and iourneying toward Ierusalem.

23 Then sayd one vnto him, Lord, are there few that shall bee saved? And hee said vnto them, 24 Yea, I stryue to enter in at the strait gate: for many, I say vnto you, will seeke to enter in, and shall not be able.

25 When the good man of the house is risen vp, and hath shut to the doore, and yee begin to stand without, and to knocke at the doore, saying, Lord, Lord, open to vs, and hee shall answer and say vnto you, I know you not whence yee are.

26 ¶ Then shall ye begin to say, We haue eaten and drunken in thy presence, and thou hast taught in our streets.

27 But hee shall answer, I tell you, I know you not whence yee are: depart from me, all yee workers of iniquity.

28 There shall be weeping and gnashing of teeth, when they shall see Abraham and Isaac and Jacob, and all the Prophets in the kingdom of God, and your selues thrust out at doores.

29 Then shall come many from the East, and from the West, and from the South, and shall sit at table in the kingdom of God.

30 ¶ And behold, there are last, which shall be first: and there are first, which shall be last.

CHAP. XIII.

1 Jesus eateth with a Pharise, 4 healeth the dropsie epoune Sabbath, 8 teacheth sage lowly, and to bid poore to his table. 15 He telleth of the great supper. 28 He warneth them that will follow him, to lay their accounts before, what it will cost them. 34 The fall of the earth.

And it came to passe, that when he was euered into the house of one of the chiefe Pharisees on the Sabbath day to hear head, they watched him.

2 And behold, there was a certaine man before him, which had the dropsie.

3 Then Jesus answering, spake vnto the expouners of the Law, and Pharisees, saying, Is it lawfull to heale on the Sabbath day?

4 And they held their peace. Then hee tooke him, and healed him, and let him goe.

5 And answered them, saying, Which of you shall haue an asse or an oxe fallen into a pit, and will not straightway pul him out on the Sabbath day?

6 And they could not answer him againe to those things.

7 ¶ He spake also a parable to the guests, when hee marked how they chose out the chiefe roomes, and laid vnto them,

8 ¶ When thou shalt be bidden of any man to a wedding, let not thy selfe downe in the chiefe place, lest a more honourable man then thou be bidden of him,

9 And hee that bade both him and thee, come and say to thee, Sitte this man roomie, and thou then beginst which shame to take the lowest roomie.

10 ¶ But when thou art bidden, go, and sit downe in the lowest room, that when hee that bade thee, commeth, he may say vnto thee, Friend, sit vp higher: then shalt thou haue worship in the presence of them that sit at table with thee.

11 ¶ For whosoever exalteth himselfe, shal be brought low, and he that humbleth himselfe shal be exalted.

12 ¶ Then he sayd he also to him that had bidden him, ¶ When thou makest a dinner or a supper, call not thy friends, nor thy brethren, neither thy kinsmen, nor the rich neighbours, lest they also bid thee againe, and a recompense be made thee.

13 ¶ But when thou makest a feast, call the poore, the maimed, the lame, and the blind,

14 And thou shalt bee blessed, because they cannot recompense thee: for thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the dead.

15 ¶ Now when one of them that sate at table heard these things, hee saide vnto him, Blessed is he that eateth bread in the Kingdome of God.

16 ¶ Then said he to him, ¶ A certaine man made a great supper, and bade many.

17 And sent his seruant at supper time to say to them that were bidden, Come: for all things are now ready.

18 But they all with one minde began to make excuse: the first said vnto him, I haue bought a farme, and I must needs goe out and see it: I pray thee haue me excused.

19 And another sayd, I haue bought five yoke of oxen, and I go to plow them: I pray thee haue me excused.

20 And another sayd, I haue married a wife, and therefore I cannot come.

21 So that seruant returned, and shewed his master these things. Then was the good man of the house angry, and sayd to his seruant, ¶ Goe out quickly into the places and streets of the cite, and bring in hither the poore, and the maimed, and the hale, and the blind.

22 And the seruant sayd, Lord, it is done as thou hast commanded, and yet there is roomie.

23 Then the Master said to the seruant, Goe out into the high wayes and hedges, and compell them to come in, that mine house may be filled.

24 For I say vnto you, that none of those men which were bidden, shall taste of my supper.

25 Nowe there went great multitudes with him, and hee turned and sayd vnto
them,

26 ¶ If any man come to me, & hate not his father and mother, and wife & children, and brethren and sisters, yea, and his owne life also, he cannot be my discipule.

27 ¶ And whosoever beareth not his crosse, and commeth after me, cannot be my discipule.

28 For which of you myndeth to build a tower, sitteth not downe before, and count-erth the cost, whether hee haue sufficient to performe it,

29 Lest that after he hath layd the foundation, and is not able to performe it, al that behold it, begin to mocke him,

30 Saying, This man began to build, and was not able to make an ende.

31 ¶ What King going to make warre against another King, sitteth not downe first and rakerth counsel, whether hee be able with thine thousand, to meete him that commeth against him with twentie thousand?

32 ¶ It is likewise hee is yet a great way off, he sendeth an ambassage, and desireth conditions of peace.

33 So likewise, whosoever hee be of you that forsaketh not al that he hath, he cannot be my discipule.

34 ¶ Salt is good: but if salt haue lost his salue, wherewith shall it be salted?

35 It is neither meet for the land, nor yet hath eares to heare, let him heare.

saying,

Math. 18, 12,

leave ninetie and nine in the wilderness, and goe after that which is lost, vntill hee finde it?

them, Reioyce with me: for I haue found her friends and neighbours, saying, Reioyce with me: for I haue found the piece which I had lost.

10 Likewise I say vnto you, there is ioy in the presence of the Angels of God, for one sinner that conuerteth.

11 ¶ He sayd moreover, A certaine man had two sonnes.

c This declared that we ought not to desire to haue our portion separate from God, except we will lose all.

d The Greeke word signifieth
so to waste all,
that a man refer-reth nothing to himselfe.

12 And the yonger of them said to his father, Father, giue mee that portion of the goods that is fallen to me. So he diuided vnto them his substance.

13 So not long after, when the yonger sonne had gathered all together, hee tooke his iourney into a farre countrey, and there he wasted his goods with riotous liuing.

14 Now when he had spent all, there arose a great dearth throughout that land, and he began to bee in necessitie.

15 Then he went and clawe to a citizen of that countrey, and he lent him to his farme to feed swine.

e For noman had him epyon
him.

16 And he would faine haue filled his belly with the huskes that the swine ate: but no man gaue them him.

17 Then he came to himselfe, & said, How many hired seruants at my fathers house haue bread ynough, and I die for hunger?

f That is, against God.

g God proueth vs, and heareth our groa-nings before we

h He was rou-ched with the feeling of his sin,
and therefore was afflicted in the offering of money in
heart.

18 I will rise and go to my father, and say vnto him, Father, I haue sinned against heauen, and before thee.

19 And am no more worthy to bee called thy sonne: make mee as one of thy hired ser-uants.

20 So he arose, & came to his father, and when he was yet a great way off, his father saw him, and had compassion, and ranne and fell on his necke, and kissed him.

21 And the sonne sayd vnto him, Father,
I haue sinned against heauen, and before thee, and am no more worthy to bee called thy sonne.

22 Then the father said to his seruants,

Bring forth the best robe, and put it on him, and put a ring on his hand, and shoes on his feete,

23 And bring the fat calfe, and kill him,
and let vs eat and be merry.

24 For this my sonne was dead, and is alike againe: and he was lost, but hee is found. And they began to me merry.

25 Now the elder brother was in the field, and when he came and dyed neere to the house, he heard melody and dancing,

26 And called one of his seruants, and asked what those things meant.

27 And he said vnto him, Thy brother is come, and thy father hath killed the fatted calfe, because he hath receiued him safe and sound.

28 Then hee was angry, and would not goe in: therefore came his father out and in-treated him.

29 But he answered, and said to his father, Lo, these many yeres haue I done thee seruite, neither haue I at any time thy commandement, and yet thou neuer gauest me a kid, that I might make merry with my friends.

30 But when this thy sonne was come, which hath deuoured thy goods with har-lots, thou hast for his sake killed the fatted calfe.

31 And he said vnto him, Sonne, thou art euer with me, & all that I haue is thine.
It was meete that we should make merry, and be glad: for this thy brother was dead, and is aliue againe: and he was lost, but he is found.

CHAP. XVI.

1 Christ exhorteth his disciples to wisdom and liberalitie by the example of the steward, 2 None can serue two masters, 14 He reproveth the covetousnes and hypo-cristie of the Pharisees, 16 Of the end and force of the law, 18 Of the holy state of marriage, 19 Of the rich man and Lazarus.

AND he sayd also vnto his Disciples,
A There was a certaine rich man which had a steward, and hee was accused vnto him that hee wasted his goods.

2 And he called him, and he said vnto him, How is that I heare this of thee? Giue an accountes of thy stewardship: for thou wast be no longer steward.

3 Then the steward said vnto him himselfe,
What shall I doe: for my master will take away from me the stewardship. I cannot dig, and to beg I am ashamed.

4 I know what I will doe, that when I am put out of the stewardship, they may receiue me into their houses.

5 Then he called be euery one of his masters debtors, and said vnto the first, How much owest thou vnto my master?

and sit downe quickly, and write thirtie.

13 No servant can serve two Masters:
for either he shall hate the one, and love the other: or else he shall leave to the one, and despise the other. Ye cannot serve God and riches.
14 All these things heard the Pharisees also which were courteous, and they mocked him.
15 Then hee sayd unto them, Ye are they which lust to lustre your selves before men:
but God knoweth your hearts: for that which is highly esteemed among men, is abomination in the sight of God.
16 The Law and the Prophets endured until John: and since that time the kingdom of God is preached, and every man presseth into it.
17 How it is more easie for heaven and earth should passe away, then that one tittle of the Law should fall.
18 Whosoever putteth away his wife, and marryeth another, committeth adultery: and whosoever marryeth her that is put away from her husband, committeth adultery.
19 There was a certaine rich man, which was clothed in purple, and fine linnen, and fared well and delicately every day.
20 Also there was a certaine begger named Lazarus, which was layd at his gate full of sores,
21 And desired to be refreshed with the crumbs that fell from the rich mans table: yea, and the dogs came and licked his sores.
22 And it was so that the begger dyed, and was carryed by the Angels into Abrahams bosome. The rich man also dyed and was buried.
23 And being in hell-torments, hee lift up his eyes, and saw Abraham afar off, and Lazarus in his bosome.
24 Then he cryed and sayd, Father Abraham have mercy on me, and send Lazarus that hee may dip the tip of his finger in water, and coole my tongue: for I am tormented in this flame.
25 But Abraham saith, Sonne, remember that thou in thy life time receivedst thy pleasures, and likewise Lazarus hath pained:
now therefore is he comforted, and thou art tormented.
26 Besides all this, betwene you and us there is a great gulfe set, so that they which would goe from hence to you, cannot, neither can they come from thence to us.
27 Then hee sayd, I pray thee therefore Father, that thou wouldest send him to my fathers house.
28 For I have five brethren, that he may testifie unto them, lest they also come into this place of torment.
29 Abraham sayd unto him, They have Moses and the Prophets: let them heare
them.
30 And hee sayd, Nay, father Abraham:
but if some come unto them from the dead,
they will amend their lives.

CHAP. XVII.

1 Christ teacheth his Disciples to avoid occasions of offence. 2 One to forgive another. 3 We ought to pray for the increase of faith. 4 He magnifieth the virtue of faith. 5 and sheweth the vanities of sinne. 6 The rich man is perished. 7 The speech of the latter dayes, and of the end of the world.

Then said hee to the disciples, It cannot be avoided, but that offences will come, but woe be to him by whom they come.
2 It were better for him that a great millstone were hanged about his necke, and that he were cast into the sea, then that hee should offend one of these little ones.
3 Take heed to your selves, lest ye offer trespass against one, rebuke him: and if he repent, forgive him.
4 And though hee sinne against thee five times in a day, and seven times in a day turne againe to thee, saying, I repenteth me, thou shalt forgive him.
5 And the Apostles said unto the Lord,

21 Neither shall men say, Loe heere, or loe there: for behold, the kingdome of God is within you.

22 And hee sayd vnto the Disciples, The dayes will come, when ye shall desire to see one of the dayes of the Sonne of man, and yet shall not see it.

23 Then they shall say to you, Beholde heere, or beholde there: but go not thither, neither follow them.

24 For as the lightning that lighteneth out of the one part vnder heauen shinerh vnto the other part vnder heauen, so shall the Son of man be in his day.

25 But first must hee suffer many things, and be reprobous of this generation.

26 ¶ And as it was in the dayes of Noe, so shall it bee in the dayes of the Sonne of man.

27 They ate, they dranke, they married wives, and gaue in marriage vnto the day that Noe went into the Arke: and the flood came and destroyed them all.

28 Likewise also as it was in the dayes of Lot: they ate, they dranke, they bought, they sold, they planted, they build,

29 But in the day that Lot went out of Sodom, it rained fire and brimstone from heauen, and destroyed them all.

30 After these ensamples shall it be in the day when the Son of man shall be reuealed.

31 At that day, hee that is vpon the house and his sleepe in the house, let him not come downe to take it out, and hee that is in the field likewise let him not turne backe to that hee lef behind.

32 ¶ Remember Lots wife.

33 ¶ Whosoever will seeke to saue his soule, shall lose it: and whosoever shall lose it, I shall get it life.

34 ¶ I tell you, in that night there shall be two in one bed: the one shall bee receiued and the other shall be left.

35 Two women shall be grinding together: the onee shall be taken and the other shall be left.

36 Two shall be in the field: onee shall be receiued and an other shall be left.

37 And they answered, and said to him, Where, Lord? And hee said vnto them, ¶ Whosoever the body is, whether will also the Eagles relap.

A And hee spake also a parable vnto them, to this ende, that they ought alwayes to pray and not to waite faint,

2 Saying, There was a iudge in a certaine citie, which feared not God, neither reuerenced man.

3 And there was a widow in that citie, which came vnto him, saying, Doe me iustice against mine adulterarie.

4 And hee would not for a time: but afterward hee layde with himselfe, I though I feare not God, nor reuerence man,

5 Yet because this widow troubleth me I will not her right, least at the last she come and make me weary.

6 And the Lord sayde, Heare what the vnrighteous iudge saith.

7 Now shall not God avenge his elect which cry day & night vnto him, yet though hee be slower long for them?

8 I tell you hee will avenge them quickly: but when the Sonne of man cometh, shall hee find faith on the earth?

9 ¶ Hee spake also this parable vnto certaine which trusted in themselves that they were iust, and despised other.

10 Two men went vp into the Temple to pray: the one a Pharisee, and the other a Publicane.

11 The Pharisee stood and prayed thus with himselfe, O God, I thanke thee that I am not as other men, extortioners, vnjust adulterers, or euen as this Publicane, 12 I fast twise in the weeke: I giue tithes of all that euer I possesse.

13 But the Publique standing asafre off, would not lift vp so much as his eyes to heauen, but smote his breast, saying, O God be mercifull to me a sinner.

14 I tell you this man departed to his house iustified rather then the other: For euerie man that exalteth himselfe shall be brought low, and he that humbleth himselfe, shall be exalted.

15 ¶ They brought vnto him also babes, that he should touch them. And when his disciples saw it, they rebuked them.

16 But Iesus called them vnto him, and said, Suffer the babes to come vnto me, and forbid them not: for of such is the kingdom of God.

17 Merely I say vnto you, whosoener receiuethe not the kingdom of God as a babe, he shall not enter therein.

18 ¶ Then a certaine ruler asked him, saying, Good master, what ought I to doe, to inherite eternall life?

19 And Iesus said vnto him, Why callest thou mee? good? none is good save one, euen God.

20 Thou knowest the commandements, ¶ Thou shalt not commit adultery: Thou shalt not kill: Thou shalt not steale: Thou shalt not beare false witness: Honour thy father and thy mother.

21 And he said, All these haue I kept from my youth.

22 Now when Iesus heard that, he sayd vnto him, Yet lackest thou one thing, Sell all that euer thou hast, and distribute vnto the poore, and thou shalt haue treasure in heauen, and come follow me.

23 But when hee heard those things, hee was very dray: for hee was marvellous rich.

24 And when Iesus saw him sorrowfull, he sayd, Altho what difficultie hath they that haue riches enter into the kingdom of God?

25 Surely it is easier for a camel to goe through a needles eye, then for a rich man to enter into the kingdom of God.

26 Then said they that heard it, And who then can be saved?

27 And he said, The things which are impossible with men, are possible with God.

28 ¶ Then Peter said, Lo, wee haue left all, and haue followed thee.

29 And hee said vnto them, Merely I say vnto you, there is no man that hath left house, or parents, or brethren, or wife, or children for the kingdom of Gods sake,

30 Which shall not receiue much more in this world, and in the world to come life euerlasting.

31 ¶ Then Iesus tooke vnto him the twelue, and sayd vnto them, Behold, we goe vp to Ierusalem, and all things shall be fulfilled to the Sonne of man, that are written by the Prophets.

32 For he shall be deliuered vnto the Gentiles, and shall be mocked, and shall be spitefully increased, and shall be spitred on.

33 And when they haue scourged him, they will put him to death: but the third day he shall rise againe.

34 But they understood none of these things, and this saying was hid from them, neither perceived they the things, which were spoken.

35 ¶ And it came to passe, that as hee was come nere vnto Iericho, a certaine blinde man sat by the way side begging.

36 And when hee heard the people passe by, he asked what it meant.

37 And they said vnto him, that Iesus of Nazareth passed by.

38 Then he cried, saying, Iesus the sonne of Dauid, haue mercy on me.

39 And they which went before, rebuked him, that hee should hold his peace, but hee cried much more, O Sonne of Dauid haue mercie on me.

40 And Iesus stood still, and commaunded him to be brought vnto him. And when he was come nere he asked him, 41 Saying, What wilt thou that I doe vnto thee? And he said, Lord, that I may receiue my sight.

42 And Iesus said vnto him, Receiue thy sight: thy faith hath saved thee.

43 Then immediately hee receiued his sight, and followed him, praising God: and all the people when they saw this, gaue praise to God.

2 Of Zaccheus, 12 The same prices of money. 28 Christ rideth to Ierusalem, and weepeth for it. 45 He chastriseth out the merchants, 47 and his enemies seek to destroy him.

Now when Iesus entered and passed throu Iericho,

1 Behold there was a man named Zaccheus, which was the chiefe receiver of the tribute, and he was rich.

2 And hee sought to see Iesus, who he should be, and could not for the preele: because he was of a low stature.

3 Therefore he ran before, and climed vp into a wild figge tree, that hee might see him, for he should come that way.

4 And when Iesus came to the place, he looked vp and saw him, and said vnto him, Zaccheus, come downe at once: for to day I must abide at thine house.

5 ¶ Then hee came downe hastily, and receiued him fully.

6 And when all they saw it, they murmured, saying, that he was gone in to lodge with a sinner man.

7 And Zaccheus stood forth, and said vnto the Lord, Behold, Lord, the halfe of my goods I giue to the poore: and if I haue taken from any man by force or caualition, I restore him foure fold.

8 ¶ Then Iesus said vnto him, This day is saluation come vnto this house, forasmuch as hee is also become the sonne of Abraham.

11 And whiles they heard these things, he continued and spake a parable, because hee was nere to Ierusalem, and because also they thought the kingdom of God should shortly appeare, 12 There said therefore, * A certaine noble man went into a farre country, to receive for himselfe a kingdom, and so to come againe.

13 And hee called his tenne servants, and delivered them tenne pieces of money, and said vnto them, * Occupy till I come.

14 Now his citizens hated him, and sent an ambassage after him, saying, Wile will not haue this man to reigne ouer vs.

15 And it came to passe when hee was come againe, and had received his kingdom, that hee commaunded the seruants to be called to him, to whom hee gaue his money, that he might know what euery man had gained.

16 Then came the first, saying, Lord, thy piece hath increased ten pieces.

17 And he said vnto him, Well good seruant: because thou hast bene faithfull in a very litle thing, take thou authoritie ouer ten cities.

18 And the second came, saying, Lord, thy piece hath increased five pieces.

19 And so the same hee sayd, We thou also rule ouer five cities.

20 So the other came, and sayd, Lord, behold thy piece, which I haue layd vp in a napkin.

21 For I feared thee, because thou art a strict man, thou takest vp that thou laydest not downe, and reapest that thou didst not sowe.

22 Then he said vnto him, Of thine own mouth wilt I iudge thee, I will seruant. Thou knewest that I am a strict man, taking vp that I lasse not downe, and reaping that I did not sowe.

23 Therefore then gauest not thou my money into the banke, that at my coming I might haue required it with vantage?

24 And hee said vnto them that stood by, Take from him that piece, and giue it him that hath ten pieces.

25 And they said vnto him, Lord, hee hath ten pieces.

26 For I say vnto you, that vnto all them that haue, it shall be giuen: and from him that hath not, euen that he hath, shall be taken from him.

27 Whereouer those mine enemies, which would not that I should reigne ouer them, bring hither, and slay them before me.

28 And when hee had thus spoken, hee went forth: before, ascending vp to Ierusalem.

29 And it came to passe, when hee was come nere to Bethpage, and Bethania, besides the mount which is called the mount of Olives, hee sent two of his disciples,

30 Saying, See yee to the towne which is before you, wherein alosome as yee are come, yee shall finde a colt tyed, whercon neuer man late: looke vpon, and bring him hither.

31 And if any man aske you, why yee looke him, thus shall ye say vnto him, Because the Lord hath neede of him.

32 So they that were sent went their way, and found it as he had sayd vnto them.

33 And as they were looking for the colt, the owners thereof said vnto them, Why looke yee the colt?

34 And they sayd, The Lord hath neede of him.

35 So they brought him to Iesus, and they cast their garments on the colt, and set Iesus thereon.

36 And as hee went, they spied their clothes in the way.

37 And when he was now come nere to the going downe of the mount of Olives, the whole multitude of the Disciples began to reioyce, and to praye God with a loude voyce, for all the great woordes that they had sene,

38 Saying, Blessed be the King that cometh in the Name of the Lord: peace in heauen, and glory in the highest places.

39 Then some of the Pharisees of the company said vnto him, Master, rebuke thy Disciples.

40 But he answered and said vnto them, I tell you, that if these should hold their peace, the stones would crye.

41 And when he was come nere, he beheld the citie, and wept for it.

42 Saying, * O if thou haddest euen known at the least in this thy day * those things, which becom vnto thy peace! but now are they hid from thine eyes.

43 For the dayes shall come vpon thee, that thine enemies shall cast a trench about thee, and compass thee round, and keepe thee in on euery side, 44 And shall make thee euen with the ground, and thy children which are in thee, and they shall not leaue in thee a stone vpon a stone, because thou knewest not the time of thy visitation.

45 And he went also into the Temple, and began to cast out them that sold therein, and them that bought,

46 Saying vnto them, It is written, * Mine house is the house of prayer, * but yee haue made it a denne of thieves.

47 And he taught daily in the Temple. And the chief Priests, and the Scribes, and the chief of the people sought to destroy him.

48 But they could not finde what they might doe to him: for all the people hanged vpon him when they heard him.

3 And he answered, and said vnto them, I also will aske you one thing: tell me therefore:

5 And they reasoned within themselves, saying, If we shall say, From heauen, he will say, why then beleeued ye him not?

6 But if we shall say, Of men, all the people will stone vs: for they be perswaded that Iohn was a Prophet.

7 Therefore they answered, that they could not tell whence it was.

8 Then Iesus said vnto them, Neither tell I you by what authoritie I doe these things.

9 ¶ Then began hee to speake to the people this parable, ¶ A certaine man planted a vineyard, and let it forth to husbandmen, and went into a strange country, for a great season.

10 And at a time he sent a seruant to the husbandmen, that they should giue him of the fruite of the vineyard, but the husbandmen did beate him, and sent him away empty.

11 Again he sent yet another seruant, and they did beate him, and soule intreated him, and sent him away empty.

12 Whereafter, he sent the third, and him they wounded, and cast out.

13 Then said the Lord of the vineyard, What shall I doe? I will send my beloved Sonne: he may bee that they will doe reuerence, when they see him.

14 But when the husbandmen saw him, they reasoned with themselves, saying, This is the heire: come let vs kill him, that the inheritance may be ours.

15 So they cast him out of the vineyard, and killed him. What shall the Lord of the vineyard therefore doe vnto them?

16 Hee will come and destroy these husbandmen, and will giue out his vineyard to others: but when they heard it, they sayd, God forbid.

17 ¶ And he beheld them, and said, What meaneth this thing that is writtē, ¶ The stone that the builders refused, that is made the head of the corner?

18 Whosoever shall fall vpon that stone, shall be broken: and on whomsoever it shall fall, it will grind him to powder.

19 Then the chief Priests and the Scribes the same houre went about to lay hands on him: (but they feared the people) for they perceived that he had spoken this parable against them.

20 ¶ And they watched him, and sent forth spies, which should faile themselves with him, to take him in his talke, and to deliuer him vnto the power and authoritie of the Gouernour.

21 And they asked him, saying, Master, we know that thou sayest and teachest right, neither dost thou accept mans person, but teachest the way of God truly.

23 But he perceived their craftinesse, and said vnto them, Why tempt ye me?

24 Shew me a pēte. ¶ Those image and superscription hath it? They answered and said, Celars.

25 Then he said vnto them, ¶ Giue then vnto Celar the things which are Celars, and to God those which are Gods.

26 And they could not expōue his saying before the people: but they marvelled at his answer, and held their peace.

27 ¶ Then came to him certaine of the Sadduces, (which denie that there is any resurrection) and they asked him.

28 Saying, Master, Moses wrote vnto vs, If any mans brother die hauing a wife, and he die without children, that his brother should take his wife, and raise vp seed vnto his brother.

29 Now there were seuen brethren, and the first tooke a wife, and hee died without children.

30 And the second tooke the wife, and he died childlesse.

31 Then the third tooke her: and so likewise the seuen died, and left no children.

32 And last of all the woman died also.

33 Therefore at the resurrection, whose wife of them shall she bee? for seuen had her to wife.

34 Then Iesus answered, and said vnto them, The children of this world marry wives, and are married.

35 But they which shall be counted worthy to enioy that world, and the resurrection from the dead, neither marry wives, neither are married.

36 For they can die no more, forasmuch as they are equall vnto the Angels, and are the sonnes of God, ¶ Since they are the children of the resurrection.

37 And that the dead shall rise againe, euen ¶ Moses shewed it besides the bush, when he sayd, The Lord is the God of Abraham, and the God of Isaac, and the God of Jacob.

38 For hee is not the God of the dead but of them which liue: for all liue vnto him.

39 ¶ Then certaine of the Pharisees answered, and sayd, Master, thou hast well sayd.

40 And after that durst they not aske him any thing at all.

41 ¶ Then said he vnto them, How say they that Christ is Dauides sonne?

42 And Dauid himselfe saith in the booke of the Psalmes, ¶ The Lord sayd vnto my Lord, Sit at my right hand, 43 Till I shall make thine enemies thy footstool.

44 Seeing Dauid called him Lord, how is he then his sonne?

45 ¶ Then in the audience of all the people, he sayd vnto his disciples, 46 ¶ Beware of the Scribes, which desire to goe in long robes, and loue salutations in the markets, and the highest seats in the Synagogues, and the chief rooms at feasts.

come to paſſe?

8 And he ſaid, Take heede that ye be not deceiued: for many will come in my name, ſaying, I am Chriſt, and the time draweth nere: follow mee not them therefore.

9 And when ye heare of warres and ſeditions, be not afraid: for theſe things muſt firſt come, but the end ſolloweth not by and by.

10 Then he ſaid vnto them, Nation ſhall riſe againſt nation, and kingdome againſt kingdome.

11 And great earthquakes ſhall be in di-uers places, and hunger, and peſtilence, and ſcarefull things, and great ſignes ſhall there be from heauen.

12 But before all theſe, they ſhall lay their hands on you, and perſecute you, deliuering you vp to the Synagogues, and into priſons, and beating you before kings and rulers for my Names ſake.

13 And this ſhall turne to you, for a teſtimoniall.

14 Lay by therefore in your hearts, that ye premeditate not what ye ſhall anſwer.

15 For I will giue you a mouth, and wiſdome, where againſt all your aduerſaries ſhall not be able to ſpeake, nor reſiſt.

16 For ye ſhall be betrayed alſo of your parents, and of your bretheren, and kiſmen, and friends, and ſome of you ſhall they put to death.

17 And ye ſhall be hated of all men for my Names ſake.

18 Per there ſhall not one haire of your heads periſh.

19 By your patience poſſeſſe your ſoules.

20 And when ye ſee Ieruſalem deſe-gen with ſouldiers, then vnderſtand that the deſolation thereof is nere.

21 Then let them which are in Iudæa, flee to the mountaines: and let them which are in the cities thereof, depart out: and let not them that are in the country, enter therein.

22 For theſe be the dayes of vengeance, to fulfill all things that are written.

23 But woe bee to them that bee with child, and to them that giue lute in thoſe dayes: for there ſhall be great diſtreſſe in this land, and wrath ouer this people.

24 And they ſhall fall on the edge of the ſword, and ſhall be led captiue into all nations, and Ieruſalem ſhall be troden vnder foote of the Gentiles, vntill the time of the Gentiles be fulfilled.

25 Then there ſhall be ſignes in the ſunne, and in the moone, and in the ſtars, and vpon the earth trouble among the nations, with perplexitie: the ſea and the waters ſhall roare.

26 And mens hearts ſhall fail them for fear, and for looking after thoſe things, which ſhall come on the world: for the powers of heauen ſhall be ſhaken.

27 And then ſhall they ſee the Sonne of man come in a cloud, with power and great glory.

28 And when theſe things begin to come to paſſe, then looke vp, liſt vp your heads:
for your redemption draweth nere.

29 And he ſaie to them a parable, Behold the figge tree, and all trees,

30 When they now ſhoot forth, ye ſeeing them, know of your owne ſelues that Summer is then nere.

31 So likewiſe yet, when ye ſee theſe things come to paſſe, know ye that the kingdome of God is nere.

32 Verily I ſay vnto you, This age ſhall not paſſe, till all theſe things be done.

33 Heauen and earth ſhall paſſe away, but my wordes ſhall not paſſe away.

34 Take heede to your ſelues, leſt at any time your hearts be oppreſſed with ſuffer-ing and drunkenneſſe, and cares of this liſe, and leſt that day come on you at vnwares.

35 For as a thare ſhall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth.

36 Watch therefore, and pray continually, that ye may be counted worthy to eſcape all theſe things that ſhall come to paſſe, and that ye may ſtand before the Sonne of man.

37 Now in the day time he taught in the Temple and at night he went out, and abode in the mount that is called the mount of Olives.

38 And all the people came in the morning to him, to heare him in the Temple.

John 13. 18.
Jude 1. 9.

i By the secret counsell of God, as Acts 4. 28.

Now the * Feast of unleavened bread was near, which is called the Passouer.

2 And the high Priests and Scribes sought how they might kill him: for they feared the people.

3 Then entered Satan into Judas, who was called Iscariot, and was of the number of the twelve.

4 And he went his way and communed with the high Priests and caprines, how he might betray him to them.

5 So they were * glad, and agreed to give him money.

6 And he consented and sought opportunity to betray him unto them, when the people were away.

7 * Then came the day of unleavened bread when the Passouer must be sacrificed.

8 And he sent Peter and John, saying, Goe and prepare vs the Passouer, that wee may eat it.

9 And they said to him, Where wilt thou that we prepare it?

10 Then he said unto them, Behold, when ye be entered into the city, there shall a man meete you, bearing a pitcher of water: follow him into the house that he entereth in.

11 And say to the good man of the house, The Master saith unto thee, Where is the lodging where I shall eat my Passouer with my Disciples?

12 Then he shall shew you a great high chamber trimmed, there make it ready.

13 So they went and found as he had said unto them, and made ready the Passouer.

14 * And when the * houre was come, he sat downe, and the twelve Apostles with him.

15 Then he said unto them, I have earnestly desired to eat this Passouer with you before I suffer.

16 For I say unto you, * Henceforth I will not eat of it any more, untill it be fulfilled in the kingdom of God.
